From the Other Side of the Desk

I guess in the old days, before street signs and GPS, people needed to name their houses so people would know where they were talking about. We have this here, like The Pillars, or The Columns.

It took some doing, but I managed to make up remember the names of some houses I lived in over the years.

One of the ones I remember is a house we only stayed in for one night, before moving somewhere else the next day. It was called The Perpetual Flashing Street Light.

In college, I rented a place near the football stadium and basketball arena. And if you telephoned right when a game ended, there was no way Domino's could get there in time through all the post-game traffic. It was called The Thirty Minute Guarantee.

After college, while working as a golf pro for $1.75 (or so) an hour, I rented a place that didn't have heating or air conditioning and was right next a big smokestack. It was known as The Collapsed Lung.

Later on, I found a place with three sliding glass doors, a skylight that leaked, and train tracks right running through the backyard. The small metal sign out front identified it as The Lease Breaker.

After that, I rented a place where nothing seemed to work and the landlord wasn't much for fixing things in a timely fashion. It was called Tomorrow Never Comes.

And it has continued through the years. Right now, for instance, we are living at The Missing Shingles or as the neighbors who can't see our roof call it, The Untrimmed Hedges.

Council to Consider Liquor Change

The Bolivar City Council is expected to consider revising the Bolivar Municipal Code in regards to package stores in the city at the regularly scheduled meeting on November 13 at 6:30 p.m. in the Bolivar Municipal Courtroom.

The change expected to be considered is to remove any reference to the DEVCO Zone from the liquor ordinance, which established guidelines for liquor stores in Bolivar in June of 2015.

The legality of package stores in Bolivar was passed by a referendum of the voters (71%-29%) in May of 2015, and the subsequent ordinance limited the area in which a store could be located to the Bolivar Downtown Development Zone (DEVCO).

The passing of the ordinance was also a matter of controversy. The first reading of the ordinance was passed 5-0 on June 9, 2015, but the second reading was passed after only four council members attended the June 22, 2015 meeting. While some felt only four members did not constitute a quorum and a legal meeting, it was concluded that a majority was present because Bolivar Mayor Barrett Stevens could be added to the total number of council members.

Of the current council members, only Todd Lowe and Suzanne Rhea voted for the ordinance on the second reading, and Ms. Rhea was one of the focal points of a lawsuit brought against the city by Mrs. Maria Howell in early 2016, alleging a conflict of interest on her part.

Voting for the measure on the first reading, but not present for the second was councilman Larry McKinnie and then councilman, now mayor, Julian McTizic. The only other councilperson who was involved that is still on the council is Tracy Byrum, who failed to attend either meeting in June of 2015.

Any change to the ordinance would need to be passed at two separate meetings, with the public allowed comment on the night of the second reading.

Walley Considers Run at Congress County to Honor Veterans on Nov. 3

Dr. Page Walley, former State Representative and current Vice Mayor of Bolivar, is considering a run for the 7th U.S. Congressional District. Since Rep. Marsha Blackburn announced she will not be seeking reelection, voters from across the district have expressed to Walley their desire to see him run.

Walley served five terms in the Tennessee House of Representatives and six years in executive branch leadership under Republican governors as Commissioner of the Tennessee Department of Children's Services and the Alabama Departments of Children's Affairs and Human Services. Under his leadership, Alabama became the first state to fundamentally reform its child and family protection system and exceed federal court expectations.

Walley, a clinical psychologist and licensed minister-works as a managing director at Casey Family Programs, the nation's largest operating foundation focused on strengthening communities and families. In this role, Walley works with local, state, and federal officials to address these needs. "Working with communities and families locally, nationally, and internationally, I see the insecurities and struggles that our people face in order to provide for their families. I have been a part of collaborating with folks of all persuasions to find common sense solutions to these challenges. In working with communities to develop economically, nothing is more foundational than the safety and well-being of our most vital resource, our children and families. Without educated, healthy, technologically-equipped communities, we cannot have the workforce and future we hope for."

"This 19-county district is both blessed and challenged to achieve

COMMUNITY NEWS

Hello from Toone, where it's beginning to look a lot like Halloween! Soon all of those little ghosts and goblins will be "Trick-or-Treating" their way around town.

