ONE DOLLAR

From the Other Side of the Desk

In the world of business, companies are always trying to come up with new names for their ventures. Sometimes they are clever, sometimes they are not and sometimes they are just ripped off.

One of the most common rip offs is when they name things after the planets. A few examples:

Venus: Swimwear and ladies razors. Song by Bananarama.

Mercury: Cars are the most famous, but I found an insurance company called Mercury. So, you could have your Mercury insured by Mercury Insurance in Mercury, Nevada. If you wanted.

Earth: In a way, all companies could have Earth in the name, since they are all on the Earth. But earth is also a term for the substance the Earth is made of...kind of a chicken and egg thing, I guess.

Mars: The Mars bar for one. It was named after Englishman Forrest Mars, who made it similar to his father's (Frank Mars) Milky Way (another rip off) bar that was popular already in the US. So while he didn't copy the name from the planet, he stole the recipe from his father, which makes him guilty of a different crime, I suppose. Parentpatentricide?

Jupiter: Restaurants, video games, real estate, etc, etc. Well-used planet name.

Saturn: The most famous is the car company that operated from 1985-2010.

Uranus: Oddly enough, or perhaps not, this one hasn't been used. I guess it would go like this - Hey, Fred, I wonder if is hiring? Want to go down and check out...? Just who is in charge of? Well alrighty, let's just move on.

Neptune: Hydraulic pumps and an investment group, just to name two, if you haven't quit reading after the last one and cancelled your subscription.

And finally, Pluto: This on-again, off-again planet name has been borrowed by a software company and a group of artists. Pluto was Mickey Mouse's dog and one of the big six (Mickey, Minnie, Donald Duck, Daisy Duck, and Goofy) Disney characters, but the only one who neither wore clothes nor talked. Seems unfair, if you think about it.

See you next week...

Love for the Hatchie River Park

Statewide support for the Hatchie River Park and Museum continued in late July as Tennessee Governor Bill Haslam and Economic and Community Development Commissioner Randy Boyd announced that Bolivar would be among 29 communities in Tennessee to receive a Tourism Enhancement Grant worth $50,000.

The money will be spent to build a new boat ramp at the Hatchie River Museum, which has needed repair. Money will also be spent on museum and scenic area parking.

The $50,000 comes on the heels of another grant worth $260,000 that will be received by the city to help with the building renovation to build an outfitters location behind the museum. Bolivar will match the $260,000 award to bring the money going into the project to $571,000.

Toone Breaks Ground on Helipad

The City of Toone will support law enforcement and medical evacuation efforts by adding a helipad inside the city limits.

"This is being built entirely with private funding," said Toone Police Chief Jerry Siler. "No taxpayer money is being used."

The helipad will be located adjacent to the Toone Fire Department.

Grant Provides Repairs for Airport

William Whitehurst Field in Hardeman County will get $400,000 worth of loving care as Hardeman County will spend a grant from the Federal Aviation Administration on resurfacing and other maintenance. The grant requires a 5% match by the county.

Jobless Numbers Go Up for County

Hardeman County saw unemployment go up in June, as rates rose in every county in the state for the May-June period.

The 6.4% estimated rate for Hardeman County is better than 27 other counties in the state, including neighboring McNairy County, who came in at 7.6%. The rise in rates was explained by the state as being caused by the seasonal closing of schools.

In Hardeman County, the state says a potential workforce of 9,440 had 610 out of work in June.

Numbers for Hardeman County are expected to take a hit for the month of July as well, as Kilgore Flares of Toone added to the jobless numbers with layoffs.

Hardeman County Remembered by Lisa Coleman

Some friends and I have had an on-going discussion over the summer months that began, as such things often do, with the marvelous words, "remember when"? What got it started was a discussion about all of the activities kids are involved in and especially, it seems, over the summer months. It wasn't (and isn't) a pro/con discussion but rather a now/then kind of discussion, which is surely one of the signs of getting older, but that is a story for another day.

