Walley Wins GOP Primary

Will Face Democratic Nominee Civil Miller-Watkins in November for Senate Seat

Republican Page Walley defeated former Tennessee Commissioner of Agriculture Jai Templeton to earn the Republican nomination for the District 26 Senatorial Election in November.

The 26th district serves all of Chester, Decatur, Fayette, Hardeman, Hardin, Haywood, Henderson, and McNairy Counties.

Walley defeated Templeton 13,076-11,543, beating him in Hardeman County with 69% of the votes, and carrying Chester, Haywood, Henderson, and Fayette County. His margin in Fayette County was a whopping 74%, which was somewhat of a surprise as outgoing Senator Dolores Gresham of Somerville had endorsed Templeton in the final weeks of the campaign.

"It was a real honor to have earned support from people in this district, especially here in Hardeman County," he said. "We look forward to taking our hopes and aspirations to the legislature."

Walley served as a State Representative from 1990 to 2000 and is currently serving as a Bolivar City Councilman and Vice Mayor of the city. Walley said he would like to serve out his term on the city council, which expires next year.

Walley will face Civil Miller-Watkins, who resides in Fayette County, but has roots in Hardeman County. Miller is the daughter of Jerry and Lois Bernice Marshall Miller and the brother of former Bolivar City Councilman Mike Miller. Miller-Watkins ran unopposed in her primary for the Democratic nomination.

If Walley were to win, he would be the first State Senator to call Hardeman County home since A.O. Sipes, who served as the Democratic State Senator from 1956-1960. See A11.

8, 24, 32, 60? Subpoenas and Counting

A few pounds lost in a 100-degree courtroom is all anyone can claim as a result so far as Hardeman County Sheriff John Doolen's Attorney Roy Herron withdrew his objection to Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain's Motion to Set Aside the October 2019 agreement that appeared to settle the lawsuit that was brought by Doolen in July of 2019.

But hang on, this isn't over yet. Brought by Attorney Amber Shaw in February, the Motion to Set Aside the Settlement Agreement saw two day-long courtroom arguments over the validity and legality of the October settlement itself, one in February and another in a air-conditionless courtroom on June 30.

While both sides left the courtroom on June 30 without a favorable result, Herron made it easy in early August, agreeing to give up on arguing the settlement terms voted on by the Hardeman County Commission in October 2019 be enforced.

Herron's white flag on the Motion to Set Aside appeared to have left his motion for sanctions

Ok, Where were we?

In July of 2019, following the passing of the 2019-2020 budget, Hardeman County Sheriff John Doolen sued for more support.

The issue was seemingly settled in October 2019 after Cary and Herron came to an agreement and Cary presented it to the county commission in a special called meeting as the sheriff's department, who originally sought and sued for approximately $1.4 million dollars, settled for $102,000.

At the October 8 meeting, the vote went 13-1 in favor of ending the lawsuit with the settlement.

While both sides claimed lack of adherence to the settlement terms, Attorney Amber Griffin Shaw filed a Motion to Set Aside the Consent Order on behalf of Sain on February 10, citing numerous problems with the consent order.

against Mayor Sain moot as well, but with the August 31 date to continue the hearing already on the docket, Herron made plans to use the date to begin his discovery for the lawsuit filed this past July by issuing subpoenas to Hardeman County Clerk Jerry Armstrong, Hardeman County Register of Deeds Lily Barnes, six employees or former employees of the Hardeman County Mayor's Office, and approximately two dozen county commissioners and former commissioners. They have been asked to give depositions on the 31st and September 1.

Mayor Sain is scheduled to be disposed on August 13.

On August 11, more than thirty more subpoenas were issued, some in Hardeman County and more outside the county at various law enforcement agencies in West Tennessee; with some requiring depositions and others requiring financial records or attendance at the trial later that week.

A court date for the 2019 and 2020 salary disputes is now set for September 3-4.

The statute under which Herron filed states that the mayor of the county must be named as the de-

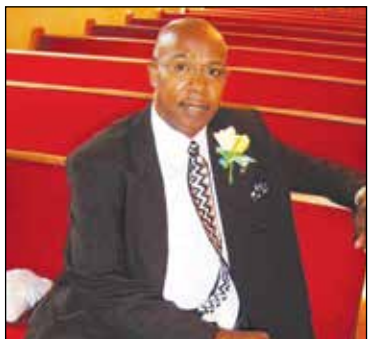

Bowden Wins Whiteville

The City of Whiteville will have a new mayor as Pastor Gene Bowden defeated incumbent Aubrey Phillips on August 6.