When I was a kid growing up in Toone, Halloween was a favorite holiday. Nearly every house in town had their porch light turned on and a full bowl of candy placed near the front door. Many of the families gave out fresh homemade treats such as candied apples, popcorn balls, cookies and brownies, and trust me, we all had our favorite houses that we hit early in the evening before the best treats were gone. There were even a few houses that actually passed out nickels and dimes instead of candy. You can imagine the line at those houses!

Yes, Halloween was always a very fun night in Toone, and the streets were always full of kids, and everyone felt safe! Of course as my friends and I got older, we became less interested in the "treats" and more interested in the "tricks". No, we never did anything dangerous. Back then our tricks consisted of soaping a few windows, rolling out friends' parents' yards, and inventing ways to scare the younger kids. However there was that one very late Halloween night that we got brave and shot-off a few cherry bombs in front of the post office, but the Sheriff's deputy that came cruising through Toone that night put a very quick end to that prank. Needless to say, my Mother was non-too-happy when she opened the front foot to find me standing their alongside the deputy, and needless to say, it was quite difficult for me to sit down the next day! Yes, Halloween was always a fun time in Toone!

The TES Bobcat basketball teams open their season at home when they host Middleton, Thursday, October 26, at 5:00 p.m. Next the teams travel to Bolivar on, October 30, for their first road game with the Tigers. On November 2, the Bobcats will be back home to play Hornsby, then it's back on the road to play Hornsby again on, November 13. All of these games are at 5:00 p.m. So, mark your calendars, and come on out to show your support for TES Bobcat Basketball.

Travis Sowder, was one of the Toone Elementary School students who were inducted into the National Junior Beta Club, Induction Ceremony held last week at the school. Congratulations to Travis and the other students on this prestigious award.

Looks like the Payne Family of Toone has had lots to celebrate lately. Danny and Kim's son, Colton Ray Payne, was recently named to the 7th grade Scholar Roll at Fayette Academy. They also celebrated their Daughter, Kelsey's Birthday, along with Kim's Birthday. Congrats to Colton, and Happy Birthday to the Payne girls!

It was a fun past weekend in Bolivar. Many local cooking teams competed in the Smokin' Downtown BBQ Contest in Downtown Bolivar. In addition to the BBQ Contest awards presentation at the Farmers Market on Saturday, there was also the annual March of Dogs parade, arts and crafts vendors on the courthouse lawn. Friday evening Music on the Square featured the local band, Small Shack.

Also, remember the Fall Festival at Falcon Ridge Farms will be going on through November 3, so load up the family and go join the fun!

Piney Grove Baptist Church has started preparing for their annual fall whole hog barbecue weekend starting October 27. The pigs will be put on the pit Friday afternoon and the big feast will be at 12:00 noon on Saturday. On Friday night they enjoy a hamburger cookout as the pigs roast. On Sunday morning they will have their traditional old fashion day. In the afternoon, wagon rides are in the plan with outdoor games. They invite you to come worship and fellowship with them.

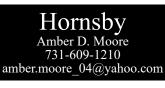

Steve and Linda (Hatch) Russell welcome Ben Howell into their family as their grandson-in-law. Megan Kirk exchanged wedding vows with Ben on Saturday, October 14. Megan is the daughter of Bro. John and Melinda Kirk, and great granddaughter of Sue Hatch. Ben is the son of Terry and Peggy Howell of Middleton. Everyone had a wonderful time at the beautiful western wedding and reception. They also had a barn dance after the reception which was enjoyed by the young and old.

Joe Seavers and great granddaughter, MaKenzi, daughter, Stephanie, son, Brandon, his wife, Sherrey and son, Eli, traveled to Gulf Shores, AL to enjoy fall break. While there they enjoyed the beach, the pool, miniature golf and Alligator Alley.

This week Leo Lambert shares memories from his first night of trick and treating. He writes, "I went with my cousin, Sylvia Wilson. We had gone to a couple of homes, one being Raymond and Lorada Fitts. We knocked on the back door but no one came to the door. We suspected they were ignoring us, so we soaped the windows. We made a stop at Mattie Holloway's house. She told us she didn't have a thing to give us. She mentioned she did have some sweet potato pie. We both followed her into the kitchen and were given a heaping piece of pie. We thanked her and made our exit. As we were walking to our next stop, we tasted our pie. We did not find it to our liking and discarded it near the railroad track."

