ONE DOLLAR

From the Other Side of the Desk

When I was a kid, I wanted to be a baseball player. A professional one. In the major leagues, the MLB. It didn't work out. But even if it had, I assume at age 53, I'd be retired by now.

And it would be a good thing. Because somebody's Mom has taken over the rules this year. Maybe mine.

First of all, you can't spit. This isn't that big of a deal though. I rarely spit, due to upbringing. As a kid, I was discouraged from spitting. I don't know why, I guess my mom figured whatever was in my mouth was to stay there and if people wanted to see you spit, they could become dentists.

I know without even asking that Mom won't let us chew tobacco, since you can't spit.

On that note, I once took a bet that I couldn't keep a dip in for five minutes without spitting or throwing up. There was a $5 bill on the line. It only took about a minute to pay off and spit out. There may be those out there who can do this, but it wasn't me.

We checked, and mom says you can chew gum. But mom says you can't lick your fingers, wipe sweat with your hand, or whistle with your fingers.

Mom said the signals to steal, bunt, hit and run or anything else can't include touching your face. Mom says if you want someone to take the next pitch, you should just ask nicely. And as far as other common baseball gestures/mannerisms/adjustments go, Mom says you should have gone before you left to go to the ballpark.

Mom says you can't hug or high five or fist bump. Germs.

Mom doesn't want you to argue with the umpires, or at least get within six feet of them to do it. Mom says managers and umpires will meet at home plate before the game, but they won't exchange lineup cards and you can't get within six feet of anyone else. Mom never understood why you would meet anyway. Just start playing so we can get this over with.

If the game needs extra innings, mom ain't gonna wait long. Supper is getting cold. You'll put someone as second base in hopes of getting this over done and over with.

That's most of it. But apparently the "M" in MLB is standing for something else this year.

Picking Up Where They Left Off

Hardeman County Sheriff John Doolen's lawsuit against Mayor Jimmy Sain will continue on June 30, but a lot has changed since the February 27 hearing on the Motion to Set Aside the Consent Order was first heard.

Among the changes is Judge J. Weber McCraw will not continue to preside over the hearing, as requested by Doolen's attorney, Roy Herron of Dresden.

Replacing McCraw will be Tony Childress of the 29th Judicial District. Appointed as Chancellor in 2008, Childress is a UT-Martin graduate (1988) and received his law degree from the University of Memphis in 1992.

McCraw's order of recusal said that while he disputed "many of the assertions for recusal presented by the petitioner (Doolen)" he

In Case You Were Out of Town

In July of 2019, following the passing of the 2019-2020 budget, Hardeman County Sheriff John Doolen sued for more support.

The issue was seemingly settled in October 2019 after Cary and Herron came to an agreement and Cary presented it to the county commission in a special called meeting as the sheriff's department, who originally sought and sued for approximately $1.4 million dollars, settled for $102,000.

At the October 8 meeting, the vote went 13-1 in favor of ending the lawsuit with the settlement.

While both sides claimed lack of adherence to the settlement terms, Attorney Amber Griffin Shaw filed a Motion to Set Aside the Consent Order on behalf of Sain on February 10, citing numerous problems with the consent order, including a delay in respondent's filing of a response, the lack of a hearing within a reasonable time frame, and fees that they felt were extraordinarily high in the case.

Prior to the hearing, Shaw said an offer was made to settle the case without the hearing, but it was declined.

would step aside "...in order to avoid any appearance of personal bias or prejudice in this matter."

Another change is that there is a whole new budget to deal with.

In July of this year, the Hardeman County Commission passed the 2020-2021 budget, with numbers for the sheriff's department very much alike the figures that triggered the lawsuit in 2019. Doolen has thirty days from the passage of the budget (June 16) to file an objection.

Also, it is unknown if the resumption of the hearing will attempt to clear up the perceived inconsistencies in the testimonies of Sain and Cary on February 27 (see inset), which appear to have very little to do with the actual substance of the motion in question.

