County Schools Get TVA Grants

Bolivar Middle School and Middleton High School were awarded grants of $5,000 each by the Tennessee Valley Authority, in partnership with Bicentennial Volunteers Incorporated for a STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math) education project.

"Our students were thrilled that I was able to add drones and solar-powered cell phone chargers to our Makerspace Program," said, Deana Sain, Library Media Specialist at Bolivar Middle School. "We'll be using the grant for career development and energy conservation ideas in our Makerspace."

The grant award is a part of $600,000 in competitive STEM grants awarded to 142 schools across TVA's service territory. The competitive grant program provided teachers an opportunity to apply for funding up to $5,000 and preference was given to grant applications that explored TVA's primary areas of focus: environment, energy, economic and career development and community problem solving. Schools who receive grant funding must receive their power from a TVA distributor.

"This is the second year we offerred this program to the entire Valley and we saw a major increase in grant applications this year," said Community Engagement Senior Program Manager Rachel Crickmar. "There is a demand in the Valley for workforce development through STEM education and I am proud of the way TVA and our retirees are responding to that demand by supporting teachers in the classroom."

Gresham Announces Retirement from State Senate

Senate Education Committee Chairman Dolores Gresham (R-Somerville) announced today that she will not be a candidate for reelection in 2020. Gresham made the announcement in an email to constituents in Chester, Decatur, Fayette, Hardeman, Hardin, Haywood, McNairy and Henderson Counties in the 26th senatorial district.

"It has been the honor of my life, surpassed only by my service in the U.S. Marine Corps, to serve the people of Tennessee, especially children," said Sen. Gresham. "I am very thankful for the support, friendship, and kindness of my constituents who have entrusted me to represent them for the past 18 years."

Gresham served six years in the House of Representatives before being elected in 2008 to three consecutive terms in the Tennessee Senate. She was appointed chairman of the Senate Education Committee as a freshman senator, presiding over the committee during a time of tremendous student progress at the K-12 level. Her tenure as chairman also saw unprecedented growth in access to post-secondary education at Tennessee's colleges and universities.

"There will be no weaning process," Gresham said after announcing her retirement. "I will continue to fulfill my promise to constituents to serve them to the fullest as their senator until my successor is elected in November."

Gresham is carrying several key bills this year. This includes legislation proposed by Governor Bill Lee to ban abortions after a heartbeat is detected and a comprehensive bill to increase literacy in the early grades. During her tenure, Gresham sponsored major school choice legislation establishing Individual Education Accounts (IEA) to provide pathways to customized education for students with special needs, and Education Savings Accounts (ESA) to give continued on A2

What Happened in October? Part II

The story of the settlement of Hardeman County Sheriff John Doolen's lawsuit against Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain has deepened as a county commissioner has said he contacted Hardeman County Attorney Chip Cary last fall in order to hopefully settle the lawsuit between the sheriff and the mayor.

According to county commissioner Justin Howell, his records indicated he likely spoke to Cary on October 2, but no later than October 3, about ideas of how to settle the lawsuit and the procedure on how to get a special called meeting set to discuss the matter.

The information came forth after Sain's and Cary's sworn testimony appeared to be in conflict during the February 27 hearing on the consent order signed during the eventually held meeting on October 8 that, for the time being, settled the lawsuit.

Employees of the mayor's office and other county commissioners also have stated that Cary did not offer full or complete details of the agreement until during the meeting that night and Sain's letter to the commissioners earlier in the day on October 8 was to inform them of his conversation with commissioner Johnny Lanier, detailing a stall in the talks with the sheriff to settle the case.

Sain's letter to the commission said Doolen had agreed to many points as of October 4, but that more requests were added on October 7, seemingly pushing the meeting to October 15. However, an agreement was reached and a meeting was held on October 8, which resulted in a vote that, on paper, resolved the conflict.

Gather 'Round Y'all...It's Hee Haw Time

The 42nd year of Hardeman County Hee Haw will conclude on Saturday night as the longest continuously running Hee Haw Show in the State of Tennessee and will play to a near sellout crowd at the Hardeman County Arts Center.

The show, whose proceeds benefit the American Cancer Society, is a combination of live music and skits, some from the original show that ran from 1969-1971 on CBS and continued for more than 20 more years in syndication.

Any tickets that are still available can be purchased at Shackelford Funeral Directors in Bolivar. At press time a few remained.

low-income children an opportunity to receive a quality education. She also initiated a series of bills in 2018 to address sexual misconduct by teachers to ensure children are safe in the classroom.

"This is not a retreat," the former Lt. Colonel said as she pledged to continue to work to improve education in Tennessee. "In the words of General Chesty Puller, 'I'm attacking in a different direction.'" Puller, who was a distinguished U.S. Marine Corps officer, was the most decorated Marine in U.S. history.

Gresham has served as Chairman of the Education Committee for the State Council of State Government's Southern Legislative Conference. She also served as Vice Chairman of the Education Commission of the States.

