From the Other Side of the Desk

There's a new app out there and I've got to get it. For a few people I know. This latest innovation is for people who text and then wish they hadn't. It's for people who say things they shouldn't have said and then can't take them back. It's for Facebook posters who wish their too-quickly and ill-advised opinion hadn't gone public. It's for people like Phil Jones of Calabash, MD, who texted that someone he barely knew "had a silver spoon in his mouth and hadn't ever done any real work."

Too bad Phil didn't know the guy spent many of his formidable years in a trailer and did indeed, have a bit of dirt under his fingernails. But what's really too bad is that Phil didn't have the innovation that has removed plenty of size 9's from even the biggest of the large mouth bass.

Phil could have saved himself embarrassment if he had spent just $3.95 on the WAYST!

Short for Whoa, are you Sending That?, it uses the latest technology to read your texts before you send them and ask poignant questions like, Are you sure you want to say that? and Have you thought about how dumb that will look? or the always popular, Seriously!?!? The app will have an override feature that will allow it to send even the dumbest of posts, but only after you agree that yes, you are exercising incredibly bad judgement for saying it, but you just got to get it off your chest.

Coming soon to a smart-phone near you.

For some though, not soon enough.

County Nearing Three Million in Bank

County Clerk Jerry Armstrong's Wednesday morning walk across the courthouse lawn to Hardeman County Trustee Mary Powell's office got the county a bit closer to their goal: three million dollars in the fund balance.

"The budget committee set a goal of three million in the fund balance by next June 30," said Hardeman County Mayor Sain. "I'm not sure anyone believes us."

It's a far cry from the 2014 figures when the county was forced to borrow $600,000 just to make payroll.

Sain is quick to spread the credit to his departments, with special thanks to Hardeman County Trustee Mary Powell and Chancery Clerk Janice Bodiford.

"Ms. Powell is a mayor's dream," said Sain. "Through hard work and diligence she has collections near 98% for most years. Very few trust-

According to the network, "Mike, Mariellen and their two sons have vacationed in Galveston, Texas, for years, and now they're ready to buy a beach home of their own. Mike is a contractor, so he and Mariellen are prepared to take on any renovations their house may need, including an updated kitchen, a guest suite and an outdoor shower. But as things get underway, they quickly realize that this project may be bigger than expected." It is scheduled to air Saturday, July 9 at 8:00 p.m.

ELECT JOHN VICKERS

Hardeman County will go to the polls on August 4 and elect an Assessor of Property. The Assessor of Property will be in charge of assuring the citizens of this County that their property will be assessed fairly and without prejudice. There is over 21,000 parcels in Hardeman County that are billed each year based on the property tax rate set by the County Commission. For a majority of the taxpayers, you will get your assessment and pay your taxes without question based on the prior years assessment. But for many of you that have purchased new property or made improvements on existing properties, that's where you need an assessor that is fair, will listen to your opinion, and work with you to set a fair value of your new investment.

I have been a business owner and property owner for over 25 years in Hardeman County and I will take common sense and business sense into the Assessors Office. Four years ago, I was a candidate for the office along with two other candidates. The only candidate with experience in the assessors office did not win. The University of Tennessee Advisory Service has continuing classes on assessing property. Anyone can learn the laws and functions of the office, but it takes business knowledge and experience to put it to work for you.

- I WILL:
- Be Fair using the common sense approach to assessing your property.
  - Take the time to listen to your concerns and opinions of your assessment.
  - Represent the Taxpayer and Hardeman County equally.

I thank you for the many words of encouragement and your faith in my ability to serve as your Assessor of Property. Now, lets go to the polls (Early Voting - July 15-30) and (Election Day - August 4) and make a positive change for Hardeman County.

Tales from the Yellow House by Lee McAlpin

As I've mentioned before, the family that lived at the Yellow House was poor. I did not know it because we were one among many families. We were never without an abundance of family love, friends and music. All of which I know helped sustain us during that period of my life. I always believed in hoping, dreaming and having an optimistic outlook on life. I was constantly dwelling on these three things when I was growing up as the saying goes. Another thing that we had was pride, which a certain amount of that is healthy to any individual. The lack of having everything has helped me in appreciating all good things that come my way, from the biggest to the smallest.

Getting something new at the Yellow House was far and few between. I remember that Dad finally got the money to buy a new battery powered radio. A Silver-tone which he ordered from Sears, Roebuck & Company. That purchase was a God-send to us, as we all loved music so much. We only got to listen to certain programs though, which were mostly music. If Dad or Mom was out of the house, I would turn on the radio. If they came back in, they would tell me to turn it off, that we had to save the battery. The unit used a huge battery about sixteen inches long. After a few months use of the battery it would begin to get weak and Dad would put it in the warm oven of the cookstove for awhile which was supposed to recharge it. I would listen to the songs and music on that old radio and dream that someday someone would be listening to me through that wonderful and amazing object. Then came the day that Dad saved enough money to purchase a new bedroom suite which he ordered from Sears also. Mom and Dads bedroom was transformed from a Route 66 motel room to a suite in Waldorf Astoria Hotel. Lila, Joyce and Juanita spent hours in front of the big oval mirror which was tall enough to mirror the whole body, primping, prissing and posing as if they were on a fashion models runway in Paris, France. I have to admit that I halted in front of that glass quite a few times myself practicing my John Wayne stance which I believed would just drive the girls wild.