"I would like to take the opportunity to say thank you to the citizens of Whiteville for giving me the opportunity to serve as your mayor," he wrote on his Facebook page. "It is a responsibility that I do not take lightly. I look forward to working for the betterment of our town."

Bowden's 148 to 134 victory over Phillips got him 46% of the vote, with third place finisher Leon Crisp getting 39 votes.

Also elected in Whiteville on August 6 were Aldermen Deborah Burkeen (172 votes), Tommy Turner (166), and Ernest Pirtle (149) beating Betsy Johnston (141), William Charles Phillips (115) and Emily M. Rosson (102).

Also on August 6 were school board members Beverly A. Bodiford, Jerry Crisp, and Terry King, who all ran unopposed in the races.

A Full-Time Bolivar Mayor?

With the impending retirement of City of Bolivar City Manager Shelia Dellinger, the Bolivar City Council will take up the issue of changing the structure of local government in time for the 2021 election as Bolivar Mayor Julian McTizic appointed a committee to study all aspects of making the mayor of Bolivar responsible for many aspects of her job.

McTizic appointed Suzanne Rhea, Larry Crawford, Melvin Golden, Carol Spinks to come up with a salary structure and an organizational Joan Henderson submitted funny for the week: When I was in grade 7, I used to ask a lot of questions. One day, I asked my English teacher: "Why do we ignore some letters in pronunciation like the letter 'H' in 'Hour', 'Honor', etc?" My English teacher said: "We are not ignoring them; they're considered silent." I was even more confused !? During the lunch break, my teacher gave me her packed lunch and asked me to heat it in the Cafeteria. I ate all the food and returned her the empty container. My English teacher said: "What happened? I told you to go and HEAT my food, you are returning me an empty container." I replied: "Madam, I thought 'H' was silent." No photo description available.

Lots of folks were mowing this past week through the weekend making Silerton look fresh. Gail Mayfield shared with us July's Yard of the Month winner. Mayfield writes, "Marvin Sykes is this month's winner of the Yard of the Month. He has been keeping his yard very well this spring and the town appreciates his efforts. He shares one of the prettiest gardens in town with neighbor Tommy Menzie. Our thanks to both of these guys for their work to make our town so special."

Kevin, Otto, and I visited Knoxville, Tennessee this weekend to visit my parents Steve and Melea Smith. Kevin cooked tenderloin and Otto got the royal grandparent treatment complete with donuts and pool time. It was a relaxing and enjoyable visit for all of us.

This week, Mary Lynn Lambert shared news, condolences, and also a prayer request. She also included a charming antidote from her childhood which is included below:

Condolences to the families and friends of Glenda (Naylor) Siler and Gladys (Vaughn) Baker.

Prayer request for Brenda Cooper. She was recently admitted to Jackson Madison County Hospital.

Alfred and Jonna Ewing enjoyed having visitors from Toledo, OH over the weekend. Alfred's brother and sister and spouses came for a short visit.

According to Mary Lynn Lambert, Bobby Naylor was remembering some Silerton memories and recalled the stories of people ordering not only clothes from the Sears Roebuck Catalog but major items. His mother ordered a battery powered washing machine from Sears. He recalled Mary Lynn's daddy, Gilbert Stack, ordering a wagon. Bobby remembered when the wagon was unloaded from the train at the Silerton depot, the wagon had rubber tires. After Mr. Stack put the tires on, he pulled the wagon to his home. It was the first wagon with rubber tires in Silerton. Up until that time, wheels had wooden spokes on a steel rim. When Mary Lynn related that story to her brother, Grady Stack, he informed her he still has that wagon. He has updated the wagon by replacing the horse/mule hookup to accommodate tractor/truck hookup. He has also replaced some of the wood on the frame.