The June 30 hearing will take place in either Bolivar City Hall or the county courthouse, as the Hardeman County Criminal Justice Center is not available on that date.

Arts Council Releases Schedule

The Hardeman County Arts Council announced their 2020-2021 season, reaching back into the 2019-2020 schedule to begin things.

A Bad Year for Tomatoes, postponed by the COVID-19 pandemic, will be the first production of the 2020-2021 season, running August 27, 28, 29 at 7:00 p.m. and August 30 at 2:00 p.m.

The season will continue with Ronald Dahl's Willy Wonka JR. December 4 and 5 at 7:00 p.m. and December 6 at 2:00 p.m.; and an Egyptian Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre will February 11, 12 and 13, 2021 with Dinner at 6:00 p.m. and performance at 7:00 p.m.

Fiddler on the Roof JR. will conclude the season in with performance dates of June 4-5 at 7:00 p.m. and June 6 at 2:00 p.m.

All productions and dates are tentative pending the approval of rights and COVID-19 guidelines. Audition dates will be announced at a future date.

County Scavenger Hunt Begins

This spring's Hardeman Healthy Outreach BE MORE spring activities were delayed due to stay-at-home orders. One of those activities was a scavenger hunt organized by task force member, Brittney Willis (see photo). The scavenger hunt started this week and runs through Wednesday, July 1.

"Even though we all need to be persistent with social distancing and other COVID-19 prevention measures, folks can get out and take advantage of being outdoors for physical activity. People can walk to some of these locations by parking in one spot and walking," said Amy Elizer, UT Extension specialist.

All eight posters and banners are located in Bolivar at a place somehow connected with improving or protecting good health. Most of the items are outside or can be seen from the outside. Participants should not go inside facilities. The hints are available on the @BeMoreHardeman Facebook page or by emailing aelizer@utk.edu. Once participants collect all eight selfies, they should take their phone to the UT-TSU Extension office, 210 Vildo Road, during normal business hours for verification of the locations. BE MORE t-shirts sponsored by the organizations hosting an item are available one per winning family while supplies last.

This project is funded by the CDC's High Obesity Program (HOP) and is working with The University of Tennessee Extension to improve access to food and physical activity opportunities throughout Hardeman County, as well as local sponsors. For more information, email Amy Elizer (aelizer@utk.edu), call UT Extension at 658-2421, or find and like @BeMoreHardeman, the project's Facebook page.

There will be wrestling at 108 Henderson St., Friday night at 7 p.m. on the outside under the stars. Come on out and enjoy a good family outing.

Joan Henderson submitted funny for the week: A blonde and a redhead have a ranch. They have just lost their bull. The women need to buy another, but only have $500. The redhead tells the blonde, "I will go to the market and see if I can find one for under that amount. If I can, I will send you a telegram." She goes to the market and finds one for $499. Having only one dollar left, she goes to the telegraph office and finds out that it costs one dollar per word. She is stumped on how to tell the blonde to bring the truck and trailer. Finally, she tells the telegraph operator to send the word "comfortable." Skeptical, the operator asks, "How will she know to come with the trailer from just that word?" The redhead replies, "She's a blonde so she reads slow: 'Come for ta bull.'"

Good day, friends and neighbors from the friendly town of Toone! I hope all of you Dad's out there had a good Father's Day with your families. Mine was a most memorable weekend being with my daughter and my two perfect grandchildren. We spent a few days together at Pickwick Lake boating, tubing, sightseeing and enjoying several of the local restaurants. It was a very special time for this Grand Bubbie!

Mark your calendars, and make your plans to come out and join your neighbors for the annual Toone Fire & Police Department's 4th of July Fireworks & Family Fun, Saturday, July 4. Come early for the live music starting at 6 p.m., and stay for the fireworks show beginning at dark. Food vendors will be on-site for your convenience. Bring the entire family, and come join us for an evening of music, food and fun!