Trunk or Treat and a Costume Contest for Whiteville will be on October 31 at Whiteville City Park. Sign-up for the costume contest at 6:00 p.m. and judging will start at 6:30 p.m. People/kids can sign-up at the park. Categories: Newborn to 3, ages 4-7, ages 8-11, ages 12+

LJ (LARRY Joe), Uncle Si (James) and I ventured to "NO MANS LAND" for a squirrel hunt. Ended up with 14, not to bad considering acorns were plentiful. Got to watch some Woodies (Wood Ducks) get off the roost.

When the BOTTOM woke up, so did the critters. This was ancient memories relived. I ventured towards the RIVER, sat on a log and began scanning the now falling foliage. Wasn't long before I saw a distant tree rat. THE HUNT WAS ON!!! When I reached the FERRY (our landing), I sat and watched for limbs shaking. Wasn't long till I got lucky. Sitting back down, I heard something running, it was a small BUCK heading towards me. I RE-ALIZED he was on a straight line towards ME!! I waved my arms to get his attention, YIKES, I scooted around the tree, he came with in FEET OF ME!!

Getting back together we shared our hunt and headed to the boat. Had to check out duck blind. MORE PROJECTS!! THAT'S, Never Ending. Planning on clean up SOON!!! For a lot of country folks, squirrel, is THE OTHER WHITE MEAT (although it's dark in texture)! Getting geared up for deer and ESPECIALLY DUCK HUNTING.

Till next time, always remember::: SAFETY FIRST:::: HOOT

FAITH

Pains and Gains by Jimmy Sadler

I don't always understand trouble or pain. Why God allows these two forces in our lives is beyond me. I understand that we have subjected ourselves to a natural tendency toward disorder when sin entered humanity. Still, we all wonder at times why God allows certain challenges to inflict us. Beyond the deep personal pains, there are also the practical pains of living in a physical world. As I write this, I have a mosquito that keeps just out of reach, but keeps biting me. At least I'm not standing on a mound of fire ants, another pain those in the south understand well.

Joan Murray, of Charlotte, NC has a most remarkable story. She was bitten over 200 hundred times by fire ants. If you are familiar with these little beasts, you can imagine how dreadful that might be. Why would God allow someone to suffer at the hands of His created beings? Why would He subject her to this excruciating pain? It may have been that He uses pain and hardship as tools to save us, direct us or warn us. In Joan's case, it was actually to save her life. You see, before Joan landed in the pile of fire ants, she had been skydiving. She jumped from 14,500 feet. Her main parachute failed to open and her backup parachute collapsed. She hit the ground at an estimated 80 miles per hour.

Joan was, as you could imagine, very much hurt and damaged in the accident. Miraculously, she survived. She was in a coma for two weeks and required a significant number of surgeries and rehabilitation. The doctors believe that she is alive, in part, because of the numerous bites from the fire ants. Joan's body released a massive adrenaline surge to deal with the stings, and that reaction kept her heart beating. Truly, one of the most direct cases I know of that explains how pain can sometimes save us.

If you watched the movie "Signs", you will remember the final scene with the young boy inhaling poisons. Most people in the movie that were exposed to the chemicals died, but because he had asthma, the poison never reached his blood stream. The point is very direct, that things happen for a reason, some of which we never understand. Occasionally though, we do get to see the why. I often thank God when I am redirected or stalled on a trip. I figure there is a reason beyond my ability to see.

Joseph had many difficulties to contend with. Jealous brothers who beat him and wanted to leave him for dead. They "graciously" decided instead to sell him into slavery. He was then wrongfully accused and thrown into prison. Joseph didn't give in to the struggles, he trusted God was somehow still at work. "You intended to harm me, but God intended it for good to accomplish what is now being done, the saving of many lives" (Genesis 50:20, NIV). Indeed, countless lives were saved when years of drought and famine hit the land. Joseph's family was brought to safety where they grew into a great nation.

There is a lot of pain, struggle, annoyance and trouble that seems meaningless. I can't exactly tell you why you have to deal with it in your life and I don't know that I can simply blame God for all of it. I do know, however, that He uses pain and suffering for some pretty miraculous reasons.