Hornsby
Amber D. Moore
731-609-1210
votetn35@yahoo.com

Hello to all! Several weeks ago I shared one of the devotions from Hornsby Baptist Church app that had touched my heart today I share another one that I feel needs to be shared. Sometimes the news is not as important as a lesson we might learn from someone. This devotion was written by Will Ross and I am very thankful for the people who are taking the time to write these devotions from our church. Gospel of Mark, Chapter 4, Verses 30-32 And he said, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdom of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it? It is like a grain of mustard seed, which, when it is sown in the earth, is less than all the seeds that be in the earth: But when it is sown, it groweth up, and becometh greater than all herbs, and shooteth out great branches; so that the fowls of the air may lodge under the shadow of it.

Growing up as kids, we always wanted the best toys and gifts. As teenagers, we wanted the best clothes and the coolest vehicle. As young adults, we wanted more money for less work. But as I have aged, I realized that having more isn't what it is all cracked up to be, especially looking back on it. The great toys seems to always cause a fight with my brothers. The great clothes as a teenagers always seemed to end up in my brother's closet or dresser (which caused another fight). More money seems to cause more bills to appear and the money would eventually run out. I remember growing up, there was a sweet older lady, Ms. Mary Norlin that lived in one of my father's rental houses. She was a widow and had very little but she was always so nice, kind and very thankful for everything she had. I don't think Dad ever charged her rent. Anyway, every Halloween, Mom would take us around to the neighbors and they would load us down with all the candy, treats & things a young trick or treater could ask for. And we knew the last stop would always be at Ms. Norlin's house. Now, Mom would always tell us before getting out of the van to remember our manners & don't be selfish about what she gave us. Each year, she would give each of us the following: Paper towels, small tube of tooth paste & homemade candy apples. I was somewhat disappointed in what I had received and I knew my siblings were as well, but we obeyed Mom and acted gracious. We gave Ms. Mary a big hug as Mom would direct and loaded back up in the van. Once we got home, we unloaded the loot and the fighting would commence. We (the brothers) would fight over the candy, treats & small toys, but we never fought over the paper towels, toothpaste or candy apples from Ms Mary. Looking back now, I could not tell you which neighbor gave us what candy, treats or toys. But what I can tell you is this: The gifts that Ms. Mary gave us is something I will remember forever. Things that we could use on a daily basis and that would last more than a few days. She did not have a lot, but she gave us just about everything she had. Mom told us years later that we were about the only kids she saw during the holidays and she loved us so much that she would give us (the ungrateful heathens) just about everything she had. I miss Ms. Mary Norlin. The valuable lesson that she taught me is the same as what our Savior teaches us in the Good Book! It always seems that the little things seem to have the biggest impact. A kind word or gesture can go a long long way! LESS IS MORE! Like the mustard seed! So, be thankful for what God has given us and do not covet. Because wanting more does not always lead to more happiness.

The Weak and Strong by Jeff Capshaw

The intelligence of dolphins is one of their most outstanding features. Among the thousands of members that the animal kingdom has, dolphins take one of the top places regarding intelligence. Moreover, according to one source, pods of dolphins work together to defend one another and will circle weaker pod members to protect them when potential predators are present.

That is remarkable for a non-human creature. Others suggest that even some pack animals will use their collective strength to protect an injured pack member. Humans in general and Christians, in particular, could learn a lesson from these animal anecdotes. This is precisely the teaching of the New Testament.

Paul writes, "we who are strong have an obligation to bear with the failings of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let each of us please his neighbor for his good, to build him up. For Christ did not please himself, but as it is written, "The reproaches of those who reproached you fell on me." For whatever was written in former days was written for our instruction, that through endurance and through the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope" (Romans 15:1-4, ESV).

Secular statements like "only the strong survive" or slogans like "survival of the fittest," unfortunately, are realities of a fallen world. But that is exactly what the Gospel intends to do: reverse the curse and unfortunate realities of a fallen world. By helping weaker brothers and sisters, those stronger should stop fixating on themselves and their needs by caring for the needs of others. That is the meaning of "the strong are not to please themselves."

Helping the weaker isn't just a friendly suggestion. Rather, it is the Christian's obligation. Helping the weaker ones by building them up serves to strengthen the Church and to build unity. For example, Paul wrote in another place, "if one member suffers, all suffer together; if one member is honored, all rejoice together" (1 Corinthians 12:26).