Toone Baptist Church will resume it's Bible Study at the church, Wednesday evening, June 24 at 6:00 p.m. Tentative plans are being considered to resume Sunday School classes at the church, Sunday, August 2, but this date is subject to change. The church also announced that there will be no Vacation Bible School at TBC this year.

Please keep Erich & Mary Katherine Vonpotts's in your thoughts and prayers. Erich has been deployed to Japan for six months, and unfortunately, Mary Katherine was not allowed to go with him. Mary Katherine is the daughter of, Bob & Lisa Higgs, of Toone. Please join me in thanking Erich for his service to our country.

The Chism Family celebrated the life of their Brother, Mr. Joe Edward Chism, who passed away recently. Joe was a loving and devoted family man and a person who was always there to lend a helping hand to those in need. His Brother, Aaron, told me that Joe encouraged him and pushed he and his family members to always work hard and do their best. Joe will be missed by everyone that knew and loved him.

I believe we can all agree that the unsightly trash littering our county roads has become a public nuisance. This problem is evident on every state and county road. I do not have an answer on how to stop it, but I do believe it will take action from local residents to keep it under control. My sister, Mary, her husband, Terry, and myself, took action to do something about this terrible situation out here on Cloverport and Tyson Roads and at the same time we were able to help a local family whose jobs have been affected by the Covid-19 pandemic. We offered the job of picking-up the trash on these roads to a father and his two young sons who live on our road, and they gladly accepted the opportunity to work. They are good people who appreciated our help. There are others out there who I'm certain would be willing to work picking-up trash. If anyone out there is interested in helping to furnish financial resources or donate garbage sacks to pick up trash, please contact me at the number above and we can make arrangements. I would like to see everyone who lives out here in the Toone area take an interest in cleaning-up our roads and helping our neighbors at the same time.

Our good friend and neighbor, Miss Betty Stewart, would like us to join her in sending a BIG Happy 70th Birthday wish to her Daughter, Jeannie Northcott Young, who celebrates her special day, June 6. Happy Day to you, Jeannie!

A big shout out to Carolyn (Chandler) Vales for sharing some memories that a lot of us can relate to.

She entitled her memory, "Choppin' Cotton." She writes, "It was a long time ago. But, old as I am, on these hot summer days, the memory of how I spent my summers long ago comes back to me. No, it wasn't lying on the beach in Florida, or swimming in the pool. When I was a kid, we spent our summers chopping cotton. We had to get up as the sun was rising on the horizon, eat breakfast and get dressed. Then we headed for the cotton patch. We hoed the long rows of cotton from dawn to dusk in the blazing hot sun, only stopping for lunch and an occasional cool drink of water waiting for us in a gallon jug resting under the inviting shade tree at the end of the cotton row. We kids prayed for rain a lot in those days. Some of our friends, whose Dad's profession was not cotton farmer, chopped for us to make extra money. They did not get rich though. As I remember, the going rate for a day of chopping cotton was about three dollars a day. That is a lot more than we made. Daddy would say, 'You eat, don't you?' so, that was the end of that. It was very hard work. But, as I reminisce, I realize it was a pretty good life. We had fun walking and talking with our friends and siblings as we went up and down those rows of cotton. Many friendships were developed during those summers of long ago and still exist to the day. Also, we got plenty of sunshine and exercise. We learned what real work was all about. Most of all, we learned to contribute and work together as a family."

Last week as my grandchildren and I sat around the pool, I shared some of these same thoughts with them. I will be forwarding this article to them to help them understand just how different it is today versus my childhood.

If you enjoyed reading Carolyn's memories, please call and share some of your news, thoughts or memories so we can stay connected.

FAITH

Suffering as a Christian

by Jeff Capshaw

The Apostle Peter is a favorite New Testament character for many. He wasn't highly educated, and he was brash, bold, and rough. Peter was a simple fisherman. Yet, in the providence of God, he wrote two New Testament letters that bear his name (I and II Peter). In both he wrote to people who were undergoing persecution and difficult times in their lives. Sound familiar?

