ONE DOLLAR

From the Other Side of the Desk

I know I keep bringing this up, but I recently turned 50.

And in reaching 50 years, I thought I would be exempt from some things, like my voice changing, having that dream where I missed the entire semester of classes, and people telling my mommy you on me.

Well, two out of three ain't bad.

Yeah, someone called my mom and told her I'd done something that would make her ashamed of me.

The thing is though, I'm ashamed of it too. We all make mistakes, and I made one.

It seems I had a disagreement with someone and handled it pretty badly. Said some words you can't say on television. Well, on some channels. Back in the 70s 80s 90s maybe. And I apologized profusely before we left the room.

By the way, I still think I'm right about the subject at hand, but I didn't exactly handle making my point (or counterpoint, if you will) as I would hope my children learn how to do when conflict like this arises in their lives. I really need them to be better than me at this.

But, as I said, I handled it badly. Horribly, actually.

But, and I hate to say BUT when I'm sorry, cause that just kills all the sorry in the first place, BUUUUTTT why was my mother brought into this?

I mean, I got my AARP card... and I checked the benefits and while I have discounts at hotels and rental car places, it doesn't help with an exemption from having my mommy told about my mistakes. And I thought it would be worth $16...

What's next, ground me? Take away my Atari 2600 until I've learned my lesson?

Well, I've learned my lesson. And I'm going to do something with what I've learned.

I'm getting my mom an unlisted number.

Don't call her, she'll call you.

Lowé Commits to West Virginia University

Bolivar Central quarterback Trey Lowé announced that he plans to attend West Virginia University in the fall of 2018, ending months of sifting through offers from dozens of college football programs for the three-star quarterback.

Lowé, who is part of the ESPN 300 best football prospects for the class of 2018, narrowed his choices down to seven teams in June: West Virginia, Arkansas State, University of Illinois, University of North Carolina, University of Houston, Southern Miss, and the University of Memphis.

In April Lowé moved into the ESPN 300 and was ranked at the 22nd best quarterback in the nation.

Last season, Lowé completed 93 of 159 passes for 1,628 yards and 20 touchdowns versus only eight interceptions. Lowé also ran for six touchdowns.

A two-sport star, Lowé also was named to the All West Tennessee Baseball team this season after posting a .471 average with 22 RBI, and four home runs for Bolivar Central.

Lowé is believed to be the first Bolivar Central athlete to commit to a Big 12 school, and would be the first to be on the roster of a Power Five conference in football since Mason Ross was a walk-on at Mississippi State in 2014. Photo by Nicka Smith.

GJ Library Project Continues

Work on what will become the new Grand Junction Library continues to make progress at the former site of Grand Junction High School, according to librarian Wanza Taylor.

The expanded space, which will include classrooms dedicated to the Hi-Set program, children's classes, 4H, new business startup training, genealogy classes, technical training, and more will allow the library to function fully at all times.

"In the past, we have had to have our classes in the main room of the library which made it difficult for people to use the library," explained Taylor. "But now we will even have room for more books and resources as well as classrooms."

Taylor is hoping the Hi-Set program, which helps train people to gain their high school equivalency, will use the library as a testing center. Also, Taylor said due to a grant, they will offer six basic computer classes at the library and will even be able to take classes on the road with the addition of laptop computers.

Plans for outside on the grounds include a raised bed for master gardeners and others to plant.

While not able to guess when they will move into the facility, Taylor said the work was going well and quickly.

A raid by the Hardeman County Sheriff's Department on June 23 resulted in nine arrests and the seizure of marijuana, vehicles, guns, and cash from 209 Martindale Cove in Bolivar.

Eight of the arrested are listed on the report as under 26 years of age. They are: Reginald Dewayne Matthews, 23, of Whiteville; Ray Cordale Brown, 26, of Bolivar; Quinterius Deontray Stewart, 20, of Bolivar; Donmarrius Trevonte Coby, 19, of Bolivar; Christopher Davlon Reaves, 25, of Bolivar; Dimitics Quintinius Whitehorn, 25, of Bolivar; Ivan Chris Joy, 21, of Bolivar; and Xavier Alex Jones, 21, of Bolivar. A ninth, Keyon Joy, 34, of Bolivar, was arrested as well.

OUR COUNTY

Hardeman County Remembered

by Lisa Coleman

Last week I told you about some of my precious pea-shelling memories. There was another aspect to gardens and vegetables that I got to experience for a number of years and that was the pressure cooker. We ate vegetables fresh, we would freeze some, and then there would always be some to can.

