From the Other Side of the Desk

It seems to me I'm under qualified for a life of crime. I'm thinking that because of on most the crime shows I have seen, all the bad guys have "burner" phones. And usually when the bad guys are using a "burner," they aren't using it to call Mom on Mother's Day. (In case you're not up on current lingo, a "burner phone" is a phone that is used a couple of times and then thrown away so they can't be tracked by the investigators.) But the bad guys are throwing them away like they are Styrofoam coffee cups. Sometimes, two or three per episode. First of all, where are they getting these phones? Is there a criminal supply store somewhere with a pack of 10 phones to buy? Also, these criminal types must have Rain Man type of memory skills to have all the phone numbers they need to call memorized. I think I know like three phone numbers, tops. But these guys are keeping their criminal empire straight plus twenty-seven phone numbers in their head. And eluding the authorities at the same time. It's more than I can do. But my only life of "crime" is confined to a speeding violation in Oakland and I can't see how having a burner phone would have helped me out of that one. Now, it's not only the bad guys have burner phones. But it's usually complicated. Sometimes even the good guys have burner phones, but it's only when the good guys are running from the other good guys while trying to prove they are good guys to the good guys who sometimes turn out to be the bad guys. No wonder I'm underqualified. Darrell Teubner, Editor

Doolen Gets Primary Opponent

Bolivar City Councilman Larry McKinnie picked up petitions from the Hardeman County Election Commission with the intention of running for the democratic nomination for sheriff in Hardeman County against incumbent John Doolen. McKinnie last ran for sheriff in 2010. The winner of the primary will still have work to do however, as independents Pat Baker and Jerry Siler also picked up petitions to run in the August election. The most hotly contested race in the county became even more crowded in the past two weeks as Bolivar Fire Chief Lynn Price picked up a petition to run for Circuit Court Clerk as an independent. Price is the sixth potential candidate, joining five others who picked up petitions to run in one candidate at press time were County Clerk Jerry Armstrong, Register of Deeds Lily D. Barnes, and Trustee Mary W. Powell. Contested races for the county commission include District 2, Position 2, which has three candidates: Donna B. Pinner, Gary W. Barber, and Maurice P. Beauregard. ## A Prayer for 2018 written by a friend of Hardeman Adoptable Animals

May the community better understand the sacrifice you all make on a daily basis to care for those without a voice, may the spay and neuter fairy sprinkle pixie dust through Hardeman County to stop the pet overpopulation, may the city council fund the important work your team does, may the new shelter bring comfort to those that enter its doors and through all of this, may your load be lightened. You have worked so hard and have made a difference to so many. Thank you.

HAA just celebrated the end of its best year yet. More than 600 dogs were adopted or rescued thanks to the efforts of the volunteers. Almost all of these dogs were rescued by organizations outside of Tennessee. HAA will always need the support of these rescue organizations, but we also need the support of Hardeman County and its citizens. Please have your pets spayed or neutered. Please keep your dogs/cats on heart-worm prevention. Please do not let your dogs roam. Hardeman County has at-large ordinances, and they are meant to keep your dogs safe.

We ask that as we begin a new year, you continue to support HAA's efforts and encourage others to do so as well. We cannot continue to make our county better without your help. If you wish to donate to HAA, you can do so in multiple ways. You can donate to our general operating fund, our vetting fund, or our building fund (just specify at the time of donation). You can mail a check to PO Box 513, Bolivar, TN 38008 or make an online donation at:

paypal.me/haadogs . If you are interested in fostering, donating, volunteering, or adopting, please contact a volunteer. You can visit our website: hardemanadoptable-animals.org, our Facebook page: www.facebook.com/haainc or email us at haa.shelter@yahoo.com.

GREAT MEMORIES...