When I was growing up (oh dear, another sign of one's aging), a childhood summer was full of all sorts of possibilities. I've compiled a list of things we did as kids that I don't know if anyone does today. In no particular order, the list goes something like this:

- Drank water right out of the water hose or even out of a creek – and lived to tell about it.
- Played in the dirt and made mud pies.
- Caught lightning bugs in a jar and found it truly remarkable that God could make a bug's back side light up.
- Made forts out of old quilts and trees.
- Shucked corn and shelled peas and beans...I spent many an absolutely marvelous hour with my parents, grandparents, aunts, and uncles doing just that. I learned many stories from them all, some of which were even true.
- We ate raw cookie dough. Regularly. Some of us still may do that. And here we still are today.
- Road in the back of a pickup truck, sometimes even on the tailgate.
- Road miles and miles on our bicycles and put cards on the spokes to make a delightful sound as we rode.

- Went barefoot almost all of the time in the summer months.
- Put pennies on the train track so that the passing train would flatten them out.
- Learned about sharing with siblings and friends by breaking a popsicle in half.
- Had hand cranked ice cream on Sunday afternoons...which taught us great patience.
- Answered the telephone (which was on the wall and had a cord) without knowing who was calling. As my friends and I have talked about all of this, we came to the conclusion that we surely did have some simply marvelous childhoods that we wouldn't trade for anything. Y'all, excuse me; I think there's some cookie dough calling my name.

Fried Smashed Potatoes

- Ingredients
- 12 small red potatoes (1-1/2 to 2 inches in diameter; 1-1/2 to 2 pounds total)
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup olive oil
 - 3/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
 - 3/4 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
 - 2 tablespoons dried or finely chopped fresh parsley

Make-Ahead Directions

Scrub potatoes; set aside overnight. Combine the grated cheese and parsley in an airtight container; cover. Chill for up to 24 hours. Continue as directed.

Directions

1. Place potatoes in a large saucepan and cover with at least 1 inch of water. Add the 1 teaspoon salt to water. Bring to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 25 to 30 minutes or until potatoes are very tender; drain potatoes.
2. Preheat oven to 450 degrees F. Transfer potatoes to a foil-lined 15x10x1-inch baking pan. Cool for 10 minutes. Using a potato masher or the palm of your hand (be careful not to burn your hand), lightly press down on each potato to smash to about 1/2-inch thickness, keeping each potato in one piece.
3. Using half of the olive oil, brush on potatoes. Sprinkle half of the salt and pepper on potatoes. Bake, uncovered, for 10 to 15 minutes or until bottoms are lightly browned and crisp. Turn potatoes; brush with the remaining olive oil and sprinkle with the remaining salt and pepper. Bake for 10 to 15 minutes more or until potatoes are lightly browned and crisp. In a bowl combine cheese and parsley. Sprinkle on potatoes. Bake for 2 to 3 minutes more or until cheese is melted.

Scripture Verse for the week: Be self-controlled and alert. Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour. Resist him, standing firm in the faith, because you know that your brothers throughout the world are undergoing the same kind of sufferings. 1 Peter 5:8-9

Joy (Cupples) Freeman willingly shared her love and excitement for her granddaughter, Hillary Freeman Blackburn. Joy stated, "Hillary has lived a very full and exciting life participating in a wide variety of activities. While in high school, she won the Miss Junior Mississippi pageant in Atlanta, GA." She is a pharmacist in Nashville, TN. Hillary is married to Chad Blackburn, son of Marsha Blackburn. Hillary traveled to Cleveland, OH to attend the Republican National Convention where Congressman Blackburn was speaking.