Of course, Paul's exemplar behind this principle is the example of Christ. As Charles Hodge remarked, "Christ's example is constantly held up not just as a model but as a motive." This is Paul's teaching on the remarkable humility of Christ in Philippians 2. "Do nothing from selfish ambition or conceit, but in humility count others more significant than yourselves. Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others (vv. 2-3). That is what it means to have the mind or attitude of Christ.

After all, according to Paul, the purpose of Scripture is to instruct believers in day-to-day, something especially needful during these difficult days. The instruction to help a weaker brother or sister to is great therapy for believers. So, find joy in building others up. Also, to the stronger, keep on enduring the difficult days and keep finding encouragement and hope in scripture. Then you will be in an even better place to help your weaker neighbor.

In 1761 the cargo vessel Octavius set sail for China from a port in London. It arrived to its scheduled destination and unloaded its cargo. Upon loading other goods it set sail again for a return trip to Britain once again. On board was the full 28 man crew, the captain and his young woman reported to be his bride and their young child. In another story there is a ship identified as the Gloriana with very similar overall story with slight variation of details. Allegedly the Captain in an attempt to save time changed his original course to pursue the Northwest passage instead. As the story goes a whaling ship came upon the Octavius adrift somewhere around Greenland. They boarded the ship to find the deck empty. When they went below they found the entire crew frozen including the Captain at his desk and a woman wrapped in a blanket with her young son.

This is probably a legend and not based upon fact, yet there are instances of tragedies at sea that are real. The SS Edmund Fitzgerald sank on November 1975 in Lake Superior losing 29 men to the depths of 525 feet below. Gordon Lightfoot wrote of this tragedy wherein he said Superior never gives up her dead in its ice water mansion. Many people who have lost loved ones live with the knowledge that they never will be able to say goodbye since they never can recover the remains of their loved ones. I cannot imagine what it must be like to never know closure of loss because of unanswered questions or circumstances. It is one of the most agonizing and stressful experience to live the why and how and never know. This is when family and community support is so important. chart to be presented at the next City of Bolivar council meeting, which is scheduled for September 14.

McTizic said any ordinance affecting the 2021 election must be done 60 days prior to the filing deadline, which will be in February of 2021.

"If we are going to change this, we need it done by December," he said.

Dellinger serves as city manager, clerk, and recorder for the city. All three positions would need to be filled, but the job description of mayor would most likely take up the duties of the city manager.

No matter the committee recommendation, any changes to the city government structure would not take place until after the 2021 election, where the mayor, and four city council members will be elected. Spots up for election are currently held by Rhea, Golden, Walley, and Joy.

It is unknown when the issue of Herron's fees will be taken up again. They were estimated at $175,000 at the time of the October 2019 settlement but the court set aside those charges until a further ruling could be made. But Herron filed to have the Judge J. Weber McCraw removed from the case before the order could be signed, making way for Judge Todd Childress of the 29th Judicial District to preside over the case. Childress agreed with McCraw and Attorney Amber Shaw, setting aside the fees as well.

When Facing Illness, Take Control of Finances

In light of the coronavirus pandemic, virtually all of us have considered health-related issues. But for people facing a serious, chronic illness, such as Parkinson's disease, multiple sclerosis, diabetes or cancer, health concerns are an everyday matter. If you're fortunate, you may never be afflicted with such maladies, but the future is unpredictable. Of course, going through these health challenges bring physical and emotional concerns – but also financial ones. How can you prepare for them?

Essentially, you'll need to consider four key areas: investments, insurance, legal arrangements and taxes. Let's take a quick look at each of them:

Investments – You'll likely need to draw on your investments for at least some of the expenses associated with your illness. So, within your portfolio, you may want to establish a special fund devoted entirely to these costs, whether they be health care, modifications to your home, transportation and so on. A financial professional can help you choose investments for this fund, as well as make recommendations for your overall investment strategy, including techniques for boosting your income, such as adding investments that can provide an income stream that kicks in when you think your costs will rise.