One day Don and I engaged a rock throwing fight with the two brothers who lived across the railroad tracks. It was close combat fighting near our front porch when one of the enemy threw a railroad rock through the door to the bedroom where the new bedroom furniture was. It hit the new headboard so hard that it left a large indentation in that shiny piece of wood that was still there when the bed seen its better days. Some little things that I remember that made me happy was the day that Mr. William Joyner gave me a stack of Outdoor Life and Field and Stream magazines. I read them from cover to cover and imagined that I was in the deep woods of Alaska on an elk or mountain goat shoot. I have always been an arm-chair hunter and fisherman and loved nature and the outdoors. These magazines had an ad in them from the Northwestern School Of Taxidermy. I was amazed that a person could take an animal, stuff it keep it. I talked my Great Uncle into purchasing me a course in taxidermy, which he did. I took the course and passed it. I did not have the money to buy all the materials it called for, but I made do. I did mount a river otter, dried a huge crawfish, and mounted a screech owl that I found dead. I put him on a cedar branch and set him on top of the Silver-tone radio. A few mornings later, I woke up and the head was gone from the critter.

About a week later, I found the head in a cotton row middle out from the house. I suppose a cat did it, but I never knew. After mounting a river otter, I gave up my dream of being a world renowned taxidermist with mounts displayed in the Smithsonian Institute. I still hope and dream and appreciate any blessings that come my way, whether large or small.

APTA Does and Ol'Fashioned 4th

It was like taking a stroll down memory lane under the shade trees at The Pillars on Saturday. A light breeze carried aromas of sizzling hamburgers and hot dogs through the red, white and blue decorated grounds as kids played a round of croquet. Friends and family enjoyed the food and visits and played horseshoes and croquet as they gathered for a special ol' fashioned Fourth of July celebration at the first and oldest brick home built by Robert Murray in 1826, sold to the Lea family in 1828 and then sold to John Houston Bills in 1837.

Mr. Bills was a socially prominent politician, merchant, planter, real estate operator and was also an extensive traveler and diarist. This house museum, due to the generosity of the Bills Family, belongs to the Association of the Preservation of Tennessee Antiquities who cares for, restores and raises funds for The Pillars, The Little Courthouse Museum and other historical properties in Hardeman County The APTA is the oldest statewide nonprofit historic preservation organization in the State of Tennessee and the fourth oldest in the nation.

Tennessee Career Coach Comes to Whiteville

The Tennessee Department of Labor and Workforce Development's mobile Career Coach was at the Lee Ola Roberts Library in Whiteville on Thursday, July 7. Career Coach staff were on-site helping people create resumes and register with Jobs4TN.gov where there are almost 200,000 jobs available.

The Career Coach serves as a mobile one-stop career center to deliver workforce services across the State of Tennessee and it is a resource to deliver services to areas that may lack access to workforce related services. The mission of TDLWD is to create and foster the nation's number one workforce by assisting job seekers and employers with workforce related services.

Step Up to the Old Drawing Board

by Anna-Alicia Sails

If you love Music on the Square and all things creative arts, then On the Square Gallery and Gifts has something fun for you. The store will hold a drawing class on July 30th. The class is called: Getting Things in Perspective. It is open to all students from teenage years and older.

Another exciting tidbit is that the class will be taught by Barbara Curlee, who is a professional artist and instructor. Those participating should bring a ruler, a yardstick, and some pencils. Curlee will be providing the paper. You can wear casual and comfy clothes. There is a break for lunch and you can go out to eat lunch or bring your own.

The cost for the class is $60 and the classroom is upstairs inside the gallery. There is no elevator. The class will be on July 30th from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. To reserve your spot in the class, you can call Mrs. Deborah T. Brasfield at 901-652-7517. On the Square Gallery and Gifts is located at 109 North Main St.

If you want to experience more of the creative arts, The Hardeman County Arts Council is having a Southern Expression Art Show on July 10th.

Submit Your Common Acreage Information Just Once

by Gene Davidson

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) requires farmers and ranchers participating in our programs to submit an annual report on all cropland use on their farms. Crop insurance agents for providers approved by the USDA Risk Management Agency (RMA) also require these reports to ensure accuracy with your premiums and when you file claims. Yet for years, farmers and ranchers have entered the same basic common information from their acreage reports at these two different places.

No longer. Now, farmers and ranchers can provide the common information from their acreage reports just once -- either to FSA or to their crop insurance agent -- and that common information will be securely and electronically shared with the other.

This new process is part of USDA's Acreage Crop Reporting Streamlining Initiative (ACRSI), an interagency collaboration to streamline the collection of common information to better serve our customers.

Over the past seven years, USDA implemented new ways to help farmers and ranchers conduct business with us more efficiently and effectively. Instead of farmers and ranchers juggling 54 acreage reporting dates for RMA that covered 122 crops, or 17 acreage reporting dates for FSA covering 273 crops, USDA established 15 common acreage reporting dates. These improvements, coupled with filing your common acreage report information in just one place, will not only save you time, but increase the accuracy in your crop reporting data.

More than 93 percent of all annual reported acres to FSA and RMA now are eligible for this common data reporting, and USDA is exploring adding more crops. Although you must still visit both offices to validate and sign their respective acreage reports, complete maps or provide program-specific information, the common data from your first-filed acreage report will now be available to pre-populate and accelerate completion of the second report, eliminating redundant reporting. In the coming months and years, USDA will continue to build upon this framework. In fact, already we anticipate that some insurance providers will allow reporting to include precision agriculture geospatial data from a producer's planter along with regular crop and acreage information, and that third parties may begin designing electronic tools to assist with the reporting.