Joy Freeman and Ann Hinson visited Frankie and I on Wednesday, July 27. We enjoyed hearing Joy reminisce about the changes she has observed in Silerton since she was a child. She mentioned that as a child, Silerton was a bustling little town with a busy railroad track and depot. The town had two general merchandise stores, a post office, feed mill, barber shop, cotton gin, a practicing doctor and two churches. Today the only things that currently exist are the two churches where Christians still worship. She talked about the churches not having central air. In the summer, worshipers used paper fans to cool themselves. In the winter, a fire was made by members in the wood burning stoves. She recalled memories of the men coming to the stores to fellowship around the potbelly stove. She had funny stories to tell of going barefoot all summer. A memory she recalled on a negative tone was the lack of indoor plumbing. She remembered her parents installing electricity in their home in 1941. Since there was no television, she and her siblings played games at night, mostly checkers. She also remembered an ice man would deliver blocks of ice to be stored in the families' icebox. Her parents had a telephone line installed in 1954. The only problem was the four party line was not conducive to talking with her fiancé. She could recall very few families had cars when she was young. Even though she is thankful for the modern conveniences we enjoy today, she would not want to re-live through the days-gone-by. She feels those days were good days when life was enjoyed at a slower pace with lots of fun times with families and friends.

Two families in our town have experienced items missing from their property. As neighbors we need to be more proactive in a neighborhood watch and aware of what is happening around us.

Condolences to the family of Marie Howell. She was the grandmother of David Howell, pastor at Piney Grove Baptist Church.

Hello from Toone! In case you haven't heard, TES teachers and administrative staff are back at school preparing to welcome students back for the new school year.

As school begins, most of the gardening around town is winding down. Despite the low amounts of rainfall recently, most people reported a good garden yield this summer. Most of the vegetables are about gone, but still quite a few watermelons and cantaloupes being harvested. We "snitched" a really tasty one out of my Sister and Brother-in-Law's patch last weekend. Be sure not to mention this if you see them!

Toone Elementary School hosted their "Meet the Teachers" evening on, Thursday, August 4, from 4:30-6:30 pm. This is an annual event that allows the opportunity for parents to meet and get to know their children's teachers and office staff. The first day of classes for the new school year will be, Monday, August 8.

Please continue to keep our neighbors, Billy Kelly, and J.W. Leathers, in your thoughts as they both continue their recovery in rehab facilities.

Join me in wishing, Tina Schroder, a Happy Birthday on, August 9. Tina and John moved to Toone from Florida several years ago. They are the owners/operators of the "Clover Creek Areodrome" radio-controlled airplane facility on Hillhouse Road.

OK, let's hear from all of you out there. Share your community news with our readers by calling the number above, or drop me an email at: gnyarb@bellsouth.net. Until next time. . . . talk to your neighbors!

Hello to all! Hornsby Baptist Church enjoyed listening to some of the youth's testimonies from their Orange Beach Mission trip Sunday. Matt Moore the new youth minister spoke about the devotions and bible studies they had while there. The community is very proud of all these young people as they are going out and witnessing to others.

Sunday night everyone enjoyed a table full of desserts after the service.

This Sunday night will be the "Back to School Block Party". Everyone is invited to come have some fun that evening before they start school Monday morning.

Wednesday organizers from the church met to start working on the 5k run and then there was a meal prepared for those who would be working the Project 4:13 ministry on Wednesday night. If you would like to know more about any of the events the church is having please give me a call and I will be happy to put you in touch with whoever is in charge.

If you have any news you would like to share please give me a call or email me. Please remember to pray for the following: Sydni Aylor, Patricia Baker, Terry Baker, Hughloene Barnes, Freddie Brown, Ricky Chandler, Kay Cooper, Amanda Cornelius, Crawford Cossar, Kenneth Crawford, Elynor DeBerry, Bobbie Dorris, Jacob Dowty, Matt Emerson, Lee Gainey, Billy Hammons, Joe Hindman, Sue Hodge, Ann Hornsby, Carolyn Howell, Jo Edna Howell, Ann Kelly, Aubrey King, Debbie Laster, Bobbie McBride, Evan Nield, Terry Parchman, Gay Pierce, Gail Pope, Paula Prince, Sandy Sanders Stacy Spence, Ronna Spoon, Bobby Vaughan, Eddie Webb, John Worley, the men and women who serve our country, Clark and Morgan Davidson serving missionaries, and the families of the ones who are fighting cancer.

