From the Other Side of the Desk

For 152 years the newspaper now known as the Bolivar Bulletin Times has brought the news of Hardeman County to those interested.

Many publishers have guided the ship. Thousands of people have worked there, or here, as it now has become.

Now it's our turn. And we aren't taking the task lightly.

Which reminds me of something I wrote more than six years ago...

My little boy rummaged around until he found it under a pile of leaves. He had to pull a few twigs and some bark off it, but he finally got it to his liking. He ran to the edge of the yard and pointed it at a passing truck, yelling at the top of his lungs. He pointed it at the sky and then slammed it on the ground. He made noises like a gun while aiming it in all directions.

He hit acorns with it. He swept the leaves off the yard with it. He beat trees with it. He held it over his head and yelled at the top of his lungs.

After a while, he came over near me, swinging it back and forth. He started hitting the ground with it. I asked, "What do you have there, son?"

Without looking at me, he replied, "It's a stick, Dad."

And so it is with this...from afar, it's just another newspaper. But when you get your hands on it and look inside, we hope you'll see it as something more. We hope you'll see it as the voice, the watchful eye, the entertainer, the informer, the critic, the record-keeper, and the celebrator of all that is good in Hardeman County.

And if you want to, you can even roll it up and hit acorns with it.

But we hope you'll read it first...

That was written for the first County Journal in 2010; In humbling comparison, this is approximately the 7,864th issue of the newspaper that began in 1865.

But to us, it's the most important one. And next week, we plan on that one being just as important.

We hope you will come along with us...

Commission Jumps Into the Lake Project

The Hardeman County Commission unanimously voted on March 15 to retain the services of Laura Benz, who will begin the permitting process to bring a recreational lake to Hardeman County.

Benz, the principal at Laura Wahoske Benz, LLC of Atlanta, is noted for her success in environmental and reservoir permitting projects, met with the commission for three hours on March 14. There was no discussion prior to the vote on the 15th.

The lake project has been endorsed by the Executive Committee of the Hardeman County Chamber of Commerce.

Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain, who spearheaded the move to hire Benz, says she is 8 for 8 in getting permitting of this type.

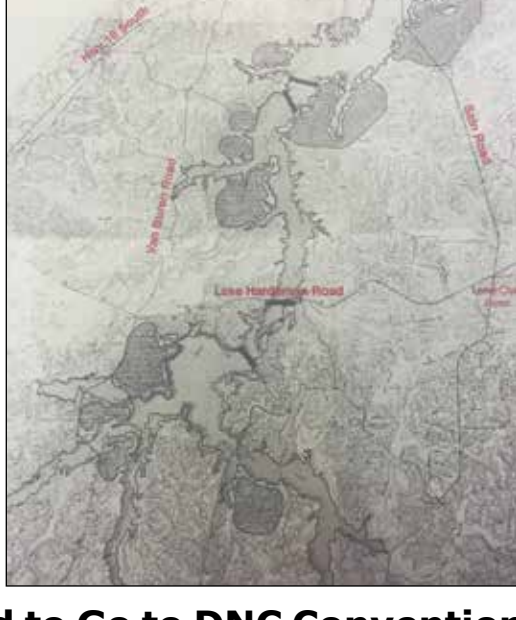

"This is the biggest thing we have done in years, perhaps in the history of the county," said Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain. "This could impact the county with more than 400,000 visitors and visitor expenditures of more than $22,000,000."

The county is also seeking money from the state of Tennessee with the permitting fee, which could go as high as $250,000 when fees for engineering, ecological services and studies that would be required by the Environmental Protection Agency and by the US Corps of Engineers.

A letter asking for the funding was sent to Tennessee Department of Economic and Community Development Randy Boyd in late February, signed by all sixteen county commissioners.

Reading Across Bolivar Elementary

Rice Elected to Go to DNC Convention

Congressional District 7 Democrats elected delegates to the Democratic National Convention this past Saturday in Decaturville. Based on the District 7 vote totals each of the presidential candidates received in the Democratic Primary on March 1, Hillary Clinton was allotted three delegates, two women and one man. Bernie Sanders was allotted two delegates, one man and one woman. Congressional District 7 is made up of 19 counties.