Since 2009, these are the types of targeted investments that USDA has made to help spur growth in the rural economy, make farming and ranching even better and help you achieve your personal version of the American dream. We hope you will explore participating this spring in our new streamlined acreage reporting initiative.

Gene Davidson is the Executive Director for the Tennessee Farm Service Agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Small-Business Owners Must Protect Their Futures

If you're a small-business owner, you think a lot about today. Is your cash flow sufficient ... today? Are your products and services competitive ... today? Are you confident in your marketing and advertising efforts ... today? And because you are so focused on today, you may be neglecting a key aspect of tomorrow – your retirement. Specifically, do you have a good retirement plan for yourself?

Given that your personal finances are so tied up with your business, your plans for the business will obviously greatly affect your financial situation when you retire. Whether you want to transfer the business to another family member, sell it outright to someone else, or possibly just wind it down, you'll need to plan ahead and consult with your legal and tax advisors.

However, you can take steps now to help ensure you can enjoy a comfortable retirement. You have access to a variety of retirement plans appropriate for small-business owners, including these:

Owner-only 401(k) – This plan, also known as an individual or a "solo" 401(k), is available to self-employed individuals and business owners with no full-time employees other than themselves or a spouse. As the owner, you can contribute to your plan as both an employer and an employee; your total contribution limit for 2016 is $53,000, or $59,000 if you are 50 or older.

SEP IRA – If you have just a few employees or are self-employed with no employees, you might consider a SEP IRA. You'll fund the plan with tax-deductible contributions, and you must cover all eligible employees. (Employees themselves cannot contribute.) You can contribute up to 25% of compensation, up to $53,000 annually. (Contributions for a self-employed individual are limited to 25% of compensation minus one-half of self-employment taxes.) And you can fund your SEP IRA with many different types of investments. Plus, you can establish a SEP IRA for 2016 until April 17, 2017.

Defined benefit plan – Pension plans, also known as defined benefit plans, have become less prevalent in recent years – but you can still set one up for yourself if you are self-employed or own your own business. This plan has high contribution limits, which are determined by an actuarial calculation, and as is the case with other retirement plans, your contributions are typically tax-deductible.

SIMPLE IRA – As its name suggests, a SIMPLE IRA is easy to set up and maintain, and can be a good plan if your business has fewer than 10 employees. Still, while a SIMPLE IRA may be advantageous for your employees, it's less generous to you, as far as allowable contributions, than an owner-only 401(k), a SEP IRA or a defined benefit plan. For 2016, your annual contributions are generally limited to $12,500, or $15,500 if you're 50 or older by the end of the year. You can also make a matching contribution of up to 3% of your compensation.

You need to establish a SIMPLE IRA between Jan. 1 and Oct. 1 of any year. In fact, if you'd like to set up any of the retirement plans we've looked at, don't delay. The sooner you open your plan, the more years you will have to contribute – and, as you know, time is often an investor's best friend.

GO FIGURE! by Linda Thistle

Attracting and Hosting Butterflies by Carolyn Tomlin

Driving down an off-the-beaten path in rural West Tennessee, a driver swirled and stopped immediately in front of me. After hitting my brakes, I realized it was my fault. I should have read her bumper sticker which stated: I BREAK FOR BUTTERFLIES.

Ranging in colors from yellow, black, blue, and shades in between, you see them on country roads—suburban gardens—to sunny nature centers. Driving on the back-roads, butterflies (Lepidoptera) flutter above Queen Anne's Lace, Black-Eyed Susan and Purple Cone Flowers that grow along the roadside. Regardless of how often they appear, one never tires of their beauty. These marvels of nature fly by day and rest with their wings erect.

The ideal way to attract butterflies," says Carol Lovell-Saas, Director of the Biophilia Nature Center in Elberta, Alabama, "is for gardeners to provide both host and nectar plants. For example, Monarchs need milkweeds (any plant in the genus Asclepias), but every butterfly species has a plant or group of plants that it specifically needs for its caterpillars to eat. Zebra Swallowtails only lay their eggs on Paw Paw trees. Gulf Fritillaries prefer Passion Vine. Long-tailed Skippers choose native Wisteria and other bean family relatives."

The primary host plant for the Monarch is the Common Milkweed, which grows in some sections of Tennessee. However, the rest of the state contains a long list of native milkweeds. If this plant does not die back in winter, cut back to the roots. Otherwise, the plant carries a disease than can harm Monarchs. New growth is excellent food for the Monarchs. With the overuse of chemicals and the milkweed that may produce a disease, the Monarch needs our help.

Nectar plants that grow well in the state include those above and native Honeysuckle, milkweed,

Dwarf zinnia, Lantana, Mexican sunflower, Blazing star, Joe-pye-weed, and Phlox, Often wildlife enthusiasts ask: How do I find out the best host and nectar plants that attract butterflies? Start with your local Extension System, website for local universities or colleges, and search for local clubs or interest groups that focus on botany, wildflowers, butterfly gardening, or other nature-related clubs.