One author described the background to I Peter this way. He probably wrote the letter from Rome A.D. 62-63 during Nero's reign. The letter is addressed to Christians scattered in "Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia" (1:1). This is an area north of the Taurus Mountains in Asia Minor (modern-day Turkey). These territories had been impacted by Greco-Roman culture and had been under Roman control from the mid-first century B.C.

A key theme in the book entails enduring with hope during persecution, during suffering. That is easily applicable today, although few American Christians undergo real persecution. Nonetheless, it isn't exaggerating to suggest that these are hard times, and they cause various forms and intensity levels of suffering. What does Peter have to say about that?

"Beloved, do not be surprised at the fiery trial when it comes upon you to test you, as though something strange were happening to you. But rejoice insofar as you share Christ's sufferings, that you may also rejoice and be glad when his glory is revealed. If you are insulted for the name of Christ, you are blessed, because the Spirit of glory and of God rests upon you. But let none of you suffer as a murderer or a thief or an evildoer or as a meddler. Yet if anyone suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God in that name" (1 Peter 4:12-16).

Several brief lessons are embedded here. First, especially for a comfort society like ours, don't be surprised when hard times come; that's just life and not strange. A second theological lesson is this. When believers suffer, they share in the sufferings of Christ. Paul says this in 1 Corinthians 12:26: "if one member suffers, all suffer together; if one member is honored, all rejoice together." Thus, believers are never truly alone in hard times, although it may feel like it.

Third, since believers are going to suffer at some point in life, Peter urges them to not suffer for wrong behavior. Rather, genuine hope and God's grace come when believers suffer unjustly but patiently, even during circumstances beyond their control or simply for being a Christian.

Remember that believers one day will sing and truly agree with America's poet, Bob Dylan. "Tis the song, the sign of the weary. Hard times, hard times, come again no more. Many days you have lingered all around my cabin door. Oh hard times, come again no more."

Finally, "and after you have suffered a little while, the God of all grace, who has called you to his eternal glory in Christ, will himself restore, confirm, strengthen, and establish you" (1 Peter 5:10).

Sobriety Checkpoint Notification

Tennessee Law Enforcement: Working Overtime to Keep Roads and Highways Safe from Impaired Drivers.

Law Enforcement officials with the Bolivar Police Department, the Whiteville Police Department, and the Hardeman County Sheriff's Department will be out in force cracking down on impaired drivers. These Law Enforcement Agencies, working under a grant administered through the Tennessee Department, Tennessee Highway Safety Office will hold a sobriety checkpoint on July 3, 2020 between the hours of 8 p.m. and 12 a.m. on West Market Street in Bolivar.

Driving impaired or riding with someone who is driving impaired is not worth the risk. Not only do you risk your life and the lives of others, but also the trauma and financial cost incurred from a crash or arrest for driving while impaired can be significant.

"The time and energy that our officers dedicate to the highly visible checkpoints will not be wasted", said Bolivar Police Mike Jones. "If you are driving while impaired you will be caught, arrested and prosecuted."

In Spite Of #2 by David Coy

Last week we were reminded of the value of a perspective to live by. People were grieved greatly at Paul's at the reality of his imprisonment. Yet, in spite of his being unjustly incarcerated, and their sorrow with regard to Paul's circumstance, he said it was all a matter of perspective (implied). He informed them that he was introduced to opportunities he would not have had otherwise. Thus, his circumstances had turned out to his benefit and therefore too theirs. We then were reminded that we should have a Priority to live by. There may be people we see on the news or in our community that do not live by honorable principles and values. The life lesson that we need to remember is that we do not have control over how other people behave, but we do have control over how we respond. Our values and principles should always be of truth and that is obtained by evidence. This week we are reminded of our Power we should live on. Paul gained much of his coping ability through prayers, in part from the people to whom he wrote this letter. They received comfort and strength and he did likewise. We gain much support from others in spite of our less than desired circumstances. Paul had a belief that there was a brighter tomorrow in the future. We need to believe in brighter days in the future also. Finally, we may remember that we need to have a Purpose to live for. Sometimes when we find ourselves in our journey with grief or in difficult circumstances we may lose sight of our purpose in life and begin to question. I had a client years ago who was struggling mightily with her purpose now that her husband was deceased. I attempted to convince her that she had plenty of family and others that still needed her. Paul was certain, we can be also. This is Sunrise Aftercare, sunrise@sfdcares.com

Can You Lower Your "Reliance Rate" During Retirement?