Sunrise: Suffering Kinds by David Coy

Sorrow bonds us all together regardless of our gender or cultural background. We all experience suffering on some level, either personally or someone close to us. There is much truth even for today in the axiom; Truly man is born to sorrow, as the sparks fly upward. The meaning is that sorrow does not come from chance, life with sorrow interspersed throughout is natural to all mankind. Yet, suffering comes in different kinds. There is the sowing-reaping suffering in which one's consequence of one's sorrow is the result of our own choices, whether positive or negative. Adoni-Bezek cut off the thumbs and great toes of seventy kings who groveled for food beneath his table, and then it happened to him. He said, "As I have done, so God has done to me." There is the whyoh-why suffering wherein there seems to be no rationale for the occurrence. The innocent suffer affliction and even death at the hands of evil people, accidents, or natural disasters. We naturally seek answers to our question, why? There is the disease-decline suffering which is also common to everyone. Over time, we all decline. Our bodies begin to break down and parts will eventually need repair or replacement. Sometimes this happens sooner than we expect because of disease. Whether the cause is known or unknown both of these are natural developments while we live in this earthly plane. There is the discipline-learning suffering which occurs when we make mistakes or errors in judgment, such as being burned by a hot water heater's flame or a gas stove that burns a hand and arm. There is the vicarious suffering and a good example of this is one person giving their life for others. The reasons may be as simple as the laws of nature, and also our harmony with or conflict against. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcares.com

AT&T Donates to TCAT-Whiteville by Jessica Simmons

Tennessee's information technology and technical needs are growing at an exponential rate, creating an increased demand for well-trained IT personnel that are crucial to the economic development of Tennessee businesses and industries. As part of AT&T's continuing commitment to supporting quality education across Tennessee, the company has donated $3,000 to the Tennessee College of Applied Technology in Whiteville. The contribution will provide for the purchase of network storage units which help support training for high-skill jobs requiring technology-based skills throughout Tennessee. The use of the units will prepare students to successfully recover from a mock data disaster and practice implementing recovery plans.

"This type of support from private business is important as we work to find ways to advance higher education in West Tennessee," said Ms. Carolyn Beverly, President, Tennessee College of Applied Technology - Whiteville. "Expanding access to this sort of training gives our students the skills required to compete in today's technology based economy." "As the need for IT personnel surges, the Tennessee Colleges of Applied Technology are helping students develop the critical skills required to enter the workforce and find good jobs right here in Tennessee. We are delighted to support these students on their journey to professional development," said Chuck Thomas, regional director of external affairs for AT&T Tennessee.

This donation is part of AT&T's $81,000 gift to the Tennessee Board of Regents. Each of the state's 27 colleges of applied technology will receive $3,000 to support their efforts to provide workforce development through high quality training that is economical and accessible to all residents of Tennessee. "As a member of the Senate Education Committee in Nashville, I have seen the effectiveness of programs like those offered by the colleges of applied technology and welcome the private sector support to bolster their good work," said Tennessee State Senator Delores Gresham.

"TCAT-Whiteville does a tremendous job preparing students to enter the workforce with a strong foundation for future success," said State Representative Johnny Shaw. "Thanks to their commitment to quality education, Tennessee has a first-class workforce ready to meet the needs of the rapidly evolving 21st century economy."

Hardeman County Remembered by Lisa Coleman

Halloween is an important holidav in my family – it happens to be my Dad's birthday. I was thinking just the other day about how he always loved to take us trick-or-treating around our neighborhood, and how he would joke that everybody was having a big party just for him.

(731) 658-5257

My Dad served his country in the U.S. Army. He also showed his immense bravery in teaching both me and my brother how to drive. My Mom used to say that my brother and I both have "that Coleman sense of humor", which I am sure she meant as a compliment. Mom also believed that another "Coleman thing" is a love of cookie dough (we ate it as kids and have lived to tell the tale), and also the fact that the Colemans think gravy is a food group. My Dad believes it could possibly, in a pinch, be a beverage.