Aside from providing host and nectar producing plants, there are additional concerns Tennessee gardeners can control. Amanda Maples, director of the Purdy Butterfly House at the Huntsville Botanical Gardens suggest filling bird baths with moist sand. "If a butterfly tries to drink water from a birdbath and accidentally falls in, they drown. Place saucers of moist sand or clean water daily around your plants. Smooth rocks or stone also provide a warm resting place." Any ideas for over-ripe fruit? Instead of discarding, slice bananas or apples and offer these tidbits for munching. Butterflies not only receive moisture, but the fruit provides energy. A common problem affecting butterflies and non-harmful pests are chemicals and pesticides used to control weeds and insects. In my garden, I use full-strength white vinegar to manage grass and weeds near nectar producing flowers. This will not eradicate tough foliage, but will help control without the use of dangerous ingredients.

Carolyn Tomlin writes for numerous magazines and newspapers focusing on wildlife and nature. Email: tomlinm@bellsouth.net

Olympic Day at Bolivar-Hardeman County Library

by Anna-Alicia Sails

Do you remember when you were a kid and went outside to play? If you all played any sport with your friends outside, you probably stretched before the game began, right? Well, as the Bolivar-Hardeman County Library continues with their summer reading program, they had Olympic Games Day last Friday. Here's the catch: they had it inside! It was a beautiful day outside, but with the anticipating fun games ahead, it was safer from the heat inside.

As kids eagerly made their way inside the library at 10:00 a.m., there were smiles on their faces, anxiously waiting for the games and stories ahead. Mrs. Allison Hazelwood, library assistant, talked to the kids about examples of Olympic games like swimming, running, and gymnastics. Hazelwood expressed that even those who participate in the Olympics know the importance of stretching before every practice. With this, she introduced them to Kids' Yoga. With arms stretched wide and tons of flexibility, the kids did the Downward Facing Dog pose, Tree Pose, Cobra Pose, and other poses to the best of their ability. I even joined the fun and did some examples of a few yoga poses!

After the yoga, it was time for the Kids' Olympic Games. Yet, what is an Olympic game without a torch? First, the kids were able to make their own torches with orange and white paper and tongue compressors. After that, the kids lined up and waved their flag before each game they participated in. The games included The Pyramid, The Cornhole, and even Bowling! Before each game, the kids waved their torch happily and proud. Towards the end, Hazelwood encouraged the kids to read about their favorite Olympian.

If you want your child to participate in the library's summer program, it's not too late!! They can participate in the whole month of July, right before school starts. I hope you allow your child to discover the joy of reading.

Hardeman County Remembered by Lisa Coleman

When I was growing up, even the mere mention of getting a “switchin’” was enough to strike the fear of God in a young heart. I remember the very first time my other-wise sweet Granny Kiestler gave me a lesson in the finer points of switches and such. Apparently that lesson has not carried down to current days as a news report last week told us that a 70-year old grandmother in Arkansas was arrested after police received a phone call from her 11-year old granddaughter that she was going to be “beaten/hit with a stick”.

Upon hearing this story I uttered the words of one of my literary heroes, great Southern writer, and all-around find American, Mr. Lewis Grizzard, and exclaimed, “do what???” (Just for the record, Lewis wrote a story or two about switchings at the hands of his Southern, normally gentle and kind, grandmother. Wonder what he would have thought of this story?)

I don’t remember what caused my Granny to utter the phrase, “Missy (her nickname for me) go out in the yard there and bring me back a switch. I am going to switch your britches.” (For those unfamiliar with this colloquialism, switching ones’ britches does not necessarily refer to the pants or garment one might be wearing, but includes the region entirely south of one’s waistline all the way to the tips of your toes. That area is “britches”.) She certainly looked serious enough sitting on the front porch of her old house. In my utter naiveté, I went to the closest tree and pulled off the smallest little branch I could reach and walked it over to her. Not my best move.

My, and I must stress this – my normally sweet, kind, gentle, loving, Granny didn’t say anything. She got off of the porch and walked over to a small peach tree in the yard and it looked to my young eyes as if she pulled the entire tree up from the ground, and calmly said, “Missy, when I tell you to get a switch, next time you be sure to get me a switch!?” (From my unofficial polling of late, it seems that the peach tree switch has been and remains the universal choice of switches among Southern grandmothers). I can report that on that day, I did not have my britches switched, but I learned a lesson or two that day. First off, I should have been minding my Granny; secondly, when she asked for a switch, I should just calmly walk to one of her peach trees, say a prayer, and pull off a reasonable size switch, and return it to her with the utmost expression of contriteness for whatever I had done.

There was one more lesson I learned about switches. My Granny was a good con-artist and surely had us fooled. I believe in my heart that she would have taken a beating herself before she would have used that switch on one of us, but all she had to do was sit on the porch with it in her hands, swishing it back and forth. Our behavior would improve immensely just from that scene.

Oh, there’s one other lesson and blessing from that memory; y’all, I sure am glad I had a Granny who loved me enough to teach me about gettin’ my britches switched.

As we have stated previously, this campaign will continue to run a clean and positive campaign based upon facts and qualifications. The Assessor's office is a very complex office dealing with over 21,000 parcels and over 1 Billion dollars in appraised value. Parcels can change due to factors such as combining of parcels, surveys, platting and deplatting. The assessor must track these changes along with permits to ensure every parcel is assessed fairly and in accordance with current law. The Assessor's office is responsible for approximately 9 million dollars in property tax revenue, which is the single largest source of revenue for our county. This is no easy task and should not be taken lightly. EXPERIENCE and KNOWLEDGE matters.

