ONE DOLLAR

From the Other Side of Someone Else's Desk

We step aside this week for family, as my dad wrote of his experience on the road...with our kids...

It all began Friday afternoon at 5:50. That's when granddaughter Gracie bounded out to the car at the conclusion of her ballet lesson. She joined Grammie Gail, John and myself in the vehicle and we began our trek to Williamstown, Kentucky, some 450 miles northeast. I had planned to drive over half the distance before seeking lodging. The first mistake was leaving I-40 at mile marker 143 to eat dinner. Actually, that was not the mistake as there were several places to eat at the exit. It was my choice of a restaurant I had many times frequented. The food was fine and the prices reasonable but well-over an hour to complete our meal put us off schedule.

We continued on I-40 to Nashville where we turned North on I-65 to Bowling Green, Kentucky where we procured lodging. The first motel we tried was without vacancy, due to a 55-57 Chevrolet Car Show being held there, a dog show, and students returning to Western Kentucky University.

We continued our journey at the very late hour of 9:00 a.m. Saturday morning after our continental breakfast. I had planned to eat lunch before arriving at the Ark Encounter but Williamstown is somewhat isolated and no convenient fast food places were nearby. The Ark Encounter is very convenient to I-75, maybe one-half mile west. We parked and walked to the ticket booths. As a prelude to what was to come, we stood in line for about thirty minutes before I forked over

Are You Ready for Some Football?

Hardeman County Football begins August 19 with both Bolivar Central and Middleton in action.

Middleton will open at Rossville Christian, while Bolivar will begin their 2016 campaign hosting region opponent Fayette-Ware.

Both teams won their opening games last year with Bolivar beating the Wildcats 51-33 and Middleton outscoring Rossville Christian by a 28-12 margin. It was the first time both teams had won their opening games since prior to the 2000 season.

Ross Appointed to School Board

The Hardeman County Commission appointed Gene Ross to replace outgoing Jerry McCord on the school board in District 2, Position 3.

Ross, a former employee of the Hardeman County Board of Education, will serve until November, when a special election will be held in order to elect a replacement for the remainder of McCord's term, which expires in 2018.

McCord resigned his post that he has held since 1998, after moving out of the District 2 area.

Petitions to fill the spot were due in the Hardeman County Election Commission office at noon on August 18, 2016. At presstime on Wednesday, only Ross has filed to be placed on the ballot.

Saving Our Luez Reports Progress

The Luez Theatre will be able to host musical acts and other events, as a stage has been constructed in the circa 1948 theatre in Bolivar.

"We are pleased to get this phase of the work near completion," said Luez Theatre Committee Chairperson Cathy Frost. "We have some more things to accomplish, but we're on the move again."

The theatre, purchased in 2013 by the Bolivar Downtown Development Corporation (DEVCO) after closing in August of 2012, still needs electrical and heating/air conditioning issues solved in order to be able to host live music and other productions throughout the year. The committee is also looking into projection equipment and cosmetic changes to the ceiling and walls.

Since the purchase by DEVCO, the committee hosted a screening of White Christmas and It's a Wonderful Life in 2013, followed by Gone with the Wind in 2014, attempting to raise money to do renovations on the infrastructure of the building.

This past year, DEVCO approved funds for the theatre and the City of Bolivar has gotten involved as well, applying for grants to fix the facade and to purchase equipment.

The committee is also expected to make decisions on the seating for the theatre. Interested persons are welcome to vote on various plans on the Luez Theatre facebook page.

Return Celebration Planned at TCAT Whiteville

As part of its larger Welcome Week activities for all students, TCAT Whiteville will hold a special celebration called "My Future's So Bright" to welcome new and returning Tennessee Promise and Tennessee Reconnect students to campus on Friday, September 16, 2016.

The 2016-17 academic year that opens next week is the second year of the Tennessee Promise program, which provides two years free of tuition and most fees at Tennessee's community colleges and Tennessee Colleges of Applied Technology (TCATs) for new high school graduates starting with the high school class of 2015.

The new school year marks the return of the first class of TN Promise students for their second year, and the arrival of new students from the high school Class of 2016. The separate Tennessee Reconnect program is for eligible older Tennesseans who don't qualify for TN Promise to return to school to pursue certificates, diplomas and degrees at the TCATs and community colleges.