Almost every summer when I was growing up we took long car trips all over America. Dad taught me how to read maps (a skill I still use as I am not a GPS person.) We would have snacks and picnic along the way and we saw all sorts of wonderful places and people growing up. In no particular order we: visited the Grand Canyon, toured Cape Canaveral, we went into Mexico several times and learned how to trade and barter at the markets, we went up in the Gateway Arch, we went into the depths of the earth at Mammoth Cave, we toured Los Angeles and Hollywood (where, interestingly enough one afternoon along Hollywood Boulevard we saw a Michael Jackson impersonator and a Prince impersonator get into a fistfight. Honestly, I cannot make that up. They fought/danced to a draw, shook hands and went back to their respective areas).

This photo of my Dad and me was made on one of our first car trips, and the first long car trip we took - to Colorado and places west in the summer of 1972. This trip had many memorable moments – it was the first trip where I had my own camera (that's it in my hand in the photo); it was an old Brownie Hawkeye that was actually my Dad's camera. I still have it. On this trip Dad taught me not to be afraid of heights when we walked across the suspension bridge at the Royal Gorge (which is why I have a death grip on my Dad in this photo). Dad and I walked across and he told me to be careful but to enjoy the view and look around and up and down, which I did, and I haven't been afraid of heights since then. (Now that I think about it, that is a pretty extreme way to dispel a fear of heights...on a suspension bridge, across a gorge, high above a raging river...good one, Dad.)

So, Dad, as the song says, thanks for the many memories and the lessons too. And if y'all see my Dad out and about, wish him a big ol' happy birthday.

Deion, in 1997. Astonishingly enough, though hitting No. 1 all over the world, the song only reached No. 5 on the U.S. Adult chart.

4. Patti LaBelle, in 1984.

5. "Never Be Anyone Else But You," by Ricky Nelson in 1959. The song was so popular (even though it was released as a b-side single) that three cover versions were released the same year, including one in German.

Does Market Volatility Scare You?

Halloween is almost upon us. Of course, on Halloween night, you may see a parade of monsters, demons, Transformers and other frightening individuals stopping by your house, exercising their right to demand candy. Fortunately, their appearance will be unlikely to cause you unpleasant dreams. But some people seem to have real fears about other things - such as what may happen in the financial markets. One way to keep those fears at bay is to avoid certain impulsive moves, such as the following:

Avoid ducking out of the market - Consider this: In March 2007, the Dow Jones Industrial Average stood at about 12,275 points. Exactly two years later, in the immediate aftermath of the financial crisis, the Dow had fallen to about 6,500 - a drop of 47% and the Dow's lowest point in 12 years. By that time, a lot of people had gone to the investment sidelines. So, what did they miss? Depending on how long they stayed out of the market, they may have missed some, or perhaps most, of one of the longest and strongest bull markets in history, because, just eight years later, the Dow had soared to almost 21,000, a gain of 223%. Of course, investing does involve the risk of losing principal, and there is no guarantee the market will perform as it has in the past. However, it's fair to say that if you duck out of the market during its lower points, you might not benefit from the gains that may follow.

Avoid chasing "hot" stocks – By the time you hear about a supposedly "hot" stock, it may already be cooling off. Also, how trustworthy is the source? Does this tip come from an unbiased, knowledgeable individual? If not, you have reason to question its value. Even more important, though, you need to ask if the hot stock is appropriate for your needs, goals and risk tolerance. If not, it's not so hot.

Avoid taking on too much – or too little – risk. If you feel the need to push your portfolio toward the maximum possible returns, you might invest too aggressively and take on too much risk.

Conversely, if you are determined to avoid any amount of loss, at any time, you might invest so conservatively that your portfolio won't grow enough to help you achieve your long-term goals. You need to strike a balance between risk and reward that is appropriate for you, and you need to make investment choices suitable for your individual risk tolerance.

Avoid owning too many of the same investments - If you own a lot of one particular financial asset and a market downturn affects that asset class strongly, your portfolio could suffer. But if you spread your investment dollars among domestic and international stocks, bonds, U.S. Treasury securities, certificates of deposit (CDs) and so on, you may not be as susceptible to a downturn, because different types of investments often perform differently at any given time. (Keep in mind, though, that while diversification can help reduce the effects of market volatility, it can't guarantee profits or protect against all losses.)