I am the ONLY candidate who:

- Has actually gone out to the property to measure, walk boundary lines, and determine which characteristics affect each property and by how much.
- Has real estate and appraisal skills to do the job.
- Has training and experience that is specific to the Assessor of Property.

County Nearing Three Million in the Bank

ees in Tennessee can claim that kind of success. She cares about the county, the funding, and collections.”

Current collections for the 2015 year are at 94.47%, but Powell is confident it will end around 98%, as in the case of 2014 and most years prior.

Sain also gives credit to Chancery Clerk Janice Bodiford. “We have tax sales every year, and not every county can claim that,” he said. “She is a superstar in the business.”

Individual departments deserve thanks as well, says Sain, noting that each department in Hardeman County came in under budget in the 2015-2016 fiscal year, helping the county bank almost $800,000. Sain expects the 2016-2017 budget to put $900,000 more in the county coffers.

“I am very pleased with our departments. They have been very frugal with the county’s money.”

According to Powell, the county fund balance stood at $2,777,000 on June 30, 2016 versus $1,918,000 the previous June 30. Also according to Powell, the balance was less than $1,000,000 on June 30, 2014.

Since Sain took office on September 1, 2014, the county has not raised property taxes, nor has there been a change in the rate of $2.55.

The Death of Self Sacrifice by Jimmy Sadler

The longer we all live, the more we hear of death. Tragedies seem to unfold at a faster pace than ever before. Although mankind has always been unkind to it's own, the rate of news reports of mass killings, terrorist attacks and disasters climbs every year. Partly because the world is speeding toward its end as man continues to rebel against God. It's also the fact that news is as close as a cell phone. Everyone has become a journalist of sorts. When I went to high school, there would be the occasional fight in the hallway, but now you can see a steady YouTube stream of them from high schools everywhere. The bad news is no surprise, but I have found it surprising how little people are willing to step in and help.

A video that still troubles me is the first time I viewed news coverage of a knockout game. Kids videotaped a friend walking around and punching unsuspecting people on the street. The goal was to knock someone out. The video I saw showed a young man walk up to a much older man standing on the sidewalk and hitting him so hard in the face that he collapsed. We have since exported this "game" to other countries and it is now played in London and around Europe. When a group of six people watch someone helplessly being beaten and not one steps in to stop it, there is a breakdown in our moral conscience. I would suggest there is an even deeper force at work than mere timidity.

With the publicity of recent mass shootings, public safety officials have developed a three step plan for those caught in the vicinity of a shooter. The first rule is to flee. This certainly is a typical flight response for most creatures. To survive you must remove yourself from the danger. Secondly, we are told to barricade ourselves from the danger. Either in hiding or with shielding structures, we are to buffer ourselves from approaching danger. This is stressed as a lesser choice than fleeing. Lastly, we are to fight or attempt to disarm the perpetrator.

Once called the fight or flight response, we are being taught to reverse the order and naturally fly from danger. The new flight or fight approach calls us to care for ourselves beyond all others. Even in fighting, it is framed as a last resort to save ourselves. Rarely we see people, usually military or public servants, rushing toward the danger

Sunrise: Bad Things by David Coy

Have you ever wondered why all these troubles have come upon us? Perhaps it is that we have lost multiple loved ones within what we perceive as a brief span of time. Or, perhaps we have experienced a number of natural environmental disasters as well as illness. We might think that God or fate is against us. In our world scientific laws of nature exist and provide amazing consistency proving the existence of God and his care over our lives. These laws provide order and precision that make life livable. At the same time, sometimes these laws seem to work to our hurt. If we get caught in an avalanche, it is because gravity and new snow cause the snow to dislodge and slide down the mountain. We or a loved one develops a cancer, very aggressive in nature. The fact that our bodies are subject to disease and decline, is also a part of the laws of nature.

Bad things do happen to good people. It is not an act of God when natural disasters or illness develop. Acts of nature are just that, nothing more. Illness is possible for anyone to acquire. There may be genetic predispositions toward this or that, otherwise it is the scientific laws of nature at work, whether we understand what is happening or not. What did I do to deserve this, perhaps nothing? Yet, when we perceive that we have been hit below the belt or life has been overwhelming in distribution of sorrow, then we ask why me why now, could we not also ask, why not me why not now? I do not know why one person gets sick and another does not. It would be easier to answer as an initial response. First responders are sadly the only ones conditioned to forego fear and step in front of a bullet for a stranger. I'm not suggesting we wouldn't give up our lives for someone we love. I do suggest that the list of those we are naturally inclined to protect is shrinking in favor of self preservation.

We must trust God enough to recondition ourselves to step in for the helpless, to rush toward danger in concern for the imperiled and to live up to our calling to self-sacrifice. Please understand, I am not telling you to look for opportunities to risk your lives. I am saying only that we reflect on the words and actions of Christ and condition our hearts and minds accordingly.

"My command is this: Love each other as I have loved you. Greater love has no one than this: to lay down one's life for one's friends" (John 15:12-13, NIV).

why does suffering come to anyone within the human race? If something undesirable and unrequested has come upon us, then we should ask, what do I do now?