In other leadership roles, Gresham has been a champion of Tennessee farmers and advancing agriculture in Tennessee. She and her husband, Will, live on their cattle farm in Fayette County.

Lt. Governor Randy McNally said, "Dolores Gresham has devoted her life to serving others. She served all Americans with great distinction in the United States Marine Corps and every Tennessee citizen as a member of the Tennessee House and Senate. Her determined passion for education led her to oversee one of the most improved periods in education in Tennessee history as chairman. She has been a strong conservative voice and a fierce advocate for her constituents. Her departure will certainly leave a void. I am grateful for her friendship and plan to continue soliciting her wise counsel. She will be greatly missed as a member of the Senate."

Senate Republican Leader Jack Johnson (R-Franklin) said, "Both in service to our county and our state, Senator Gresham exemplifies the Semper Fi motto of the U.S. Marines as 'always faithful.' She has been a tremendous advocate for students and her contributions to excellence in education will be felt for many years to come. We will miss her terribly, but wish her well as she starts this next chapter."

Senate Republican Caucus Chairman Ken Yager (R-Kingston) said, "Senator Gresham and I were elected to the Senate at the same time and I am very grateful for her sterling service in the legislature, especially as Chairman of the Education Committee. Few people have positively influenced education more than Chairman Gresham, always putting students first. I wish her and Will the best life has to offer."

Those hoping to replace Gresham as the District 26 State Senator have until April 2 at noon to turn in their petitions to each election commission in the district.

Bolivar's Walley Announces Run for State Senate

Dr. Page Walley, former State Representative and current Vice Mayor of Bolivar, announced he is running for State Senator from the 26th District. Since Senator Dolores Gresham announced she will not be seeking re-election, voters from across the district have reached out to Walley and encouraged him to run.

Walley served five terms in the Tennessee House of Representatives and six years in executive branch leadership under Republican governors as Commissioner of the Tennessee Department of Children's Services and the Alabama Departments of Children's Affairs and Human Services. Under his leadership, Alabama became the first state to exceed federal court expectations by fundamentally reforming its child and family services system.

Currently, Walley-a clinical psychologist and licensed minister-works as Chief Public Policy Officer at Saint Francis Ministries, one of the nation's largest social service providers and advocacy organizations. He partners with local, state, and federal officials to address the complex needs of children, families, and communities.

"Working with communities in West Tennessee and nationally has shown me firsthand the struggles people face in order to provide for their families. Nothing is more important than the safety and well-being of children and families. Without educated young people and technologically equipped communities, we cannot build the workforce we need and provide the hope our citizens are so desperately seeking."

"This eight-county district is blessed in so many ways; however, we are also challenged to achieve the hopes and dreams of our people. The majority of our counties are considered economically "distressed" or "at risk". We need someone who understands how to build upon the strengths we have and to fight for the resources we need so we aren't being left further behind by other areas of our State."

As a popular state legislator who served on the Agriculture, Finance, and Health and Human Services Committees, Walley was also known as a problem-solving consensus builder who held more than 800 "Listening Meetings" throughout his district. Walley is a sought-after speaker both here and abroad on issues of faith, family, and community well-being.

"During the coming weeks, I will visit citizens in communities across the 26th District to learn what they want from their Senator, and to respectfully earn their support."

The district includes eight West Tennessee counties. They are: Chester, Fayette, Hardeman, McNairy, Hardin, Henderson, Decatur and Haywood.

Templeton Declares His Candidacy, Too

Jai Templeton, Tennessee's former Commissioner of Agriculture, declared his candidacy for the Tennessee Senate in District 26. Three-term Senator Dolores Gresham recently announced her decision not to run for re-election. Templeton will seek the Republican nomination for the district that includes Chester, Decatur, Fayette, Hardeman, Hardin, Haywood, Henderson, and McNairy counties.

"I believe my experiences serving as Agriculture Commissioner, McNairy County Mayor, and family farmer uniquely qualify me to serve our rural communities," Templeton stated. "I'm pro-life, pro-Second Amendment, and I support President Trump's America First agenda. My values are in line with most people here in southern West Tennessee," remarked Templeton.

Templeton is a sixth generation family farmer with timber, cattle, grain, and cotton farming operations in McNairy and Hardin counties. He is the Community Development Manager for Centennial Bank in Adamsville. Templeton served as Commissioner of the Tennessee Department of Agriculture from 2016-2019. He was elected McNairy County Mayor in 2006 and re-elected in 2010. Templeton was a Field Representative for former Congressman Ed Bryant and has been an apprentice auctioneer for 20 years.

Templeton holds a Bachelors of Science degree in Business Administration from Union University. He has served on the Agri-Center International Board of Directors since 2013. Templeton is Chairman of the McNairy County Republican Party and was a Delegate to the 2004 Republican National Convention.

Templeton and his wife, Allison, live in Stantonville and are the parents of three adult children. He has been a member of the First Baptist Church of Adamsville for 22 years. Photo: Templeton was the Grand Marshall of the Tennessee Forest Festival in 2018, hosted by Hardeman County.

