From the Other Side of the Desk

While in the checkout aisle buying coleslaw ingredients for the second time that day (not a long story, but not very interesting, so I'm not going to tell it), I noticed the lady behind me had only one item: a plunger.

And being that my Briggs-Meyers test says I'm an extrovert (I don't feel like an extrovert, by the way, but you can't argue with science) I told her that it couldn't be a good sign that she was buying ONLY a plunger.

And she being an extrovert, went on to tell me of a family member that had, well, caused a great deal of overflow in their upstairs bathroom. At this point in the story, it seemed, she had decided to laugh about it. But apparently, only after a lot of swearing.

It got me to thinking about single item purchases that are certainly a sign of an unfortunate issue or absolute emergency. Here is a short list:

1. Plunger. See above.
2. Laxatives. We've all been there. And of course, it's counterpart...
3. Immodium. We've all been there too.

It should be noted here that if you go for a laxative, you might ought to get a plunger. Just in case. Just thinking out loud here. Okay, on with the count-down...

4. A Shovel.
5. Bolt-cutters.
6. Super-glue solvent.
7. And for the married guys, chocolate.

Speaking of married guys, there are other things not on this list, things I've bought over the years with a smile on my face while the checkout lady asked, "How are you today?"

To which I usually gesture toward my item(s) and ask, "What do you think?"

Maybe I am an extrovert.

Hargett Brings a Big Check

The Bobby Martindale Memorial Library in Grand Junction will receive a major upgrade thanks to a $100,000 library construction grant from the Tennessee State Library and Archives.

The project will move the existing library less than half a mile away into a completely renovated building at 530 Madison Ave. W., that used to house the old Grand Junction High School cafeteria. Once completed, the library will more than double in size with ample space for collections, computers and dedicated areas for children, teenagers and adults. There will also be more than five times as many parking spaces.

"This grant ensures the library will be able to offer the people of Grand Junction a place to read, learn, find jobs or simply access the internet," said Tennessee Secretary of State Tre Hargett. "The library has outgrown its current facility while continuing to provide these important services."

The grant is made up of state funding with the City of Grand Junction matching those dollars to cover the total cost.

"This is great news for our local libraries," said Senator Dolores R. Gresham. "Every penny sent to our libraries is needed and put to good use. Our libraries are a great asset to our communities. Students of all ages benefit from the resources which are available there. Many citizens access the local library to use a computer to search for work, apply online for school, or for general interest. I am very pleased that these grants will benefit them."

The facility will have all new technology, much more lighting and be Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) compliant with new entrance ramps, restrooms and computer work stations.

"This announcement from the State Library and Archives is huge news for our community," said State Representative Ron M. Gant. "The new Bobby Martindale Memorial Library represents an enormous investment in the future for our area, and I am confident our citizens will reap the educational benefits of this new facility for years to come."

The space will allow librarians to keep the facility open more often for the public while still continuing its many community programs, like a summer reading program for local children and teenagers.

"We are so excited to receive this generous grant for construction of the Bobby Martindale Memorial Library. This is momentous for the people of Grand Junction and we want to thank Secretary of State Tre Hargett and his staff for their help in making this possible," said Tennessee State Representative Johnny Shaw.

County Donates Funds for Adoptable Animals

Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain kicked off the Hardeman Adoptable Animals eventual move from the Hardeman County Landfill to a location off Clift Road near the Bolivar-Hardeman County Airport.

The $25,000 gift is a start, according to Hardeman Adoptable Animals' Mike Madden.

"We're going to need about $150,000 to get this done," he said. "We are pleased to have found a place for our animals."

The facility, set on five acres, will include a veterinary room and a metal building for kennels. Site preparation will begin immediately, according to Sain.

Lucy and Ricky Book an Extra Night at the Arts Council

The Hardeman County Arts Council (HCAC) will bring an extra night of Trouble at the Tropicabana, a murder mystery comedy - I Love Lucy spoof, to the stage Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 9-11 at 6:00 p.m. each evening.

The decision to add an extra night was made after the show on Saturday night sold out within two hours of the opening of the box office on January 30.