Friday I floated the river with good friends Gary/Jerry. We ended up with 6 Friday. Jerry and I went in my BEAVER Pond Saturday and got 4. The numbers were not the hunt. IT WAS the many memories I've had on the Hatchie. Saturday I sat in the exact spot where I called my first duck some 50 years ago. Somethings you'll never forget, THAT is one of em. Finally the ice is gone and I can sit in the corner of my duckblind for another 6 days. Thoughts are already gearing towards TURKEY Guiding at Blackwater Hunting Services in Ulmer, South Carolina. Should be bad news for last year's JAKE'S. 2 years olds don't LAST long around us!!! Till next time::: SAFETY FIRST::: HOOT

  - 1/8 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
  - Milk (optional)
  - 1/2 cup whipping cream
  - 1/3 cup shredded American or cheddar cheese

Directions

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. In a covered large saucepan, cook potatoes in enough boiling water to cover for 15 to 20 minutes or until tender. Drain. ## Fifty and (Who's) Counting?

by Jimmy Sadler

Ages and birthdays have never really bothered me. I actually enjoyed turning 40. That birthday was like an odometer reset. Fifty, however, is different. I understand that something fifty years old can be a classic. I don't want people to look at me like they do an antique and exclaim "Hey, honey, remember this, that's a Jimmy. He doesn't look bad, wonder if he still functions?" I'm way past the automobile age to be antique. It's messed with me a bit, mostly because it marks what I have left more than what is behind me. I don't worry as much about a legacy, those are God's not mine to make. I just wonder how I can make use of this time I have to make the lives of others better, to point them more fully to Jesus. If you are reading this, don't get ticked that I'm talking like fifty is nearing the finish line. My hope here lies in relinquishment. It's just I'm heading into the other fifty yards, moving toward the goal post. It's a time to reflect. You have been or will be there, hopefully.

The young deaths of my parents and brother cause me more pause than anything. I realize for years now I could have gone at any moment. I do think about what my absence would mean for my daughters. I have never shied away from showering them with affection. I don't want them to be without one of their coaches and cheerleaders. My peace here comes from relinquishment.

I wish I hadn't worried so long about dying really young. I've stopped worrying about that now. If you have been around more than a few decades, you realize the value of experience. Experience comes only with time. God ascribes value to those years, as we are reminded in Proverbs 16:31 "A gray head is a crown of glory; It is found in the way of righteousness" (NASB). We have an opportunity to grow closer to God. The limber youthfulness gives way to seasoned understanding. If we will relinquish our need to stay young, we can focus our energies on becoming wise. Mitch Albom wrote, "If you're always battling against getting older, you're always going to be unhappy, because it's going to happen anyhow."

I think another concern comes from observing our culture's treatment of older people. We tend to marginalize the older workforce

Sunrise: Sympathy

by David Coy

The Greek root word pathe can mean either "feeling" or "disease," "suffering" or "depraved passion." This word root is the word origin of a number of English vocabulary words, including sympathy, apathy, pathological, and sociopath. An easy way to remember these different meanings is that a sympathetic person "feels" pain with another, whereas a psychopath does twisted things because he has a "diseased" mind. This meaning is understood when we read Philippians 2:1-2, as Christians are to be of the same mind, and that like as Christ in verse 5, thus becoming humble obedient servants. When we are willing to serve to fulfill the needs of another in their journey with grief, we will share their sufferings and thus sympathize with them in their sorrow.

To Understand the depth of true sympathy, not just verbal accolades, we must go back to Christ's impending death on the cross. He asked his disciples if they were able to drink from the cup which he would drink (Matthew 20:22-23). Jesus confirmed their "yes they would". Even the apostle Paul expressed that all things he might gain in this life was counted as refuse compared to the excellency of knowing Christ, and the power of his resurrection and the joint participation of his sufferings, becoming conformed to his death (Philippians 3:8, 10). This meant not merely undergoing physical death like Christ, but conforming to His spirit and temper; that is humility, submissiveness, love and devotion to others.

