ONE DOLLAR

From the Other Side of the Desk

I think I've mentioned this before, but I have a brother. And he has written a paper that has gotten him world-wide recognition in his area of expertise; so I've been told by Mom and Dad. Apparently he is doing research of some kind and they made a breakthrough. So he and three of his colleagues at St. Jude wrote a paper. It's in the June 30th issue of Scientific American.
 Um...wait a minute...
 A paper? He wrote A paper? ONE paper? And it got published? Well, boy howdy, let's have a parade!
 I apologize for my obvious sarcasm, but as far as publishing a paper goes...me too. This week. Last week. And the week before. And the week before that...yada, yada, yada...
 I mean, are you kidding me? Clearly, it's a classic case of birth order conspiracy bias. Let's all run and see what little brother Brett John Warren Teubner did!
 To be fair, I tried to read it. Whoa. I'm not saying it wasn't good, but I got confused while reading the title. Oakland wasn't mentioned even once.
 But Mom and Dad want it in here, so here you go. A picture too. Color even. Here's the boy genius:

But, to show my heart is in the right place, I did text him a congratulatory note:
 Brett,
 Congratulations on having your paper published. But listen, when I start saving the world for a living, you are welcome to write. Stay in your lane.
 Always,
 Darrell Teubner, Editor

Warrants Issued by County

Two Hardeman County citizens will face misdemeanor charges and fines as a result of investigations by the Hardeman County Solid Waste Department.
 Warrants were issued for Lemarcus Danyelle Walker of 205 Hollywood Acres in Bolivar and for Jeremy Antonio Young of 760 Middleton Loop by the General Sessions Court of Hardeman County this past week at the request of Solid Waste Director and Reserve Deputy Kenny Brown.
 Walker's warrant lists the charge as Aggravated Criminal Littering and Young's is for Criminal Littering.
 "Dumping old mattresses, furniture, construction debris, household garbage and other items in the ditches is not only a major eye sore but it impacts our county both environmentally and economically. It not only gives an immediate negative impression of our county, but these items also end up in our waterways and streams affecting wildlife and drinking water. Through a joint effort by Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain, Sheriff John Doolen and Hardeman County Solid Waste, we use photos, videos and other evidence from the problem areas and members of the public to track down illegal dumpers and hold them accountable for disrespecting Hardeman County's residents, businesses and taxpayers," said Brown.

 All proceeds generated from the fines will be deposited into a fund created by Mayor Sain to be used solely for Hardeman County litter prevention program and to offer rewards for any person who reports illegal littering.
 Through this fund, Mayor Jimmy Sain is offering a $50 reward to any person reporting littering that is less than five pounds and a $250 reward to any person reporting littering in excess of five pounds.

In order to receive the reward, the report must result in the prosecution and conviction of the offender.

Democrats Vote for a Primary

By a unanimous vote, the executive committee of the Hardeman County Democratic Party decided to hold a primary for county elections in 2018.
 According to Hardeman County Democratic Party's Meryl Rice the Hardeman County Democratic Party Primary Board will examine the voting record of each candidate to determine if they have voted in three of the last five state and federal primaries. If they meet this criteria, and there is no reliable evidence that they are not a democrat, they will be allowed to run.
 If a candidate does not meet that criteria, but can give a reasonable explanation to the primary board as to why that is the case, he or she still may still be allowed to run as a democrat.
 Any challenge to a person's status will be forwarded to the Executive Committee of the Tennessee Democratic Party for the final decision.

OUR COUNTY

Hardeman County Remembered by Lisa Coleman

This week we remember the anniversary of what surely has to be one of mankind's greatest achievements – the landing and spacewalk on the moon of Apollo 11 on July 20, 1969. I have been fascinated by the space program all of my life and at one point in my young life wanted to be an astronaut, but was devastated to learn (at that time) that the space program didn't accept girls.

As a child of the 1960s how could I not have been caught up in all things outer space related? Just a few months before I was born John Glenn became the first American to orbit the Earth aboard the Friendship 7. Less than a year before that (in 1961) President John F. Kennedy, in an address to Congress, issued this challenge, "First, I believe that this nation should commit itself to achieving the goal, before the decade is out, of landing a man on the moon and returning him safely to the earth. No single space project in this period will be more impressive to mankind or more important for the long-range exploration of space; and none will be so difficult or expensive to accomplish."