Action begins in Lucy and Ricky's living room; then switches to Ricky's club, the Tropicabana. You'll hear Ricky and other guests sing, see the cabana girls dance, and have an opportunity to take mambo lessons. You will meet a movie mogul heiress and a notorious gangster. Will Lucy and Ethel ruin Ricky's big chance with another harebrained scheme to get into show business?

In addition to trying to solve a murder, you will also try to figure out how the cabana girls keep those fruit baskets on their heads.

Wanda Young and Joyce Byers are directing the show. Tickets are $25 and are on sale at the Arts Council to HCAC members. Sales to the public will begin on Monday, February 6. Visit the arts council or call 731-658-2787 to purchase tickets and for more information.

Tainted Help

by Jimmy Sadler

My college friend Trey and I planned a trip to Southern Florida for our spring break in the late 80s. His parents owned a condo in Fort Meyers and we visited his family in Miami along the way. It was my first visit that far south in Florida. One of my great memories was visiting his home church where pastor Steve Brown made his home. After a few days of travel from Columbia, South Carolina, through Miami and to the condo, we were able to take a break and rest. We sat in the living room watching the news when a story came on that caught my attention. A few moments later, I was staring at Trey. It took a few moments for the story to sink in. "More reports of people dying from a blood disorder from L-Tryptophan. I waited for his reaction. He turned to me wide-eyed with a big smile, and asked "Isn't that what you gave me?"

Backtrack two weeks to the college dorm. Trey came in and asked if I knew of anything that would help him sleep. The guys on the hall knew I had studied about health and supplements. I suggested he might consider L-Tryptophan. I had used it before and had nearly a whole bottle left. I explained it was an amino acid precursor to the mono amine neurotransmitter, serotonin. He took the bottle and then went on his way. He told me a couple days later that he indeed had been sleeping a lot better. Different supplements help different people, and this one seemed to do the trick for Trey. (For those who may have the same question today, I have found the Calcium/Magnesium/Zinc combination works best for me. Always ask your doctor before you take anything to treat anything!)

I told Trey a bit nervously that, yes, it was indeed what I had given him. The story didn't make sense, it seemed so improbable that something so naturally occurring in the body could make someone exceptionally ill, especially to the point of death. It was a shocking moment. I realized I could have given something to help my friend that could have killed him!

This happens every single day. Our eternal perspective makes it even more catastrophic. There are practitioners of many ideas, religions, beliefs, faiths and life paths that sincerely want to help people. In the end, what they believe is helpful may end up steering someone away from the only hope we have. The level of sincerity doesn't matter, to be misdirected from truth is to inflict potential eternal damage. I sincerely tried to help and could have made a grave mistake. There are many who want so much to help but further wound people. We must trust in what we truly know. There will be times our advice is wrong, but I believe God gives gracious mercy to those who seek Him first and then serve with great intention.

The coming months witnessed the removal of all L-Tryptophan from store shelves in the United States. The FDA made it impossible to get. The ensuing investigation found that the actual chemical composition was safe, but that a single factory making the supplement had been contaminated with poison somewhere in the process. This was decades ago and the product has still not found its way back to many shelves. Let us never be one that allows a contaminant to taint the truth we relay to others and lets be sure what we are sharing lines up to God's Word. Someone's life could depend on it!

Sunrise: Feeling Lost

by David Coy

For some, there appears to be a deep cavern between one's life before losing something or someone of great significance and when a person has achieved rebuilding their life anew after the loss. One person has said they felt lost or described feeling in limbo. It is not easy for some to make the transition. For example, say you are half of a dynamic duo and one-half of that sparkling partnership is no more. Of course, you feel devastated, alone, and your heart has a great big hole in it, but also you may feel out of place. Like a foreigner in a strange land, who does not know where they are or the language, it can seem very scary.

If you lose a significant member of a family who provided important emotional ties and was instrumental in caring for certain responsibilities, it can compound the feeling of being lost. You may have to take up the slack of tending to duties that the other person normally did and you have no clue as to how to fulfill them properly. It may be you discover that the other person left some areas in a financial or organizational mess. This may involve a business partner or a life partner. I knew someone years ago who lost a business partner and the aspect of the business that now was on the shoulders of the remaining partner was extremely stressful and overwhelming.