Thus, to sympathize with another's grief is to be willing to walk with them in their journey and share, feel, suffer with, in their sorrow. People do so because of their love and deep care for others. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcares.com

The Need For Bible Authority #4

Brought to you by the MIDWAY CHURCH OF CHRIST
For a free Bible study appointment, contact Dwain Barnes at (731) 267-7979
Or write to: 19115 HWY 57 Middleton, TN. 38052

As we conclude our study on the need for authority in all we do, let us be reminded of what Jeremiah the prophet said to his own brethren, "Thus says the Lord: "Stand in the ways and see, and ask for the old paths, where the good way is, and walk in it; Then you will find rest for your souls..." (Jeremiah 6:16). Whenever Men get away from the Bible way of doing God's will, it is time to go back to the source and start over. That is what men attempted to do in the Reformation and Restoration Periods in our history (1400's—1900's). When the worship and work of the church gets so corrupted and strays far from the Biblical pattern, we need to look back to the early church for our example of what we need to be today.

We say we do all things in Bible ways, but where is the Bible authority Church Kitchens, Fellowship Halls, Gymnasiums, Family Life Centers, TV Rooms, Pool Tables & Air Hockey (game rooms for Youth Ministers), and adding a Starbucks chain in the church building for those who like premium coffee at a premium? Do those who do such have more in common with the Jews of Jesus' day, when He cast them out of the temple? "And He found in the temple those who were selling oxen and sheep and doves, and the money changers seated at their tables. And He made a scourge of cords, and drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and the oxen; and He poured out the coins of the money changers and overturned their tables; and to those who were selling the doves He said, "Take these things away; stop making My Father's house a place of business." (John 2:14-16) We need to cast out everything that is NOT the work that God gave the church to perform. Cast out the church sponsored and paid for: recreation, entertainment, fun, food, and frolic that only distracts us from our true purposes. The church should be like Nehemiah and NOT detract, "I am doing a great work and I cannot come down. Why should the work stop while I leave it and come down to you?" (Nehemiah 6:3)

Put a Trusted 'Quarterback' on Your Financial Team

On February 4, the eyes of most of the country – and much of the rest of the world – will be on Minneapolis, site of the most-watched football game in the U.S. As a fan, you can admire the way quarterbacks in the Big Game direct their teams. But as an investor, you can learn something from the big game by putting together your own team to help you achieve your financial goals – and you may find it helpful to have your own "quarterback."

Who should be on your team? Your financial strategy will involve investments, taxes and estate planning, so you will likely need a financial advisor, a tax professional and an attorney. Ideally, your financial advisor – the individual with the broadest view of your financial situation – should serve as the quarterback of this team. And, just as a quarterback on a football team must communicate clearly with his teammates, so will your financial quarterback need to maintain consistent contact with the other team members.

Let's look at a couple of basic examples as to how this communication might work.

First, suppose you are self-employed and contribute to a Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) IRA. Because your contributions are made with pre-tax dollars, the more you put in, the lower your taxable income. (In 2018, the maximum amount you can contribute is $55,000.) Your financial advisor can recommend investments you can choose from to help fund your SEP IRA. Yet you will want your financial advisor to share all your SEP IRA information with your tax professional. When it's near tax-filing time, your tax professional can then let you and your financial advisor know how much room you still have to contribute to your SEP IRA for the year, and how much you need to add to potentially push yourself into a lower tax bracket.

Now, let's consider the connection between your financial advisor and your attorney – specifically, your attorney handling your estate planning arrangements. It's essential that you and your financial advisor provide your attorney with a list of all your financial assets – IRAs, 401(k)s, investments held in brokerage accounts, insurance policies and so on. Your attorney will need this information when preparing your important legal documents, such as your will and living trust – after all, a key part of your estate plan is who gets what. But it's imperative that you and your financial advisor convey some often-overlooked details that can make a big difference in the disposition of your estate. For example, your financial advisor might suggest that you review the beneficiary designations on your IRA, 401(k) and life insurance policies to make sure these designations are still accurate in light of changes in your life – new spouse, new children and others. These designations are meaningful and can even supersede the instructions you might leave in your will or living trust. Consequently, it's important for you and your financial advisor to share this information with your attorney.