Even though I was just a child of 6-1/2 years old (remember when you were young how important it was to add "and a-half" to your age?), I remember the night of the moon landing. My Dad was a big fan of the space race too and he and I watched the big console television in our living room that night and saw the grainy photos of Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin landing on the moon and announcing their arrival with the oft-repeated phrase, "Houston, Tranquility Base here. The Eagle has landed." I remember we were literally sitting on the edge of our seats as we watched things unfold. And later that night, we watched Astronaut Armstrong go down the spidery steps of the lunar module and put the footprint of a man from Earth on the surface of the moon. It was awesome. If you've never watched the moon landing, go to the internet right now and do a search for "Walter Cronkite Moon Landing"; it is still breathtaking and inspiring after all these years.

Shortly after that Dad and I went out in the driveway and found the moon in our Southern night sky. It had been a hot July, but there were clear skies that night and the moon was in the crescent (at just past 32% to be specific). While we were standing there looking up at the moon so far away and yet now so much closer than before, my Dad said something I have never forgotten, "well, they made it up there and we got to see it happen; that is pretty amazing to think about. I wonder if they are up there looking down at us?"

I have followed the space programs all throughout my life and still do today. I've visited places like Cape Canaveral, Huntsville, and the NASA headquarters in Houston. My brother and I got to be the "special guides" on the tour at Cape Canaveral once (which meant, among other things, that we got to walk inside exhibits with the guide, oh so cool), I have done the gravity simulation at Huntsville, and I tried on a helmet like they were using aboard Skylab (NASA's first space station) during our visit.

Later in life when I found this Mark Twain quote, it reminded me of the men and women (finally, they let girls be astronauts) who have dared to dream and explore in the skies beyond us, "...so throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover." Almost anytime I look up at the moon and stars, I remember that night in 1969 and watching the men on the moon. Explore, dream, and discover, y'all.

Whiteville Hosts Community Day by Anna-Alicia Sails

For the second year in a row, LaSondra Crisp's vision of neighbors and friends uniting for fun, food and fellowship was realized as Whiteville held their second annual Whiteville Community Day at the park on July 15. With bounce houses, water slides, picnic tables, tents, and good food and despite the rain, the kids and their families didn't let it stop their fun.

This was not only an event to bring people together, but it also was to help the kids see something positive in the community. Bobby Boyd, of People Linked Under God, explained the importance of doing positive things in the community. "As adults, we all need to help more of our young people to be involved in the community and to keep them out of negative situations. We have to do it together."

LaSondra Crisp, organizer and founder of Whiteville Community Day, enjoyed the turnout of the event and is already thinking about next year. "Next year, I want more participation and for the event to be bigger and better," she said.

Tales from the Yellow House by Lee McAlpin (from July 2010)

Our band did a show in my old home town of Pocahontas this past Saturday. Got to see a lot of people I have not seen in years. It brought back a lot of memories. I had a lot of people to ask me where the old Yellow House was located. As soon as I stepped off the bus, I stepped right into the middle of a clump of beggar lice, which covered the legs of my jeans and the back of my shirt. Several people tried to brush the flora critters off my clothes. I told them just to let them stay, that when I lived in Pocahontas, I had beggar lice on my jeans six days a week and it just made me feel at home. After the show, I visited a dear friend who lived down the street and she gave me enough cotton balls to remove pesky seed from my clothes. We use to keep bolls of cotton around our house just to remove beggar lice from our clothes, as the plant was ever present around the Yellow House. My heart goes out to the people on the main street of Pocahontas who lost their homes and possessions during the recent storm. Those same homes were standing when I lived in the community, and I remember the families that lived in them at that time. One house was where the Wrights lived. One of their sons was an engineer on the Southern railroad that runs through the town. He had a certain whistle he would blow when he came through. The next house was Dr. Fortune's homeplace. Dr. Fortune owned a store in town and treated people for all sorts of ailments. I remember that if you had a sore throat, he would take a long cotton swab, tell you to open your mouth and say ahhh, then he would swab your tonsils with and awful tasting blood red antiseptic called Mercurochrome. He also practiced faith healing. He had a son named Leslie who had been bed fast since a teenager. He spent his days and nights in a bed on wheels. I admired this man. This did not stop this man from always having a smile on his face and working every day. Working may sound strange, but Leslie was a notary public, filled out income taxes, played the guitar, went fishing, and after his parents died, actually ran a store. I would love to have half the courage that this man had. I never complained about a thing when I visited him, I was too ashamed to even mention any ailment or problem that I might have. The family that lived next to Dr. Fortune was the Joyners. Mr. Joyner also ran a store in Pocahontas for awhile. He was an avid fisherman and hunter. He was the man that gave me a prized stack of Field and Stream and Outdoor Life magazines that I wore out reading. Also, one day he opened up one of his tackle boxes which looked as big as steamer trunks, and gave me a half dozen fishing lures. Next to the Joyner house was the Bill Trainum family. This family was just like part of our family. My sisters were close friends with the girls and me and Don romped and rambled with the boys. My next to the oldest sister Lila was killed in an auto accident along with Billie Ruth, one of the Trainum sisters. Mr. Bill was a radio and watch repairman, and Mrs. Dolly was cook in the lunchroom at Pocahontas Grammar School. You could smell Mrs. Dolly's home-made rolls all over Pocahontas when she was cooking. All of these above houses were destroyed in the storm. Even though what is left of these houses will be torn down and the lots will be cleared, you cannot clear all the memories of the families who once called these places home. Memories have always been cherished by me. Memories of times, places, friends, family, love, words spoken, and thousands of others stay etched in my mind and I pray that no one or no thing will ever hit the delete button.