When I was little the way I "helped" with canning was to count the jars as the seal made its distinctive "pop" sound to let us know everything was set and ready. I worked my way up the canning hierarchy to things like washing jars and filling jars, but I knew I was in the big leagues one year when my Granny (Alma) Kiestler told me,

"Missy (her nickname for me), let's can us some beans." So I helped her unearth the pressure cooker at her house (it would usually be in the little cellar, but sometimes it ended up in a stray closet somewhere), and we were in the canning business.

The pressure cooker that Granny had was in use for a long, long time. I think she said she got it in the 1940s and we used it up until just a couple of years before she passed away, so as we say in the South, we used that thing awhile. After all the bean snapping, can washing, and jar filling, we were ready to put the cans in the pressure cooker. The first time I loaded up the pressure cooker with those big quart jars (and mind you, I was in my late 20s then) I thought about all the jars and all the hands in our family that had used that pressure cooker to do just what I was doing – preserving the good food for our winter meals.

Granny and I would use the pressure cooker off and on for many more years, but the last year we used it, well, I thought we were going to meet Jesus in her kitchen. By then the pressure cooker was approaching 60 years of use. I think one of her brothers had made at least one handmade wooden handle to replace the originals. And the dial; oh mercy, that dial. The dial would spin around (not the needle on the dial, the whole dial) and the higher the pressure got, the dial is wobbling, the handles were vibrating, and I knew we would soon be at the Pearly Gates in a storm of green beans, shredded glass, and pressure cooker parts. I do remember asking Granny if she thought we should stop, and she said, "No, Missy, we only have a couple dozen more jars to go, I think it will hold out." Let's just say the cooker did hold out, and my prayer life improved that day because I think I prayed that thing through every cycle.

I love old/vintage kitchen utensils and items, and still use several in my kitchen. My old crank sifter is the absolute best in the world for making flour for cakes light and airy. I have a couple of Granny's old mixing bowls I use on a regular basis. But that pressure cooker was on its last leg that day, and I think Granny finally got rid of it. I was ok with not having that particular vintage item in my kitchen collection.

And, y'all, those green beans out of that last pressure cooking were some of the best tasting ones we ever canned.

Whiteville Community Day Coming Back

by Anna-Alicia Sails

The second annual Whiteville Community Day is near, so get ready for you and your family to have some fun. According to the founder of Whiteville Community Day, LaSondra Crisp, it's the third Saturday in July that is set aside for past and present residents to come and have fun. Crisp expressed that she wanted to put together the Whiteville Community Day because she wants to see the City of Whiteville come together as a community. Whether rain or shine, Crisp is determined to hold the event.

"Once I put my mind to something, I am going to do it. It is something I am very dedicated to," she said. While she is very determined, she won't take the credit. "God gave me this mission and I accepted it... and my family is my inspiration," she said.

Whiteville Community Day is for all people to come together, er, bring their children, meet new neighbors and reconnect with people. Crisp shared, "I want to help the city be better, not only for the adults, but for the kids, too." Whiteville Community Day will be held on Saturday, July 15 at Whiteville City Park from 3:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. with free food, drinks, games and water activities.

Please take food donations to the park at 6:00 p.m. on Friday, July 14. Any donations will be appreciated.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

One of my favorite teachers (age 50) called me Tuesday night, July 4, and asked what I was doing. Since the fireworks show was rained out, I was just watching TV and unwinding from the day. I asked her if she read the copy of the text of the Declaration of Independence I gave her on Sunday. She said "she had not had time to read it. Nobody cares about that stuff anymore." I replied "that's why the country is going down the toilet."

Needless to say the conversation ended quickly. I was upset at this and could not get to sleep until after midnight. I came close to crying for my country. I can vividly recall when and where I heard about:

1) the surrender of Germany, May 7, 1945 and 2) the surrender of Japan September 2, 1945. I was 7. In both instances I ran home to tell my mother. My Dad, age 35 with a wife and

2 children would not have to go. My uncle, single and a bit older would soon be home.

I will not repeat the entire text here. It is easily available on line in 30 seconds, maybe 1-2 minutes to print it. It seems to me that all of us in the US should start calling it what is really is; not July 4th, but Independence Day. This is what it was called when I was young and for some decades after. Now it is only a holiday, it is not called by its correct name, and all but a small minority of us only celebrate the day off, make merry, and forget the rest.

