ONE DOLLAR

From the Other Side of the Desk

While at the bookstore the other day, Grace told me that they have "vinyl."

After a few questions, I found out she meant records. The old-style, need a turntable, records.

Well, having lived through the vinyl days, I explained to her that going back to getting music from vinyl is like doing a Revolutionary War reenactment for the nostalgia of gangrene.

I'm a fan of cds and digital music. I don't miss warped, scratched, repeating, skipping, and cue burned records.

Having to get up to change the record was never my favorite thing and I like being able to skip songs I don't like, shuffle my songs to have a variety, and the power to just move on if the song isn't doing what I thought it would do to my mood when I started playing it.

There's no bumping into it issues, replacing needles, and all the things that can happen when the record is on the turntable. Two words: THE CAT.

A few years ago, I gave my collection of about 300 or so records to a friend. I had one condition: take them all or don't take any of them. He took them all.

I go over to his house every once in a while and browse through my vinyl past, wondering why I bought some of them, remembering the good times I had listening to them and recalling the teenage angst that went with having a record player.

But when I leave his house, I can, if I want, listen to all of them by clicking a button on my phone.

It's 2018, not 1981. I do long for the past in some ways, but this isn't one of them.

And don't get me started on cassettes.

The 500-Foot Rule

ORDINANCE 18-006
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF BOLIVAR AND REVISE TITLE 8, CHAPTER 2 TO ELIMINATE THE DISTANCE REQUIREMENTS FOR THE SALE OF BEER FOR ON-PREMISE CONSUMPTION ONLY

The membership of First Baptist Church in Bolivar spoke out en masse on August 26, asking the members of the Bolivar City Council to "vote against this or any other motion that would allow the sale of beer within 500 feet of our schools and churches."

Approximately 50 people were in attendance at First Baptist Church for the business meeting following Sunday evening services on August 26, and the vote on the resolution was unanimous.

The resolution touches on issues such as "impressionable children and youth," those with "addiction problems," a "disruption to the daily ministry in God's places of worship," the condemnation in "the Word of God" against "strong drink," a correlation of "increased crime and the occurrence of motor vehicle accidents," the "erosion of community values," and ended with "prayers and petitions to God on behalf of our city must be accompanied by a community that has actual reverence, honor and respect for His presence and His places of worship."

Copies of the resolution are expected to be delivered to members of the city council prior to the next meeting of the council.

The vote at First Baptist came in response to the August 13 city council passage on the first reading of an ordinance (see above in yellow) that would remove the 500 foot restriction for restaurants to serve beer, assuming the restaurant in question met other guidelines. The city council voted 4-3 in favor of the ordinance.

Not in question is the current 500-foot restriction from churches, schools, and day care centers on vending beer in stores, as that issue was not brought for a vote by the council.

A second vote by the council will be required to pass the ordinance, and a public hearing will be allowed prior to the vote. The next meeting of the Bolivar City Council is scheduled for September 10 at 6:00 p.m. at the Bolivar Municipal Center.

On that same night, at 5:00 p.m., the Bolivar Downtown Development Corporation is scheduled to meet and is expected to deliberate and vote on a resolution addressing the issue.

If passed by the city council, restaurants would still be required to have more than 60% of their business come from food, not alcohol.

Already legal in the city is the sale of wine and liquor in restaurants, regardless of their proximity to churches, schools, and day care centers.

Snowflake Ball Donates Funds

The Bolivar General Hospital Foundation dispersed donations from their 12th annual Snowflake Ball in February.

Receiving donations were Hope House, a safe-haven for abused and homeless women who need a temporary place to live, and the Bolivar-Hardeman County Library.

Since the inception of the Snowflake Ball, the Bolivar General Hospital Foundation has raised over $160,000 for worthy causes. The foundation donates to groups each year, but also holds back a portion of proceeds to aid projects and causes that arise year-round.

The board is made up of: Bethany Miller, Chairperson, Ashley Bishop, Vice Chair, Julian McTizic, Mimi Anderson, Sandra Umberger, Calvin Howell, Jody and Angela Jackson, and Bolivar General Hospital Administrator Ruby Kirby.

Election Winners to be Sworn-In

Winners in the 2018 Hardeman County General Election were scheduled to be sworn-in on August 30 at 10:00 a.m. in the courtroom in the Hardeman County Courthouse.

Candidate Bill Lee to Visit Bolivar

Tennessee Republican Gubernatorial Nominee Bill Lee will visit Hardeman County on September 4, as part of his announced 95-county General Election tour. Held at the Bolivar Municipal Center at 6:30 p.m., it will also be a local Republican Party meeting, according to Hardeman County Republican Party Vice-Chairman Bob Williamson.

In addition to Lee, Republican Nominee for the United States Congress 7th District Mark Green is expected to attend and invitations have been sent to State Representative Ron Gant and State Senator Dolores Gresham.

"While this event is to feature GOP nominees and current office holders, we want this to also represent a resurgence and revival of the Hardeman County Republican Party," said Williamson.

Lee won the Tennessee Republican Primary in August, taking 37% of the vote in a four-way contest.

Have You Planned for Long-term Care?