The Clinton delegates who were elected at the district convention were Meryl Rice from Hardeman County, VaRand Sevier-Pride from Hardin County, and C. Wayne Elam from McNairy County. Sanders delegates elected were Rolando Marrero and Karen Fite, both of Williamson County. "She's the hardest working Democrat in Tennessee, having served as a past chair of the local party, and now as the TNDP executive committeewoman from Senate District 26," Randall Rice said in nominating his wife. Mrs. Rice (above right) is the current Hardeman County Democratic Party Chair and also chairs the Tennessee Democratic County Chairs Association. "Since moving to Tennessee, Meryl's worked in every presidential campaign since John Kerry, worked in two congressional campaigns, two gubernatorial campaigns, many local campaigns, and ran for the

Bulletin Times Changes Ownership

THE COUNTY JOURNAL, the weekly newspaper of Hardeman County, finalized a purchase of the assets of the Bolivar Bulletin Times on March 16.

"We plan to combine the best of both papers and staffs to serve the people of Hardeman County," said Darrell Teubner, who has published THE COUNTY JOURNAL since 2010.

THE COUNTY JOURNAL, INC. ceased publication under their banner on March 17 and will use the Bolivar Bulletin Times banner beginning Thursday, March 24.

"We are proud to make the oldest newspaper in Hardeman County a locally owned one," added Teubner.

Lewis Floyd, Senior Associate with W.B. Grimes & Company represented the seller in this transaction. Providing the financing for the project were Merchants and Planters Bank and Centennial Bank.

The first newspaper in Hardeman County appeared in 1829 and was called the Bolivar Palladium. Oth-

FAITH

Into the Woods and Back Again

by Jimmy Sadler

I was not impressed with the recent movie, Into the Woods. I am not generally a huge fan of musicals, but I do enjoy creativity in storytelling. (I do admit, I enjoyed Oklahoma!) This story seemed sadistically dark. Combining characters from other fables, the basic storyline was that in the woods, bad things happen. When you are left to your own devices and are in a place where nobody sees, the characters were given a moral pass, simply because strange things happen in the forest. If you are married, according to one of the characters, there are no commitment worries. Go into the woods and people will understand a passing fascination with a depraved prince.

As much as I disliked the movie, apart from one hilarious scene, there is truth to the premise. When we are at our most private, we truly find out who we are. For most of us, it is there the struggle begins. Depression blossoms in loneliness. Anger kindles the fire of rage in a crucible of quiet. Man gives wings to his normally caged temptations when he is left to his own thoughts.

Without good distractions to fence his fallen nature, a human being finds how sinful his or her heart can be. We all know the dark side of being alone or being anonymous. I suggest, however, that there is no greater place to meet God and grow into your faith. The deeper truths are locked up for those who are willing to look.

Jacob wrestled all night with God in a lonely struggle. Moses left everything he knew to retreat into the wilderness. It is there God met Jacob and blessed him, it is in the wilderness God called Moses. The rest of history reflects the moments these men spent alone with God. Moses would continue to speak to God on lone walks up the mountain of God. His communion would be so real and sweet that his face would glow when he came back to the camp.

Jesus went into the wilderness to be tempted. Like us, his human side was subjected to the elements, to hunger, thirst and loneliness. It is in this harsh place where Jesus could have chosen a different path, but instead, He grew into the plan His Heavenly Father laid out for Him. John the baptizer spent time in the wilderness also, to prepare himself for the Messiah's coming. The alienation that could have derailed them with temptation instead tilled their hearts in preparation for what God was doing.

I was in the forest spending time with God when God spoke clearly to my heart. I was anxious about the health of my unborn daughter, but God led me to scripture that gave me perfect peace. I was in the woods when I lifted my hands and relinquished my mom to God. She had a heart attack and was waiting for a plan of treatment. God urged me to pray "God, she is Yours, and You can have her with You if that is Your will." I didn't even know why he led me to pray that, at least at the time. When she unexpectedly passed away just a few days later, I realized what God was doing.