The document only covers 3 type written pages. There are basically 5 parts to it:

Introduction, one long sentence: When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary....

Preamble 5 long sentences: We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all....

That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted....

Indictments: A list of 27 factual grievances that the writers of the Declaration agreed were important to the undertaking of separating the 13 colonies from Britain to become a separate country.

Denunciation: A description of all the appeals made over the years to Britain to address the listed indictments. We must....Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

Conclusion: We therefore, the Representatives...mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.

Signatures: There were 56. I do not know how many lost their sacred Honor, but among these brave men who found it very hard to keep their fortunes (modest or not) or their lives, or both.

Henry Fell Again - A Very Short Story

by Jimmy Sadler

Henry Harrison has fallen again. Fortunately it wasn't like his first fall that shattered his hip and ended him on the road toward nursing care. He had weathered that battle well. This time was different. As he sat on the edge of his bed with nothing particularly interesting to daydream about, a woman walked past his room and glanced in with a smile. She was older, about Henry's age he supposed. It was not uncommon for people to walk past, but not like this. Henry was smitten.

He walked over toward the door to take a quick peek, and to his surprise, the woman was stopped, looking back at his door. She noticed him watching and walked up to say Hello. Glancing at the name tag on the door she spoke, "Hello... Henry." The woman wasn't like the staff, not like the doctors or other visitors that filed through every day. He felt an immediate bond, like a leap in the heart, as if it nearly stopped beating. She continued in a smooth angelic tone, "I'm Kathryn."

Henry was beside himself. He thought to himself, "I better pinch myself and make sure this isn't an angel coming to take me to glory!" He couldn't remember the last time he felt so many muscles in his face from smiling. A nurse walked by and smiled a sneaky grin, patting the woman on the shoulder and whispering "Looks like Henry fell again."

Kathryn just smiled. She thought Henry's expression and reaction to her was the most special compliment. So she invited herself in. They talked about so many things. Henry was full of questions and Kathryn was kind and answered every one that she could. Then Henry glanced at the clock and realized he had been speaking to Kathryn for three hours. He was worried, perhaps she would be in trouble with someone who expected her home. He politely excused her and paid her a compliment on her hair. He had fallen, but if you were to have seen Kathryn, you may have said the same thing about her. She was fixed on his words and expressions.

Henry put her hand between his and told her how honored he was for her time. She smiled and did something Henry would never have dreamed. She leaned in and gave him a soft and sweet kiss on the cheek. He was in Heaven.

Henry went back toward his bed but continued around so he could peer through the curtain and perhaps steal one more glance. As Kathryn walked out the door, the nurse smiled at her and grabbed her hand in a greeting. "It's a beautiful thing Ms. Kathryn, your husband has been here for four years and he still falls in love with you every day!" She beamed. Though the disease that ravaged Henry's mind made each visit his first time meeting Kathryn, his heart never strayed for a moment. As she walked she did as she always did, glance over her shoulder to see the love of her life waving and content. Henry fell again the next day and the day after that.

Sunrise: Anxiety

by David Coy

Sometimes grief comes into our lives in ways other than death. These may be less noticeable or altogether unnoticeable to those who are unobservant. Anxiety, a common struggle with grief may also exist on its own. In either case, it needs to be dealt with. Anxiety is an emotion that displays possible increased heart rate, feeling of dread over a possible outcome that is perceived to be negative. It is a feeling of nervousness that may keep someone 'on edge.' A person may be anxious over something about to happen or over nothing identifiable. Researchers believe anxiety is caused by the brain unable to produce and or regulate sufficiently two neurotransmitters called Gaba and Serotonin. It is believed anxiety may be exacerbated by poor diet, stress, or other causes yet unknown.

It is an unhealthy mix to attempt to self-treat anxiety and or depression with recreational drugs, whether alcohol, or alcohol tobacco and or marijuana combination. It does not help a person learn to manage the anxiety or depression and it may seriously diminish performance in one or more areas of function, such as employment. If there is someone you know who struggles with anxiety and or depression be very concerned if they are coming in very late after their work or school hours have ended. They may be exhibiting self-treatment symptoms of someone who is struggling and not coping or managing well their condition. They are in need of support. Whether professional or others, whether prescribed medication and counseling or going to another healthy option, they need to face their circumstances in an honest and healthy manner. It is easier if you do so with support from others who have the same principles and goals. The opposite is not good. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcares.com

COMMUNITY NEWS

Howdy from the friendly town of Toone, where we've passed the halfway point in the school year's summer vacation. I've already begun to see store ads for school supplies and kids' school clothing, and the teachers are beginning to mumble about in-service training. Unfortunately, it won't be long now!