To underscore the "My Future's So Bright" theme, TN Promise and Reconnect students who stop by the campus celebration will be given en sunglasses and invited to write messages on large banners about their hopes and what they want to do after graduating. There'll be a "future selfie" photo-op spot where students can photograph themselves and each other wearing graduation caps and attire or equipment associated with their future careers, and posting the photos on their favorite social media.

The event is scheduled for 11:00 a.m. at the TCAT Whiteville main campus located at 1685 Highway 64, Whiteville, TN.

"We support Governor Haslam's Drive to 55 initiative with the Tennessee Promise and Reconnect programs", says TCAT Whiteville Director, Carolyn Beverly. "TCAT Whiteville is committed to providing quality technical training and making higher education accessible to all. We look forward to the start of a new school year with the Tennessee Promise and Reconnect students and hope this event will show how much we appreciate them choosing TCAT Whiteville for their postsecondary experience."

Tennessee Promise was proposed by Governor Bill Haslam and approved by the Tennessee General Assembly in 2014 as both a scholarship and mentoring program focused on increasing college attendance – a key component of the Governor's Drive to 55 initiative aimed at increasing the percentage of working-age Tennesseans with college degrees and certificates to 55 percent by 2025. The Tennessee Promise provides students with a last-dollar scholarship, meaning that it covers tuition and fees not covered by the federal Pell Grant, the state's Hope Scholarship and other financial aid.

State Announces Mock Election

This fall students across Tennessee will be able to do something most kids can't: vote for president of the United States.

The Secretary of State's office is pleased to announce Tennessee's first ever Student Mock Election. Students in preschool through high school from all public and private schools as well as home school associations in Tennessee can participate.

Paper ballots letting students choose between Democratic presidential nominee Hillary Clinton and Republican presidential nominee Donald Trump will be provided, but schools may elect to include additional candidates or conduct elections locally in different ways.

Early voting for the mock election opens October 17 and results must be submitted by Mock Election Day, November 1. Mock presidential election results will be revealed on November 2, less than a week before the real General Election.

"Hopefully participating in a mock election now will encourage students across this great state to continue to exercise their right to vote as adults," Secretary of State Tre Hargett said.

The program also offers lesson plans created by Tennessee teachers. The goal is offer an easy way for teachers to incorporate civic engagement and citizenship into their curriculum leading up to the Student Mock Election.

FAITH

Enamored with the Shell

by Jimmy Sadler

I was driving in a small Texas town recently, and, as a photographer, I find many photo-worthy stops along the way. There was one little building that seemed worth the stop. It looked like a barn, and was probably a tractor garage at one point. The sun has beaten the paint and wood to a bleach-streaked vintage work of art. The details of the cracks and chipping paint make it picturesque. As I continued to drive and think of those times I've jumped out of the car on the side of the road, I realized I was enamored with something these buildings were never meant for. They were built for very important reasons, to keep the weather from precious contents inside. The barns kept things dry, the garages protected essential equipment and the old farm houses were still standing because they were made to protect families. I'm certainly guilty, as a photographer, of appreciating what you see.

We live in a world enamored with the shell. We focus on what we look like far more than what we ARE like. It's easier to change our clothes and seem accepted, on point, in charge or cooler than the rest of us than it is to work on our heart. Jesus said some of the people of his day were like whitewashed tombs. Inside the tomb, there was only death and disintegration, while it could look stately and beautiful on the outside. That's a sobering thought as I walk along historic cemetery routes. Regardless of how tall, wide or pristine the memorial, the inside contents are the same. What we yield to and do for God and others will last. The externals are a poor judge of the internal contents.

The visual I had of church as a child was a group of nice, pleasant people who all had it together. Looking back, I realize there was no correlation to how well you were dressed and how "together" your life was. I appreciate when people want to put on their best for worship, and admire that. That is not focusing on the internals but changing the externals for an honorable internal value. I also appreciate people who tend to dress as they normally would coming to God with a dressed up heart attitude toward God.

The heart attitude is something all of us work on, and we tend to know when we are putting on a show. We know how it is to look our best while we feel at our worst. To look "sharp" at a funeral, even our own some day, is quite the irony. This is something for other writings. Today I am interested in not how we portray or project ourselves, but how we place values on others.