I once drove to the beach for a sort of wilderness retreat. God used me there, even in my initial unwillingness. Today I walked down a path with a folding chair. In desperation, I called to God once again. I spent time quietly sitting alone, waiting for God to strengthen me. I will go again tomorrow, needing time to peel away the veneer of anxiety that has wrapped around me lately.

Do not be afraid to go into your own wilderness. Seek God, speak to Him, plead with Him. You will find out a lot about yourself, but don't stop there. Seek God, and be changed.

Sunrise: Resiliant

by David Coy

One year after the loss of a precious soul to a sudden and unexpected death still shakes one to the core not only concerning the life that held so much potential, but the overwhelming amount of lack of compassion existent in those who think it appropriate to tell others when they should 'move-on'. This was evident in the interview completed by Timothy C. Morgan in Christianity Today periodical with Kay Warren in the death of her son Matthew. The journey is described as a year of grieving dangerously as the title headline. She retold a familiar theme that many yet know not how to console others in her statement, how no one else knows how another feels though so many mourners here others say that they do.

She reminds us that trauma changes you and you can never go back to who you were before your loss. One point she makes must serve as a principle to live by for all who can identify with something she is enduring. If you have had a child take their own life, if you have lost a child who also struggled with mental illness then you also must embrace a statement she made that I think we all should hold onto and employ in our lives. She said I determined not to let anything destroy me. She was feeling devastated by her loss, yet not destroyed. That is good. Others need to hang on to that sentiment. Some people may think that their loss is a catastrophe from which they can not recover. Remember the words of Kay Warren.

Be determined to succeed, to live, to overcome, to rebuild, to reclaim your life, to conquer your personal devastation. And if you cannot do it alone, that is alright. Ask for help. We are here to walk with you. This will take resilience on your part. Know that you are stronger than you give yourself credit. Resilience carries with it the idea of being able to become strong again after something bad happens. You must believe this or find someone else who does and allow them to be your new best friend. When I was in the military I needed someone to do just that for and with me. They were my Barnabas, my encourager. You can overcome similarly as well. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcares.com

Everybody Crazy 'Bout a Sharp Dressed Kid

Whiteville Elementary School added a bit of fashion to their school uniforms during their preparation for testing during the week of March 3.

Bowties were provided for grades 3-8 and Kindergarten teachers provided ties for their students to show support for those who were testing.

The last day was Dress for Success Day to show how hard students worked to be successful for Practice Test 1.

According to Whiteville Elementary School's Larry Prince, "Dressing helps students feel more confident throughout the school day; donning professional dress may also motivate students to work harder, so they can reach academic excellence." Photos submitted by Larry Prince.

National Championship Coach to Visit Bolivar

Former Tennessee Coach Phillp Fulmer will speak at the Bolivar Central High School Auditorium on May 12 at 6:00 p.m.

He will be the keynote speaker for the Bolivar Central Hi-Lite Reel Award Show.

He served as head coach of the Tennessee Volunteers football team from 1992 to 2008, compiling a 152-52 record. He is best known for coaching the Volunteers in the first ever BCS National Championship Game in 1998, defeating Florida State University. Fulmer was the Volunteers' 20th head football coach.

At the end of his tenure at Tennessee, Fulmer had the second-highest number of wins of any head coach in Tennessee history, 21 behind Robert Neyland. Fulmer also was the third coach in Tennessee history to win a claimed national championship. His 1997 and 1998 teams won consecutive SEC championships. In recognition of his accomplishments at Tennessee, Fulmer was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2012.

As a player at UT, Fulmer garnered All-Southeastern Conference honors at offensive guard. Fulmer helped Tennessee to a 30-5 record from 1969-1971, where he played for coaches Doug Dickey (who returned to UT as athletic director and hired Fulmer as the Volunteers' coach) and Bill Battle. (source: Wikipedia)

Both Bolivar Central Tennis teams are 1-1 on the season after falling to Chester County on March 17.

Coached by Ian Wellons, the boys loss was the first regular season loss since the 2014 season.