It can be challenging to meet all your financial objectives. But with the right team in place, and a quarterback to help lead it, you can keep moving toward those goals – and you might cut down on the "fumbles" along the way.

Edward Jones, its employees and financial advisors are not estate planners and cannot provide tax or legal advice. You should consult your estate-planning attorney or qualified tax advisor regarding your situation.

Silerton

Mary Lynn Lambert
609-6455

The Silerton area lost another icon on January 5 when Willadean (Hankins) Rush passed away. People in the Silerton area loved her and considered her to be a dear friend. Her passing took another one of our senior citizens who had spent most of their life in Silerton. Willadean moved to Silerton when she was in the 10th grade. Her mother along with her two daughters, Willadean and Jimmie, moved in with her half-sister, Ozoline Cupples. Joy (Cupples) Freeman recalled how much her family loved this family. Joy said, "Willa seemed more like a sister. She was always a very nice person and people loved being around her." The older generation is a rare breed that we the younger generation need to learn from. Despite several trials in her life, she remained strong and continued to love life. She was able to turn her tough times into a showcase of God's faithfulness. Because she loved and enjoyed people, she continued to work at Kilgore until she was 82 years of age. Everyone that knew her felt uplifted after being in her presence. In spite of suffering a loss of vision due to Shingles, she maintained a very active lifestyle. At the age of 90, Willa still enjoyed going dancing. Doris (McCann) Ervin considered Willadean to be a very dear friend and referred to Willadean as being a very strong person. Doris now resides in St. Louis, but she and Willa talked 2 or 3 times every week. Doris said, "Willa invited people into her home and always made her guests feel welcomed and love." Willadean will certainly be missed.

Sloan Bufford and Wanda Beloin will be exchanging wedding vows Saturday, January 27, at 2:00 pm at the Silerton Baptist Church.

Prayer list: Clyde Beshires, Conon Hall. John Jordan had to return to JMCGRH. Larry Lambert had to be hospitalized at JMCGRH for a few days.

For the next few weeks I am going to have articles remembering some of the former residents of Silerton. Please call if you have a memory you would like to share.

This week Bill Mayfield remembers Mr. Earl Fitts. Bill writes that Mr. Earl was a gentle, kind-hearted man. He and his wife, Miss Opal, were loyal to the Silerton Baptist Church where he was a deacon and she the pianist. Mr. Earl and Miss Opal worked in the general merchandise store owned by his brother J. R. Fitts. Mr. Earl also had a barber shop attached to the store. He used hand-operated clippers that usually pulled the customer's hair during the process. Consequently, haircuts for young boys were not pleasant. Eventually he got electric clippers which eased the pain. The charge for a haircut was 50 cents. Soft drinks were 5 cents as were peanuts, crackers or candy. One time my father gave me one dollar and I rode my bicycle two miles to town for a haircut. I took the liberty to buy a drink and a candy bar. When I got home, I gave him only 40 cents change and he was not happy with me. At that time, like most early teenagers, I had a flat top haircut. Mr. Earl was not good with flat tops. After one haircut, I was so upset that my hair would not stand straight up that I went back and asked him to trim it again. The result was a shorter, unsatisfactory haircut. He had done his best to satisfy me and apologized, but teenagers are often difficult to please.

Howdy from Toone where Mother Nature has been up to her old tricks again. Last week we were dealing with single-digit temps and frozen water pipes, and trying to dig our way out of the ice and snow just to get to a store. Now, a week later, we are enjoying sunny days in the 50's and 60's without a trace of snow anywhere. For me, I was trapped by the icy roads and was unable to leave my house for six long and boring days. The first two days were spent napping, watching movies and eating too much. Over the next three days I cleaned-out and rearranged most every cabinet, drawer and closet in my house. By day six I was so bored that I wound up spending most of the day on my hands and knees scrubbing the tile grout lines in my bathroom. (Needless to say, it was a challenge to walk upright the following morning). I was finally able to break-out of my ice prison and make into town after my days of seclusion, and Toone never looked so good to me! I hope we don't get another snow like that for a long, long time!