From what I've seen and heard around town, it appears that it's been a busy summer for most Toone residents with baseball and softball games, family vacations and reunions, boating season, church events, and the usual lawn mowing and yard work. The only problem with summers is that they don't last long enough.

When I was a kid growing up in Toone, we stayed busy all summer. Most mornings after breakfast, our mothers ran us out of the house and told us to be home when the street lights came on. The boys in town would ride our bikes downtown to meet at Mr. Eddie's store for a cold drink and plan the day's adventures, although most days we just started riding with no particular destination in mind. We'd usually wind up playing in the woods somewhere building a fort or new clubhouse, and we could always find a cool swimming hole. There was always a ditch or gully to play in or some old barn or other building to explore. We had no cell phones, Ipads or video games, so we made our own fun. As we roamed around town we'd stop at most any of the neighbor's houses for a drink of water out of their garden hose and a free cookie or even a sandwich if it was near lunchtime. Everyone knew us, and if we did something wrong, our parents knew about it before we got home that night, and that never ended well. It was a great childhood. I just wish our children could know that type of fun.

Clover Chapel Baptist Church hosted guest choirs from around the area during their "Choir Day", held at the church on, Sunday, July 9. It was a wonderful afternoon on music and fellowship.

We are saddened with the loss of our good friend and neighbor, Bill Warren, who passed away last Saturday. Bill lived in the Toone area most of his life. He and his wife, Carolyn, and son, Tim, owned and operated "Warren's Small Engines" repair shop on Hwy. 18, where Bill always had a story or a joke to tell. When he wasn't at the shop, you could usually find him next door in his vegetable garden tending his prize tomatoes! RIP, Bill, we will all miss you, my friend.

Happy Birthday to, Miss Lily Reid, who celebrated her 14th birthday on, July 9. It was a fun day spent with her Mother, Amy Reid, and grandparents, Larry and Amelia McCarver.

Happy belated birthday, July 8, to our former resident, Frank Tobias. Frank and Patsy lived in Toone for 12 years until moving back to Texas just last week. Now they are closer to their sons and grandchildren.

Happy Birthday to Mrs. Bernice Finley, who celebrated her big day, July 12. Maybe Ham will bake a birthday cake for her!

We'd like to say thank you again to our generous sponsors, Police Chief, Jerry Siler, and all of the other volunteers who worked so long and hard on the 4th of July fireworks show. As always, it was a wonderful show! Call the number above to tell us about your summer activities! Until next time . . . talk to your neighbors!

Silerton held its annual 4th of July celebration. Melea Beshires shares the events of the day. "The day began as a beautiful, sunny afternoon. We had several new volunteers this year, two of which came all the way from Alabaster, AL to help. We also had some youth volunteers with the Beta Club. Many old friends got to catch up and socialize, while enjoying the hot dogs, moon pies, popcorn and fun pops. This year's entertainment was the 10-O-C band. They put on a knockout performance of country, folk and blues. Mayor Beshires presided as the MC for the evening. This year, free children's games were featured. Attendees bobbed for apples, played bean toss, hula hooped and had a water balloon fight. Unfortunately, the fireworks were rained out, but the crowd involvement and the generous donations could not have been better. We look forward to holding this tradition again next year and are hopeful that 2018 will be a fireworks show to write home about."

Oliver and Wanda Young were among the friends and families that gathered at the home of Bob and Nancy (Scoggins) Rogers located on Beech Lake in Lexington, TN. They had a wonderful time visiting and enjoying the delicious food.

Frances Stack states, "Some special memories after the passing of my brother, William David (Bill) Rush, include him being an avid reader of Zane Grey westerns, his love of God and country, and his generosity to family and friends. I recall Bill receiving two Zane Grey books from Santa one Christmas. When Bill was reading, it was impossible to have a conversation. . . he simply didn't hear me. Bill spent the years of 1964-1968 in the United States Marine Corp. This was a very tense time for families with servicemen. He was honorably discharged with the rank of Sergeant. Bill's generosity extended to family and friends especially our parents, J. L. and Alma Kate Rush. He purchased Dad a 986 International tractor and Mom a new cook stove. Bill was always ready to assist with whatever project you had in mind, usually asking for a "home-cooked meal" if you offered payment.