The boys lost to Chester County by a 6-1 score, with the lone win for the Tigers coming in a doubles match as David TerBurgh and Ryan Sanders defeated David Showers and Joseph Egros.

The girls fell 4-3. Mason Strope defeated Tina McBee in singles and Bolivar's doubles teams of Molly Barnes-Emma Burnett and Sadie Richardson-Mason Strope were victorious.

The teams were scheduled to face McNairy Central on March 24.

Bolivar/Hardeman County Dizzy Dean Baseball and Softball will begin their seasons in April.

The boys are scheduled to begin the 18th and the girls the 25th.

The Bolivar Lions Club will begin their third year in Dizzy Dean Baseball, while the girls will be playing the Dizzy Dean rules for the first season.

Hardeman County's three middle school baseball teams played a preview of the upcoming Hardeman County Middle School baseball tournament on March 22.

Hornsby beat both Middleton and Bolivar, and Middleton beat Bolivar in the third game.

The county tournament will be in Middleton on April 9 beginning at 11:00 a.m. with the first and third seeds playing the first game. Currently, Hornsby is the first seed, Middleton second and Bolivar is third. Middleton won their first County Middle School Championship last year, while Hornsby has never won the year-end tournament.

An apology: In the March 16, 2016 issue of the Bolivar Bulletin Times, a story recapping the Middleton Lady Tigers season ending loss to Gibson County incorrectly referred to Middleton as "Bolivar" twice.

We apologize for the lack of attention to detail by the writer of the story.

Also, Middleton Coach James Burkley was listed as "unavailable for comment" in the story. This was also an error. James Burkley was available for any and all press immediately after the game at the Murphy Center in Murfreesboro. Again, we apologize.

Bird Dog Foundation Honors Art Winners by Bill Stone

The Bird Dog Foundation held its annual Art Awards program on Saturday, March 19 at the museum in Grand Junction. The event was attended by over 100 award winners, their families, and art teachers from across the area including several from North Mississippi.

Honored were student artists who were selected as the winners of the Foundation's Annual Art Contest. Forty-two students received recognition and prizes.

Grand Junction Mayor, Curtis Lane, welcomed the visitors. Lucy Cogbill, Education Coordinator, presented the awards with help from Executive Director, Tonya Brotherton. There were three winners and often an honorable mention award for students from Kindergarten through the twelfth grade. In addition, there were three divisional and one overall winner.

Division winners were Ahaiva Tyler, Kindergarten through fourth grade, Faith Collins, grades five through eight, and Courtney Tipton, grades nine through twelve. Brody Herndon was the judges' pick as overall winner.

The contest is open to all area students, kindergarten through twelfth grade. They may be in home, public, or private school. January 15 is the deadline to submit their work. Winners are selected by a panel of outside, independent judges. There is no entry fee. The artwork will remain on display in the Museum's Library until the next year's winners are selected. The work will be returned to the student's teacher or parents at that time.

The work is judged on originality, expressiveness, and use of medium. There is a wide range of appropriate subject matter. The medium is almost unlimited. Photographs or traced artwork is not accepted. Official rules for entering the contest are posted online. The website is www.birddogfoundation.com. Open the "Art and Essay Contests" section.

Shiloh to Celebrate 154th Anniversary

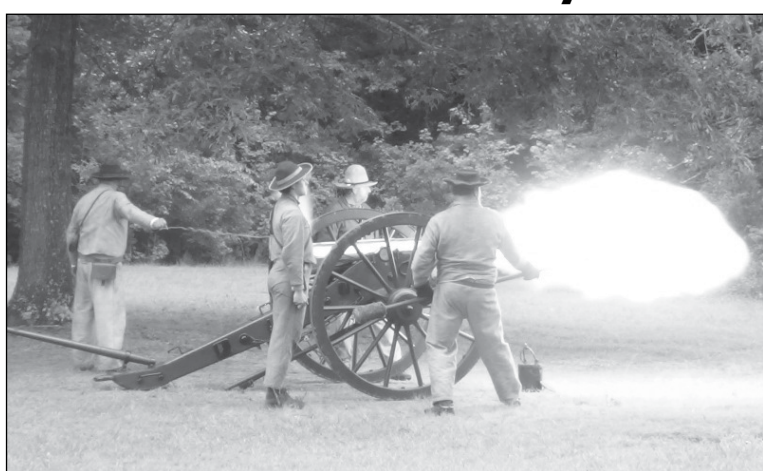

Shiloh National Military Park will commemorate the 154th anniversary of the battle by offering a variety of living history demonstrations and interpretive programs over a seven day period, from Saturday, April 2, through Friday, April 8.