City of Bolivar Honors YEP

Mayor Julian McTizic presented his first proclamation as mayor at the July 11 Bolivar City Council meeting.

The proclamation, presented to the Youth Evangelism Project (YEP), proclaims the last week in June to be YEP Week in the City of Bolivar from this year forward.

In this 5th year of the project, Dixie Hills Baptist Church joined forces with Parran's Chapel Baptist Church, Hornsby Baptist Church, Bolivar First Baptist Church, and Middleton Baptist Church to share the love of Christ by ministering to Hardeman County residents and businesses through yard work, painting, food hand-outs, and light construction.

To keep these registered 6th grade- high school students focused on their mission, high energetic night time worship activities were held throughout the week as well.

Her funeral service was held on Sunday July 9, 2017 at 2:00 p.m. at Johnson Chapel CME Church-Whiteville with Reverend Jerry Crisp in charge. Burial was in the church cemetery and Dixie Funeral Home was in charge of the professional service.

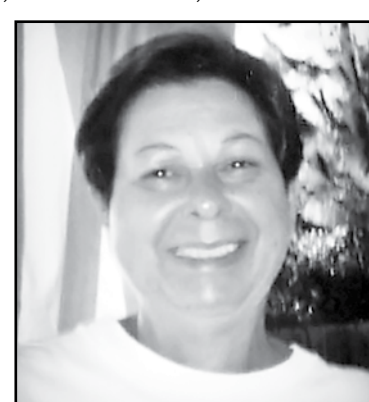

Mary Ethel accepted Christ at an early age and joined her beloved Johnson Chapel C.M.E. Church. She was a faithful member throughout her life and during her illness. She loved Sunday School; believed in the tithe; previously active in the Missionary Society; praised God w/various "Dr. Watts" and a long-time member of the Golden Grain Good Shepard, Lodge #52. Her statement, "I was born right down there from the church and I want to be buried here, even if it is under the doorstep."

Mary Ethel grew up in a family with strong values and Christian beliefs. How many times did we hear her talk about Wardell Crisp or affectionally "my daddy". "You had to go to church if you belonged to "Wardell Crisp". Mary Ethel grew up on the "rough side of mountain". Hard work was second nature for her, limiting the time for education. She was a baby-sitter beginning at the age of three to four boys. (her parents had two sets of twins after Mary Ethel). She worked in the fields for her family and when given the time to work for others, she earned fifty cents a day. "We didn't get the money, our daddy got the money". After share-cropping for many years she worked as a domestic worker, at Kilgore and later at WMHI. At the age of sixty-four, she retired to care for her ailing mother. After the death of her mother, she went back to work as a foster grandparent and a domestic worker. Even at the age of ninety-eight she stated, "I wish I could have me a little job."

Mary Ethel was an immaculate housekeeper and cook. She was famous for her Coconut Pies, Sweet Potato Pies, homemade Biscuits, Potatoes Salad and anything she wanted to cook.