If you are fortunate, you will retain your physical and mental capacities throughout your life and can always live independently. But there are no guarantees for any of us. If you ever require some form of long-term care, will you be prepared?

So what is the risk of needing long-term care services? According to the Department of Health & Human Services, about 40% of individuals over age 65 receive some form of paid in-home care, with an average care period lasting less than one year. However, about one-third of the population receives care in a nursing home: Of those individuals, about half stay less than one year, 30% stay between one and three years, and 20% stay longer than five years.

And, unfortunately, this care can be expensive. For example, it costs $97,500 per year, on average, for a private room in a nursing home, according to the 2017 Cost of Care Survey produced by Genworth, an insurance company. In some major metropolitan areas, the cost is much higher. Furthermore, Medicare typically pays only a small percentage of these expenses.

So, how do you protect yourself against these potentially catastrophic costs? Essentially, you have four options:

Self-insure - You can try to build enough financial assets to cover the costs of a long-term care event. However, you would need to accumulate an extremely large sum to fully protect yourself, and you'd be diverting assets that could be used to help fund your retirement.

Long-term care insurance - A traditional long-term care (LTC) insurance policy will pay for qualified long-term care costs. The younger you are when you purchase your policy, the lower your annual premiums are likely to be. Keep in mind, though, that a basic LTC policy offers no death benefit or cash value - your premiums are only paying for a nursing home stay, home health care or other type of long-term care service. (Also, even a good LTC policy will include a waiting period before the insurance kicks in and a maximum amount of coverage, such as three years.)

Hybrid/linked benefit insurance - Because of some concerns about paying for insurance but never needing care with traditional long-term care insurance, this type of insurance provides a death benefit plus long-term care coverage. You can accelerate the death benefit to help pay for long-term care costs, and you can also choose to create an additional pool for these costs after the death benefit has been exhausted. But if you don't need long-term care, you still have the life insurance death benefit. Due to the death benefit, your premiums will be higher than those of a traditional long-term care policy.

Life insurance with long-term care/chronic illness rider - By choosing a permanent life insurance policy with this rider, you can accelerate all or part of the death benefit to pay for long-term care costs. (Your death benefit will then be reduced.) This option generally provides more flexibility in paying premiums than a hybrid policy, which may require a larger dollar commitment. Similar to hybrid, you still have the life insurance benefit if you don't need care.

Which option is best for you? There's no one "right" answer for everyone, but a financial professional can help you choose the method that's most appropriate for your situation. And from an economic standpoint - and possibly an emotional one, too - you may be better off by taking action sooner, rather than later.

Tiger Volleyball Reloads for 2018

With trips to Murfreesboro three of the last four years, Middleton Volleyball coach Zeke Craft knows what he needs from his team to make the final eight again.

"Consistency. We are struggling with consistency. We show signs of being great, we play great teams and play right with them, but we haven't finished games," he said, adding they have played a tough schedule so far.

And while the last four years, Middleton has only faced in-district competition from Trinity, this year is different.

"Scotts Hill is improved and Madison (Academic) is really improved."

Craft says injuries have hurt them early but they are getting healthy, and it shows.

"We played at Freed Hardeman last weekend and while we didn't make the gold bracket, we got in the bronze and beat Millington, Ezell Harding and Fayette Academy. We're close to peaking and I love our attitude."

Senior Alana Kennamore says her journey with Middleton Volleyball has been different every year.

"It's never the same. We have different goals every year. Our goal is to be the best we can be. Being seniors, we have to be the example. I've had a great experience," she said.

Senior Haley Downen said being part of the team has been rewarding.

"It's meant everything to me. I've gotten to see what it's like to be a part of a team," she said, adding the team has potential. "I think we can be really good."

Senior Brooke Darling said having friends on the team has been very important to her.

"I've played many years and I like being a senior," she said.

Senior Ally Sisco said her teammates have been great and the team is capable of success.

"It's been a really big blessing for me because it's given me a family I never knew that I'd have. I started playing in sixth grade and I didn't know I'd make it this far. I'm really proud of all the girls and they are just like family, honestly," she said. "And when we work together and put our minds together, we can be really good."

Cody Attends Governor's School

Emma Cody, of Bolivar, spent the month of June as a student at the Tennessee Governor's School for the Agricultural Sciences, hosted by the University of Tennessee at Martin. Cody, a student at Bolivar Central High School, was chosen to participate after a rigorous application process. Selected students earn six hours of college credit in the agricultural sciences and participate in hands-on, real-world learning opportunities both on and off campus to gain an in-depth look at career fields available in agriculture.

Pleasant Run Opens the Arboretum

Pleasant Run Creek Park in Bolivar officially opened their arboretum on August 24, with a ribbon cutting ceremony from the Hardeman County Chamber of Commerce.

The city, led by Parks and Recreation Director Curtis Stack, successfully completed the requirements for a level one arboretum, with 38 tree species scattered throughout the park along a one-mile trail.

The arboretum was certified by the Arboretum Certification Program Committee of the Tennessee Urban Forestry Council in early August. TUFC's certification program maintains standards for public education by state arboreta. A certified arboretum must be open to the public with trees that are labeled, properly protected, and well maintained.

After the ribbon cutting, many attendees, including students from Bolivar Central High School, walked the trail.