The word lost is an adjective and past participle of lose. It means to not know where one is or to be unable to find one's way. It can also mean that something has been taken away and cannot be recovered. To lose is to be deprived or no longer have something. This is a perfect description of some people after they have lost something or someone of supreme value. Now how do we who remain help those who feel lost? I think the first necessary step is letting them know they are not alone. Bear one another's burden. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcures.com.

We will celebrate Groundhog's Day on Thursday, February 2nd. It is celebrated in the United States and Canada each year and predicts the arrival of spring. According to folklore, if it is cloudy when a groundhog comes out of its hole on this day, then spring will arrive early. If it is sunny, the groundhog will see its shadow and go back into its den, and winter weather will go on for six more weeks. Here's hoping we will have an early spring!

Another important day that's coming up soon will be the Super Bowl on Sunday, February 5th. This championship game of the National Football League will feature The New England Patriots facing the Atlanta Falcons at the NRG Stadium in Houston, Texas. It is predicted that there will be over 100 million viewers and a 30 second commercial will cost on an average of $5 million!

First Baptist Church Grand Junction Pastor Troy Styers is encouraging members and visitors to wear their favorite football team jersey or shirt on Sunday morning, February 5th. In the afternoon there will be a time of food and fellowship at 5 p.m. in the Church Fellowship Hall.

Hope you have a great week and enjoy the game.

Bible Verse for the week; Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and you will be saved. Acts 16:31

My granddaughter, Merry Ashlyn Gatewood, traveled to Washington D.C. with her school, First Assembly Christian School in Cordova, TN for the presidential inauguration. Merry Ashlyn is a sophomore and has always loved history. As a young student, politics has held her interest, so understandably she was ecstatic to go on the trip. Her group enjoyed many of sites in D.C. including the Iwo Jima Memorial, Arlington National Cemetery, Mount Vernon, Home of George Washington, and the Holocaust Museum. She attended an inaugural ball on Thursday night at the Camelot. Next week, she is sharing a more detailed report of her trip.

Prayer list: Walter Cooper had a surgical procedure at Vanderbilt and is recovering well. Haley Hoskinson would appreciate your prayers. Keith Raines was diagnosed with cancer. He and his family covet your prayers. Sue Hatch is doing better. Remember Bobby and Phyllis Naylor also.

Wanda Young will assist in directing the dinner theater to be held at the Hardeman County Arts Council on February 10 and 11. The production is entitled, "Trouble at the Tropicabana", a comedy mystery with Lucy and Ricky. Tickets will go on sale February 6.

When Shirley Stack reflects on 2016, she states that it was a good year in regards to her health. Shirley is in stage 5 of kidney failure. James, her husband, suffered from knee trouble but was able to have a small garden. Her hopes for 2017 is that they will enjoy better health and that she will be able to start back attending church.

Tammy Foote is excited about 2017. She is going to be a grandmother. John Tyler and Katie Harris are expecting a baby in August. Tammy also expressed her sentiments about 2016 being a long year with the election news. She is prayerful for President Trump and other leaders of our country as they hopefully help America return to godly principles. She is pleased to see people more willing to speak out for Christian values.

February is known as the month we celebrate love relationships. During the month of February, Silerton news will share memories of people who have felt an outpouring of love.

An old Chinese proverb reads, "To forget one's ancestors is to be a brook without a source, a tree without a root. Whether you currently reside in the Silerton area or if you previously lived here, call with your news or a memory you would like to share so we all can stay connected."

Hello to all! Well the sunshine has been beautiful but the wind has been a little cool. Those celebrating birthdays February 1st thru the 15th are Brooklyn Murphy, Maria Johnson, Campbell Emerson, Sydney Aylor and Hunter Taylor. We wish all of you the very best on your special day.

Hornsby Elementary School PTO spring dance for the 6th, 7th, and 8th grade is March the 11th and is a luau theme, so this will be a lot of fun for the kids. The Hornsby Ruritan Club met and set a date for the annual fish fry, it will be April 8th. If you would like to purchase tickets you can call me at the number listed above or ask any Ruritan member. HIS Word for the week is Romans 8: 38-39 "For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." Praise God!!!