Insurance – Depending on your health status, you may be able to collect Medicare earlier than the traditional starting point at age 65. Even so, you'll likely need to supplement it with additional coverage. But you may also want to look beyond health insurance. For example, you might be able to purchase a "chronic illness rider" that allows you to tap into life insurance benefits while you're still alive. Or you might consider adding a "long-term care rider" to a life insurance policy; this rider offers financial benefits if you ever require daily care that you can't provide for yourself. And some foundations, states and drug companies offer programs that can help pay for some costs that your insurance won't cover.

Legal arrangements – If you haven't already done so, you may want to establish the legal documents most appropriate for your situation, such as a durable power of attorney for finances, which gives someone the authority to manage your financial affairs if you become temporarily incapacitated, possibly due to flare-ups of your chronic disease. Once you've recovered, you regain control of your financial decisions. You might also want to consider a health care proxy, which appoints an individual to make medical decisions for you if you can't. In creating or revising these documents, you'll need to consult with your legal professional.

Taxes – You might qualify for Social Security disability payments, which, like other Social Security benefits, are taxable, so you'll need to be aware of what you might owe. But you might also be eligible for some tax breaks related to your condition. If you still itemize tax deductions, you may be able to deduct some medical expenses, as well as certain home improvements, such as wheelchair ramps, bathtub grab bars, motorized stairlifts and so on. Your tax advisor may have suggestions appropriate for your situation.

Dealing with a chronic illness is never easy. But by considering how your illness will affect all aspects of your life, getting the help you need, and taking the right steps, you may be able to reduce the financial stress on you and your loved ones.

Support Solutions Makes Compensation Offer

Support Solutions, a group home in Bolivar linked to the vandalism and burglaries over the past few weeks in Bolivar, has offered to help make up for it.

"They called and offered to make a donation," said Lions Club President Casey Swift. "They said they wanted to make everything right. They said they were looking for a cash register and other items. They said they had been here for 15 years without an incident."

According to Bolivar Police Chief Mike Jones, Support Solutions seems to have selective memory.

"This has been going on for years," said Jones. "This wasn't the first time, not even close."

The Support Solutions in Bolivar reported the pair missing to the Bolivar Police Department on July 26. They were found and returned to the Pecan Drive address on July 30, at which time, according to the police narrative, both Vaughn and Souder admitted their involvement as in breaking into the Lions Club ballfield (see photo) on two occasions and also throwing a wrench through the window of a small construction building located at 10160 W. Market Street.

The next day, Support Solutions reported the two had again run from the group home and both were given a NIC number.

On August 2, the pair were caught attempting to break into the National Guard Armory after burglarizing the Optimist Field in Bolivar and the Lions Club field. At the time, the two were in possession of an axe, and a pickaxe and wearing football pad gear and welding helmets. They were returned to Support Solutions and removed from the NCIC.

The two appear to be on video obtained from Brooks Auto Service in Bolivar, breaking and/or looking into storage units and abandoned cars on August 2, but taking nothing, according to the report.

On August 3, after a call from the Bolivar Support Solutions home in Bolivar, the pair confessed their involvement and expressed remorse for their actions. They also led police to the site of their stolen items, including baseball catcher's equipment, after which they were taken into custody.

Damages to and thefts from the Lions Club concession stand were estimated at $983, while damages to the Optimist Field in Bolivar were estimated at $1,370.

At press time, Curtis Stack of the Bolivar Parks and Recreation Department, who oversees the Optimist Field, had not heard from Support Solutions. Nor had Brooks Auto Service.

Don't Ask Them, It's Just Their Business

Residents of a local group home were charged for their alleged involvement in vandalism and theft in Bolivar.

Kevin Vaughn and Hunter Souder, both listed as having a Support Solutions address of 518 Pecan Drive in Bolivar in the Bolivar Police Report were charged with 17 counts each, according to the Hardeman County General Sessions Clerk.

According to their website, Support Solutions "provides a wide range of services designed to help individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities live a full life in their own community." They have homes in Tennessee and North Carolina and are based in Memphis.

The Last Senator from Hardeman County

The victory in the Republican Primary by Page Walley led some people to believe he might be the first ever to live in and serve as the Senator in the 26th district. But a phone call tip and a look through the Bulletin Times archives told a different story.

A.O. Sipes, Bolivar Businessman and church leader served as the Tennessee State Senator for the 26th District from 1956-1960.