Bolivar Energy Authority

Your Local Energy Provider

To operate your space heater and fireplace efficiently and help keep down your heating bill, here's some advice:

Turn down the thermostat and use space heaters to warm only the rooms being used. If it is below 40 degrees outside, don't use your fireplace. When a fire is burning, lower the thermostat a few degrees. And always keep the damper closed when the fireplace isn't being used.

For more information on energy saving steps you can take, call Bolivar Energy Authority at 731-658-5257.

Incorporated in 1936, Bolivar Energy Authority serves Hardeman County and parts of Fayette, Chester, Madison, and Benton (MS) counties. The Bolivar Energy Authority covers 1,350 miles of line with an average of 8 customers per mile. The governing board meets the last Monday of each month.

Hello from Toone, where spring is in the air! These 60+ degree days have the trees and bushes blooming, and many bulb plants are showing their colors! Now, if we could just get the rain to stop long enough to allow us to get our yards cleaned-up.

Toone Baptist Church hosted a special gospel music program, Sunday, March 8, featuring the Barnett Family Sunday, March 8. The Barnetts are celebrating their 49th year in the music business, and are considered one of the top gospel groups in the country. TBC Pastor, Brother Anthony Vaughn, and his wife, Michelle, are celebrating his four-year anniversary as pastor of Toone Baptist Church. Brother Anthony says he is very grateful to have been selected to serve the church these past four years, and is excited to see what the future holds for he and his wife at Toone Baptist Church.

Toone School Spring class photos will be made, Thursday, March 12. Students may wear school-appropriate shirts with jeans or uniform pants. No dresses or leggings are allowed. TES celebrated Read Across America Day, March 6. This is a celebration of famous children's author, Dr. Seuss's birthday. The upper grades read to the younger grades, and the students are allowed to dress up as their favorite book character. They also enjoyed a Dr. Seuss birthday cake and cupcakes.

Clover Creek Aerodrome hosted their annual judges' training certification classes this past weekend. This event is a kick-off for the flying season competitions held each year at Clover Creek and other locations. 26 radio-controlled airplane pilots from Tennessee, Texas, Georgia and South Carolina traveled here to take part in this training and receive their judging certification which also helps the pilots gain insight as to what the judges are looking for during flying competitions, which in return, makes them better pilots. I will be posting a schedule at a later date listing this year's competition events that will be held at Clover Creek Aerodrome. Most of these competitions are open to the public.

Please join me in sending a BIG Happy Birthday greeting to our good friend and neighbor, Miss Betty Stewart, who celebrates her 91st birthday, March 18. Here's hoping you have a very happy day, Miss Betty!

Frankie, Larry and Joey Lambert traveled to Washington, Illinois to help Ann (Lambert) and Hughlon Wade celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary. Ann and Hughlon reside in Reflections Memory Care. Their children checked them out and carried them to a local restaurant where the children, grandchildren and great grandchildren enjoyed a meal. Hughlon was born on February 29, 1932, which was leap year, so the family helped him celebrate his 22nd birthday.

Vivian Gibson shared the following information regarding the recent death of her sister, Mildred. She writes, "Mildred West went to her forever home on February 17 leaving her husband and three grown children. Locally she leaves two sisters, Vivian Gibson, Nedda King and one brother, Oliver Lee Young. Mildred was the daughter of the late Anna Belle and Oliver Young. Mildred was part of the graduating class of 1953 at Bolivar Central High. Thirteen members of her local family traveled to Georgia to attend her funeral and give support to her family. We praise and thank the Lord for a safe trip."

Tommy Murley's group Facebook page Silerton-Photographs from the Past is rapidly growing. If you are interested in seeing old pictures of Silerton's residents, you might want to check it out. Tommy writes on this page, "This page where we post pictures of our loved ones and friends has made me realize that in some ways, we are all in a family. This bond comes from a very special place in our hearts. That place in Silerton, Tennessee. Most large metropolitan cities produce many things that are necessary to sustain our quality of life. But this very small place called Silerton, Tennessee has produced and manufactured the things we need most. These things include love, loyalty, pride, closer ties for all of us, even the members we have never met and so much more. My boredom one day has changed my life for the better. I hope all of us have realized that also."

Tommy's desire is to see people with Silerton connections bond and share pictures and memories. His mission mirrors my desire to hear from each of you so we can rejoice with each other in our happy times and grieve in our sad times and most of all reflect on memories enjoyed in Silerton. I would appreciate if you would call and share some of your news and thoughts or memories so we can stay connected.

Hello to all! Well March has been a busy month already for the school. Read Across America was March 4. I went because my granddaughter was getting to read to children for the first time with this event. It was impressive how the children from the 4th grade to the 8th grade, came up with crafts, treats, costumes and games about the book they chose to read to the younger children. Thank you Mr. Kessler and staff for allowing me to walk around and help the children. They all did a great job. Baseball and volleyball is still going on with the children, please check out the school's website <https://hes.hcsedu.org> and see when they are playing so you can go cheer them on. I have been able to go watch a couple of the girls' volleyball games, they are a great group of young ladies. The PTO is also making plans for the annual dance that will take place next month. I know a bunch of little girls who have already picked out their dresses and are getting excited. I would like to wish a very Happy Birthday to a very special young lady to me, my granddaughter Tanley, who will turn 10 on the 18th. The name grand is very fitting there is nothing sweeter than your grandchildren.