Bolivar Fire Department Visits the Library by Jessica Simmons

The City of Bolivar Fire Department arrived in a fire truck for Story Time at the library on October 18. Engineers Dylan Henderson and Steven McKeen talked to the children about a day in the life of a firefighter before heading outside to tour the fire truck.

Henderson explained all the workings of the truck, what each piece of equipment was and how it operated, and what they used each piece of equipment for. McKeen showed the children how he and his colleagues must dress out in their turn-out gear in under a minute in order to get to an emergency quickly. After hearing the sirens and air horn, all the kids received a goody bag and fire helmet to complete the day.

Hospital Wing Covers Hardeman County by Jessica Simmons

In order to stress the necessity of Hospital Wing ambulatory services and the free service available to all Hardeman County residents, Mayor Jimmy Sain along with citizens who have needed the life-saving helicopter, came together to talk about their experiences.

Hospital wing covers six states in their 250-mile flight radius of Memphis. For over 30 years, Hospital Wing has been committed to the highest level of care and calls themselves, "Your connection to critical care transport."

Cindy Plunk recounts needing Hospital Wing transport after her heart attack followed by quadruple bypass surgery at Jackson General Hospital. "Without Hospital Wing, I know without a doubt I wouldn't be standing here today."

Corey Madden recalls when his son Bryce fell and hit his neck on a wooden rocker, restricting his air way so badly he couldn't breathe. He and his wife Megan rushed Bryce to Bolivar General Hospital where they put him on oxygen but they were so concerned with his breathing, the hospital called Hospital Wing to get him to Lebonheur as quickly as possible. "Bryce at this time is five years old and he was without his Mom and I with all this scary stuff going on. The good thing about it was they had my wife's cell number and texted us pictures of Bryce along the way to show he was okay, which helped give us some relief." Corey continued to say, "In the moment, you aren't concerned with the cost, you don't care how it gets paid for. You're just consumed with your son's safety and you want to save your son no matter what. But when it's all said and done and the dust settles, you realize that there's a very significant expense for these services. But thanks to Hardeman County, they foot the bill. It is such a relief that our county provides this service and takes care of it for you so your family doesn't have to worry about it. It takes a lot of load off, especially when you've been through what you've been through."

Hospital Wing (Memphis Medical Center Air Ambulance Service, Inc.) is a non-profit air ambulance company that supplies emergency air lift services to an average of 250 patients a month with 60% of these being trauma related and 35% being scene flights. The Memphis Medical Center Air Ambulance Service owns seven helicopters that are equipped to transport critically ill and injured patients. Six helicopters are staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week and one helicopter is available for PediFlite, the transport team of Lebonheur Children's Medical Center.

Bolivar Hosts Emergency Services Festival

The Bolivar Fire Department hosted the Fire & Emergency Services Festival at Walmart on October 14. A helicopter landing from Hospital Wing and Air Evac along with multiple fire trucks, police cars, and other emergency vehicles were just part of the excitement provided for adults and children.

Free concessions were provided while attendees moved through the multiple booths teaching about FireWise, Fire Prevention, Smokey the Bear, and even a tour of a Fire Safety Education Trailer.

County Provides Commodities by Jessica Simmons

The Hardeman County Community Service Center along with Southwest Human Resource Agency held a Commodities Distribution at the National Guard Armory on October 5. The Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) works to improve the health of low-income elderly persons at least 60 years of age by supplementing their diets with nutritious USDA Foods. This month's Food packages included a variety of foods, such as nonfat dry and ultra-high-temperature fluid milk, a mixture of juices, canned chicken, ready-to-eat cereal, rice, pasta, peanut butter, dry beans, canned meat, poultry, or fish, and canned fruits and vegetables.

For FY 2016, Congress appropriated $222.198 million for CSFP. Annual appropriations may be supplemented by unspent funds carried over from the previous fiscal year, if available. But if unused, these appropriations may disappear from our county. If you know someone in need of these free food items, please be sure they are signed up to receive them. Qualifying recipients are those who receive government benefits, mothers whose children receive TennCare, and other low-income families. Madison County has over 2,000 sign-ups for each Commodities Day, with Hardeman County coming no-where near our poverty rate.