We can attempt to go alone without any support from anyone. Many people do this. Others either have support or will need to seek support from someone to walk with them along the journey. Hopefully, if we need support, we will not be too proud to ask or seek. Support is available. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcares.com

Photography Class Offered in Hardeman County

by Calley Overton

On the Square Gallery and Gifts hosted a photography class for beginners on June 25, 2016. The instructor was Alex Ginsburg, a Master Photographer and Portrait Artist from Germantown. The goal was to lessen dependence on the faithful and familiar green automatic setting and plunge into the unknown and confusing realm of the manual settings. The class delved into the six primary camera adjustments: aperture, shutter speed, ISO, lens focal length, focus, and color. Those might not be the fun parts to learn, but they are necessities in getting to the fun part: taking a great image. One cannot whip out a camera and capture an award winning shot on automatic settings or by randomly playing with the settings. Like any art form, photography takes training and discipline and, at the very least, word recognition. If someone does not know what aperture is, which controls depth of field, how can that person adjust it to capture the imagined image?

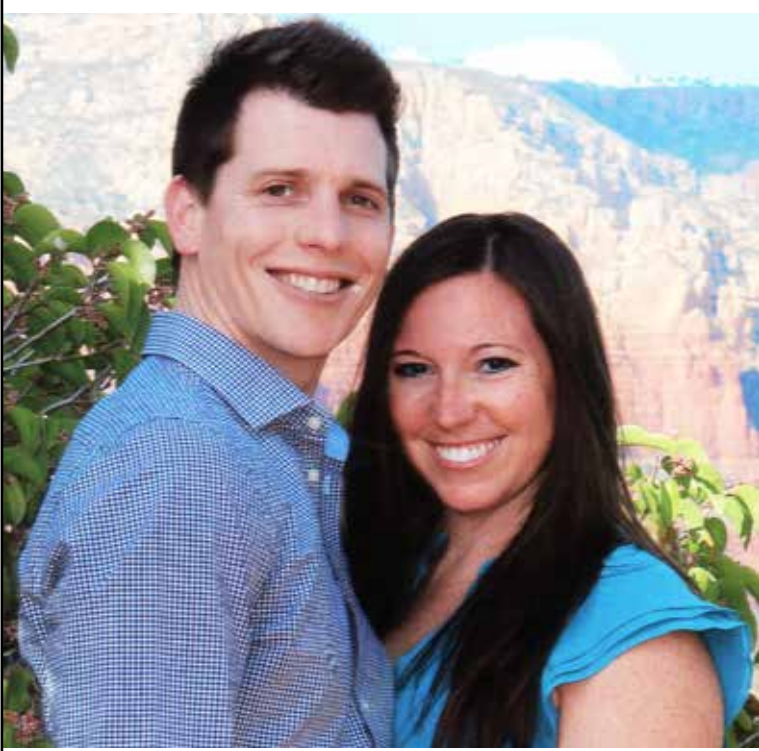

After learning what all of the scary words meant, the class moved to application. The class of five followed Mr. Ginsburg around the Courthouse area as he demonstrated taking portrait shots while talking through the process so the students could adjust their settings to his to attempt to capture a more professional grade image. Different locations were prime examples of looking for converging lines, seeking out the light and adjusting accordingly, playing with the rule of thirds, and just plain ole finding an interesting background by even looking at things like a rusted dumpster from an artistic viewpoint. Heads might have been spinning and bursting with new knowledge, but everyone definitely came away with a fresh new layer in their journey to become better photographers. Another photography class will be done at On the Square Gallery and Gifts in around two months.

Cox and Fornara to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cox of Hornsby are proud to announce the engagement of their daughter Dr. Misty Cox, to Dr. Jason Fornara.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Lucy King, the late Wayne King and the late Curtis and Margaret Cox of Hornsby.

Misty is a 2003 graduate of Bolivar Central High School, a 2007 graduate of Middle Tennessee State University with a Bachelor of Science in Biology. She also received her Doctorate of Optometry from Arizona College of Optometry in 2013.

The future bridegroom is the son of Dr. John and Kim Fornara of Cottonwood, Arizona. He is the grandson of Daryl and Shirley Ballew of Skull Valley, Arizona and the late Charles and Joan Fornara of Prescott, Arizona. Jason is a 2004 graduate of Mingus High School. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from Northern Arizona University in 2008 and a 2013 graduate of the Arizona College of Optometry.

Misty and Jason will be married on August 6, 2016, at 6 p.m. at the Scarritt Bennett Center in Nashville, Tennessee. The couple will practice optometry together at Fornara Eye Center and will reside in Cottonwood, Arizona.

My name is Gary Barber and I am seeking election to the position of County Commissioner, District 2 Position 2. I was appointed to this position in March 2016 to fill the vacancy left by Donald McTizic. I am now asking for your vote on August 4, 2016 to continue to serve this county.

I moved to Hardeman County in 1996, and have made Bolivar my home since then. I am currently Assistant Manager of Bolivar Walmart Supercenter. I am married to the former Diane Taylor Webster, a lifelong resident of Hardeman County. Our children were raised in Bolivar and attended Hardeman County public schools.

I served in the United States Marine Corp from 1974-1979. I received my BBA from the University of Mississippi in 1980. I am an active member of the Bolivar Rotary Club, and am President Elect for the upcoming year. I have been a volunteer for Carl Perkins Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse, serving as Vice President, a member of the Developmental Center Board, the Hardeman County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, a former organizer for the Hatchie Hollow Hog Fest, and attend Bolivar First United Methodist Church.

As you see, I am extremely vested in this community and have a strong desire to help guide and direct the decisions that will be made to shape the future of our county. I believe the initiatives that are currently in place will move our county forward as a destination that will better the lives of all our residents.