FAITH

Survival and Fundamentals

by Jimmy Sadler

In late 1991, a Canadian military plane crashed enroute to the northernmost settlement on earth, Ellesmere Island. The airplane was supplying personnel changes and food supplies for the long winter. The destination was a radar listening post. The secret facility serves as a first alert system in case of nuclear or other attacks from other countries. All 18 people on the aircraft initially survived. In the next thirty hours, in temperatures dropping to 60 below zero, five of the survivors succumbed to the frigid weather. The pilot refused to put on warmer clothes, instead passing them to others who needed them. He was among the five who passed away.

The Canadian military had to devise a brand new procedure to reach the survivors, jumping out of planes at a mere 700 feet. The survivors made it out because of the heroic efforts of others, but also because they relied on the very basic fundamentals of survival: Stay warm, huddle together, conserve energy and consume steady calories to avoid the body breaking down into full-on frost bite. I worry that we are living in an age where we don't know the fundamentals of life.

When life gets hectic, when communities resort to violence or countries implode financially, where do the masses turn for hope and survival? In a world saturated with strategies, we seem to have forgotten the basics of life. We have to go back to the ABC's. I worry that many of us have never known the spiritual basics. We want what God originally created (harmony, peace, hope, sustained marriage, honesty) without wanting God who created it. It is like being in an arctic crash and denying the need for warmth and food for survival.

At what point do we come back to the simple truths that are deeper than our so-called primal urges. The ABC's of life are founded by the hand that scraped the earth to fashion our first family member. We are sustained by the same soil from which we were first fashioned. As the world crashes around us, our needs become more basic. I would suggest there is no greater need than to seek our Creator. Solomon, in all his God-given wisdom, became exhausted with the ways of man. His final advice in the midst of his disenchantment with humanity was this:

"That's the whole story. Here now is my final conclusion: Fear God and obey his commands, for this is everyone's duty. God will judge us for everything we do, including every secret thing, whether good or bad" (Ecclesiastes 12:13, 14, NLT).

My chief goal as a parent needs to be pointing my children to Christ. Only Christ can save us from God's judgment. Only God can rescue us from the dangerous places we find ourselves. We must pass down the fundamentals of life to the next generation.

"Start children off on the way they should go, and even when they are old they will not turn from it" (Proverbs 22:6, NIV).

Sunrise: Memorial Visits

by David Coy

A question that has been asked by many people is whether or not it is obligatory or at least expected, to go and visit regularly at the grave site of a loved one? My suggestion is two-fold. First, go at least once to see if it is comforting or uncomfortable. I have known clients who said going to the gravesite of their loved one was not a pleasant experience. They said it brought only further heartache and sorrow. Thus It is reasonable to determine whether it is or would be a comfort to go.

The second-half of my suggestion is, After you make up your mind whether going is a comfort to you then you can determine how frequent you wish to go or not to go. Even if some have said it is customary to go, whether or not it is pleasant or comforting. I disagree with the reasoning that going is a required. Mourning is an individual unique experience and the goal is to heal and rebuild (if necessary) our life anew. Because our experiences are different from everyone else and we all individually perceive differently, our outlook will be slightly different from everyone else about loss and how it has touched our individual life. Therefore, in my judgment whether to go or not is an individual choice, not right or wrong.

If for example, the actual burial site is far away and traveling would be expensive, extremely impractical, or unknown then a person could if they desired, make a small memorial in their home or somewhere on their property. This would be equally comforting if a person built something to honor the memory of their loved one, one culture compresses remains into gem-like beads in turquoise, pink or black. These "death beads" are then displayed in the home. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcares.com

COMMUNITY NEWS

Howdy from Toone where it looks as if we are finally settling into the sweltering "Dog Days of Summer"! These hot, humid days give us a whole new appreciation for those hard-working air-conditioners and fans, and especially for the repairmen who brace the heat to keep our units working. So remember, when you have to work outdoors, get up and out early, and drink lots of water!

Well, kids, the good news is, you have three weeks of summer vacation left. The bad news is, you only have three weeks of summer vacation left. Yes, that's right, the new school year begins, Monday, August 7. Students go for a half day on Monday, then full classes begin Tuesday. So, enjoy what's left of your summer vacation!