Southwest and the Hardeman County Community Service Center can make bulk deliveries to churches or community centers, as these serve to help a larger group of people who may not be able to make it all the way to Bolivar to be able to pick up the goods they need.

Adoptable Animal of the Week by Sara Vonderheide

Bella #17534 is an adult, female Pomeranian mix. She weighs 27 pounds. This small, sweet, girl came to the shelter after her elderly owner passed away. Bella is known as the "Office Manager" where she has made her home and where she hangs out with the volunteers while they work. She is an absolute doll! She deserves much more than life at the shelter. This little gal should be curled up on a lap every night. She is housebroken and uses puppy pads when alone. She is heart worm positive and will have to be treated. She walks with all the other dogs and gets along well with them. She will only be adopted to the perfect home. She will have to be a complete housedog.

If you are the right human for this wonderful girl, or if you are interested in donating towards her heartworm treatment, please contact text is preferred Charla Cooper at 731-234-4421 or Jennifer Smallwood at 731-609-0408. ## Tales from the Yellow House by Lee McAlpin

Halloween at the Yellow House wasn't all that spooky. We usually had a jack-o-lantern, put up on Halloween Day so it could still be used by Mom to make a pumpkin pie or just cooked pumpkin. We did not truly believe in ghosts, ghouls, goblins and such, but we still were a little bit wary on halloween night just in case a stack of rattle-bones jumped from behind a tree or bush to pounce upon us, or a witch on a broom decided to get out from in front of the moon and swoop down upon us. Sometimes we would dress up in some outlandish costume and a bunch of us would go out walking. We were not allowed to do any tricks that would cause harm to anyone. Sometimes they would have a tacky party at the Pocahontas School. All contestants dressed as tacky as possible. My Mom won it a time or two and her prize was a bar of soap and a jar of sour pickles. Even though us youngsters weren't allowed to participate, the ulitmate goal for every young boy was to slip Mr. Lee Rowland's buggy out of the barn and roll it downtown Pocahontas. This was accomplished a few times.

Another trick in the community was to turn over an outdoor toilet or two. There was a tie-yard in town and the morning after Halloween usually found the north and south entrances to the town blocked with crossties. There was the usual soaping of the store windows. A lot of the store owners would coat their windows with vaseline to make the cleanup easier. Toilet tissue wasn't used at all. I doubt if there was enough toilet paper in the community to really decorate a twelve foot hackberry tree. One trick that was done on Halloween was to tie a fishook on a long piece of nylon fishing cord, hook the fishhook to a loose board on a house, pull the cord taut and rub it with your fingers. This would cause a vibration all through the house and sound similar to what I imagine a bull would sound like if his tail was caught in a sausage grinder.

Another thing was to make a small hole in the bottom of a Quaker oatmeal box, push the string through and tie a big knot. By holding the string tight and rubbing your fingers on the string, it would create a loud moaning sound. This brought a lot of people to their front porches to check it out. I heard of one boy who wrapped cow excretement in a newspaper, put it on the ground in front of a persons house and set it afire, knocked on the front door and then ran and hid. The owner came out and started stomping the fire out, and you can imagine the rest. Kids, do not try this one. It is very dangerous and is a no no.

Some people made popcorn balls to give away on Halloween. They melted butter with sorghum molasses and poured it over the popcorn and rolled it into round balls. Some would also add roasted peanuts. This definitely was a treat. The kid in me still likes Halloween. Just a few years ago me and my nephew rigged up a motorized skeleton that chased a witch on a broom back and forth across my front yard. Happy Halloween.

Walley Considers Run at Congress continued from A1

who understands how to build on the strengths that we have while making sure we don't leave others behind."

As a popular state legislator who served on the Agriculture, Finance, and Health and Human Services committees, Walley was known as a problem-solving consensus builder who held more than 800 "Listening Meetings" throughout his district to hear from citizens so he could work better for them and address their individual and collective concerns.

Walley is a sought-after speaker both here and abroad on issues of faith, family, and community well-being. Recently, former Congressman, Homeland Security Undersecretary, and current Governor Asa Hutchinson (R-Arkansas) asked Walley to keynote his "Restoring Hope Summit" to equip business and faith leaders to meet the needs of citizens reentering society after prison or aging out of foster care.