"The National Park Service will turn 100 years old on August 25, 2016, and we invite everyone to join us in a year-long celebration of America's National Parks. Throughout the nation, at every park, we will be hosting a variety of signature events to celebrate the centennial. At Shiloh National Military Park, the commemoration of the anniversary of the battle is our first Centennial signature event for 2016. We invite everyone to come out to the park and remember the epic battle fought here in 1862," said Park Superintendent Dale Wilkerson. "The event will include everything from full scale living history demonstrations, to in depth, real-time ranger led hikes."

The 154th anniversary activities kick off on the weekend of April 2 and 3, as the park hosts living history demonstrations on the battlefield. On Saturday, April 2, Confederate reenactors will participate in cavalry, artillery, and infantry demonstrations, culminating with a joint tactical demonstration in Duncan Field. At the park visitor center, visitors will be treated to wet plate photography demonstrations, Union Quartermaster Department programs, and exhibits on the Union Navy during the Civil War. Both Union and Confederate camps open to the public at 8:00 a.m. on Saturday.

Visitors will also have a chance to meet Emmy Award winning author Patricia Cameron. Ms. Cameron will be signing her new book, "Unconditional Surrender: The Romance of Julia and Ulysses S. Grant" in the park bookstore from 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, April 2.

On Sunday, April 3, all activities will be centered around the park visitor center including the wet plate photography studio, Union navy exhibits, and Union infantry and firing demonstrations. On both days visitors are also invited to meet sailors representing the U.S. Navy Ticonderoga-Class Destroyer "USS SHILOH," currently stationed in the Sea of Japan. These sailors will be on-hand to present information about the ship and to participate in the days' events.

Birthdays for March 17-23: Scotty Smith-17

Scripture Verse for the Week; Jesus said, "Peace be with you! As the Father has sent me, I am sending you". John 20:21.

Pauline Thompson is resting at home after a short stay in the hospital. She wants to thank her friends and neighbors for their thoughts and prayers. As you read this, yours truly should be in the recovery phase after heart surgery. I would appreciate your prayers for a swift and uneventful recovery.

The renovation of the POA Lodge continues. The upstairs restrooms were torn out and the plumber has completed installation of new fixtures. Completion of that phase of the remodel should be finished at this time and the next one, replacing the portico, underway.

Applications are being taken and interviews conducted to fill the vacancy on the maintenance crew. Anyone interested in the position should call the Property Owners' office.

Tom Wein, Maintenance Manager, has begun repairing the fountain at the entry to the Valley. The pump will have to be replaced. The new one is ordered and the repairs completed shortly.

The regular monthly Board of Directors meeting was held Friday, March 11. Eight of the nine candidates for the four seats to be filled in the upcoming election were present. They were given the opportunity to introduce themselves. Each expressed their concerns and ideas for improving our community. Don't forget the Annual Property Owners' Association meeting scheduled for April 16. The election of three board members to serve three year terms and one to serve a one year term will be held at that time. Every property owner is urged to attend the meeting and cast their vote.