We've all seen those amazing cars sparkle in the sun with rich, black tires and a big sign in the windshield that promises anyone is already approved. We love the car but have to come to grips with the realization that the cars probably have exceptionally high mileage. The exterior says nothing of the true value of the car, which is to transport those you love with some degree of dependability.

God's Word is our internal mirror. Our way to learn what to espouse in ourselves and what to cherish about others. When we truly make loving God and others our heart's desire, we will both realize and appreciate the deeper things of life. What was once ugly, easily dismissed, reproachable even, may become the most beautiful treasure you've ever held, the most gracious sight you've gazed upon.

"We now have this light shining in our hearts, but we ourselves are like fragile clay jars containing this great treasure. This makes it clear that our great power is from God, not from ourselves" (2 Corinthians 4:7, NLT).

Sunrise: Helping Children 4 by David Coy

In this our final installment in this series on helping children we will examine the characteristics of youth from 11-18. Their concept of death in this age group is far more developed than those of previous age groups that we have examined. They have developed the ability to think abstractly by their ability to draw logical conclusions from observations. A person who is able only to think concretely is understood to be able to sort and organize facts while incapable of generalizing and dealing with abstract perceptions. They perceive things very literally, thus concretely.

With this group, they begin to conceptualize death rather than understand it just concretely and as reversible. Their response to traumatic loss may involve extreme sadness, denial, even regression toward isolation, and a greater tendency to talk to people, especially peers outside the family. The most dangerous aspect while in their journey with grief is their risk taking. In a worst case scenario, they may become prone to increased risk and reckless behavior.

From family and friends, those who support their successful transition from grief to acceptance, they will expect and benefit from being included in planning and decision making as is permissible. They will likely desire to be informed of what to expect in terms of events, ceremonies or rituals. It will not go well if they are left out of details they think are important, as to expectations of them or others. Unless they have experienced loss before, it would be helpful if they see their guardians, relatives expressing their grief in healthy normal manner. They should be encouraged to talk about what they think and feel and to have their thoughts and feelings respected.

In all the age groups we have examined, we who are older and more experienced should act natural. We should show genuine care and concern while making it clear that we are here to listen and be supportive in every way possible one with another. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcares.com

COMMUNITY NEWS

The health of our largest lake took up most of the Grand Valley Lakes Board of Directors meeting on Friday, August 12. Interest in this topic was evident considering the number of people attending. Board member, Jean Harrison, explained to the crowd the Board was looking into the actions needed to keep the lake safe for swimmers and boat enthusiasts as well as increasing the size of bass and population of bream for fishermen. The old Grand Valley rumor mill had the board imminently fertilizing the lake. Several residents were upset by this "news" and rightly so. Nothing, however, is further from the truth. The board has been researching this topic for two or three months. The next step in their investigation is a visit by TWRA official, Hunter Henley. He, along with a state biologist, is going to do a three week evaluation of the lake. The board will use this evaluation to help determine the proper course of action to take. His services are at no charge. For the rumor mill specialists, why don't you attend the board meetings and find out what's fact and what's fiction? Then, please, spread the truth. If someone whispers about something "they" are going to do, ask, "Who "they" are and who told you this?" No answers? Put it in the old recycle bin.

The newly forming Men's Club held a brief meeting, actually more of a conversation, following the board meeting. Ron Scott has composed a set of by-laws for the club. These will be sent by e-mail to all members of record for their review. They will be considered for adoption at the club's next meeting. Four additional commitments to membership were made. It's good to see the men of the Valley stepping up to the plate!

Mark your calendars and tell others. On Monday, September 5, there will be a firework display at dark. As you remember the annual July 4 fireworks had to be called off because of rain, so come expecting to see another fabulous firework show.

The men of Silerton Baptist Church are looking forward to a steak dinner on Saturday, August 20. Bro. Charlie and his son will be cooking the steaks. Be sure to call Bill Mayfield at 658-2343 if you plan on attending.

The town of Silerton is preparing for the town election to be held in November. Willard Beshires and Mike Vales are seeking the office of mayor. Tammy Naylor, James Holloway, Kevin Beshires, Gail Mayfield and Frankie Lambert will be running for alderman.