Walley met with government and university officials in Yemen on human service delivery issues and also was invited to Ulyanovsk State Pedagogical University in Russia to lecture on how to transform their antiquated orphanage system.

"During the next several weeks, I am going to be visiting every county in the 7th District to meet with citizens to hear exactly what it is in their hearts and on their minds, and to prayerfully consider whether I am the person who should ask for their support to carry their concerns to Washington."

One Last Game at Woody Woods Stadium

Bolivar Central Football will say goodbye to Woody Woods Stadium on October 27, as the final home game of the 2017 season will be the last game played at the stadium which was first used in 1953.

"The last couple of years the Board of Education has been investigating new facilities for both high schools," said Superintendent of Schools Warner Ross. "We've had to do a lot of belt-tightening, but we can now go forward without having to do any financing."

In addition to new home side seating, a new fieldhouse will be built to house the football facilities. The field itself, named after R.A. Butler, will remain in the same place.

"The old stadium has a lot of character, but a lot of flaws. We've repaired it over the years many times," said Ross, adding that the locker rooms will be in the field house that will be situated near the south end of the field.

In the spring, Hardeman County Schools plan to build a new gymnasium at Middleton High School, replacing Bailey Howell Gymnasium.

"With seventh through twelfth grades at Middleton, there are a lot of teams competing for floor time in addition to the P.E. classes," said Ross. "We plan to build a spectator gym for Middleton High School."

Ross, who said architectural drawings of the projects should be available in the next couple of weeks, hopes the Bolivar Central Stadium will be done in time for spring graduation ceremonies, the fieldhouse in time for summer, and the gym at Middleton ready in the fall of 2018.

Bolivar Clinches Playoff Spot

Bolivar Central clinched a TSSAA Playoff spot by beating Martin-Westview 47-20 at UT Martin on October 20.

Bolivar trailed in the first half by a 13-12 score, but tallied the next 35 points to put the game away.

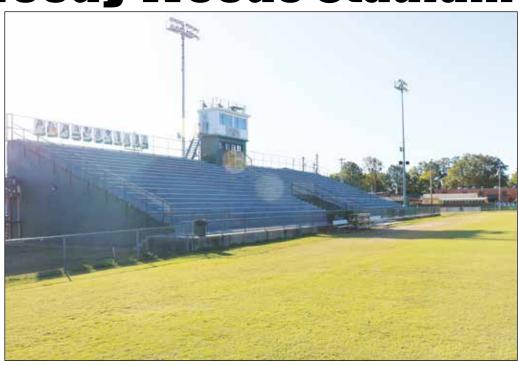

Senior quarterback Trey Lowe completed 14 of 19 passes for 350 yards and four touchdowns. Two Bolivar receivers, Josh Sturgis (four catches, 131 yards) and K.J. Murden (five catches, 109 yards) tallied more than 100 yards for the second time this season.

Running back Correy Brown ran 14 times for 115 yards and three touchdowns. Brown also caught a touchdown pass in the win.

Lowe was named the Vaughan Oil Player of the Game and Christian Matthews, who had 11 tackles, was named the Defensive Player of the Game.

Bolivar's win clinched their third consecutive year they qualified for the playoffs, something no Bolivar team had done since 2001. Coach Woodrow Lowe's career record at Bolivar now stands at 23-18. Lowe is the first coach with more than three years of experience with a winning record since Errol Hook, who coached from 1975-1983, according to the Tennessee Prep database.

Library Gets a Facelift by Jessica Simmons

The Bolivar-Hardeman County Library had a busy Fall Break week for students and guests. Drop-in craft workshops were available for all ages each day with a focus on tweens and teens on Tuesday's movie night and the "Unleash your Stories" contest.

Throughout the week, major changes were going on in the library with the opening of the new and improved Kids Corner on Friday.

Fresh paint on the walls with artwork by Amy Grantham of Bolivar Elementary School in the kids corner has brought a welcome subtle change to the library. Library Director Bailee Hutchinson hopes to have new flooring installed and new shelves for all books by the first of the year. "The city and county allocated the funds in the budget for the year for the library to get fresh paint and flooring. The new book shelves and anything else we may need will be ordered strictly from donations and our million-penny challenge fund."
