ONE DOLLAR

From the Other Side of the Desk

It all began with a raccoon. Cute little thing, that is, if it were a cartoon.

Otherwise, it's a ravenous raccoon, eating garbage out of the back of my truck like it's his (or her, I don't know) personal smorgasbord. All while the alpha cat just sat there.

That was the scene, raccoon eating out of my truck, cat playing lookout.

The raccoon was completely unimpressed by me. Just popped his head up and just kept eating. I walked toward the truck and hit the back of it. He looked annoyed and crawled over the side, walked over to a tree and just stared at me, while casually eating.

All he needed now was a busboy to clean up the back of the truck. And he got one. Me. And he didn't even tip well. Or at all.

John likes milk. And so he got some out of the container, but somehow, misplaced the lid. So, he looked (later he said about twenty minutes, but eventually changed it to about five minutes and then admitted it was less, but never defined it) for it, but couldn't find it. So he put it back in the fridge without the lid. But, figuring it wouldn't look good to be noticeable and obvious, he put it behind some leftover stew in a saucepan.

This is all to say that when Holli went to get some milk, she had to tilt it to get it over the saucepan...and poured milk all over herself. Fortunately, John was not home, but eventually he arrived to face the wrath of the milk covered woman. But, he never lost his sense of humor, even if he lost his sense of timing. For, while mopping up the mess, he looked up and deadpanned, "Hey, we're out of milk."

He's still alive, don't worry.

Schools Offered Officers

The State of Tennessee is lending a hand in efforts to keep schools safe in Hardeman County and around the state.

Hardeman County Schools were awarded a $245,000 School Resource Officers Grant from the State Department of Education to assist the district in providing all schools in Hardeman County with a full-time Student Resource Officer (SRO) for the upcoming school year.

In previous years Hardeman County Schools coordinated with the Hardeman County Sheriff's Department to provide two full-time and one part-time SRO in the district that were funded through a grant and school district funds. Hardeman County Schools representatives are currently meeting throughout the county with city mayors, police chiefs, city councils, city administrators and the sheriff's department to secure an officer at each school.

"Hardeman County Schools are very appreciative to Governor Lee and the General Assembly for providing the SRO grant that will enhance our efforts to provide a safe learning environment for our students and staff," said Deputy Director Bobby Doyle.

The offer comes as Bill Lee is near to completing his first year as Governor of Tennessee.

"The safety of our children and teachers is a top priority for my administration and this investment ensures that school districts will have the resources they need to better protect our schools," said Lee.

Safe Schools grants to assist LEAs in funding programs that address school safety, including, but not limited to, innovative violence prevention programs, conflict resolution, disruptive or assaultive behavior management, improved school security, school resource officers, school safety officers, peer mediation and training for employees on the identification of possible perpetrators of school-related violence.

According to Superintendent Warner Ross, the proposal by Lee was for two years, but Ross is hopeful the funds will continue.

Already accepting the offer was the City of Whiteville, who approved the stipulations of the grant at their August 5 meeting. An advertisement for the position is located on A5.

Details on SROs for the LEAs

Grants awarded under this category will not exceed $ 35,000 per officer per year and are subject to a 25% local match adjusted for the Local Education Agency's (LEA) fiscal capacity. Student Resource Officers (SRO) funded under this grant program must be duly sworn and authorized law enforcement officers in compliance with training standards established under TCA 49-6-4217. A total of $20 million statewide has been reserved under this category. In order to be eligible to receive an SRO grant the LEA must submit the following:

- A letter of commitment from the appropriate law enforcement executive (sheriff or chief of police).
- A school resource officer assignment report that identifies each school and changes in SRO assignment that will result from grant funding.
- Assurance from the director of schools that the application for grant funds is for schools that did not have a full-time school resource officer during the 2018-19 school year and that the LEA will provide a mid-year SRO assignment report.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Silerton

Mary Lynn Lambert

Richard and Rita Crowley's yard is sporting the Yard of the Month sign for this month. A big thanks to them for their extra work making their yard pretty.