For all the children who are starting school next week I hope you will say this prayer for your child, grandchildren or any child's name you want to lift up. "Thank you for creating, I pray that no one look down on him/her because he/she is young. Instead I pray that he/she would set an example for the other believers in speech, in conduct, in love, in faith, and in purity.

His Word for the week 1 Timothy 4:12 "Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity." Praise God!

Hopefully the brand new Grand Valley News will be printed and ready for distribution this Saturday. The newsletter will be published once per month. It will focus on Valley events but will also include items regarding the greater Hardeman community if they are of interest to residents. Church news from surrounding communities is an example. Residents are encouraged to participate in the success of this venture by supplying information or writing articles for inclusion. This is a community project. Feel free to participate. Articles, information, and ideas are welcomed at the above phone number or at billstone36gvl@aol.com. An e-mail list will be set up to deliver the news to those who would like to receive it in that manner. Initial distribution will be at the gate. Be on the lookout!

Did you complete and return the "board feedback form" which has been available at the gate? Here's your opportunity to actively participate in community projects. Your ideas, suggestions, and service are welcomed and needed. I have heard a jillion great ideas for projects residents want to see completed in Grand Valley. Perhaps the time has come to stop the lip service and do something positive. Easy to do. Complete the form and return it to the gate or the POA office.

Hey, men! Start planning now to attend the new Men's Club meeting. It will be held following the August board meeting. Should be relatively short. Probably adopt by-laws and appoint a nominating committee. Already have a couple of ideas for service to the community. Bring yours with you.

Adoptable Animal of the Week

by Sara Vonderheide

Shasta (#16141) is a female, female Border Collie mix. She is around a year old and is small/medium sized. She is such a sweet and loving little girl. Shasta came into the shelter with heartworms, but she has completed her treatment and is ready for her forever home! This little girl is extremely smart, full of energy, and loves to play. She would be a great family dog as Border Collies are known to be great with children. For more information on Shasta, please contact a volunteer: Charla Cooper at 731-234-4421 or Jennifer Smallwood at 731-609-0408. You can check out our Facebook page, Hardeman Adoptable Animals, Inc. You can also come to the shelter. We are located inside the county landfill on Walton Road, and volunteers are there between 9-1 each day. HAA, Inc. is a 501©3 not-for-profit organization. Adoption fees are $125, and this includes all vaccines, spay/neuter, and care while at the shelter.

*Mosquitos are back! Please make sure your pets are up-to-date on their heartworm prevention. It only takes one bite to infect your furry friend. Heartworms require a harsh treatment and can cause death and disease.

Superintendent of Schools Message

In the next few days, you will notice our neighborhoods, streets and highways become busier as school buses and students, parents and teachers return to campuses. Welcome back to the 2016-17 school year. Each year begins excitement as "back-to-school" and "meet the teacher" events are held, football teams prepare to turn those Friday night lights on for another season. For some of our youngest students, this will be a big step as they begin their pre-K or kindergarten experience. For our seniors, it will mark the beginning of their final year of the high school experience. The start of school is exciting for everyone.

Our School Staff has had a very busy summer preparing the schools for student's return to campus. I continue to be impressed with the work that our community, churches, civic groups, law enforcement, medical community and school teams put in to make sure we have a smooth start. Many hours have gone into making sure your schools are prepared for this year. Maybe another run at a state basketball championship (thanks MHS Tigers!), maybe a repeat of record numbers of college bound students taking advantage of the Tennessee Promise! But most importantly, a great school year filled with new learning experiences for ALL of our students. Over the summer, the Tennessee Department of Education announced a 30% reduction in Testing time. I, along with our staff and most especially our students are grateful for that trimming of the testing time! I'll be taking time to explain more on that in future writings.