At the January meeting of the Toone Board of Aldermen, there was more discussion about new "Welcome To Toone" road signs. Mayor Jones presented the Board with several examples of signs and the approximate costs of construction. His proposal is to have new welcome signs on Hwys. 100 and 138, coming into town from both directions.

The Board will resume discussion on these signs at their next meeting, Tuesday, February 13, at City Hall. These meetings are open to the public, and they urge you to attend.

Another issue discussed at the January meeting was regarding how to make Toone a more attractive and inviting town. One of the main problems we have is the litter on the roadsides. It's hard for me to understand how so many people can feel it's OK to simply throw their trash out of the windows of their cars and onto other people's yards and city property. To me it shows great disrespect toward others.

The easiest way to improve the town's appearance is for every property owner to be responsible for making sure their property is well-kept and free of unsightly debris and litter. Let's all work together to make Toone a more attractive place to visit and a town where people would want to live and raise their families.

Be sure to share your community news with our readers. Until next time . . . talk to your neighbors!

School. Hornsby Baptist Church youth and parents will meet Sunday at 4:00 to start planning missionary trips. Very proud of these young people who go out and work in a community spreading the gospel. The youth will also have a Valentine dinner on February 11th, I will have more information about it next week. There will be a "Super Bowl" get together at the church on February 4th, there will be some great tasting food and a lot of wonderful fellowship. Practice will begin next week for the young children of the church for their Easter program. The "Love Thy Neighbor" and "Operation Christmas Child" will start collecting again in February, we ask for contributions of cans of soup or chili and small notebooks. We appreciate everyone who gives to help Hornsby Baptist with these ministries; it is always a blessing when you can help so many in your community. ## Shelton Elected to Represent Hardeman County

Hardeman County U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Mary Van Barkley announced that County Committee elections are over and the ballots have been counted.

Gerald Andrew Shelton of Bolivar was elected to represent local administrative area (LAA) #2 and Patsy Forrest of Hickory Valley will serve as the first alternate.

"County Committee members are a critical component of the day-to-day operations of FSA," said Barkley. "They help deliver programs at the county level and work to serve the needs of local producers. All recently elected County Committee members will take office in January 2018, and will be joining the existing committee." Every FSA office is required to have a County Committee, and they are made up of local farmers who are elected by local farmers.

Nearly 7,800 FSA County Committee members serve FSA offices nationwide. Each committee has three to 11 elected members who serve three-year terms of office. One-third of County Committee seats are up for election each year. County Committee members impact the administration of FSA within a community by applying their knowledge and judgment to help FSA make important decisions on its commodity support programs, conservation programs, indemnity and disaster programs, emergency programs and eligibility.

County Committee members impact producers through their decision making and help shape the culture of a local FSA office. They also ensure the fair and equitable administration of FSA farm programs in their counties and are accountable to the Secretary of Agriculture. Members conduct hearings and reviews as requested by the State Committee, ensure socially disadvantaged (SDA) farmers and ranchers are fairly represented, make recommendations to the State Committee on existing programs, monitor changes in farm programs and inform farmers of the purpose and provisions of FSA programs. They also assist with outreach and inform underserved producers such as beginning farmers and ranchers about FSA opportunities.

For more information, visit the FSA website at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections or contact the Hardeman County FSA office at 731-658-3227.

Hardeman County Remembered by Lisa Coleman

There are many questions you can ask someone that start those conversations of “remember when”, and a favorite one seems to be sharing school stories and memories. School photos are a way that those memories have been saved for over 100 years now, and always give us a glimpse into those “dear old golden rule days...”