Cody, Brittany and Ramsey Kate Naylor, Sarah Naylor, Debbie Dillard, Keith Cossar, Brianna Walker, who is Brittany's sister, enjoyed their recent trip to Gulf Shores, AL. July 23-28. They enjoyed their stay in a beach front condo and spent most of their time on the beach. Brittany states that they went to several unique restaurants, Gulf Breeze Island, and the Gulf Shores Zoo.

Mark your calendar for a big fund-raising potluck meal Saturday, August 24, at the Silerton Fire Department at 6:00 p.m.

The Piney Grove Community welcomes Randy and Trudy Richardson to their community. They are relocating from Maine.

Back in August of 1953, three first-grade girls and three first-grade boys met at the Silerton School to begin their education. Five of those six students would complete 12 years of school together. One of the girls, Carolyn (Chandler) Vales, graduated from Chester County High School and the rest graduated from Bolivar Central High. On Thursday, August 8, those six friends with their spouses enjoyed a barbecue meal at our home in Salsbury, TN. Leo Lambert was also able to attend. All agreed it was a very enjoyable night of reconnecting and sharing memories of school days. Kenneth and Betty Black reside in Vicksburg, MS. Richard and Rita Crowley recently moved back to Silerton from Houston, TX. Linda (Hatch) Russell, Carolyn Vales and I made our homes in Hardeman County. Larry Lambert chose Chester County to make his home. It was the first time all six of these friends had been together since graduation in 1965.

Remember to call with news or your memories so we can stay connected.

Hello from the HOT & HUMID Town of Toone! What can I say, it's August in West Tennessee! Although I have lived here most of my life, one would think that I would be used to the heat by now. Maybe when I was younger I didn't notice as much, but now it's unbearable most summer days. My work in the yard has been limited to two or three hours early in the mornings, so completion of most of those outdoor projects will just have to wait until fall and the cooler temps. My advice to anyone working outside in this heat is, if you don't have to go out there. . . DON'T!!!

The Toone Elementary School PTO will hold their first meeting of the new school year on, Monday, August 19, at 5:30 p.m., at the school. This will mainly be a planning meeting for this year's projects and fundraisers. The PTO desperately needs volunteers this year, so please make your plans to attend this important meeting.

There will be no classes for all Hardeman County Schools, Monday, September 2, in observance of Labor Day. Parent/teacher conferences will be held at the school, Tuesday, September 3, beginning at 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 a.m., and 3:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.. Please plan to attend these important meetings.

Mark your calendars for the TES Book Fair that will be held, September 6-13. This is a great opportunity for your child to purchase books to read at a great price. You can also donate books to this worthy cause by dropping them by the school, or calling the school office at: 731-658-5606.

You can now connect with the school through Facebook and Twitter. Their two Facebook pages are: Toone Elementary School, or TES-PTO. Their Twitter account address is: @schoolTooneBobcats.

A group of members from the Clover Chapel Church in Cloverport, traveled to Georgetown, KY, on Saturday, August 10, to visit the Ark Encounter, a complete full-sized replica of the original Ark built by Noah. Those on the trip described it as an amazing experience and very informative and highly recommend it to anyone who would like to visit there.

Homecoming Sunday at Clover Chapel Church will be held, Sunday, August 18 at 1:00 p.m. Pastor Gene Bowden, and members of the Oak Hill Church of Bolivar, TN. will be their special guests. Revival services will be held, Tuesday-Thursday, August 20, 21, 22, nightly at 7:00 p.m. Everyone is invited!

Make your calendars for the 2019 Senior TOC/ Freestyle Invitational radio-controlled airplane competition and airshow at Clover Creek Aerodrome, that will be held over the Labor Day weekend. Tina Schroeder, owner of Clover Creek Aerodrome and the Academy of Model Aeronautics would like to welcome any and all spectators to this exciting event. This year's large field of participants and competitors, and expert judges is set to make this year's competition a World Class Event. There will be on-site food trucks and other concessions for your convenience. Dates and event times to follow in next week's arrival.