At Hornsby Baptist Church this Sunday the youth will once again be preparing a meal to serve after the morning service. Everyone is welcomed to come and enjoy and if you would like to leave a donation the young people will use it for their mission work this summer. Choir practice has started back on Sunday nights after bible study. We would love to have you come join us, and if you would like to know more about it contact Lynn Gibson. We will be making appointments to have pictures made for the church directory on April 17 and 18. A table will be set up at the church starting this Sunday. We are excited about this because our last directory was 17 years ago, so please makes plans to have your picture made to be put in the book. If you need any information please contact Bro. Matt Emerson, Amber Moore, or Steve Byrd with the senior ministry. The senior group enjoyed a lunch at Backermann's in Whiteville Tuesday, a great time was had by all who were able to attend. Project 4:13 is on Wednesday nights at 6:00 p.m. This ministry keeps growing and we are excited as we have a great time with these kids as we study the bible. If you would like to know more about what's happening at Hornsby Baptist you can always visit our website at hornsbybc.org.

The City of Hornsby has a group of folks who are planning a big celebration for the town this year. October 16, 2020 will make it 100 years since the city's charter was started. We are looking for any old memorabilia you might want to be on display especially of the town the way it looked through the years. If you have any ideas or suggestions you can reach out to Becky Stanton. More information will follow as we meet but if you were ever a part of the Hornsby community, we hope you will want to be a part of this celebration.

Memories:::::

As I drove into the entrance to Blackwater Hunting Services, not only had I arrived for the 23rd year, the memories started flooding my mind. With so many turkey hunts behind me, I was amazed at myself for remembering so many hunts and the new friends I've made. Hunters coming from all over the United States and even two from Canada. If you're a turkey hunter, you know exactly what I'm saying. Having hundreds of hunts under my belt, not one has ever been the same as the other. Hopefully this season will be no different. As I write this sitting in my truck waiting on daybreak (scouting). Maybe "Old Gabriel" will let his presence be known! As Always::::: SAFETY FIRST::::: HOOT

Will Your Money Last as Long as You Do?

What do your fellow citizens fear most? Almost half of them – 49% – are most afraid of running out of money during retirement, a higher percentage than the 44% whose chief concern is failing health, according to a recent survey by Aegon Center for Longevity and other groups.

What steps can you take to help ensure your money will last as long as you do?

Here are a few suggestions:

- Estimate your longevity. None of us can say for sure how long we'll live. However, you can make some educated guesses based on your health and family history. And once you do have at least a ballpark figure, you can then determine about how much money you may need to last the rest of your lifetime. A word of caution: It's probably going to be more than you think. Health care costs alone can run into the hundreds of thousands, even with Medicare.
- Determine when you'll retire. Your retirement age will have a big impact on how long your money can last. The longer you work, the more you can contribute to your retirement plans, such as your IRA and 401(k). Plus, if you have health insurance through work, you should be able to cover some of the out of pocket health care costs you'd normally have to pay if you're retired.

Invest as much as you can in your retirement. During your working years, contribute as much as you can afford to your IRA and your 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored retirement plan. And every time you get a raise, try to increase the amount you put into your employer's plan.

Protect yourself from long-term care costs. If you're fortunate, you'll never need any type of long-term care, such as an extended stay in a nursing home or the services of a home health care provider. Still, there are no guarantees, and long-term care expenses can be big enough to threaten your retirement savings. The average cost for a private room in a nursing home is about $100,000 per year, while a home health aide costs about $50,000 per year, according to the insurance company Genworth. Medicare typically pays just a small portion of these amounts, so you may want to purchase a long-term care insurance policy that will pay for qualified long-term care costs. Or you might consider a "hybrid" policy, which combines long-term care protection with life insurance. So, if you never needed long-term care, your hybrid policy would pay a death benefit to your beneficiary, but if you did need the care, your policy would pay benefits toward those expenses.

Choose an appropriate withdrawal rate. During your retirement, you'll need to withdraw money from your IRA, 401(k) and other retirement accounts. But you'll want to avoid taking out too much each year, especially during the early years of your retirement. It's important to establish an annual withdrawal rate that's appropriate for your needs, taking into account your age, sources of income, lifestyle and other factors.

The thought of running out of money during retirement is scary indeed – but by making smart choices, you can go a long way toward alleviating this fear and enjoying your life as a retiree.

FAITH

The Gospel: Part 5 by Jeff Capshaw

Last week's column cited 3 passages from the New Testament which explicitly mention the Gospel for ancient Israel. What they have in common may be unfamiliar to some, but they are significant. The article also noted that how readers understand those texts will depend largely on their view of the relationship between the Old and New Testaments (Galatians 3:8, 1 Corinthians 10:4, and Hebrews 4:1-2).