The Fire Department will be having a fundraiser buffet meal on Saturday, September 17, starting at 6:00. There will be a drawing for an afghan.

Prayer list: Continue to pray for Debbie Ross and Trudy Stack. Carolyn Stack is almost finished with her rehab therapy but continues to need your prayers. Melanie James is having gastrointestinal problems. Trish Alexander covets your prayers. I am so very thankful for all your prayers. I have one more chemo treatment on August 18. Then a month of radiation treatments for five days a week.

Lee and Frances Stack hosted a family dinner Saturday, August 5. In attendance were Ricky and Jennifer Stack and their children, Joe Stack, and Grady and Carolyn Stack.

Jeanetta Bridges is back at home from a recent hospitalization at Jackson Madison County General Hospital. Gwen Lindley was glad to have her daughter, Robbie, home for a few days to help as a care giver. Bill Mayfield attended a statewide Farm Bureau meeting in Franklin, TN on August 11.

Hello from Toone! The Toone Mayor and Board of Aldermen, held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, August 9, at Toone City Hall. During this meeting, the 2016-2017 Town budget was voted on and accepted by a unanimous vote following the second reading.

Another order of business was the second reading on a motion for a 6% increase in water rates for all Toone customers. Following the reading, a vote was held, and the Board voted unanimously to accept the rate increase.

Toone Police Chief, Jerry Siler, says the department has secured approximately $25,000 worth of additional surplus equipment through the military's "LESO" program. Money from the sale of this equipment is used to purchase and update the Town's law enforcement and safety equipment.

Construction continues on the Toone "Heli-pad" next to the Toone Fire Department. The concrete work has been completed and the electricity has been installed for the lights that will illuminate the pad for night landings.

Construction is scheduled to begin in the next couple of months on Toone's new communications tower. This new tower is one of many that will replace old towers in all areas of the county, in order to provide better communication between county law enforcement offices, as well as for our 911 system. Funding for this project is being provided by the Hardeman County 911 agency.

Our Town is saddened from the loss of one of our oldest and most well-known neighbors, Mr. J.W. Leathers, who passed away at Pine Meadows rehab center on August 11. He and Miss Clara had been married for 70 years, and lived most of those years here in Toone. He was a very kind man who was always ready to help someone. He will be greatly missed. Please keep Miss Clara and their son, Larry Joe, in your thoughts and prayers.

"Aunt Berta's Cafe" had a special guest for lunch last Thursday. Jan stopped for lunch in Toone on her way to her night's destination in Henderson, TN. For more information, check-out her web-site blog at: www.riseupforthefallen.blogspot.com

OUR COUNTY

Hardeman County Remembered by Lisa Coleman

A couple of weeks ago I wrote a column about things I remembered doing as a child. Since then I've had several folks stop me and tell me they remember doing some of the same things, they wanted to know the rest of my list, and/or they had a memory to add to the list of our childhood "remember when". So, as before, in no particular order, here are more memories:

-Television only had three channels, and went off the air at midnight. And, to paraphrase Southern comedian Jeff Foxworthy, "if the president was on, the night was over". We thought it was awesome when channel 10 (PBS) came along in our world.

-Bicycles were the primary mode of transportation for the under 16 crowd. If you lived in a subdivision, you knew that when the street lights just started to flicker on that it was time to head to the house.

-Riding in the back of a cotton wagon. A fall activity, but oh, it was surely a lot of fun.

-Watching the Happy Hal Show (my absolute favorite). I met Happy Hal once and even got his autograph. It was awesome. For those not in the know, Happy Hal was Hal Miller and his local (Memphis) children's television show was a favorite for many years, as was his toy store in mid-town Memphis. Mr. Miller was also an accomplished artist.

-Watching Saturday morning cartoons in your pajamas with a bowl of Frosted Flakes, Lucky Charms, or Cocoa Puffs. Did you know that there are no more Saturday morning cartoons anymore? What??

-Taking naps in first grade. Of all of the customs our country has adopted from other countries over the years, why on earth did we say "no" to naps? Remember those plastic mats you had to buy for school?

-Wearing saddle shoes and penny loafers; love them, wore them back in the day. Oh wait, I still wear them from time to time. (Last time I wore my penny loafers I had to explain why there was a penny in them to a young adult. Bless them.)