I made my third trip last Friday evening to the historic LUEZ Theater in Bolivar to watch a movie. Folks, if you haven't been there since the Theater has re-opened, you have missed an amazing treat. Each time I visit there, I am in awe of the extensive renovations complete with all new floors and seating, plus a remodeled balcony that can be used for groups and parties. They also added a stage down front where live shows and concerts are held. Be sure to go by and check it out.

Be sure to share your community news via the contact information listed above. Until next time. . . talk to your neighbors!

Hornsby

Hello to all! Hornsby Elementary as all other schools are already starting the year with a busy schedule. Monday night was meet the teacher and the first PTO meeting. New officers were elected and the Harvest Festival date was set for November 2. I will have more information on that event after their next meeting. Those celebrating birthdays, August 1 through the 15 are: Wyatt Sparks, Axel Nelson, Madison Young, Maggie Sanders, Bella Howard, and Shelby Lax.

We wish you all a very Happy Birthday on your special day.

Hornsby Baptist Church has started Project 4:13 on Wednesday nights. It starts at 6:00 p.m. and if you want to be part of a great program, just come on and join us, everyone is definitely welcomed. Our prayer breakfast was wonderful and we appreciate Dylan Hill who came and spoke on prayer. Members then walked the halls of Hornsby Elementary to pray. Work is already started on the 5K for Christ which will be November 9th. If you would like to know more please contact Bro. Matt Emerson, Lily Barnes, or Amber Moore. Choir practice will soon begin for the children and adult Christmas programs, we would love for you and your children to be a part of it.

On a much sadder note two people who I and so many others thought a lot of passed away last week. Mrs. Ann Hornsby who was very well known for always preparing food for people. She was very famous for her rolls and chocolate pie. When I would see Mrs. Ann's number pop up on my phone, my mouth would start to water, because I knew she had made extra rolls and was calling me to ask me did I want them. Of course the answer was always yes. She was a sweet lady with a kind smile and heart and she will truly be missed. Also, Mr. Billy Hammons passed away and I have had the honor to know him a very long time. He too was also someone whom every time I saw him was smiling and always had kind words to say. Mr. Billy was known as a hard working person, who like to hunt, but most of all love his family. So please lift these two families up because I know there will be a void in their lives.

I know our prayer list is long but please lift these people up in prayer. If you know of someone who has a need please contact me. Prayer is a powerful thing and I know there are a lot of wonderful folks who are happy to pray for you or someone you know. Lynn Allen, Kathy Anthony, Sydni Aylor, Laura Baker, Terry Baker, Ricky Bass, Max Beck, Melanie Bowers, Eddie Bryant, Gawaine Carroll, Amanda Cornelius, Sue Day, Ed Emerson, Rachilda Emerson, Sherry Doles, Robert Gibson, Crystal Grantham, Thomas Green, Sue Hall, JoAnn Hammons, James Hanna, Marilyn Hanna, Richard Hazelwood, Ann Hornsby, Joy Herriman, Sue Hodge, Jo Edna Howell, Charley Johnson, Ann Kelly, Aubrey King, Lucy King, Debbie Laster, Shirley Lindsey, Sandy Malone, Bobbie McBride, Betty McMahan, Orville McMahan, Carolyn Morgan, Evan Niield, Lockie Newman, Dan Nuckolls, Joyce Overton, Gay Pierce, Eloise Poole, Gail Pope, Don Pulse, Keith Raines, Stacy Spence, Ronna Spoon, Susan Thompson, Marshall Tucker, Bertha Vaughan, Martyn Venuti, Tommy Warner, Shirley Warner, Eddie Webb, Joe West, Jennifer Wheeler, Piper Williams, Monica Yopp, the men and women who serve our country, the families of Ann Hornsby, and Billy Hammons, the families of the ones who are fighting cancer and especially the ones who are lost.