Sipes was a delegate to the national Democratic Convention for the 1968 and 1964 campaigns.

Sipes was a lifelong resident of Hardeman County and a member of the First Baptist Church, where he served as a Sunday School Teacher.

In 1937, he established the Bolivar Lumber Company. He was past president of several civic organizations including the Bolivar Chamber of Commerce, Hardeman County Fair Association, and the Bolivar Lions Club, where he was also a charter member.

He passed in 1969 at age 59, suffering a heart attack. His obituary appeared on the front page of the Bolivar Bulletin, next to a story of the first moon landing, which happened two days after his death.

Photo behind: The Bulletin Times Archives, encompassing the years 1917, 1930, and 1938-2020, are available to the public during business hours. Social distancing rules will be enforced.

BCHS BASEBALL HIRES BARNES

For only the third time in the last forty years, Bolivar Central has a new baseball coach.

And for the second time in a row they choose a player who played for the coach he is replacing.

Such was the case at Bolivar hired Clint Barnes to take over the baseball program.

"My biggest goal is to help these boys become men. To go out into the real world, because that is way bigger than any ballgame," he said. "If I'm not helping them with that, I'm not doing my job."

Barnes, who played for retiring coach Mark Fulghum, said it was an honor to find out from his former coach. Barnes played for Fulghum from 2005-2008. Twelve years later, he replaces him.

"It was very special to me to have Coach Fulghum come and tell me I got the job," he said.

Coach Fulghum got the job in 1996 under mostly the same circumstances, taking over 11 years later from his coach, Keith Cabanaw.

Barnes said his immediate plan was to have tryouts and help his team understand his philosophy.

"We're going to be a scrappy ballclub that never gives up," he explained. "We're going to play small ball, because I really believe in it."

Photo: Barnes was All-District 2006-2008, All West Tennessee 2007 and 2008 and the MVP of the District in 2008 for Bolivar Central, who qualified for the TSSAA State Championship in 2008. Barnes, who hit more than .400 for his career attended and played at Union University.

AUGUST 13, 2020

Hardeman County Sports Notes

Bolivar Central Football added a pair of home games to their schedule to replace the games lost to Shelby County schools in August as games with Freedom Prep and Kirby were cancelled due to the schools decision to begin play after Labor Day.

Bolivar Central will now face Brighton at home on August 21 and face Scotts Hill at home on August 28. The two home games gives Bolivar Central six home games on the season.

Former Bolivar Central quarterback Trey Lowe announced he will attend Southern Mississippi as a graduate student and continue his athletic career.

Lowe, who graduated from West Virginia University in two and a half years, is eligible to compete right away in both football and baseball. Lowe played sparingly for both squads at West Virginia in his time at the school.

Conner and Carson Daniel competed in the US Kids golf championship at Pinehurst July 30-August 1.

Conner, who played in the nine year old division, shot 108-85-86-276 to finish in 105th place in the tournament played at Pinehurst Resorts #1 course.

Carson competing in the 12U division, shot 75-78-74--227 to finish tied for 18th place. The tournament for the 12 year olds was played at Pinehurst Resorts #8 course.

The US Kids World event at Pinehurst and surrounding courses has been played each year since 2005.

The Bolivar Baseball 6U Blue team finished an undefeated season, edging the Gray team 11-10 to win the year end tournament.

The Blues scored three runs in the bottom of the final inning to seal the victor.

Adverse Conditions:::

After a very busy four days of getting firewood, playing at the duckblind (sarcasm), spraying the sunflowers, and splitting/stacking firewood. LJ (Larry Joe), Emma, and I decided a fishing trip would be a welcomed break.

Little did we know after all the preparations, putting the boat in the river. More "Work" had just begun. With only two bends to go to arrive at our Hot Spots (preferred holes) there was a huge tree that dictated we wouldn't be knocking on Slicks door.

Our fingers were crossed the next morning, and as luck would have it, we were happy the hard work paid off.

We might try again before the opener of squirrel season (Saturday, August 22). If you're going on the Hatchie in the near future::: Be very Careful!!! As Always SAFETY FIRST HOOT

Editor's Note: Hoot's words of wisdom and outdoorsman news can be heard the second Monday of each month on County Journal Live on WMOD Radio (96.7) in Bolivar.