Hello from the friendly Town of Toone! According to the calendar, we are right in the middle of winter, but these warm, sunny days certainly make it seem more like spring! I took advantage of the warm temps this week to finally take down the last of my Christmas lights (I guess the old saying, "better late than never" applies here). But I'm not breaking-out the Bermuda shorts and flip-flops just yet. February never fails to throw some cold weather, ice and snow and freezing temps our way. I can also remember several good snows in March!

The February meeting of the Toone Board of Aldermen, will be held, Tuesday, February 14, at Toone City Hall. Among other issues, the Board will continue discussion on a federal grant to help fund the updating of Toone's water system with new, more efficient electronic water meters, which once installed, will provide significant savings to the town's water department. Mayor Jones and members of the board have been hard at work visiting local residents to gather necessary data for the grant application. As always, the monthly Board of Aldermen meetings are open to the public.

Don't forget to order your tickets for the Hardeman County Arts Council's Dinner Theater production of, "Trouble at the Tropicabana", a murder mystery that takes place at Ricky Bicardi's, "Club Tropicabana". Our own Toone neighbor, Bonnie Leathers, plays Ricky's wacky, red-headed wife, Lucy Bicardi". After you enjoy a wonderful dinner, you will travel back in time to the days of Ricky, Lucy, Fred and Ethel, and join the talented cast of actors as they unravel the mystery. Tickets are still available by calling the Arts Council box office at, (731) 658-ARTS (2787).

Several of our Toone neighbors are celebrating February birthdays. Happy Birthday wishes go out to, Natalie Hooper Sowder, who turned the Big 40, February 1.

Natalie's Dad, Tony Hooper, celebrates his big day on, February 4. Happy Birthday wishes go out to, Vicky Weaver, February 6, and Larry McCarver, celebrates his Birthday on, February 9. Please join me in wishing them all a very Happy Birthday! Until next time. . . . talk to your neighbors!

GO FIGURE! by Linda Thistle

Tuscany Stuffed Chicken Breasts

- Ingredients
- 2 skinless, boneless chicken breast halves (about 4 ounces each)
  - 2 ounces fontina (or other) cheese, crumbled or sliced
  - 2 roasted red sweet pepper halves or 1/2 cup roasted red sweet pepper halves from a jar, drained
  - 6 fresh sage leaves or 1/2 teaspoon dried sage, crushed
  - 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
  - 1 tablespoon olive oil
  - 1/2 cup dry white wine or chicken broth

Directions

Place each chicken piece, boned side up, between 2 pieces of clear plastic wrap. Working from the center to the edges, pound lightly with the flat side of a meat mallet to 1/4-inch thickness. Remove plastic wrap. Sprinkle chicken with black pepper. Layer cheese, roasted red sweet pepper halves, and sage in the center of each breast. Fold in edges; roll up into a spiral, pressing the edges to seal. Roll in flour.

In an 8-inch skillet heat the oil over medium heat. Cook chicken in hot oil about 5 minutes, turning to brown all sides. Remove from skillet.

In the same skillet bring wine or broth to boiling; reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, about 2 minutes or until 1/4 cup liquid remains. Return chicken to skillet. Cover and simmer for 7 to 8 minutes or until chicken is tender and no longer pink. To serve, spoon juices over chicken. Makes 2 servings.

Bolivar Captures Third Straight Middle School Championship

Bolivar Middle School defeated Fayette East 58-40 on January 26 to win the Area 6 Middle School Basketball Championship for the third consecutive year.

Bolivar reached the finals with a 35-13 win over Hornsby in the first round, and a 50-29 win over St. Mary's in the semifinals.

Bolivar advanced to the sectionals, where they fell to Paris Inman, 45-37, in the first round, ending their season at 18-2.

Against Fayette East, Bolivar jumped out to a 15-4 lead after the first quarter and never trailed. Toris Woods led Bolivar with 16 points, Telvin Polk had 12, and Jaquan Lax added 11.

Making the all-tournament team were tournament MVP Jaquan Lax, Polk, Woods, Kylan Jones, and Andrayvin Stewart. Coach Demetrice Beaugard was named the Coach of the Year.