Last week's article concluded that, although readers may quibble over the interpretation of these passages, it is undeniable that the New Testament says the Old Testament saints had the Gospel preached to them. From Genesis to Revelation, the universal and timeless message is the same; the Gospel of Jesus Christ and no other saves sinners. Even as Acts 4:12 says, "and there is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among men by which we must be saved."

In this week's column, the discussion centers upon Genesis 3:15. Some scholars refer to this passage as the Protevangeli or «the first mention of the Gospel» in the Bible. This is part of a larger context in which the LORD himself announced the consequences of the Fall of Adam and Eve.

Those consequences for Eve are pain in childbirth, desires contrary to her husband's (Adam), and that she would be ruled by him. For Adam, the consequences of the Fall would be a ground cursed with thorns and thistles, hard labor for food, and worst of all, death!

However, for the serpent (the Personal Agent of Sin-Satan), the LORD says, "I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and her offspring; he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel."

It is interesting that the Hebrew text of Genesis 3:15 speaks about the enmity between the serpent and the woman, and between the offspring of both. The personal pronoun (Hebrew-"hu") in the words addressed to the serpent, "he will strike at your head," is masculine. Although one shouldn't make too much of a case for the gender of words (masculine, feminine, neuter), it is significant that the seed to come of the woman would be a man.

Although beyond the scope of this article, one can trace that "seed of the woman" from Adam and Eve's son, Seth, to Enos and from Enos to Cainan and so on. As a matter of fact, in Luke's Gospel, he does just that (3:23-38). He traces the lineage of Jesus from Joseph back to Adam. Therefore, there is nobody else to which Genesis 3:15 could refer other than Jesus the Messiah of Israel. It is the same Jesus who was crucified, died, was buried and rose again the third day according to the Scriptures (1 Corinthians 15:1-4).

Therefore, before the Fall, God already had a plan of redemption in place. The first mention of that plan is found in Genesis 3:15. It too is the Gospel (the Good News) in the Old Testament.

Endure by David Coy

Why is so much taught on the subject of grief? Have you ever wondered or asked this question? What would your answer be? We live in a country that prides itself in the independent spirit. We teach that each individual is unique with life experiences that are the same. Which means as a reminder, our grief experiences are individual and unique as well. Yet there is one aspect that is quite universal to all of us. Regardless of our differences, one commonality binds us all together. We will experience grief. "When all kinds of trials and temptations crowd into your lives, my brethren, do not resent them as intruders, but welcome them as friends! Realize they come to test your faith and to produce in you the quality of endurance. But let the process go on until that endurance is fully developed, and you will find you have become men (people) of mature character, men (people) of integrity with no weak spots."

Why do we suffer? Why does sorrow come upon us? Many possible reasons and not enough time to discuss here. What benefit can come from suffering? One is for opportunity to learn and grow as an individual. As the writer above states, they come to produce a quality of endurance. Struggles like every other event or situation in life may weaken our character or strengthen it depending upon how we choose to respond. The writer above recommends we allow ourselves to develop endurance. This is accomplished by facing and working through the various trials, tribulations, sorrows that life places in our path. No, we do not allow outward circumstances to shape our mindset and longterm mood, in this way our life is happy even amidst sorrow. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcures.com

MHS HOSA Competes in Regional Competition

Middleton High School HOSA students traveled to Jackson State in Jackson, on January 8, to compete in the 2020 Tennessee Regional HOSA Competition. 16 MHS students placed in the top 5 in their competition, which will make them eligible to compete at the state level in April in Nashville, TN. Students placing in the top three of their competition at the state level will then be eligible to compete at the National HOSA Competition in Houston, Texas this June.

Due to the increasing number of HOSA students throughout the state, students were required to take tests online this year prior to competing at the regional level. Students had to score high enough to go to the second round in order to compete at the regional level. Not only has Tennessee HOSA grown over the past several years, but HOSA now has over 10,000 members nationwide.

Each year, Tennessee HOSA students attend the Regional HOSA Conference and compete in various health-related events which help prepare them for futures in healthcare. They also attend various meetings/sessions and are given the opportunity to network with healthcare professionals and other healthcare students with similar interests throughout lower West Tennessee. Prior to this event, students are required to study, practice healthcare skills, prepare presentations, and various leadership tasks in order to compete at the state level. In order to prepare these students, community stakeholders, parents, and other healthcare professionals, such as John Weaver, Jerry Avent, and Hardeman County EMS, assist in working with these students and play a large part in their success.