Toone Baptist Church hosted it's Vacation Bible School, July 12-14. The kids all enjoyed an old-fashioned camp-out with tents set-up inside the church, tasty campfire food and arts and crafts. A special thanks to Brother Anthony and all of the hard-working volunteers who made this year's VBS a great success.

I notice that work continues around the Toone area on the AT&T project with new orange cable still being buried. I'm not really sure what the end result will be when all of the cable ends are finally connected, but I certainly hope it will have a positive affect on our Internet service! If anyone knows the details of this project, please let me know so I can share the info with our readers.

Go ahead and mark your calendars for the Hardeman County Arts Council's production of "Grease: School Edition". Show dates are: Friday, September 8th at 7:00pm;

Saturday, September 9th at 7:00pm, and Sunday, September 10th, at 2:00pm. Dates for ticket sales will be announced later. I hear that rehearsals all going well, so it should be a great show!

Remember to call the number above to share your summer activities. Until next time. . . talk to your neighbors!

We were saddened to hear of the death of Joyce Young's granddaughter, Ashley. Ashley was buried July 1 in Haywood County. She had received a double lung transplant and had suffered some very unstable medical episodes in her life. Joyce was a former resident of Silerton. Many in the area had been faithful prayer intercessors for Ashley.

Brenda Cooper had surgery to remove a hernia, Wednesday, July 12 at JMCGRH. She is home and doing fine. Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Wilson and children spent two weeks in Silerton.

Condolences to the family of Bill Warren. He will be missed by many in the Silerton area. The Stack sisters, Ann, Brenda, Betty, Frances and myself enjoyed a brunch with the Siler sisters, Betty Stewart and Mary Ann Russell on Friday, July 7 at the new home of Mary Ann on Russell Lane in Bolivar. It was a most enjoyable time. The food was delicious but the most precious thing was the time spent sharing memories and reminiscing about our childhoods in Silerton. Mary Ann showed us a set of glasses that her mother passed down to her. She referred to those lovely green glasses as "preacher glasses". The reason for that name was her mother only used them when they invited the preacher to dine with them. As the story unfolded, her mother purchased Standard coffee from a traveling salesman and received coupons for the purchase. She then took the coupons and obtained the glasses. In our conversation, we recalled some of the unique and unusual names of some of the dear ladies that lived in the Silerton area. We reflected on how we loved and admired these precious ladies. Wondering if any of you remember any of these people: Osoline, Coleen, Velna, Verla, Eathel, Minnie, Mrytle, Ossie, Cutaugh, Maurice, Lorada, Graple, Tressie, Buena, Timey, Lida, Lockye, Beulah, Bernice, Verness, Bivian, Ida and Opha.

An enjoyable time was had by all at the Piney Grove Baptist Church bar-b-que Saturday, July 8. Church members, friends in the community, and family members enjoyed the chicken, all kinds of side dishes, wonderful desserts and great fellowship. Brother Sam Cox, pastor at Middleton Baptist Church brought the message "Living Right Side Up in an Upside-Down World."

Continue to remember the sick and shut ins. Those I know of are: Sharon Azotea, Johnny Lowrance, Benny Luker, Jackie Kennemore, David Burcham, Jason Dixon, Linsey Parmley, Mary Long, David Kennedy, J W McMillin, Diane Taylor, Stephen Robinson, Doug Henderson, Nick Scott and Dorris Medlin.

Thanks to those who are saving the Best Choice labels for the Middleton Woman's Club. The money received from this helps with the improvements to the city park.

Bonnie Callahan's children gave her a 70th birthday party on July 15th at her home. There was over 50 friends and relatives attending. The theme was traveling. They decorated with maps, globes, flowers and pictures of Bonnie from baby on up. There was an array of delicious foods and a cake that looked like a suitcase. They really outdone themselves. Bonnie wants to thank Bo, Melody, Tracy, Shane, Heather, Ramsey, Allison, Faith, Sam, Tyler, Dara, Luke, Asa and Colton for the great party. Bonnie really doesn't turn 70 until July 20th, but trying to celebrate every day in July. Thank everyone for the gifts and cards.