His Word for the week: Romans 6:4 "Therefore we are buried with Him by baptism into death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. Amen Praise God!!

The Maxwell's Stay-at-Home Gourmet

Lemon Lava Cake

Ingredients

- 1 box lemon cake mix (ingredients listed on back of box; eggs, oil and water)
- 2 (3.4 oz) boxes instant lemon pudding
- 1/3 cup sugar optional
- 2 cups cold milk
- 1 1/4 cup water
- powdered sugar for dusting

Instructions

- Preheat oven to 350F degrees.
- Spray a 9 x 13 baking dish with nonstick cooking spray.
- Prepare cake mix according to package directions.
- Pour batter into baking dish.
- In a separate bowl, combine dry pudding mixes with sugar, milk and water.
- Whisk briskly for 2 minutes until it begins to thicken.
- Spoon pudding mixture over cake mix batter. Once it is on there, it is hard to spread out since it kind just ends up sinking into the batter.
- Put a large baking sheet underneath your baking dish before sliding it in the oven.
- Bake for about 55 minutes to one hour.
- It's a bit tricky to tell when it is done because the pudding layer in it always stays a bit jiggle. So, what you want to do is take a toothpick and insert it into the middle of the cake. If it only comes out with pudding - you are good. If you still see gooey cake batter on it, then you need to bake it for a bit longer.
- When it's finished baking, allow it to cool for about 20 minutes. This will allow that pudding layer to thicken up a bit more.
- Then serve with a bit of sprinkled powdered sugar on top.

You can buy all the ingredients in this recipe at Food Giant Big Star, 200 North Main Street, Bolivar

Grace, Part 3 by Jeff Capshaw

The first column of this series defined grace as a unique gift from God, given freely out of his abundance of love, kindness, and goodness toward us. In everyday speech, we say it is "the unmerited favor God shows toward us." Thus, grace is a way in which God deals with his children. It isn't a mere abstraction; Grace is actionable, and it has objective, practical value for all of creation.

In the second week's column, I described grace as it relates to 3 kinds of calling: (1) as a summons for a special work, (2) as the internal work of the Holy Spirit, and (3) as being efficacious or bringing about a favorable result in the person called.

That brings us to another but less familiar category of grace. Theologians call it "common grace." Because common grace relates to all of God's created order, it is an important theological concept. Understanding common grace may also provide answers to some "why" questions.

What is common grace? According to Millard Erickson's theological dictionary, it is "grace extended to all persons through God's general providence." The distinction between common grace and other categories of grace is this; "It is extended to all persons." Thus, it is different from the internal work of the Holy Spirit or from an efficacious calling to repentance from sin and belief in the Gospel.

What are common grace's practical implications? From a Reformational perspective, "common grace curbs the destructive power of sin, maintains in a measure the moral order of the universe, thus making an orderly life possible, distributes in varying degrees gifts and talents among men, promotes the development of science and art, and showers untold blessings upon the children of men" (Louis Berkhof, Systematic Theology, p. 434).

Think of it this way. On a Christian Worldview, if common grace were not a reality, then the world would not exist as we know it, and most assuredly evil would be much worse. Without God's gracious and providential control over all things, the world would unravel at the seams.

Consider a biblical example of common grace. In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus commanded his

Absentee by David Coy

I was reminded of a fact that is not flattering to our society and culture. As it stands there are other circumstances and events in life that will cause grief. Remember, grief is pain of mind and many different things can cause pain of mind, sorrow and regret. I recently was invited to speak at a class on the subject of grief. As you might expect there is a great deal that can be said about that topic. There are some facts that I did not give, even though they relate to the many cultural problems including but limited to the rise in teen suicide.

Just a few decades ago, as early as the sixties our absentee list of homes without fathers was dramatically different from what it is today. According to sources, out-of-wedlock births increased in the black community from 25 percent in 1965 to 73 percent in 2015, while also increasing among whites from five percent to 25 percent across the same time period. Overall, the percentage of American children who grew up without fathers increased from five percent in 1960 to 41 percent in 1995.