Toone's girls team, which qualified for the final with a 35-32 win over Fayette West on January 25, couldn't handle the St. Mary's Angels pressure defense and bowed out of tournament in second place, losing 33-29. Brooklyn Jimmerson led Toone with 10 points. The Lady Bobcats then advanced to the sectional tournament on January 28, where they were defeated by Bellvue by a 56-16 score.

Making the all-tournament team from Toone were Brooklyn Jimmerson, Carly Daniel, and Olivia Sain. Also making the all-tournament team from Hardeman County was Bolivar's Chakhia Blockett. Only players whose teams advanced to the tournament semifinals were eligible to make the all-tournament teams.

Area 6 includes Bolivar, Middleton, Toone, Whiteville, Hornsby, Fayette East, Fayette West, and St. Mary's.

Bolivar Native Honored by Chicago State

Lonnie Wooden, who coached the Chicago State Women's Tennis team an undefeated season in 1991-92, was honored along with three players in a ceremony at Chicago State on January 26.

Wooden's team is the lone African-American female team in NCAA Division I history to post a perfect season. They completed a 20-0 fall season which followed a 17-4 record in 1990-91. The Cougars knocked off a myriad of opponents during this season that included Butler, DePaul, Eastern Michigan, UIC, Illinois State, Western Illinois, Valparaiso, Milwaukee and Green Bay. This year makes the 25th anniversary of the team's accomplishment.

The ceremony, which was done in honor of February's Black History Month, took place during halftime of Chicago State's Men's basketball game with California State - Bakersfield.

Time to Gather Your Investment Tax Forms

The holidays are now a month behind us, which means it's about time for another season: Tax Season. While you may not find it particularly festive, you can get through this season with a minimum of stress – if you're organized. That means, among other things, you'll need to gather the correct forms in one place. And right about now, you should be receiving many of the forms you'll need – specifically, those tax forms related to your investments.

Here are some of the key forms to watch for:

1099-B – This form reports capital gains. A capital gain is an increase in the value of an investment over the initial purchase price. Short-term capital gains, on investments you've held for one year or less, are taxed at your ordinary income tax rate, while long-term capital gains, on investments you've held for more than one year, are taxed at 0%, 15% or 20%, depending on income. (Keep in mind that these figures are for the 2016 tax year.)

1099-DIV – This form reports the dividends you received from companies in which you invested. For most dividends, the tax rate is the same as it is for capital gains – 0%, 15% and 20%.

1099-INT – A 1099-INT reports the interest you received from bonds or cash instruments. Typically, most types of interest are taxed at your ordinary tax rate.

1099-R – A 1099-R form reports withdrawals from retirement accounts, such as your IRA and 401(k), along with payments you received from pensions and annuities.

1099-MISC – This form reports, among other items, payments you might have received in lieu of dividends. 1099-MISC also reports earnings you might have received as an independent contractor.

1099-Q – If you contributed to a 529 plan or a Coverdell Education Savings Account (ESA), you may receive Form 1099-Q in each year you make withdrawals to pay school expenses of the beneficiary. However, the earnings in a 529 plan or Coverdell ESA grow tax free, and withdrawals are not taxable, as long as the money is used to pay for qualified higher education expenses.

Whether you do your taxes yourself or use a tax professional, you'll want to become familiar with these forms. Not only are they necessary for filing your taxes, but they can also tell you something about how you invest. To cite one example, if you're seeing a lot of taxes related to short-term capital gains – which are taxed at your personal tax rate, rather than the more favorable long-term rate you may be doing too much trading. You might want to consider moving toward a strategy in which you buy quality investments and hold them for the long term.

Here's something else to look at: the taxes resulting from your traditional IRA and 401(k) withdrawals. Could you possibly withdraw less from these accounts so that your taxes will be lower? Once you're 70½, you have to take at least a minimum amount, but other than that, you control the withdrawals – and you might benefit, tax-wise, by taking out only what you truly need.

So, gather up those 1099 forms for your tax returns – and for your own education as an investor.

GERALD DUANE PRITCHARD

NOVEMBER 14, 1945 - JANUARY 24, 2017

Mr. Gerald Duane Pritchard, the husband of Frances Chambers Pritchard, passed away Tuesday evening, January 24, 2017 at the Jackson-Madison County General Hospital.