With the hard work and dedication of the students, parents, faculty, and staff, we continue to improve our schools. We do not have a choice! In today's world, we must put our best efforts to effectively preparing our students to enter their next phase of life, whether that be the world of work, military service, community college or university. A quality education is no longer something nice to have. It is an absolute essential for our students and our community!

I ask again that everyone rally behind our schools as the new year begins. We have high expectations for all students. Why? Because we know students will rise to meet our expectations! Students, I encourage you to do your very best at whatever you're doing, whether it be on the athletic field, math class, art class, drama class, or just hanging out with your friends. Put forth your best and you will be amazed at the results! Welcome back to school and I look forward to a great 2016-17 School Year.

Grand Junction Children Honor Police

by Bill Stone

The Bobby Martindale Library in Grand Junction hosted a children's reading program all summer. Children attending are given a lunch, sometimes have someone read to them, and sometimes do craft projects. One recent project was making a "trail mix". The children enjoyed the mixing and stirring. Their efforts provided a finished product consisting of several gallon bags of mix.

What to do with it? Someone suggested honoring the local police department by presenting officers a bag. The children enthusiastically accepted the idea. First it was a surprise. The police chief and officer on duty were invited to the library on what might be called "false pretenses". They were supposed to make a presentation to the children. The tables were turned when the children did the presentation. In addition to a gallon bag of trail mix, the children had also created a poster expressing their thanks to the department for service to the community. The poster was filled with hand drawn hearts, smiley face stickers, and signed by the children. "Thank you so much," said Chief Larry Hunt. "We're going to take this to the police department office and hang it on the wall today!"

Hunt and Patrolman John Ford stayed for an extended visit with the children. "This surprise was nice. The police do really good things for us," said seven year old Cordell Richardson as he enjoyed a long conversation with Ford. In light of the recent tragic attacks on policemen in Dallas, Baton Rouge, and elsewhere, it's good the children of Grand Junction know and appreciate the fact these men put their lives at risk to keep their community safe.

A Haven of Flowers Marks 25 Years

A Haven of Flowers is celebrating their 25th anniversary of business in Bolivar.

"I worked at Harmon for 20 years," said owner Margie Vales. "Then I was in the trucking industry after staying home for a bit with children. But I needed something to keep me busy."

Vales opened A Haven of Flowers on Main Street in Bolivar and operated there for 10 years before purchasing and moving to their location at 649-A W Mc Neal Street in Bolivar, where she has been for the last fifteen years.

To celebrate, Vales has put items storewide (excluding fresh flowers and tanning visits) on sale for 25% off regular price. The sale runs through August 6.

100% Gains in West Tennessee Students

Every County in Gresham District Improves Standing By: AE Graham

As teachers, parents, and students prepare to return to their classrooms, they will be met with fresh classroom environments, new friends, new pencils, new books, and new routines. Together they will make new goals for the year and work hard to reach them.

There's one goal West Tennessee teachers and students already met – every single county in the region is making academic gains. Thanks to the hard work of teachers, students, parents, classroom volunteers, support staff, and community leaders, students in every county served by Senator Gresham are making important and strong leaps in education.

As Senate Education Committee Chairman, Senator Dolores Gresham heard from teachers in West Tennessee – state elected officials couldn't accept complacency in education. For our students to be ready for their futures, Nashville needed to get burdensome regulations out of the classroom giving teachers the flexibility to meet the individual needs of their students. That is why Dolores Gresham sponsored and led the effort to pass Senate Bill 2008, which gave teachers flexibility in using TNReady scores in their reviews.