Hello to all! Last week was a fun week as lots of folks from Hardeman County went and supported the girls' softball teams at the World Series in Southaven. I know these young ladies appreciate all the people who came and cheered for them. I had the privileged of getting to know some people who were with my granddaughter's team and I am very thankful for how encouraging they are to these little girls. Speaking of softball I would like to say congratulations to Sophie Dunavant, daughter of Johnny and Sherry Dunavant, for being chosen to the All American Team! Sophie is a wonderful young lady who I have had the privilege of knowing since she was a small child. I am very excited for her and I know she works hard at this sport she loves so much.

Family Fights Against Gun Violence

A Hardeman County family that was a victim of gun violence will lead an event to bring awareness to the issue.

The MAGNUM (Men/Mothers Against Gun Violence Unity Movement) event will take place on Saturday, July 29, 2017, at 5:00 p.m. at the Bolivar Downtown Amphitheatre on Courthouse Square with live music from Caleb Minter, food, and motivational messages. Local officials and community leaders will bring awareness on gun violence and the importance of love and showing unity throughout the community and surrounding counties.

This movement, with this year's theme of "United We Stand Community Day", was birthed by Caleb Minter after his brother Clarence Minter Jr. was murdered in Hardeman County in December 2014. "Losing a child suddenly to gun violence has changed our lives forever...It becomes very personal when someone you love is affected by gun violence as you see things from a totally different perspective." says Ruby Harvey, mother of Clarence Minter Jr. and organizer of the event.

The purpose of this MAGNUM event is to bring the community together as one and to honor the memories of Clarence and others who have been impacted by gun violence. For more information, call Ruby Harvey at 731-212-1823.

According to Bolivar Police Chief Pat Baker, the city has not had a gun violence related incident in 2017. Numbers from the City of Memphis increased however, from 161 in 2015 to 226 in 2016.

Star PT Hardeman County Sports Notes

The Annual Tyler Bomar Scholarship Golf Tournament will be held Saturday, July 15. The format was a 3-Person Scramble, with 29 teams playing nine holes.

Winning the rain shortened event was Bill McIntyre, Tony Cooper, and Jerry Fry at 7-under par 29.

The second flight winners were Richard Clift, Tink Richardson and Dick Teubner at 3-under.

The tournament proceeds go to the Tyler Bomar Scholarship Fund.

Tim Tebow, professional baseball and football icon, will speak at the Freed-Hardeman University Benefit Dinner Friday night, December 1, 2017. Last year the annual event raised almost $1.7 million for student scholarships at FHU.

FHU President David Shannon talked about the event's importance, "The money raised through the benefit dinner impacts students' lives in major ways; many simply could not be here without it. Tim Tebow's sportsmanship, character and philanthropy have helped young people around the world, and his presence at this dinner will support Freed-Hardeman students. We look forward to seeing those who never miss this event and invite those who have not yet visited campus to join us for a great evening."

Sponsorships begin at $600, and individual tickets may be purchased for $150.

The Bolivar 9U All-Stars fell in back to back one run games to close out their all-star season at Southaven, Mississippi.

The 9U All-Stars were coached by John Baker, Mikey McMahan and Ken Watkins.

Match Short- and Long-Term Goals With the Right Investments

Not all investments are created equal. Some are better suited for short-term goals, while others can help you build resources for objectives far in the future. As an investor, then, one of your biggest challenges will be to match your short- and long-term goals with the appropriate investment vehicles. How should you proceed?

For starters, identify your short- and long-term goals. Your short-term goals will change throughout your life. When you are starting out in your career, for example, you might aspire to purchase a home in the next three to five years. Later on, though, your biggest short-term objective might be to save enough money for a long tour of Europe – without racking up credit card debt.

As for long-term goals, your biggest one likely will be to enjoy a comfortable retirement. But you may well have other long-term plans, too, such as sending your kids to college in 10 or 15 years.

After you have a clear sense of your short- and long-term goals, you can choose the right investments to help you meet them. Let's start with the shorter-term ones. When you're saving for a down payment on a home or for an expensive European vacation, you want to make sure that a certain amount of money will be available to you at a certain time. Consequently, you may want to avoid stocks or stock-based vehicles, which will constantly fluctuate in price, because you don't want the value of your investment to be down at the moment you need the money. Instead, for short-term goals, you may want to consider a fixed-income vehicle, such as a bond, which is designed to provide regular interest payments and return your full principal upon the bond's maturity (providing the issuer doesn't default, which, with investment-grade bonds, is generally unlikely).