He was born in Alabama, the son of the late Ernest and Annie Turner Pritchard and attended school there. Moving here in the mid-1980s, he was an automobile salesman and on July 22, 1995 was married to Frances Chambers Pritchard. Family members that preceded him in death, in addition to his parents, were a sister, Betty Wallace, and a brother, Harrell Pritchard.

Gerald accepted Christ as his Savior in 1997 at the age of 52 and became an active member of the Walnut Grove Baptist Church, where he served as Sunday School Director. He loved singing in the choir and especially loved singing solo specials. One of his favorite songs to sing was "The Old Man is Dead," and that song became his testimony. He also operated the sound system. Gerald loved working with youth at church, and for many years, he and Frances took children to church camp each summer.

In his leisure time, Gerald enjoyed gardening, his grandchildren, and nieces and nephews, many of whom were like grandchildren to him. Gerald loved people and he loved to talk to people and to share Jesus, which he did many times while in the hospital. Gerald spent his last days before entering the hospital ringing the bell at Walmart for the Salvation Army.

Memorial services were 1 p.m. Saturday, January 28, 2017 at Walnut Grove Baptist Church with Charles Jeter officiating. Shackelford Funeral Directors of Bolivar were in charge of arrangements.

In addition to his wife, he leaves two sons, Gerald Pritchard, Jr. (Stephanie) of Nashville, GA and Shane Laney (Kim) of Henderson, TN; four grandsons, Corey, David, Blake and Cain; two great-grandchildren, Ben and Alice Rose; two sisters, Barbara Morrison of Covington, GA and Jewel Savage of Sewanee, GA; numerous nieces, nephews and friends, all of whom he loved dearly.

Memorials may be sent to the American Cancer Society, P.O. Box 22478, Oklahoma City, OK 73123, 1-800-227-2345 (www.cancer.org/donate) or St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105, 1-800-822-6344 (www.stjude.org/donate).

OUR COUNTY

Hardeman County Remembered by Lisa Coleman

Each day in the United States there are about 1.6 million people who live their lives with Rheumatoid Arthritis (RA); I am one of those people. So if you've ever wondered what someone with RA looks like, here I am.

I was diagnosed with RA when I was 17 years old and it was a native Hardeman Countian who made the diagnosis. Dr. Jerry Hornsby was my orthopedic doctor at the time and after running a few tests he told me that I have RA. Dr. Jerry also gave me some of the best advice ever about RA when he told me all those years ago that, "this will impact how you live your life, but it is important for you to do that - live your life, learn how to manage the illness, and don't let it manage you."

RA is actually a symptom of an Auto Immune Disease. The disease causes your body's immune system to attack healthy tissue and joints which leads to inflammation, swelling, and pain. Because this occurs without an injury or infection to the affected joints, it becomes part of the disease's process, leading to joint damage. Just recently I was asked how often I have pain with my RA; my answer is that I have pain every day, all day, all the time. Some days are worse than others, some days are not so bad. Through testing and evaluation, my doctors have determined that my "average daily pain threshold", on a scale of 1-10, is somewhere between a 6-7 each day. To me, RA is just part of who I am; I have brown hair, I like to read, I like photography, I love my family, friends, and my dachshund-girl Elsie; I have RA.

It was both a blessing and a burden to be given such a diagnosis when you are 17. I learned from a young age how to manage the disease, how to be active within the limitations of the disease, and to have a positive outlook in spite of the disease. The burden of it is that I have lived with this diagnosis, and will live with it, for all of my life. I continue to be blessed with amazing physicians (my orthopedic doctor, Dr. Kelly Pucek, and my rheumatologist, Dr. David Boatright) who work with me to manage this disease and all of its quirks.

There is no cure for RA and its Autoimmune Disease, but in the last few years there have been more efforts to promote better understanding of the disease and how it affects those of us who live with it. February 2 is designated as "Bring RA Out of the Shadows Day" as a way to increase awareness of RA and how it affects lives of people you know. Punxsutawney Phil and his weather predictions can now share February 2 with those of us with RA.