Hello to all! Well I guess since we had snow and ice last year we will have plenty of water this year. Next home game for volleyball is March 24th at 12:00. Next home game for baseball is also March 24th at 3:00. Birthdays for March 15th through the 31st are Jayna Hertweck, Shelby Smith, Tanley Moore, Maggie Morris, Austin Cossar, Nathaniel Culp, Matthew Marek, Cullen Chandler, Landon Hannis, and Joel Vickers. Ruritan Club met last Thursday night and we are excited that they will once again have the fish fry on April 23rd. The club has been picking up some new members and are looking forward to doing some great things for the community. If you are interested in becoming a member or if you would like to purchase some tickets for the fish fry just call, text, or email, I will be happy to help you out. More great news for Hornsby is that it looks like the town will be getting a dollar store. Looking forward to the children at Hornsby Baptist Church presenting their Easter program "Because He Lives". The children always do a wonderful job in presenting God's word. The program is at 11:00 Sunday, March 20th. Remember we are doing a bible study that is carrying us through the whole bible this year; if you would like to be a part of it but cannot attend on Sunday night you can check our website to see what passages are being read for the week. Please keep Jacob Dowty and his family in your prayers as this young man is undergoing chemo treatments. He was recently diagnosed with cancer also. Hello from Toone where Mother Nature is working her magic making our world green again! So far, most of my green consists of Spring weeds and other junk grass, but I do have a couple of wild pear trees that are displaying their bright, white colors. I love Spring!

The Youth Group at New Union Baptist Church will present a special Easter production, "Someone Worth Dying For", a story of Jesus' last hours before being taken the cross. Come early and join the congregation for a special Easter Sunrise Service at 7:00 a.m., followed by breakfast and Sunday school and the Youth program at 10:00 a.m.

Easter always brings activities such as egg hunts with the kiddies, Easter programs at church and family meals. I can remember the fun I always had at Easter as a kid growing up in Toone. Back then we didn't have the fancy, designer eggs and other decorations. Our Easter eggs were real eggs that were hard-boiled and dyed. We used the same wicker Easter basket with the same fake, plastic grass. My sisters and I would take turns hiding the eggs in the yard, or indoors in case of rain. We hid them so many times, the shells were all cracked and many of the eggs bursted open, and then there was always that one egg that were never found, but usually within a couple weeks, the foul odor would lead you to it's hiding place! Mother, of course, would get upset and fuss about the smell, but she always fixed eggs for us again the next year. Those were memorable times!

As we do each year, the Yarbrough Clan will be celebrating Easter together here at the farm with a delicious lunch followed by the big Easter egg hunt for the kids. This has been an Easter tradition for many years.

Happy Birthday to my little Sister, Mary Yarbrough-Wharton, as she celebrates her big day on, March 24. Mary and Terry still live in Nashville, but they come home to Toone every chance they get.

A couple of weeks later, my older Sister, Jane Yarbrough McNeill, will celebrate her big day. Jane now lives near her Daughter in South Carolina, but she comes back home for a visit as often as possible. Happy Birthday, Sisters!!!

"Hee Haw 2016" is now in the history books, and if you didn't make it to any of the shows this year, you missed a great evening of music and laughter. Lots of long hours and hard work go into this show each year. Hats off to the cast and musicians, and to all of you who came to the shows to support us we hope to see you all there next year!

"Happy Easter" to all of you, and If I don't see you before then, be sure to hide my eggs!! Until next time. . . talk to your neighbors!

Severe Weather Awareness Week

As part of its area-wide weather preparedness campaign, the National Weather Service in Memphis will hold a question and answer session at the Skywarn storm spotter training program on Thursday, March 31, from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. The program will be in Bolivar at the Municipal Center, 211 N. Washington St., and is held in partnership with Hardeman County Emergency Management.

The program will discuss thunderstorm formation, severe weather production, and features associated with severe storms. The presentation will also review tornado formation and behavior, non-threatening clues which may be mistaken for significant features, and safety tips to keep in mind when thunderstorms threaten. The program will discuss spotter operations and recommended reporting procedures. The two-hour presentation will be in multimedia format, featuring numerous pictures of storms and nearly 25 minutes of storm video clips.

The network of trained storm spotters plays an important role across the mid-South. "We could not do our job as well as we do without storm spotters," said Gary Woodall, Warning Coordination Meteorologist at the Memphis NEW Office. "Real-time reports from storm spotters played a huge role in our warnings during tornado outbreak on December 23. Radar is a great tool, but it only tells up part of the storm's story. The combination of spotter reports and radar data gives us the best possible picture of storms and what's going in inside them".