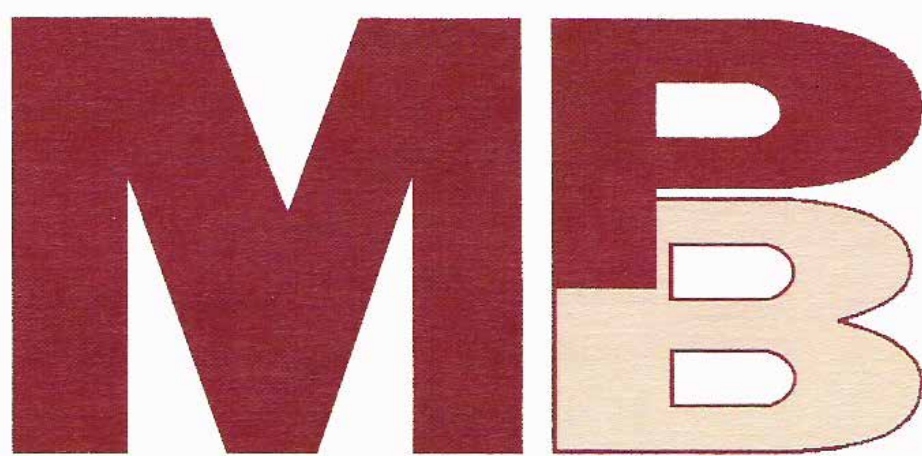

Our kids are benefiting from her leadership. From a 28% performance increase in Algebra 1 in Henderson County, to improvements in math and science in Fayette County, every single county in the district is making academic progress.

Joining teachers to raise the bar for academic success, supporting teachers and leading the fight to implement Tennessee specific high academic standards, Senator Dolores Gresham is proud to support classrooms in every county in the District, as they continue to make great academic gains.

Here Come the Tigers!

With football two weeks away, Bolivar Central football coach Woodrow Lowe sees good things coming and his team is responding to the challenge.

"They are leading themselves," he said. "When the players are leading, now you have something. They are pushing one another, I'm excited to see what they are going to do."

Lowe says the offensive that averaged 37 points a game last season will be ready.

"Overall, the offense is better. I'm looking forward to seeing them in action."

Lowe will have back his top passer, son Trey Lowe, who threw for 1,434 yards and 15 touchdowns last season at quarterback and the top two ground gainers, Drek Lewis (1,483 yards) and Correy Brown (711 yards) are back as well.

The defense, which allowed 27 points per game in the 6-5 season, will have some new faces. "Defensively, we gave up a lot of points, and we have to improve. We are going to be young, especially the linebackers. But it's the best tackling defense we have had."

Bolivar opens with Fayette-Ware in a district matchup on August 19 at home.

"The first game is the most important. We are not taking anyone for granted."

The Tigers will play five of their first six at R.A. Butler Field in Bolivar, (see schedule on A12) which suits Lowe fine.

"I'm glad we get to be at home early in the season. I want the kids to feel the love of the home crowd."

Hoping to Beat 60% in 2016

With Hardeman County college attendance increasing in the fall of 2015, the Tennessee Promise has been labeled a success.

Tennessee Promise is both a scholarship and mentoring program focused on increasing the number of students that attend college in our state. It provides students a last-dollar scholarship, meaning the scholarship will cover tuition and fees not covered by the Pell Grant, the HOPE scholarship, or state student assistance funds. Students may use the scholarship at any of the state's 13 community colleges, 27 colleges of applied technology, or other eligible institutions offering an associate degree program.

While removing the financial burden is key, a critical component of Tennessee Promise is the individual guidance each participant will receive from a mentor who will assist the student as he or she navigates the college admissions process. This is accomplished primarily via mandatory meetings that students must attend in order to remain eligible for the program. In addition, Tennessee Promise participants must complete eight hours of community service per term enrolled, as well as maintain satisfactory academic progress (2.0 GPA) at their institution.

Helping students realize their opportunities from the Tennessee Promise in Hardeman County is tnAchieves, a free program that was created to increase higher education opportunities for Tennessee high school students by providing last-dollar scholarships with mentor guidance.

"In only six years, tnAchieves has supported more than 10,000 students into a community or technical college. Our statistics indicate that our students are retaining at a rate 50 percent greater than the state average and graduating at a rate three times the state average. Needless to say, we are very proud of our students and their accomplishments, said tnAchieves Executive Director Krissy DeAlejandro.