I was one of those children who loved school and loved learning (and still do). Every year getting your school photo made was a big deal, and that would be them photo that all the relatives and friends saw during that year. Later on we would trade those small, small little photos with friends to always remember each other. Three of my school photos always come to mind – the first one, in first grade, which features me with almost all of the teeth in the front of my mouth missing (seriously; I even pulled one of them during church one Sunday night, but that’s a whole other story). It looked like a train had run right through my mouth. A couple of years later in third grade, despite sleeping on those pink sponge rollers (remember those) on a school night, no less, only one side of my long hair was curly – the other side was 1970’s groovy and straight. My senior photo was an experience as it was taken only two days after I got smacked in the face with a volleyball during church music camp. That may have also been the last time I played an organized sport, but again, a musing for another time.

For many years school photos were a group shot, usually made by a traveling photographer. Students and usually the one teacher would line up outside of the school and have photos made. I always love to look at all those sweet little faces and wonder where life took them; occasionally I know the person or the family and have a little information, but more often I’m left to wonder.

Tales from the Yellow House by Lee McAlpin

I have been asked if the Tales From The Yellow House are truth or fiction. They are definitely the truth. I am proud of my country heritage and not ashamed in the least of my country upbringing. It has made me thankful for the little things in life. Now to January at the Yellow house.

It seems like every winter all of us kids would come down with a bad case of the croup, crud, or bad cold as we called it. I don’t know exactly what it was, but it made us feel terrible. I always felt as though I had been run over by a team of mules pulling a wagon load of Bo-Doc logs, or the fancy name Bois d’arc. My nose would run like Niagara Falls, and be as red as Rudolph’s. One minute I would be so hot that I had to change my hippens every so often, and the next minute so cold that I had to put on all of my wardrobe to keep warm. I didn’t comb my hair for days and it looked like a stump full of sick grand-daddies. I tried eating everything from raw sauerkraut to dried apples, and nothing tasted no better than if I had been chewing on an old truck tire.

Mom had a lot of remedies that she forced down our throats during these times of sickness. One of the remedies was that awful smelling, dreadful tasting Castor Oil. She would tell us to hold our noses with our fingers while we were swallowing it. Usually as soon as it reached my stomach, and most times before, it would come back up. I still can’t see how it helped our illness, unless there was some remedy in our repeated marathon races to the outhouse down in the cotton patch. At night, Mom would put a few drops of turpentine, and sometimes coal oil in a spoon of sugar and give it to us. She would get a wool cloth, rub hog lard on it, heat it and place it on our chests at night. We never went to the doctor when we were sick. We depended entirely on home remedies for anything that might beset us. For our coughs, Mom would go into the fields and pull the leaves from a plant that we called rabbit tobacco. She would make a tea from it and we would drink the potion for our coughs. We would also hide and roll us a cigarette with the leaves and smoke it. I do not know the botanical name of the weed. I believe that the Indians called it Life Everlasting. I do know that it helped our coughing. I still go into the fields in the fall and gather a bag or two.

One of the chores, or I should say necessity, that I recall in the winter was the daily treks to the outhouse, or outdoor toilet. We were blessed with a rather sturdy one, even though it leaned somewhat to the north, about on the angle of the leaning Tower Of Pisa, or catty wampus as the old folks use to say. Some people called them outhouses, johns, privies, necessary houses, etc. Some were one holer’s, some were two holer’s, and the fancy ones had two holes on a split level to accomodate both adults and children. Ours at the Yellow House was very simple and was a one holer. I have never been in one of the things in the summer when there wasn’t at least one spider, a red throated lizard, or a sand-streaker. Our little building didn’t have any of the squeezable soft, double quilted tissue, but we did have a well-worn issue of the Sears and Roebuck catalog. There was no half-moon cutout in the door, but there was cracks in the wall that you could throw a grown cat through, and the cold winters wind coming through those cracks would turn your backside into a bright hue of scarlet in a New York minute.

He was born in Memphis, the son of Timmy (Effie) Hall and Deborah Jones (Butch) Lambert and lived a large portion of his life in Hardeman County. A 1999 graduate of Bolivar Central High School, he also had been a resident Adamsville and was most recently living in Selmer.

On September 7, 2014, he was united in marriage to the former Mary Michelle Franks and was a member of God's Church in Corinth, MS. In his leisure time, he enjoyed playing Xbox, caring for his lawn, fishing, hunting, NASCAR and Jeff Gordon, basketball and his three "fur baby" dachshunds.