The program is free and open to the public. "By coming to this program, you will learn a lot about thunderstorms", Woodall said. "Even if you don't become an active storm spotter, you will learn about how storms work and the visual clues you can identify when storms are in your area. Weather safety tips will also be discussed to help better prepare you and your family for the threats that storms pose."

The Hardeman County Severe Weather Program is one of nearly 20 that the Memphis NWS Office will conduct between February and early April. The National Weather Service in Memphis provides forecasts, warnings, and weather services for 57 counties across the mid-South. For more information on severe weather and the National Weather Service, visit the Memphis Forecast Office's website at <http://www.weather.gov/memphis>

A Message from Bolivar Energy Authority:

To operate your space heater and fireplace efficiently and help keep down your heating bill, here's some advice:
Turn down the thermostat and use space heaters to warm only the rooms being used. If it is below 40 degrees outside, don't use your fireplace. When a fire is burning, lower the thermostat a few degrees. And always keep the damper closed when the fireplace is being used.

Middleton Musician Pens Title Cut

The song Driftwood, written by Middleton resident, musician and author, Lee McAlpin (right), is the title cut on Australian country music artist Adam Price's third CD. Price's latest CD titled Driftwood has been recently released and is getting radio airplay throughout Australia and will soon be available for download through all major digital distribution services.

The deal for Adam Price to use the song Driftwood was secured by WAKE Music Publishing which is owned and operated by Middleton residents Keith and Wanda Sasser. Out of several hundred songs submitted to Adam Price, there were 15 that he felt were good enough to be on his latest CD. Adam has been performing the song Driftwood for several months at his live shows and said that it has been getting an excellent crowd response. Submitted by Keith Sasser.

Hoot: Spring Turkey Season ...IT IS HERE!!!!

First morning, turkeys 3-HOOT-0. As expected, the girls (hens) got em and said "SO LONG!!" Around 9:00 a.m. we heard a gobbler way off. Winds were 15mph!! We tried to get closer, set-up and began our THANG!! Nope ...NOTHING!!! For the next 3 hours we "prospected" ...(go to several different spots, set up and call for a little while).

For those of you thinking that Turkey Hunting is EASY...you really might want to take up Ping Pong or Dominos!! IT'S NOT FOR EVERYONE!!!! Watching the shows on T.V make it look like every hunt is a done deal! HA!!! Been there, done that!! One of the most valued things for a turkey hunter is...SLEEP!! As a guide, we do not get very much rest! It's just what we do! Biggest and probably most important asset a turkey hunter can have?! KNOWING THE LAY OF THE LAND!!! The better you know the area, you'll know real good "set-up" spots. SETTING UP IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT!!

The turkeys have seem to be Hennaed-up and shut-up! They'll gobble on the limb (in the tree) and maybe a few times on the ground! The foliage is greening up fast! Very soon the "hens" will be leaving the gobblers to build their clutch of eggs! That's pre-rut! When the hens start setting they will not have anything to do with the gobblers.

THIS IS FULL BLOWN RUT!!! GOBBLING WILL BE CRAZY!!! This is the fun time to turkey hunt! They gobble...you call...they come...YOU SHOOT!!! DONE SON!!! Good luck this season. As always: SAFETY FIRST!!! - Hoot

Note: Have you ever been to the beach? If so, watch the crabs sometimes, especially at night. Very similar to turkeys...at night when it is cool, they flock up! During the heat of the day, they will separate! Guess I need crab decoys and head to the beach? There are hermit gobblers!!!!!!!

Grand Junction Library Celebrates Easter by Bill Stone

The Easter Bunny, AKA Scottie Turner, spent several hours almost literally covered up with children wanting to have their pictures taken with him. He was the main attraction at the Grand Junction Library's Easter Program. The event, held Saturday, March 19, was attended by over 75 children, accompanied by parents and grandparents. Included in the crowd, which lined up for a visit, was the city's mayor, Curtis Lane, who welcomed the visitors. He did pose for a picture with the Easter Bunny and happily accepted a candy treat when it was offered.