"Understanding this success but faced with the reality that only 32.9

Lee Ola Roberts Library Hosts End of Summer Program

by Anna Alicia Sails

As time is winding down for summer activities before the kids go back to school, the Lee Ola Roberts Library had a special guest last Tuesday: Janice Perry. Perry is the assistant library director of the Hatchie Regional Library. In a room full of 10 kids and five adults, everyone settled and waited for the program to start.

Perry's program was all about the upcoming Olympics in Rio. Perry first talked to the kids about the different types of Olympic sports like gymnastics and sprinting. She also discussed that there are actually two Olympics: summer and winter. She gave the example of skiing for the winter. The kids used their math skills to figure out when the next Olympic games will happen. Perry taught the kids about the colors of the Olympic rings and how each ring represents a country. The kids played fun games for a chance to win goodie bags.

Towards the end, Perry helped the kids make their own name badges and the kids had a healthy snack. It was a good learning experience for the kids and the adults present as well.

Meet the rabbi, who anxiously awaited the promised Messiah all his life. The audience will be uplifted by this Broadway-style musical as they consider what it might have been like on the One Bethlehem Night.

HEALTH

TDH Encourages Breast Feeding

The Tennessee Department of Health recognizes breastfeeding as an important way to help babies get off to a healthy start. TDH is proud to celebrate World Breastfeeding Week Aug. 1-7 to promote the importance of breastfeeding. The theme for WBW 2016 is Breastfeeding: A Key to Sustainable Development, focusing on ending poverty, protecting the planet and ensuring prosperity.

Every county in Tennessee has at least one event scheduled to celebrate World Breastfeeding Week or National Breastfeeding Month this August. Find a calendar of events online at <http://tn.gov/health/article/breastfeeding-awareness>.

“Community support for breastfeeding is essential to help more mothers make the important and healthy choice to breastfeed,” said TDH Commissioner John Dreyzehner, MD, MPH. “We applaud the many businesses in Tennessee who have already made the commitment to create an environment that encourages mothers to breastfeed.”

In communities across Tennessee more than 650 businesses have taken the “Breastfeeding Welcomed Here” pledge! These businesses have made a commitment to provide an environment where breastfeeding mothers are able to sit anywhere and enjoy a welcoming attitude from the staff, management and other patrons. Find the list of participating businesses or take the pledge at www.tn.gov/health/article/breastfeeding-welcomedHere.

“We encourage mothers across our state to breastfeed their babies because we know breastfeeding can prevent many health concerns later in life,” said TDH Assistant Commissioner for Family Health and Wellness Morgan McDonald, MD, FAAP, FACP. “The benefits of breastfeeding for baby include protecting against upper respiratory infections, ear infections, gastrointestinal diseases and obesity as well as reducing the risk of breast and ovarian cancer in mothers.”

The Tennessee Breastfeeding Hotline, 1-855-4BF-MOMS (1-855-423-6667), is a resource to assist nursing mothers and families. This toll-free number is available 24-hours a day, seven days a week to connect breastfeeding mothers, caregivers, family members and others seeking information on breastfeeding with trained lactation consultants and counselors.

The Tennessee Department of Health also promotes breastfeeding through the WIC Breastfeeding Peer Counseling Program and the local county health departments’ Designated Breastfeeding Expert services for their communities. These designated staff members can assist women with breastfeed-

THSO Promotes Increased DUI Enforcement

The Tennessee Highway Safety Office (THSO) reminds residents to stay safe this summer and always find a sober ride home. THSO executes its “Booze It and Lose It” campaign through public service announcements (PSAs), impaired driving safety messages, and increased support for local law enforcement to prevent traffic injuries and fatalities. This summer, “Booze It and Lose It” runs to Labor Day.