Middleton High School was very successful at this year's Regional HOSA Competition. All of the students competing this year represented Middleton High School and Hardeman County Schools well. The following students placed first in their competitions: McKenzie Eady – Dental Terminology, Sharyah Buggs – Medical Terminology, Ethan Doyle – Veterinary Science, and Aubrey Hayden – Extemporaneous Writing. The following students placed second in their competitions: Connor Dixon – Medical Law & Ethics, Yasmine Burns – Pathophysiology, Amanda Kins and Romeo Ayala – CPR & First Aid. The following students placed third in their competitions: Kaitley Bizzell – Physical Therapy, Ella Willis – Behavioral Health, Ally Davis – Nursing Assistant, Emily Shoemaker & Katie Todd – Forensic Science. The following students placed fourth in their competitions: Callie Lanier – Medical Assisting, Madeline Lie – Sports Medicine, Madeline Coupe – Medical Math. These students will be eligible to compete at the state level along with other students that are competing in state only competitions from MHS.

Through these competitions, students assess their strengths and weaknesses and hopefully find a path of study for the future. Competitions also help students become more responsible and confident in their skills. Competitions help students answer the question, "What can I see myself doing in the future?"

OUR Kids are Smarter than THEIRS

It may not rise to the level of "veni, vidi, vici," but Hardeman County students did conquer the ACT (American College Test) at the highest level in years.

The 19.2 average among all public school students is not the highest in the state, but it is better than four of the five counties that surround Hardeman County.

"We are excited and proud to see the ongoing improvement in our students' ACT scores," said Superintendent of Schools Warner Ross. "It's rewarding to see that our students are not only competing academically with peers, but outperforming others in surrounding counties."

Of the 130 school districts listed in the report released by the State of Tennessee, Hardeman County's graduating class of 2018 was 91st, but better than McNairy County (93rd), Madison County (116th), Haywood County (118th), and Fayette County (126th).

The only surrounding school district that scored higher than Hardeman was Chester County (51st) at 20.2.

Ross was quick to give credit where credit is due.

"The effort that our staff, students and parents have done in this area is to be congratulated. The work is a result of a deliberate effort."

Students to take full advantage of the Tennessee Promise and other scholarship monies available to students."

The report used students' best ACT scores meaning that if a student took the ACT multiple times, the score included in the results was his or her highest score. This data is different than the results reported nationally by ACT which are based on the last score a student received, regardless of whether it was the highest, and also includes private school results. Any high school senior that lives in Chester, Decatur, Hardeman, Hardin, or McNairy County, who also attends a high school in one of the above counties, and who meets the eligibility criteria may apply for this scholarship.

To be eligible the student must (1) be a senior expecting to graduate in the current year; (2) meet residence requirements as stated above; (3) have a grade point average of 2.5 or above; (4) plan to pursue a course of study in one of the following fields: psychology, medicine, nursing, social work, sociology, counseling, or other health-related field; (5) complete a declaration of interest application. OUR COUNTY

The Editor's Inbox...Letters to the Editor

Have you noticed or even missed the Little Courthouse Museum? Most never knew it existed or ever toured to see what is there. Some may think very little or couldn't care less about preserving our local history, our old buildings, and antique artifacts in our town. They may also think it is just too boring. But history is interesting, fun, and exciting. Why our forefathers came here, and how they lived, worked, and played can be intriguing and fascinating to learn about. Stories of how our area of the country was settled are just full of adventure and wild times. How fortunes in this county were made with the fur and lumber trade long before cotton was king. Times change, sometimes for the better, sometimes not. Hardeman County is letting our past, our history, slip away.

We have in Bolivar, a "county owned property" that should be the "Crown Jewel of the County", but here lately, it has not received the attention it so rightly deserves. But first a short history of the building: The Little Courthouse was built almost 200 years ago in 1824 on our Court Square. It is one of only (3) three such log courthouses in America still standing, and the only one with a jail. Did you know David Crockett gave speeches here, while running for state representative in our courthouse? Our first County Court Clerk, Thomas Hardeman, desk is still there. A few years later, the county grew and needed a newer larger courthouse. In 1827, the log courthouse was sold and moved intact to its location today (215 E. Market St), and a new brick courthouse was built on the same spot where the log courthouse set. The county bought the original old log courthouse building in 1967, until that time the building was used as a doctor's office and a private residence.

The building belongs to the citizens of Hardeman County. APTA was asked to take control and restore the building. For over (50) fifty years APTA has tried to maintain the building and promote it as our Hardeman County museum. We represented the building with our county's history and with artifacts from the beginning of the county through today. The Little Courthouse Museum, collected artifacts through loans and donations, and manned it for tours and special events. The building has not been open for tours since September 2016 due to mold in the building. The mold was due to poor installation of an A/C unit causing the upstairs ceiling to fall and mole take hold inside the building. Since the APTA lease agreement expired two years ago, and the County Mayor will not renew the lease or talk with our Chapter of APTA about the future of the building, we as a Chapter are at a loss. The artifacts in the building are at risk of mole damage, as well as the rest of the building, while it just sits in limbo.

Three years ago, APTA wrote letters personally to each county commissioner, after being turned away from trying to state our problems to the commissioners at the County Commission Meetings held multiple times during the year by the County Mayor. The letters we wrote to each County Commissioner were met without any response from all our commissioners. After another year of being put on the back burner, grants, that could help our cause, go towards water features on the courthouse lawn and other projects, I feel it is up to you, the taxpayers of Hardeman County. We are asking for your support to get things moving again, while there is still time to save our Crown Jewel.