-Getting your first library card. A really big deal, because you could write your own name all by yourself on the books you checked out.

-Telephones with rotary dials. You could tell if someone was aggravated by how fast they would dial. Also, you always hated to make calls that had lots of "8s" or "9s" in them. Oh, remember party lines? They were better than any social media today.

-Playing marbles and playing jacks - I was proficient at neither because both required some level of hand-eye coordination. My Mom, however, was the undisputed marbles champion of the Cloverport School.

-Chicken and frog funerals - My Granny Kiestler raised chickens and a couple of times a year when the chicks would hatch there would be one or two that were sickly. Of course, those were the ones we adopted, they would die a couple of days later, and we would hold chicken funerals. A friend who grew up without chickens said they did the same with frog funerals.

Y'all, I think I'll lace up my saddle shoes and keep adding to this list of childhood memories.

Hardeman County Voters,

$135.08 for two children and two seniors to get our tickets. By the way, that included $10.00 for parking which probably is more upsetting that $28.00 per child and $31.00 per senior, regular adults are $40.00 by the way.

We then boarded the bus for about a ten-minute ride to the Ark. After departing the bus, I decided we needed to eat. $33.00 and fifteen more minutes in line, we were dining on some very average and slightly over priced food. The kids and Grammie Gail saved us $7.50 by drinking water, I splurged with a soft drink.

Next we began our journey into the Ark. It took over an hour in line to reach the attraction. There were DVDs playing that depicted the building of this 700 million dollar project during our in-line experience. During our exploration of the Ark, three bottles of water at $2.50 each were a necessity and a trip to the gift shop and a digital memory picture completed the day's excitement.

We drove about one-hundred miles towards home before stopping for the night. We arrived home at 3:34 Sunday afternoon. Let me sum it up: Lodging $217.00, meals $167, gas $83. Ark expenses: parking $10, tickets $135.08, lunch $33.00, water break $7.50, picture $31.00, giftshop $83.00 for a grand total of $746.58.

And it was worth every penny because we got to spend a couple days with two of the most intelligent, sweetest, interesting children in the world.

And just think, the Creation Museum is only 45 minutes further.

Middleton Looks to Build on Past Success

With two years of success in West Tennessee, Middleton Volleyball wants a little more than just a trip to the state tournament.

"When I'm talking to the girls, we talk about being determined to do better this year," said Zeke Craft, who is in his eighth year at the helm. "Our first goal is to get better. I want us to be better by Labor Day and then get ready to compete at state," he added.

Two years ago, the Lady Tigers qualified for their first ever state tournament in Murfreesboro and then backed it up in 2015 with another trip to the final eight, but both years bowed out in two matches in the double-elimination tournament.

Craft has five seniors on the team, led by Megan Leslie and Talandra Sain as the captains.

"We are a mature team. They've been playing together since sixth grade," he said. "That's a big plus for us. They have a knowledge of the game and we can make adjustments. That's what I like about us."

The growth was evident on Tuesday night, as the Lady Tigers fell behind Chester County early, but made a comeback.

"We sure did. We had a chance to roll over, but won that fourth match and made it anyone's game."

Chester County led two matches to one heading into the fourth set, but Middleton managed a win to send the game in the final match of the night. In the final match, Chester County led 14-11, but Middleton responded with five straight points to take the win. Craft was happy in how his team accomplished the comeback that took them to 2-0 on the year.

"We didn't just hope they messed up, but we took it to them, hit it at them, and got the win."

Craft expects Trinity Christian to be the Lady Tigers biggest challenge in the district. The two teams have traded region championships the last two years, with Trinity winning the district tournament in both of the last two seasons.

Middleton's first match with Trinity is scheduled for September 8 at Bailey Howell Gymnasium in Middleton, with a trip to Jackson scheduled for September 22.

Rowland Earns GCAT Scholar Athlete Award

Bolivar Central High School Freshman Dayton Rowland received a berth on the 2015-2016 Golf Coaches Association of Tennessee Scholar Athlete Team for his play and academics while a part of the Bolivar Middle School Golf team coached by Kim Sain.