Bill and Gail Mayfield spent a week touring middle and western Ireland staying in B&B's and found travel there easy despite the Irish accent of English and having to drive on the left on narrow one-lane roads. Tasty food and warm welcomes greeted them throughout their stay. They explored ruins of 12th-century castles and abbeys, the Birr Science Center where an early celestial telescope was built and still stands, a demonstration creating Waterford crystal, the Titanic Experience, numerous gardens, a 5,000-year old grave, cathedrals with stained glass windows, and a demonstration of dogs herding sheep.

Frankie and I traveled to Portage, OH to visit his daughter, Jonna Ewing and family. We had a wonderful trip and enjoyed being with the granddaughters and their spouses plus the six great grandchildren.

Willard and Linda Beshires, Kevin and Melea Beshires traveled to Lake Wales, FL to attend the wedding of Melea's sister, Sarah Smith. She was wed to Ethan Venable on Saturday, June 30.

Middleton Methodist Church will have their next Senior Day on July 14th at 10 a.m. Everyone is welcome and encouraged to attend.

Jesus Name Community Church will have their young at heart luncheon July 18th at 11:30 a.m. Watch for sign on highway 72.

Thanks to those who are saving the Best Choice labels for the Middleton Woman's Club. The money received from this helps with the improvements to the city park.

Thanks to those calling and giving me people that are sick and/or news. Call 731-376-8202 or email at bonnieshealthyliving@comcast.net with any news.

Hello to all! Sorry I have not had an article the last couple of weeks but I have been out of town with my job. Hornsby Baptist Church did a great job with the July 4th celebration. The community got to enjoy hamburgers and hot dogs on the 3rd and then fireworks before the rain came. Then on the 4th the community enjoyed eating barbecue that was cooked all night by some great guys from the church. The children enjoyed the afternoon on the giant slip and slide. I want to thank everyone who had a hand in working to make those two days such a success and especially to Bro. Matt for all his hard work in getting this started several years ago. Hornsby is a great community with a lot of giving folks and I am so proud to be a part of it. The church had pie night this past Sunday with a devotion from Bro. Matt. Vacation Bible School will start Sunday night on the 16th. This is always a lot of fun for the children as we study God's word. If you would like more information please contact Jennifer Aylor she will be happy to answer any questions you might have.

There will be a lot of families traveling for the next two weeks as the All Star games start, so please be in prayer for these folks as some will be traveling back and forth to the games.

"Operation Christmas Child" and the "Love Thy Neighbor" ministries will be collecting for the month of July cans of mixed vegetables and wash cloths. If you have any news or pray request just call or email me.

Please remember to pray for the following: Sydni Aylor, Patricia Baker, Terry Baker, Max Beck, Melanie Bowers, Rick Brown, Ricky Chandler, Amanda Cornelius, Dell Ann Cossar, Kenneth Crawford, Sue Day, Elynor DeBerry, Bobbie Dorris, Shirley Emerson, Nina Floyd, Esther Galigher, Richard Hazelwood, Sue Hodge, Diane Holmes, Dewey Hopkins, Ann Hornsby, Jo Edna Howell, Wade Howell, Charley Johnson, Ann Kelly, Aubrey King, Jamie King, Debbie Laster, Nell Maddox, Bobbie McBride, Betty McMahan, Evan Nield, Lockie Newman, Josh Overton, Timmy Parchman, Gay Pierce, Prissy Poirier, Gail Pope, Tosha Powell, Paula Prince, Cindy Pulse, Keith Raines, Terry Reed, Stacy Spence, Ronna Spoon, Gary Valter, Josh Walton, Eddie Webb, Elaine Wharton, Greg Wilson, the men and women who serve our country, the families of the ones who are fighting cancer, and the families of Gail Pyle, Carolyn Howell, and Joe Lacroix.

His word for the week: Deuteronomy 33:12 "Let the beloved of the Lord rest secure in Him, for He shields him all day long, and the one the Lord loves rests between his shoulders." Praise God!!