The Hardeman County Chapter of the Association for the Preservation of Tennessee Antiquities (APTA) is a small chapter, with (2) two local properties to maintain. We have spent over $26,000 in the past few months just on The Pillars (home of settler, John Houston Bills). The repair maintenance at The Pillars is from storm water damage, we attained there last year. We still have more repairs to do at that site. With about 50 members, it is impossible for us to keep all the repairs needed for both properties. We need your support to keep both properties open and in good repair. We are only asking the County to repair the building they own, so APTA can continue to use it to promote Hardeman County's rich history. What can you do? Contact the County Mayor (Phone: (731) 658-3266) and tell him The Little Courthouse needs to be preserved, for our future lies in preserving our past.

County Addresses Coronavirus

County officials met on March 10 to discuss the potential growing threat of the COVID-19 virus, commonly known as coronavirus.

Meeting were (left to right): Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain, Hardeman County Director of Schools Bobby Doyle, Harde- man County Supervisor of Health Services Lisa Rains, and Harde- man County EMS Director Troy Dempsey.

The Tennessee Department of Health has confirmed one ad- ditional case of COVID-19 in Middle Tennessee, bringing the state's total number of confirmed cases to four.

The patient is an adult female in Middle Tennessee. TDH is working closely with local health officials to support the ongoing investigations of COVID-19 cases. The overall risk to the public remains low as CO- VID-19 is not currently widespread in Tennessee or the United States.

Case Management Update

Effective today, TDH will post COVID-19 updated numbers online by 2 p.m. each day at www.tn.gov/ health/cedep/ncov.html.

The TDH State Public Health Laboratory is now running COVID-19 testing seven days a week to assist public health authorities and health care workers in identifying cases and treating individuals.

The Tennessee Department of Health oversees 89 county health departments.

Recommended Precautions

Tennesseans are encouraged to take routine precautions used in guarding against respiratory viruses:

- Wash your hands often with soap and water. Use alcohol-based hand sanitizer if soap and water are not available.

- Cover your mouth and nose with a tissue when coughing or sneezing
- Don't touch your eyes, nose or mouth with unwashed hands
- Stay home if you are sick
- Stay away from people who are sick

COVID-19 Symptoms

Most patients with confirmed COVID-19 infection have mild respiratory illness with fever, cough and shortness of breath. A smaller number of patients have severe symptoms requiring hospitalization.

COVID-19 Information Line

TDH has launched a Tennessee Coronavirus Public Information Line in partnership with the Tennessee Poison Center. The number is 877-857-2945 and is available daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Central time.

People with concerns about their health should contact their health care providers. TDH has additional information available at www.tn.gov/health/cedep/ncov.html. The CDC has updated information and guidance available online at www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/index.html.

- HDL and LDL Cholesterol levels
- Diabetes risk
- Bone density as a risk for possible osteoporosis
- Kidney and thyroid function, and more

Screenings are affordable, convenient and accessible for wheelchairs and those with trouble walking. Free parking is also available.

What Happened in October? Part II

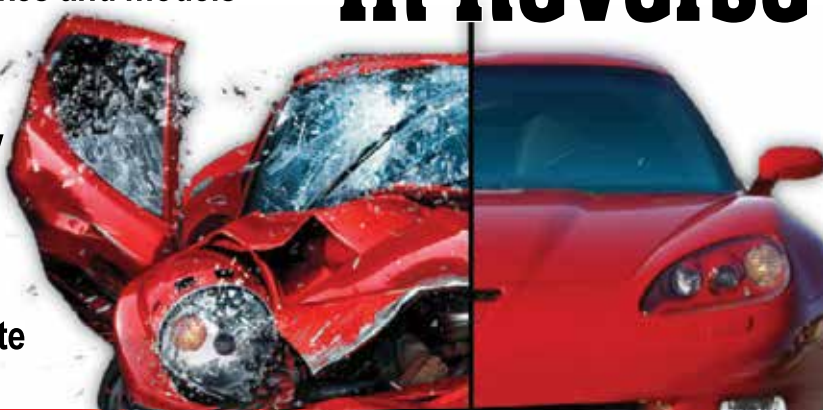

The hearing on February 27, which is scheduled to be continued on March 17, is an attempt to put aside the Consent Order agreement signed on October 8, as Sain's attorney, Amber Griffin Shaw, maintains the procedure for settling the conflict was botched and many points of the agreement were not in the power of the county commission to grant. It is unclear how the two parties would proceed if the October 8 agreement is set aside.

Shaw also asked for Doolen's attorney fees to be set aside during the February 27 hearing. Roy Herron of Dresden had bills in excess of $170,000 presented in October, with other work done on the case since then. At the February 27 hearing, Judge Weber McCraw agreed to set the fees aside and take up the issue at a later date.