For longer-term goals, such as college for your kids and a comfortable retirement for yourself, it's a different story. To achieve these goals – and especially for retirement – you generally need to accumulate as much as you can. As a result, you need investments with growth potential, which means you will need to consider stocks and stock-based instruments. As mentioned above, stocks will always fluctuate in value, and they may be worth more or less than your original investment when sold. However, building a portfolio with an investment mix that's appropriate for your risk tolerance, and that contains a reasonable amount of growth-oriented vehicles, can potentially help you overcome short-term volatility and continue making progress toward your long-term goals.

Plus, you have some attractive long-term options available. With a 529 college savings plan, you can save for college and possibly achieve tax benefits, too. And by contributing regularly to your IRA and 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored plan, you can defer taxes while spreading your dollars among a wide range of investments. But there's one thing all long-term investments have in common: You need patience and discipline to stick with them.

So, there you have some ideas on short- and long-term investing. Keeping this distinction in mind when you invest can help boost your confidence that you're making appropriate moves for all your goals.

Farmers Market Spotlight: Heavenly Scents by Ginger Tester

You won't find just produce, meats and baked goods at the Bolivar Farmers Market on Tuesdays and Saturdays beginning at 7:00 a.m. Former stressed out fast paced office worker, now stay at home wife and mother, Anita Squirrel who is the owner and soap maker of Heavenly Hosted Scents is a continual vendor at the farmers market. "I started making my homemade products as a result of learning more about the chemicals that go into the making of most beauty products that are on the market today...and our bodies were not meant to react to the chemicals that are in our food, water, lotions, and shampoos produced today," Squirrel said.

Heavenly Hosted Scents offers a variety of scent bar soaps, body butters, cupcake soaps, basket/gift sets, lip balm, lotion, hair products for people and pets, shaving bars and sugar scrubs that you can purchase either at the farmers market or online. All items are hand-made with all-natural ingredients using the most raw or purest form so that the product performs how it was meant to; by cleansing, soothing, softening and brightening your skin, hair and scalp while only essence oils and natural herbs and/or spices are used for coloring and fragrance. Visit <https://heavenlyhostedscents.com> for your online shopping convenience with special shipping rates.

To participate in the Farmers Market, contact Gerald Sykes, Market Manager, at 731-609-2345.

Tax-Free Holiday Marks End of Summer

continued from A1 of "clothing" such as thread, fabric, yarn, and zippers are not exempt. Examples of school supplies and school art supplies that a student will need for their studies are folders, binders, book bags, pencils, notebooks, calculators, lunchboxes, tempera, oil paints, and paintbrushes for artwork. Supplies for businesses are still taxable.

Computers with a purchase price of $1,500.00 or less (includes laptops and Ipads) are also exempt. However, computer parts (when sold separately), storage media, software (when sold separately), video game consoles, printers and supplies, electronic readers, personal digital assistants, and cell phones are taxable. Also, extended warranties for computers are taxable.

A retailer may not split items normally sold together in order to fall under the sales price threshold. The sales price threshold is based on the original, pre-discount, pre-rebate, and pre-coupon price. There is no partial tax rate for an item valued above the sales price threshold. If an item is above the sales price threshold, tax is due on the entire selling price.

The best part about the sales tax holiday is that you don't have to fight the crowds if you plan ahead. Qualified items ordered by mail, telephone, email, or Internet are exempt if the customer orders and pays for item and the retailer accepts the order during the holiday even if the delivery is late. Qualified items on layaway are exempt if the final payment is made during the sales tax holiday or if they are placed on layaway during the sales tax holiday even if the final payment is made later.

Oh no, what if the three-ring binders that you absolutely love are not in stock and they are backlogged or on backorder? They still qualify. But if you intentionally delay the sale of the qualified item, it is taxable.

After a three-day shopping frenzy to get everything on a school supply list, school clothes, or just something for yourself, it is likely that something will have to be returned. If a qualified item is purchased during the sales tax holiday and exchanged for the same item in a different size or color, that item will be exempt even if the exchange is made after the sales tax holiday. If a qualified item is returned for credit after the sales tax holiday, the new item will be taxed, even if it would have been eligible. If a qualified item is purchased before the sales tax holiday and is returned during the holiday, no sales tax is due if the new item is purchased on the sales tax holiday and eligible for exemption.

For a complete list of items, go to www.tntaxholiday.com.