"Dayton was an outstanding golfer, student, and leader for the three years he attended Bolivar Middle. I'm looking forward to following his continued success as an athlete and a student," said Sain, who nominated him for the award.

To earn the award, Rowland had to maintain a grade-point average of 3.70 or higher for grades 6-8, be a letter winner during the year nominated and must be of high moral character and in good standing at the school making the nomination.

Rowland is the son of Amanda and J.P. Lucius and Jeremiah Faulk and Nick Rowland. His grandparents are Linda Davis and the late Bobby David, Sherrie McCord and Ronnie Faulk. Great-grandparents are Bill and Jr Faulk. Photo: Rowland and Sain.

Incorporating Recovery within Your Congregation or Faith Based Organization

Tennesseans are hurting.

Drug and alcohol addiction is breaking up marriages, destroying homes, crippling our children's futures, laying waste to our communities.

Our friends, our family, our colleagues, our neighbors, fellow church members.

We believe there is power in the pews.

People recover from addiction every day. Families are rebuilt. Lives are restored. But recovery rarely happens in a vacuum. It takes a community willing to stand beside the person, to support them, and to help lead them out of the darkness.

The State of Tennessee Department of Mental Health & Substance Abuse Service has launched an exciting, new mission partnering with faith-based communities across the state. Together, we are building a recovery network comprised of compassionate and concerned citizens who are reaching out to those struggling with addictions and connecting them to vital substance abuse services. Your congregation can join this effort.

Become a Certified Recovery Congregation!

Attendees will...

- Learn about the disease of addiction and understand what recovery is and how both affect the community and how it may be affecting members of your congregation.
- Have the opportunity apply as a Certified Recovery Church OR Faith-Based Organization in the State of Tennessee.
- Receive a digital toolkit in advance that will start to provide information and resources in advance of the meeting.
- Learn about resources in the region and their own community to support their congregation and community members struggling with addiction.
- Learn about Substance Abuse Prevention Coalitions and their work in the communities in West Tennessee and how congregations can support coalition's efforts to prevent substance abuse and what strategies address the impact on the region.

OUR COUNTY

Adoptable Animal of the Week by Sara Vonderheide

Scruffy (#16383) is a female Wheaten Terrier mix. She is approximately one year and only weighs 32 pounds. This sweetheart and her friend Midnight were living on their own when a citizen brought them in. They are both very underweight, but they are doing better since they have been at the shelter. This baby just needs a safe, loving, secure home to call her own. She is heartworm negative!

If you are interested in adopting Scruffy contact us a volunteer: Charla Cooper at 731-234-4421 or Jennifer Smallwood at 731-609-0408. You can also check out our Facebook page, Hardeman Adoptable Animals, Inc.

You can also come to the shelter. We are located inside the county landfill on Walton Road, and volunteers are there between 9-1 each day. HAA, Inc. is a 501©3 not-for-profit organization. Adoption fees are $125, and this includes all vaccines, spay/neuter, and care while at the shelter. Mosquitos are back! Please make sure your pets are up-to-date on their heartworm prevention. It only takes one bite to infect your furry friend. Heartworms require a harsh treatment and can cause death.

Dearly Departed to Arrive in September

The Hardeman County Arts Council will open the box office for their production of Dearly Departed on August 29 for Arts Council members and for the general public on September 6.