The day was filled with activities for all ages. Easter wreath making, jigsaw puzzles, coloring projects, and a writing assignment were among the different tasks the children enjoyed. All of the library's computers were kept busy with children's games snap, crackle and popping, not to mention whistling and beeping, without break. Included also was a free lunch for the participants and those accompanying them. Hot dogs, chips, cookies, and a drink brought out the smiles.

Many of those attending were reading and checking out books. "This has been our best program for the children this year," said Wanza Taylor, the city's librarian. "We've had several apply for library cards. Today goes along with our current, ongoing reading program. Every time a child checks out a book, they receive a prize. These gifts are provided by donors and generally are some type tool the child can use in school. It's surprising how important it is sometimes to simply give a child a pencil."

Taylor was happy several people donated to the library's "million penny" campaign. "We will cross ten thousand today," she said. "This money will help remodel our new location."

Photo: Mayor Curtis Lane welcomed the Easter Bunny and a host of visitors to the Grand Junction Library's Easter Program held on Saturday March 19. Free food, a visit with the bunny, and many Easter activities were the order of the day.

OUR COUNTY

Hardeman County Remembered by Lisa Coleman

In the history of newspapers in our dear county, this is a pretty special newspaper you are holding in your hands. This is the first edition of the Bolivar Bulletin-Times under its new ownership, which is a repeat of history that's happened before in these parts.

The first newspaper to be published back when the county was only a few years old was the Bolivar Palladium. As often happened in small and growing communities, there were several other newspapers that came along and published for a few years. The Bolivar Bulletin was founded by Moses Parrish in 1866 – an entrepreneurial move as it was less than a year after the end of the Civil War. The paper had other owners and other competition before it was purchased by Hugh Williams and R. T. Green in 1888; Mr. Williams would eventually buy out Mr. Green to become the sole owner of the newspaper for many years.

The person I always think of when I think of the Bolivar Bulletin is Mr. Alan Sexton; I love this photo because this is how I remember him. He always had a smile on his face and always took the time to say hello and talk for a few minutes. Mr. Sexton had purchased the Hardeman County Times in 1940 and bought the Bulletin in 1946 combing the two papers into one (sound familiar?). Mr. Sexton was a proponent of the community newspaper and each edition he produced was proof of that. He and his sweet wife, Mrs. Estelle, ran the paper until 1974.

I knew Mr. and Mrs. Sexton for as long as I can remember, and to me, they were the newspaper. They were its heart and soul and were interested in their community of Bolivar and Hardeman County. Mr. Sexton was always encouraging to me when I began writing and we would talk from time to time about history, especially some of our local history. I do remember him telling me one time that I should “always be curious”; which is pretty easy for me to do, since I like to learn, talk to folks, and find out their stories... and then write about them.

Life sometimes comes around in circles that you could never see or imagine. The first “grown up” job I ever had was writing for the Bolivar Bulletin-Times and while I wrote a lot of different articles, my favorites were always the stories I wrote about people and places I knew or saw or met...or usually remembered. The Bulletin-Times was the first place that I ever saw my byline on a story but it was The County Journal over the last five or so years that gave my stories (and me) a home. Now me and my stories have come the long way around and are writing on the pages of the Bulletin-Times once again. And once again it is a locally owned, community-minded newspaper, owned by folks who are interested in all the people and places and stories that make up this place we all call home...our Hardeman County.

Somewhere, y'all, I believe Mr. Sexton is pretty happy about all of that; I know that I surely am.

Spring Has Sprung by Bill Stone

Spring is beginning to bring about an explosion of many beautiful blooms in Grand Valley Lakes. Daffodils, bradford pears, redbuds, tulip poplars, and iris are among those trees and plants now in full color. Spring has also brought on many severe cases of “fishing fever”.

Giving Back to Role Models

Honored were: Annie Hamer, Carolyn Joy, Helen Messenger, Teresa Goden, Camille King, Jessie Boyle, Frankie Hicks, Martha Robertson, Helen Johnson, Debra Smith, Prophetess Teresa Robinson, Prophetess Sara Long, and Mother Earleen Braddock.