In the February 27 hearing, Sain and Cary differed on whether Sain himself had asked Cary to get back involved in the case in October after Cary had resigned in mid-September from his post as County Attorney and the level of involvement Sain had in the settlement talks during the first eight days of October.

Lady Tigers Reload for 2020

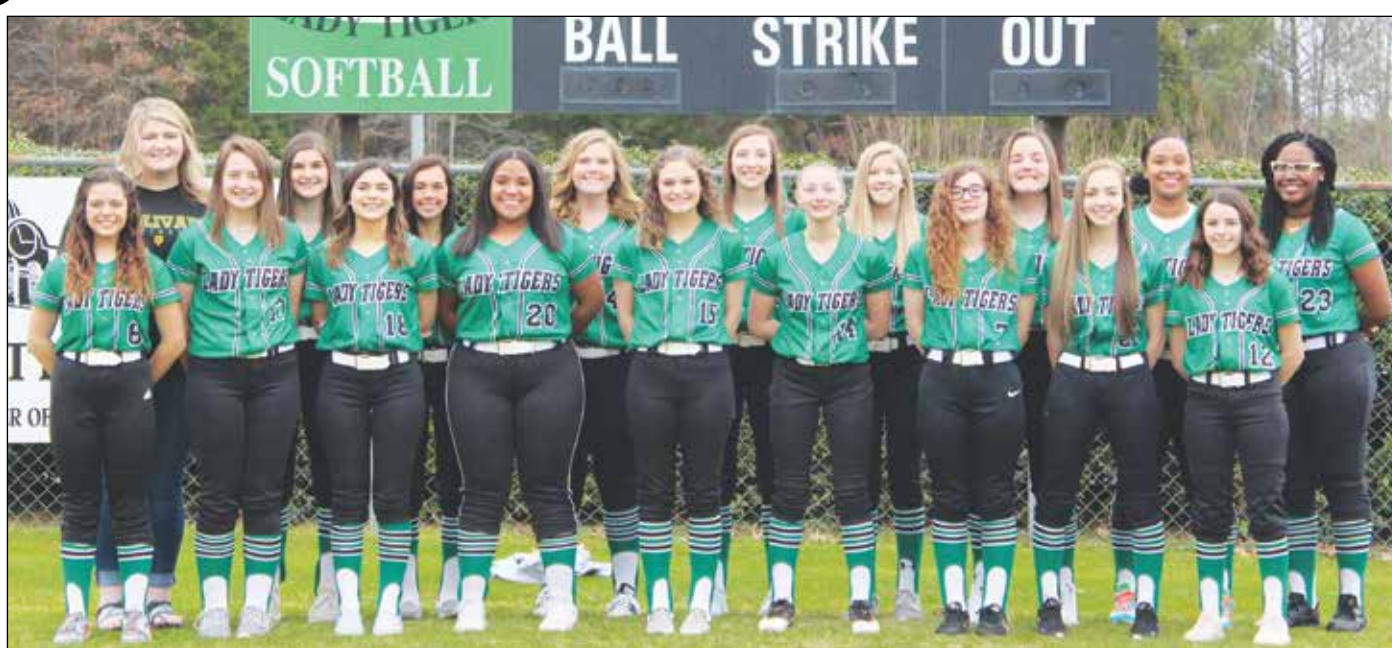

With six starters back from a record-setting 2019, season the Bolivar Central Lady Tigers softball team split the first two games of the season, but Coach Kim Emerson is liking what she sees.

"We are looking good," she said. "We have a great positive vibe among the whole team."

Emerson's three holes from last year are being filled with freshman Katelyn Jimmerson at first base, moving sister Brooklyn to shortstop. Freshman Chloe Burns is at second base and another freshman, Rylee Phillips, is in left field for the Lady Tigers. The other returning starters are Thirdbaseman Maddie Piefer, Catcher Shelby Woods, Centerfielder Courtney Wilbanks, Rightfielder Mary Margaret Ross, and Pitcher Josie Ingle.

The Lady Tigers fell 2-1 to Hardin County on March 9, but bounced back to beat the University School of Jackson on March 10, 5-0.

That Championship Season: 2010

This season, the Bolivar Bulletin Times will look back at ten years ago, following week by week the 2010 Bolivar Central Tigers State Championship season.

March 8, 2010: Bolivar hosted Trezevant in the sub-state game that would send the winner to Murfreesboro. The defensive struggle between the two clubs saw a 9-8 lead for Trezevant after the first quarter. Bolivar scored their eight points on six free throws and a basket by Kegan Fuller, but Ricky Tisdale took over in the second quarter, scoring nine of Bolivar's 14 points as the Tigers grabbed a 22-17 lead.

The Tiger defense kept the lid shut on Trezevant in the third quarter as well, holding them to only seven points. Trezevant only scored in double figures in the fourth quarter as Bolivar won 50-38. Tisdale led the Tigers with 17, while O'Neal Woods had 10, including hitting 4-4 from the line in the final stanza. Bolivar scored 21 of their 50 from the free throw line, while Trezevant went 5-11. Bolivar was heading to Murfreesboro, but so was Liberty.