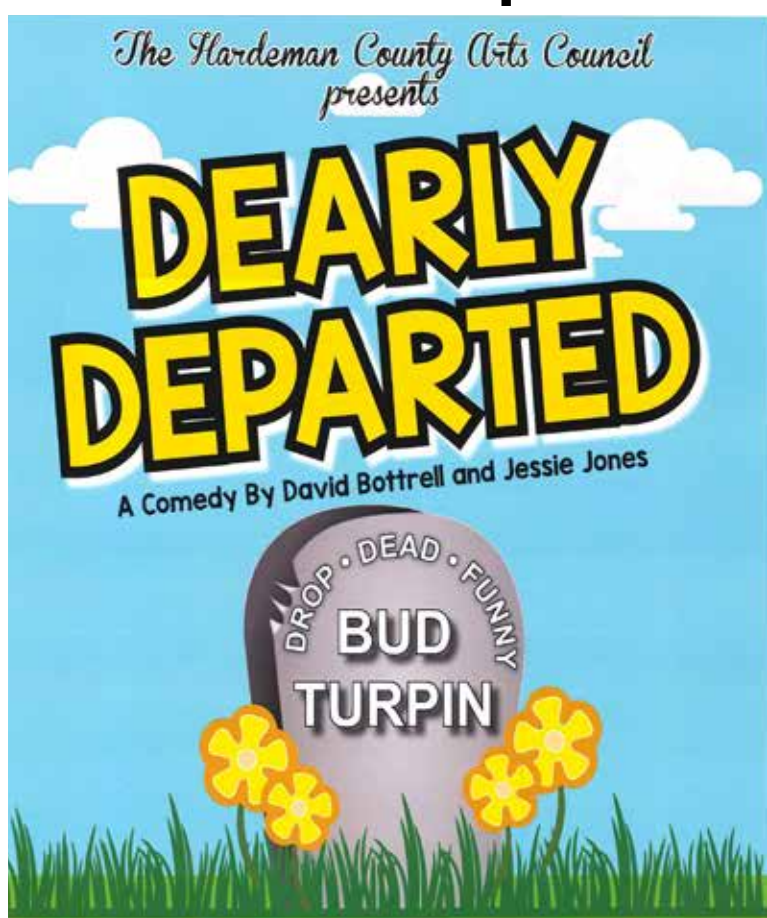

Show dates are Friday, September 9 and Saturday, September 10 at 7:00 p.m. each evening with a Sunday matinee scheduled for 2:00 p.m. on September 11. Doors open 30 minutes prior to show.

In the Baptist backwoods of the Bible Belt, the beleaguered Turpin family proves that living and dying in the South are seldom tidy and always hilarious. Despite their earnest efforts to pull themselves together for their father's funeral, the Turpin's other problems keep overshadowing the solemn occasion: Firstborn Ray-Bud drinks himself silly as the funeral bills mount; Junior, the younger son, is juggling financial ruin, a pack of no-neck monster kids, and a wife who suspects him of infidelity in the family car; their spinster sister, Delightful, copes with death as she does life, by devouring junk food; and all the neighbors add more than two cents. As the situation becomes fraught with mishap, Ray-Bud says to his long-suffering wife, "When I die, don't tell nobody. Just bury me in the backyard and tell everybody I left you." Amidst the chaos, the Turpins turn for comfort to their friends and neighbors, an eccentric community of misfits who just manage to pull together and help each other through their hours of need, and finally, the funeral.

Ticket prices are $10 per person and the box office hours are 10:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. weekdays at 1580 W. Market Street in Bolivar. Tickets may be purchased over the phone by calling 731 658-ARTS during box office hours.

The Hardeman County Arts Council (HCAC) provides artistic forums in a wide range of venues to educate, entertain, and enrich the community.

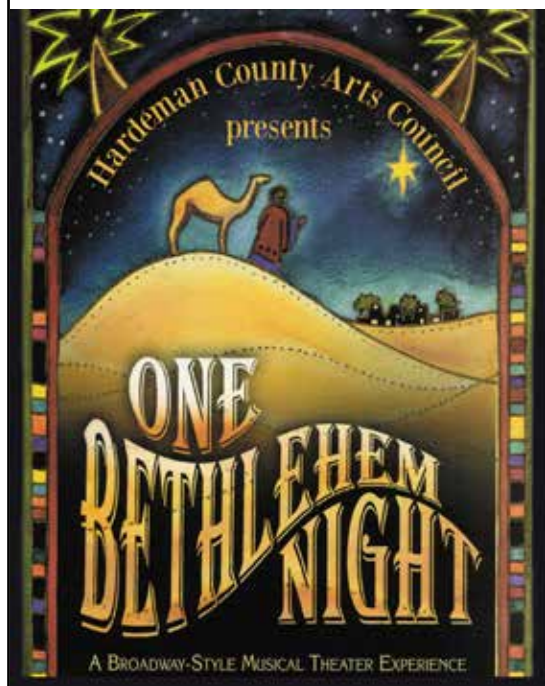

In so doing, amateur artists are facilitated to develop their artistic talents to levels that satisfy their own artistic objectives and goals, as well as benefiting the public.