The reason for the increasing absence of fathers is due to the expansion of the welfare state during President Lyndon Johnson's War on Poverty programs in 1965. "And this makes it all too easy for men to abandon their traditional moral and financial responsibilities. Psychologists call such dependency 'learned helplessness.'" According to the journal of Research, "Children who grow up without a father are five times more likely to live in poverty and commit crime; nine times more likely to drop out of school and 20 times more likely to end up in prison." This also contributes to the increase in teen suicide. Good grief?!

His great-grandchildren are Davis Wallin, Leslie Wallin, Nate Ryan, and Tristan Watkins, who was born on the day his great-grandfather died.

Mr. Hines had an idyllic childhood in rural Benton County. He went to grammar school at Hopewell and Chalybeate, and attended Grand Junction High School.

As a charismatic young man, Curtis sought the attention of Marjorie Lake of Hickory Valley, whom he wooed with persistence with his Hollywood looks and Queen Anne's lace. Their story was compared to "The Notebook". In fact, Curtis was convinced the book was written about him and Marjorie! Their seventy-four year marriage was legendary. With his charisma and her charm, they may have been the original "power couple". They were certainly wonderful examples of the Greatest Generation.

Curtis and Marjorie married on May 3, 1943, right before Curtis left for the South Pacific. He served in the Army for three years and Marjorie wrote to him every day.

Upon Curtis's return from World War II, he and Marjorie settled in the Hopewell Community where Curtis farmed with his father and brother, Dan. With their children, Beth and Frank, the Hineses portrayed an all-American family. Their charming country home was always open to family, friends and strangers.

Curtis Hines became Benton County's Chancery Clerk in 1964. He loved his job; and his campaign was enthusiastic and unorthodox! He went down every dirt road and knocked at every door, sometimes porch sitting, shelling peas, hoeing the garden or being a dinner guest. On election years, he gave out his signature emery boards and matches. One year, after purchasing the merchandise from a store closing, his gifts to voters included Easter baskets and ladies pajamas! (This was a different time; and politically-correct was not a part of the vernacular!)

Curtis was colorful! He liked fast cars, especially Cadillacs, ballroom dancing at the Peabody, silk ties and the color red! Marjorie dressed to please him, usually in her signature blue; and she never wore a garment Curtis didn't like. Curtis and Marjorie cut quite a figure on the dance floor! They loved the big band music of their youth. Curtis was very quotable and his unintentional humor gave his family quotes which endure!

Curtis was proud of his family - Marjorie, Beth, Frank, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. He also loved his nieces and nephews - Hines and Lake alike! Many wonderful memories were made when the cousins came to visit in the summer.

In their later years, Frank likened his parents' relationship to "two decaying fence posts leaning against each other." When one caves in, so will the other. That is what happened; but what amazing lives they lived!

Curtis missed Marjorie desperately after her passing in December 2017. He took wonderful care of her after her stroke in 2003 and willingly performed domestic chores in his unorthodox fashion. Their 74-year marriage was exemplary.

Curtis loved his church, founded by his ancestors. He was a lifelong Cumberland Presbyterian. He was also a proud Democrat and he passed this virtue to his children. How ironic that he died on Election Day!

The Hines family asks that you remember the stories and share them. In Curtis's honor, they hope you will donate to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, help a child in need, plant a tree, visit an elderly person, forgive and live life joyfully!

Rodgers Wins State 4H Award

for Hardeman County, is the winner of the Alice Ann Moore Outstanding 4-H Agent Award. The honor is made possible by Alice Ann Moore, the former state director for Tennessee 4-H who served UTIA more than 30 years. Moore is also an honorary member of the Tennessee 4-H Foundation, and was a 4-Her herself growing up in Crockett County.