According to the Tennessee Department of Safety and Homeland Security’s TITAN Division, thus far in 2016, 4,159 Tennessee traffic crashes have involved impaired drivers. Of this figure, 2,254 traffic crashes involved property damage, 1,813 involved injuries, and 92 were fatal.

This summer, local law enforcement agencies across the state have increased DUI enforcement efforts through planned sobriety checkpoints, saturation patrols, high visibility, and multi-jurisdictional initiatives. Through grant funding awarded by THSO, these agencies receive the support and resources necessary to combat impaired driving and protect Tennessee roadways. Additionally, THSO is distributing a new commercial to promote the “Booze It and Lose It” campaign: www.youtube.com/watch?v=6bFJoMaNWN0.

For more PSAs and information related to THSO’s DUI initiatives and other traffic safety programs, check us out on social media: facebook.com/tnhso | twitter.com/tnhso | instagram.com/tnhso.

The Tennessee Highway Safety Office (THSO) is Tennessee’s advocate for traffic safety. THSO works in tandem with the National Highway Safety Administration to implement statewide programs addressing occupant protection, impaired driving, speed enforcement, pedestrian and bicycle safety, and crash data collection and analysis. Programs administered by THSO are 100 percent federally funded.

My Journey to Healthier Eating

by Deborah Brasfield

Please remember – I am not a physician, nutritionist, etc. Consult your healthcare professional for the recommended exercise and diet plan for you!

Today I am talking about stress and life. Just when you think you have your day all planned out something happens. Maybe a friend calls and wants to have lunch, that’s great but the fresh salad you made and brought to work will have to wait. You now have a lunch challenge to face – eating out and making a decision on what would be best for you today. Plan ahead again. Check the menu online if you have not been to the restaurant before or call them. Lean meats, salads, freshly cooked veggies are many choices in most. Grilled meats, steamed vegetables are good choices too. Just remember that everything in moderation, so if you want their specialty, go for it! And ask for a to-go box for 1/2 of it!

Stress comes in many forms. Sometimes we can prepare for certain situations, but we cannot prepare for all that can be sent into our lives unexpected. We all react differently to stress and our dining plans will certainly be disrupted. When a family member is ill and I am personally involved in their care, I sometimes forget to eat. Then when I do, I lose control of making good choices. I do not binge eat, but I just do not make good choices. I go to the comfort food of choice. If this happens every now and then, ok, I can get back on track. The stressful situation could be lengthy like someone in the hospital over a week or more. You eat out more, you are not getting sleep. You find the point of strength for you, prayer, meditation, and use it. You ask for help from friends and family. Most hotels will give you a special rate if you have a family member in the hospital, ask the hospital about this. Maybe while a family member or good friend visits you can go to hotel and have a very long nap and shower. Losing sleep affects your mind and body, and any stress effects how your body processes food. In a stressful situation your body may store more fat due to a survival mode. Find the time to take frequent short walks and stretch when you can, every little bit helps to relieve the stress in your body and mind.

Since 2016 started I have lost 8 pounds, 4 of those pounds have been lost since starting to write this article and sharing it with you. I am healthy, but turned 60 this year and am trying to stay healthy by losing some of this excess weight. Ultimately I would like to lose at least 50 pounds. My weekly goal is 1/2 to 1 pound per week. Slowly but surely my journey continues.....

My go to dessert: Smoothies. I take bananas and cut them into 1 inch slices and freeze the in zip lock bags. This is a great way to use up ripe bananas. My favorite starts with about 4 of these 1 inch cubes. Frozen bananas give a smoothie a creamy consistency like you have used ice cream. Smoothie: 4 inch cubes of frozen banana, 1/2 cup other frozen or chilled fruit, try canned pears in own juice – yummy!, or a fresh peach! , 1 cup unsweetened almond milk (only 30 calories), vanilla flavor and stevia, or 1 Tablespoon sugar free pudding mix, (vanilla, white chocolate, banana etc.), 1 cup crushed ice. Place in blender! If needed add a bit more ice or almond milk. Enjoy.