My experience working with people and managing multi-million dollar budgets gives me an edge to handling the business of this county. I feel that my job provides me with wide contact with all county residents. Being in tune to the voice of the community will allow me to make decisions to represent my constituents for a better Hardeman County.

I would appreciate your vote on August 4th.

UT Extension Teaches Kids in the Kitchen

The University of Tennessee and Tennessee State University Hardeman County Extension Service held "Kids in the Kitchen," a hands-on cooking experience for youth, the final week in June.

Hosting the event, as they have done the past four years, was the Bolivar First United Methodist Church.

The class gave the students the chance to prepare food under the supervision of Hardeman County Extension Service's Katie Dees, who serves as Adult Family & Consumer Science Extension Agent.

The final day of the class had the students invite parents and family for a meal they prepared.

Hardeman County and UT Extension Service believes their success in helping consumers with programs such as Kids in the Kitchen improves their well-being and results in economic benefits for individuals, families and communities.

Churches and Youth Giving Back to the Community

by Anna-Alicia Sails

A community wide worship service on Sunday evening gave the youth a call to action.

The worship band expressed that the purpose of the service was for people from different churches to come together in unity and love. Matthew Boatwright said:

“Tonight’s event was aimed at bringing all of the churches that are involved specifically together to praise God and ask Him to anoint this special time and to have the community come out to anoint these kids as they go out to serve.”

Patricia Banthomer, a member of the worship band, expressed:

“The purpose of this event is to spread the Gospel and to let our community know that we love them and there’s One True God who loves them also.”

The entire worship service was to kick-off a project called Youth Evangelism Project or Y.E.P. Boatwright explained:

“Y.E.P is an event aimed at sharing the truth of who Christ is in the community and we do this through service, prayer, and other means.”

Towards the end, the youth participating in Y.E.P came down to the front, holding hands, and the audience prayed over them for this week. The youth stood in a circle and prayed as well. There was also an invitation for those who might not know Christ and everyone prayed and worshipped. It truly looked like what God intended-one church coming together and being the body of Jesus.

YEP, in its fourth year, saw youth from four churches in Hardeman County go into the county June 28-30 taking on projects ranging from giving away baked goods to washing cars and painting houses. Eighty-nine youth from Parrans Chapel, Hornsby First Baptist, Middleton First Baptist and Dixie Hills Baptist participated.

COMMUNITY

Summer is a wonderful time to be outside. There are many activities that we enjoy in our community such as: gardening, swimming, walking, camping, and watching sports but we do not enjoy those pesky insects!

When insects bite people they release a form of saliva that can cause irritation. For some people their bites may cause a small irritation that clears away in a few days but others may have an allergic reaction to their sting.

The following can be used to repel insects: Vick's Vaporub, cinnamon leaf oil, clear liquid vanilla extract mixed with olive oil, citronella soap and catnip oil. Most insect repellents that we use contain deet, which should be applied with caution because many studies have found it to have harmful effects. Planting marigolds around your yard works as an insect repellent because the flowers give off a scent that bugs do not like. Using a house fan can ward off insects if you're having a get together in your backyard.

Herbs and other natural agents can help soothe insect bites, such as: aloe vera, calendula, cinnamon, chamomile, lavender, Neem oil, tea tree oil, basil, peppermint, lemon and lime, and using ice or heat. Placing a cooled tea bag over the bites can also help.

For several bites on your body: soak in a bathtub of warm water with 2-3 cups of apple cider vinegar. Dissolve baking soda in a bath and soak for 30 minutes. Finally, a paste of baking soda, water, and witch hazel can be applied to the bites.

Please remember to pray for the youth and counselors from First Baptist Church Grand Junction as they depart for camp on July 5th and return on the 9th.

Congratulations to Danielle Richardson who won the Dollar General Store card at the library's Summer Reading and Lunch Program on Friday, June 24th! Parents don't forget to register each day that your child participates in the program.

Frankie and I traveled to Lexington to watch grandson, Grayson Gatewood, play several of his All Star games. This week this grandmother will share a few of Grayson's accomplishments in his ten years. Not only is he what we call an accomplished athlete, playing both baseball and basketball, he excels in his academic works. He has won the yearly Principal's award and a trophy for accumulating over 1000 points in the Accelerated Reader's Program. In his third grade, he won the spelling bee for First Assembly Christian School and participated in the Mid-South Spelling Bee. He is also active in his Awana Club at the Crossroads Baptist Church in Cordova winning many badges and awards. We were so proud of him when his Awana Club visited the Kirby Pine Nursing Home and he played a few gospel songs on the piano at their annual Valentine Party for the residents.

During the month of July looking forward to hearing some of you brag on your children or grandchildren.

Our sick list: Cody Clifton has finished his chemo treatments. On a recent follow-up with his oncologist, Cody was told, "no active cancer cells". Carolyn Stack continues to receive therapy on her knee replacement. Johnny Rush is in third week of daily radiation treatments. Following radiation, he will return to Vanderbilt for an update on any progress on the cancer. Nella Rush continues to receive three or four dialysis treatments a week. Mary Jean Jordan is showing improvement with her medication change. Pat Cox, Phyllis Naylor and Trudy Stack appreciate prayers on their behalf. Walter Cooper is still taking life at a slower pace as he waits for his consultation at Vanderbilt Hospital. Continue to pray for Debbie Ross as she deals with her health issues.