"Being the recipient of the Alice Ann Moore Outstanding 4-H Agent Award means a great deal to me," Rodgers said. "Having worked with Mrs. Moore and with her having ties to West Tennessee and Hardeman County, it means even more. Being a 4-H agent is a very rewarding and sometimes challenging task. Being recognized by my peers for my programming efforts and dedication to Hardeman County 4-H is truly special."

Rodgers has served all 20 years of his Extension career in Hardeman County, and works with some 2,000 youth every year through 4-H. Notable programs include teaching kids the web curriculum My American Farm - online games where you can learn about agriculture. He's also coached champion 4-H meat-judging teams, and has been active in developing STEM programming for nearby Lone Oaks Farm. Rodgers' 4-Hers have been active collecting items for Operation Christmas Child and the Carl Perkins Child Abuse Center in Bolivar. He's a member of the Bolivar Optimist Club and is a deacon with his church.

OUR COUNTY

Tales from the Yellow House by Lee McAlpin

There was never a dull moment at the Yellow House. There were so many funny things happening all the time. As I've mentioned before, the Southern Railway tracks ran at the edge of our yard, so close that you could not carry on a conversation when a train was passing. They would literally rattle the windows in the old house and move the picture frames on the wall. Out of town friends would come for a visit and ask us how we could sleep with that noise going on. We were so used to it that we really didn't hear them. The conductors on the cabooses would sometimes throw us kids off a bunch of comic books. We were always out by the tracks smiling and waving when the trains came by. I guess they felt sorry for us, but we always looked forward everytime a roll of comic books came rolling across our yard. We would return the favor in the spring as there was a work train and crew that would come by the house, and some of the workers would be sitting on a flat car.

We would go to the apple tree and pull a bunch of green apples and toss them up to the men on the slow moving train. One day Dad was plowing in the cotton field which ran up to the side of the tracks. The train would stop up above the house to take on coal and water and move slowly by our house and usually stop in Pocahontas. Dad had hitched a ride several times and jumped off when the train stopped in town. This particular day, Dad was out of chewing tobacco. He left the old mule hitched to the plow in a shade at the end of the row, hopped on the train to ride down town to get him a plug of Days Work chewing tobacco.

The problem that day was that the train didn't slow down or stop at Pocahontas, but picked up speed and going too fast for him to jump off. It's next stop was at Cypress Tank, which is about six miles east of Pocahontas. Dad had to walk all the way back. He did stop at Sheas store in town to get his tobacco, walked back to the house and the old mule was still standing where he left it.

There were three train engineers who lived in Pocahontas who worked for Southern Railway. Mr. John King, Mr. Nile Wright, Mr. Andrew Mohundro. Each of them had certain whistle patterns they would use when entering the town.

I've written a lot about outhouses in my articles. You hardly ever see one of the little houses anymore. A few years ago they were seen behind most houses in the rural areas of the country. This particular incident didn't happen at the Yellow House, but at another house we lived at shortly after moving. Brother Don started training as a depot agent for Southern Railway as soon as he finished high school. He purchased a 23-jeweled Waltham Railroad watch which was required for his work. This watch cost $45.00. On one of his visits to the outhouse, his new pocket watch fell through the hole into the pit. He was going to leave it be, but dear old Dad, being the brave soul that he was, and not wanting to lose that precious watch, layed down on his stomach, rolled up the sleeve on his right arm, and searched the pit until he found it. Jacques Costeau didn't have a thing on Dad.

Don carried the watch to a repairman in Corinth to be cleaned. It ran perfectly after that, but brother Don didn't tell the repairman where the watch had been.

Tic Tac ::::

As with a lot of people that love to hunt and fish, guess you could say, I'm "Seasonal". As soon as hunting season starts getting close, like the weather, I change. Memories from seasons past are constant. The upcoming deer season is a huge spread topic because of "CWD" as it should be.

One major concern I've been screaming for years is the LOD (lack of ducks). I easily understand last years LOD, abnormal warm weather up north. My log book depicts the same amount of ducks taken. I haven't even come close to getting Laryngitis, so:::: I'll keep SCREAMING till the right people hear me.