I have RA, y'all, but I don't let it have me.

Livingston to Speak at Vietnam Vets Celebration

Maj. General (ret) James Livingston, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for his service as a marine, will be the keynote speaker for Bolivar's annual Vietnam Veterans Celebration, which will be held at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, March 4, at the Bolivar Army National Guard Armory, located on highway 64.

Livingston received the Congressional Medal of Honor for his role as an infantry company commander at Dai Do, Vietnam, during a three-day grinding battle of attrition in which the 2nd Battalion, 4th Marine Regiment, numbering only 800 men, victoriously battled 10,000 or more enemy fighters. The account is described in the book, "Noble Warrior."

The day's activities will begin with a parade honoring Vietnam Veterans will be held at 9:00 a.m. and will conclude at the armory.

In addition, General Livingston will speak to students at Bolivar Middle School, joined by students from Toone, Hornsby and Whiteville on March 3. Afterward, he is scheduled to go to Middleton High School where he will speak to middle school and high school students.

"This is a rare opportunity for our area to have a man of this caliber, with this history...a true hero for our nation, to not only speak to our students, but also to be the speaker for our city's celebration," Bolivar Mayor Barrett Stevens said. "You don't get these opportunities very often and our city is excited and honored to host such a great individual."

In Our Own Backyard: Old Growth Forests by Calley Overton

There are many lessons that can be learned from trees. Some of the cutest ones that you might see hand-painted with curlicues on a sign are to stand tall, go out on a limb, remember your roots, drink plenty of water, enjoy the view, and so forth. Above all, old growth forests teach a lesson of patience, recycling, and adaptability.

Simply speaking, an old growth forest is a diverse forest with a bunch of old trees that have seen many things come and go and have survived them all, letting nature take its course with little human interaction. More specifically, there are six common criteria that make up an old growth forest. Number one is a lack of human disturbance. This means that there are no logging roads, skidder trails, cut stumps, etc. Man has left no mark and the forest is allowed to just be and continue in the cycle it has been a part of for hundreds of years. The second one is the most obvious—the presence of old trees. Number three is a mixed-age canopy. When trees die of old age or fall, they leave canopy gaps. This lets in the sunlight and allows younger trees to grow and bring new life to the forest. Those little young oaks get a chance to grow when the granddaddy oaks fall. Number four is the presence of coarse woody debris, also known as decaying wood. This decaying wood provides nutrients for future plants. Number five are snags, which are standing dead trees. Snags are the trees that give you the feeling something is peering out the hole at you. They are important as homes for wildlife. Number six is complex character. An old growth forest has more diverse biological communities than a second growth forest. The snags within them provide plenty of high rises for the wildlife.

According to the Internet, there are only three old-growth forests in Tennessee. According to Bolivar, there are four. The Smoky Mountains is without a doubt the most famous. Another is within Nashville's city limits. The final two reside in West Tennessee: The Old Forest Arboretum at Overton Park and McNulty Forest, which is right across from Bolivar's very own Pillars and contains some specimens of white oak that are estimated to be 450 years old. If that estimation is accurate, Bolivar is home to some trees that called America home as Spanish explorers were founding St. Augustine, Florida, and Jamestown was just an idea.

Hardeman County is a big logging county. It's a rare day not to spot a log truck as you drive down the road, or a new logging site. However, it would not be surprising to find out that other small old-growth forests are tucked away, unknown, and continuing in their cycle of growth, death, and re-birth. Photo by Ginger Tester.

"D" is for Dinosaur by Jessica Simmons

Following the plan of learning the alphabet, this week at the Bolivar Hardeman County Library led us to the letter D and to Dinosaurs. "Harry and the Dinosaurs say Raahh" was the book of the day with act out poem "Dinosaurs" afterwards.

A discussion on paleontologists led to a craft of dinosaur feet which made a stomp around the library inevitable! A take home rainbow shape Stegosaurus craft, practice "Dd" writing sheet, and a follow-up website of <http://www.prekinders.com/dinosaurs-theme> were included in their take home packet. Each child that's been at story time for four weeks received their free book this week for having four stamps in their passport! StoryTime with Mrs. Shana is each Thursday at 10:30 a.m.