He leaves his wife, Mary Hall of Selmer; his father and step-mother, Timmy and Effie Hall of Bolivar; his mother and step-father, Deborah and Butch Lambert of Normandy, TN; his sister, Shannon Hall of Bolivar; his three brothers, Michael Hall of Grand Junction, Shawn Kirby of Selmer and Joshua Kirby of Toone; his maternal grandmother, Isabella Jones of Bolivar; nieces and nephews, Sadie, Emma and Addison Hall, Madison, Cameron, Jaxon and Zeeza Kirby; and cousin, Demetrie Burnette.

CECIL ALBERT POTTER SEPTEMBER 8, 1923-JANUARY 16, 2018

Cecil Albert Potter, aged 94, relinquished life to rest in peace on Tuesday, January 16, 2018 at Jackson Madison County General Hospital following a brief illness.

He was born on September 8, 1923 in Flint, Michigan and married his sweetheart in 1950. A man of duty and dignity, he retired from the United States Army Air Force as a First Lieutenant and co-piloted a bomber named "The Liberator" in World War II while stationed in Italy.

Following his service to our great country, Mr. Potter worked for 35 years as an Auto Body Specialist and District Service Manager for General Motors. After retirement, he and his family relocated from Memphis, Tennessee to Middleton, Tennessee where he raised cattle, horses, grandchildren and all in-between on his 90 acre farm. Mr. Potter enjoyed riding horses, making knives and loved airplanes.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p.m. Friday, January 19, 2018 at Shackelford Funeral Directors of Bolivar with Adrian Knipper and Jeremy Burnette officiating. Interment followed in Hebron Cemetery.

This loyal husband, devoted father, and caring grandfather is survived by his loving bride of 67 years Doris Jeane (Trier) Potter; three daughters - Jill (Charles) Howell, Lynne Ellington, and Ruthie (Sammy) Woody; six grandchildren - Matt (Lillie) Howell, Shannon (Jimmy Brown) Russell, Mindy (John David) Meeks, Brianna werner, Bryce Downen, and Aaron Downen. There are also nine great-grandchildren - Abigail and Lexie Robinson, Andru, Blake and Ian Howell, Madison and Mason Darling, Gavin Brown, and Braden Albert Fender. Our favorite quote of his that never failed to be voiced at family gatherings was, "I can't believe I'm responsible for all of this!"

Charitable contributions made in Mr. Potter's memory may be sent to Porter's Creek Baptist Church.

She was born Thursday, May 17, 1928, in Memphis, daughter of the late Milton and Lena Mae Judd Gibson and lived in Memphis and California, prior to moving to Hardeman County in 1983. She enjoyed fishing, sewing and working puzzles, but it made her day to be able to talk to her sisters on the phone. Her family states that she loved them dearly and was very devoted to her church family at County Line Baptist Church, witnessing to everyone she could about God.

Services were at 1:00 p.m. Friday, January 19, 2018 at County Line Baptist Church in Walnut, MS with David Shepherd and Brian Smith officiating. Burial was in County Line Baptist Cemetery. Shackelford Funeral Directors of Bolivar were in charge of arrangements.

Lady Lions Beat Bolivar in Opening Round

Whiteville's Girls and Boys Basketball teams both advanced to the second round of the Area 6-Hardeman County Middle School Basketball championships with wins on January 23 at Bolivar Middle School.

The Lady Lions beat Bolivar 25-14, while the Lions squad beat St. Marys 44-25.

The celebrations were short-lived however, as both Whiteville teams fell in the second round on January 24, bowing out of the tournament. See the Vaughan Oil Scoreboard on A12.

Hardeman County will only have one team represented in the championship games on January 26 as Bolivar's boys victory over Whiteville on January 24 assured themselves of their fifth straight year of appearing in the championship game.

Toone, Hornsby, and Middleton's teams all lost in their opening round games.