As Always:::: SAFETY FIRST:::: HOOT

Making Family Time Important During the School Year

by Carolyn Tomlin

Mom looks at the weekly calendar posted on the refrigerator and sighs. "Our three children are involved in so many activities," she says shaking her head. "Band, football, church choir, tutoring, and a multitude of others school, church, and community projects. How will we find time just to be together as a family?"

Like many homes, it's difficult to find time for family togetherness. Even meal-time as a unit can be difficult.

According to a recent U.S. Census report, 71 million children and adults are enrolled in the country in some type of educational program. Or, 25.9 percent of the population, ages 3 and older. (U.S. Census report)

With the school population having so many commitments, it's often difficult to spend time with those we love.

Keep this thought in mind: It takes time and commitment to be a spouse and parent. Setting our priorities and intentionally making that choice may determine how our own families are affected. The parenting style, you as a parent use, is usually the one your child will copy when they become an adult and have their own family.

Here are some suggestions for finding quality time as well as quantity time.

- Keep a weekly or monthly calendar posted on a bulletin board or refrigerator. Choose a place the family gathers and they're likely to be reminded of events.
- Parents, keep you commitments to the family. If you agree to attend a ball game or piano recital, honor that commitment. Yes, there are time when your job must come first, but let your child know those time will be rare.
- Realize each child is an individual and has different interests and talents. Show appreciation for this God-given skill and offer praise for their uniqueness.
- Set aside one night each week for family time. Or, maybe a Saturday at noon will work best for your family. Have a favorite meal with each child taking turns choosing the food. One week, have pizza. Another, hamburgers. Or another one, spaghetti. Play board games, go for a hike, watch a family movie, or participate in a sport. Introduce your brood to new activities and get involved yourself.
- Engage children in conversation at meal time. Some parents ask each child to bring to the table a news item, or some historical event they've read or heard on TV or the Internet. Conservation skills develop. Thinking about world events increases. Children gain confidence in sharing information within the family. This gives practice as they are asked to speak in front of peers.

Parents are a child's first and best teacher. Spend time together and enjoy this brief time of childhood. One lost, you can never recover these years together as a family.

Football Season Comes to Hardeman County

High school football teams in Hardeman County will kick off their seasons with road games on August 23.

Middleton will open with region foe Collinwood High School in Collinwood on August 23, but will have last year's top passer in West Tennessee.

"Quarterback Luke Turner is back," said Head Coach Craig Harris. "And although we lost our top receiver (Andre Hoyle) we have some talent to replace him."

Harris said his offensive line is an experienced bunch, noting senior center Jackson Flanders will lead the group, while the defense has put in the hours over the past few months and weeks.

"I feel good that they put in a lot of hard work in the heat," he said.

Bolivar Central, 3-7 last year in Woodrow Lowe's final season with the Tigers, will begin 2019 with an offense that first-year head coach Montrell Craft says needs some work.

"We're making strides. We are trying to do some things to open up the offense a bit, but right now it's not where we want it, but we are taking steps in the right direction."

A defensive starter and graduate from the University of North Alabama, Craft said the team's strong point will be their defense.

"It will be the strength of our team," he said. "We have six starters returning and have more senior leadership."

Craft, who played in the Canadian Football League prior to getting into coaching, said that special teams is exremely important to him.

"We have to be great on special teams. Our best guys have to play. Of course you want to get guys rested up, but if we rest players, it will be on offense or defense and not on special teams," he said, adding his teams will be aggressive in returning punts and kickoffs. "Whenever we get an opportunity, we want our guys to make a play. We need them to be smart, but we don't want them to be robots. But they know if they gamble, they need to win."

Craft said he is enjoying the team atmosphere that has been created.

"It's more of a family bond than just teammates. That's what will be the difference this year."

Bolivar opens at Freedom Prep on August 23.