Sobriety Checkpoint Notification
Tennessee Law Enforcement is working overtime to keep roads and highways safe from impaired drivers.
Law Enforcement officials in Bolivar will be out in force and cracking down on impaired drivers. The Bolivar Police Department, working under a grant administered through the Tennessee Department Safety, and Tennessee Highway Safety Office will hold a sobriety checkpoint on July 15, 2017 between the hours of 8:00 p.m. and 12:00 a.m. on West Market Street in Bolivar. Driving impaired or riding with someone who is driving impaired is not worth the risk. Not only do you risk your life and the lives of others, but also the trauma and financial cost incurred from a crash or arrest for driving while impaired can be significant.
"The time and energy that our officers dedicate to the highly-visible checkpoints will not be wasted," said Bolivar Police Chief Pat Baker. "If you are driving while impaired you will be caught, arrested, and prosecuted."

New Law Requires Training for Health Pros

The Tennessee Suicide Prevention Network (TSPN) announced the passage of the Kenneth and Madge Tullis, MD, Suicide Prevention Training Act of 2017, signed into law by Governor Bill Haslam on June 21. The legislation requires licensed behavioral health and health professionals in Tennessee to complete two hours of suicide prevention training every five years.

The bill represents a goal of TSPN to ensure that behavioral health professionals in Tennessee are trained in suicide prevention, intervention, and postvention protocols. "This kind of training was always encouraged among professionals in our state, but not explicitly required," explains Scott Ridgway, MS, TSPN's Executive Director. "Now, people in Tennessee can be assured of the knowledge that the behavioral health professional they work with, or the one they entrust their loved ones to, will be able to help them through a suicide crisis."

If you or anyone you know has had thoughts of suicide or are experiencing suicidal tendencies, please call 1-800-799-4TTY (4889), and for non-emergency information on suicide prevention, contact the Tennessee Suicide Prevention Network at 615-297-1077 or tspn@tspn.org.

We look forward to seeing those who never miss this event and invite those who have not yet visited campus to join us for a great evening."

The West Tennessee Indians, an 11U Baseball team with two Hardeman County players traveled to Panama City, Florida July 5-9 and came back with the championship trophy.

The Indians, who have Tucker Parker and Garrett Thompson as team members and Nathan Parker as coach, went 2-0 in pool play and gained the #2 seed.

In knockout rounds, West Tennessee beat the Outlaws of Dayton, Texas 5-1, the Hill Country Reds of Austin, Texas 6-5, the South Walton Hawks of Santa Rosa Beach, FL 10-4 and defeated Hill Country again in the final by a score of 11-3.

12U Boys Win State Championship continued from B1

Antonucci pitched a complete game victory at Horn Lake in the final game to give Bolivar the Bullfrog Classic championship.

"It was a long day of baseball," said head coach Josh Clark.

"We made a lot of good plays on defense. We didn't make all of them. But we did really well."

Clark noted some individual efforts, but was happy with the overall play of his team.

"Mikey (Antonucci) gave us a good five innings and tough pitching. Tyler (Rice) did his thing, but from top to bottom we put the ball in play," added Clark.

In preparing for the World Series which begins July 22 in Southaven, Clark talked about working on holding runnings on and refining the defense.

"A lot of these guys have never played this type of baseball and we're learning. We just got to keep getting better," he said.

The remaining all-star teams did not fare as well, as the 6Us were defeated in two games, the 9Us fell in two games and the 10U (see photo right) squad split the first two matchups, but lost in the final game. In the 10U win, John Teubner, Ryder Vickers and Max Morris combined to hold Germantown to only five hits in their 6-3 victory. See B2 for scores.

The 9U squad will be in action beginning July 15 in the Dizzy Dean World Series in Southaven.

The 8U team, which didn't play Germantown over the weekend, will begin Dizzy Dean Series play on July 20, while the 6U, 10U, and 12U squads will begin play on July 22.

Bolivar will get a visit from bona-fide ghost hunters and they're inviting citizens along for the ride.

Founded in March 2012 in Murfreesboro, Tennessee as a Christian based non-profit paranormal society, Stones River Paranormal has conducted over 150 investigations, appeared on numerous tv shows, radio interviews, and newspaper articles and have been educating individuals about paranormal investigating through our Ghost Hunting 101 events that are hosted at locations across Tennessee.

According to information found on their website at www.stonesriverparanormal.com, "Ghost Hunting 101 events are geared towards teaching people the basics of paranormal investigation and to provide an investigation for those individuals to join us and experience the paranormal first hand.

The Pillars served as a hospital in the civil war, and famous historic people have been to and stayed in this home. This is not for seasoned, experienced investigators."

Join Stones River Paranormal at The Pillars on August 12. Ghost Hunting 101 tickets are $60.00 per person and are available at