A farewell fellowship was held at the Montezuma Methodist Church in honor of Jim and Joanne Osborne. Tim Escue, from the Hornsby Methodist Church, will begin holding services at the Silerton United Methodist Church on July 17th. He will continue to hold services the first and third Sundays each month.

Jessica and Elyse Noel recently spent the day with Jessica's grandparents, Lee and Frances Stack.

Condolences to the family of Winna Knipper. She passed away June 30.

Bill and Gail Mayfield traveled to Franklin, TN recently for the Senior Citizens Olympics. Bill plays on a softball team as pitcher. Even though his team did not win, they enjoyed the trip.

Hello from Toone, where the July 4th celebrations are over, and the fireworks have all been exploded. Backyard BBQ grills are cool and clean again, and the ice cream freezers are getting a well-deserved rest. Now we can return to somewhat of a normal summer routine of canning vegetables out of the garden, mowing grass and sneaking off the the lake to wet a fish-hook. However you have been spending your summer, I hope you have had some fun!

As usual, the Toone Fireworks Extravaganza did not disappoint! A large crowd enjoyed good music, tasty food and a spectacular fireworks display. Thanks again to Police Chief, Jerry Siler, Mayor Jones and the many other hard-working volunteers, and to our local businesses and individuals whose generous donations make this annual event possible.

Mr. J. W. Leathers has been back in the hospital again. Please keep he and, Miss Clara, in your thoughts and prayers. We wish him a speedy recovery!

Falcon Ridge Farms still has plenty of fresh produce. Memberships are still available in their CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) programs. For more information about this and all of their seasonal events, call them at, (731) 658-5200.

Happy Birthday on, July 8, to, Frank Tobias. He and Patsy are enjoying their retirement here in Toone but stay busy most of the time!

We would like to wish a very Happy Birthday to, Miss Bernice Finley, July 12. I wonder if he'd husband, "Ham", can bake a birthday cake as well as he can keep our water flowing?

Hello to all! I hope everyone had a wonderful 4th. Everyone who attended the festivities in Hornsby sure had a great time. Lots of games, food, fireworks and most of all great fellowship. To the people in the community it is much appreciated for all you do.

VBS will start on July 10th and will end on the 14th. This year's great theme is "Submerged: Finding Truth Below The Surface." I am looking forward to this as the kids submerge themselves in God's word, they will discover that Jesus didn't just see what's on the outside of people, He looked deep down on the inside. If you would like more information please contact Jennifer Aylor.

The "Loved Thy Neighbor" and "Operation Christmas Child" ministries will be collecting for the month of July, cans of mixed vegetables and wash cloths.

The youth are doing a Bible study this summer on Wednesday nights. We are excited that our new youth minister, Matt Moore started this past Sunday working with our youth and we welcome him to Hornsby Baptist Church.

The Hornsby Ruritan Club met in June and wants to remind members to bring their can goods for "Loaves and Fish" to the July 28th meeting.

Please remember to pray for the following: Sydni Aylor, Patricia Baker, Terry Baker, Hughloene Barnes, Ricky Chandler, Kay Cooper, Amanda Cornelius, Crawford Cossar, Kenneth Crawford, Elynor DeBerry, Bobbie Dorris, Jacob Dowty, Matt Emerson, Lee Gainey, Joe Hindman, Sue Hodge, Carolyn Howell, Jo Edna Howell, Ann Kelly, Aubrey King, Debbie Laster, Bobbie McBride, Evan Webb, the men and women who serve our country, and Clark and Morgan Davidson serving missionaries, the families of the one who are fighting cancer. His Word for the week: Romans 5:8, "But God commented His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Praise God!

Wow! The Grand Valley celebration of Independence Day was even bigger and better than in years past. That's saying something since it's always been the best in Hardeman County. The Valley's official celebration was held on Saturday, July 2, beginning with the Annual Boat Parade. Thirteen boats vied for the winner's trophy. This year's theme was "Super Heroes". Some were decorated in what would probably be considered "traditional thinking" while others chose real life heroes as opposed to those found in comics, on T.V, or in movie theaters. Jim Cowan's "Batman" won first place. His boat obviously required lots of planning and work. Jeannie Ferri received the second place award. Her boat celebrated real life "Super Heroes". Passengers on her boat included a variety of emergency responders, including policemen and firemen, all in uniform.

The fireworks display was attended by a record number of viewers including a great many non-residents. They weren't disappointed. The half hour plus show was outstanding! Tons of razzle-dazzle. Beautiful bursts of color. Lots of noise including the thunderous rocket explosions accompanied by exclamations of appreciation from those in attendance.

Monday proved to be as entertaining as the boat parade and fireworks show as many Valley families came together to enjoy fellowship and great food. A trip around the lake revealed a gathering at almost every lakefront home. One such get-together was at the home of Robert and Nelda Wilson. They treated almost 50 visitors and family members to BBQ plus more side dishes than you could imagine. Of course swimming, jet skiing, tubing, and boat rides were included. There's no question, this is THE holiday in the Grand Valley Lakes community.

Last week I reported "Patsy Warren" had recently passed away. I regret the error but her correct name was Patsy Martin. The Ladies' Club is making a donation to the Grand Valley Lakes Fire Department in memory of Mrs. Martin.

This Friday, at 7:30 p.m., the Board of Directors will hold their July meeting at the POA Lodge. Please attend. The directors are working hard to include all residents in community activities. There are several initiatives under way at this time. The board needs your ideas and your participation.