If you have decades to go until you retire, you don't need to panic over volatile financial markets – you have plenty of time to regain lost ground and potentially achieve more growth in your investment portfolio. But what if you are nearing retirement or already retired? After all, you will probably need to draw on your investments to pay for some of the costs associated with housing, food and the many other expenses you incur in daily life. So, is a down market cause for alarm?

It shouldn't be. And you can help reduce your stress level by understanding your "reliance rate." As its name suggests, your reliance rate tells you how much you rely on your portfolio – rather than other sources, such as Social Security or a pension – to meet your income needs during retirement. So, for example, if you need $60,000 each year, and $40,000 comes from your portfolio, your reliance rate is 66 percent.

Your reliance rate can influence your emotions and investment behavior. A higher reliance rate may tempt you to make emotional decisions during a market decline, since your portfolio is supplying more of your needs. However, if you respond to a steep market drop by making dramatic changes to your portfolio, you may actually increase the likelihood that your money may not last. This is especially true if you move a large portion of your portfolio to cash, as cash does not typically provide growth potential to help keep up with inflation.

There is no "recommended" reliance rate for everyone. But, as a general rule, the higher your reliance rate, the more sensitive your portfolio may be to fluctuations in investment prices. What can you do, then, to either lower this rate or, at least, moderate the risk level attached to it? Here are some suggestions:

Adjust your expenses. During retirement, some of your expenses, such as commuting and other costs associated with work, will go down, but others – particularly health care – will go up. You can't control all these expenses, but the more you can keep them under control, the less pressure there will be on your investment portfolio to provide you with income.

Review your plans for Social Security. You can file for Social Security benefits as early as 62, but your monthly checks will then be reduced by about 30 percent from what you'd receive if you waited until your full retirement age, which is likely between 66 and 67. You can receive even more if you wait until 70, at which point your benefits will "max out." So, if you can afford to push back the date at which you start taking Social Security, you could lower your reliance rate.

Keep cash and short-term investments in your portfolio. Try to keep about one year's worth of living expenses in cash or cash equivalents, and about three to five years' worth of expenses in certificates of deposit and other short-term income-producing vehicles. Having these assets available can help you avoid liquidating long-term investments when their prices are down.

Your investment portfolio will certainly be a key source of your retirement income. And by understanding how reliant you are on your portfolio, and the options you have for reducing this reliance, the better prepared you'll be to withstand the inevitable market downturns.

Dance Offers Fishing Trip for Conservation Donation

An angler's dream fishing trip with the legendary Bill Dance is one of the outstanding packages available for a lucky winner in the 2020 Tennessee Conservation Raffle sponsored by the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Foundation.

The fishing package is one of the seven, priceless outdoor experience adventures put together this year by the TWRF. The winner will be treated to a 1-day, 6-hour trip with one of America's most recognized fishermen. Mr. Dance has generously donated the trip and depending on the time of year and his schedule, the trip could be fishing for Mississippi River catfish, jigging for crappie or going after largemouth bass in one of West Tennessee's many lakes.

In addition to the fishing trip, the winner will receive an Ascend 12T Sit-on Top Kayak, a fishing kayak so stable, anglers can stand up and cast from it. In addition, the winner will receive a Bass Pro Shops gift card valued at $1,000 that can be used for online purchases, catalog orders, and purchases at any Bass Pro Shops or Cabela's retail store.

Formerly known as the Elk Tag Raffle, this year's Conservation Raffle has opportunities for everyone whether a hunter, fisherman, camper, or lover of the outdoors. One hundred percent of the funds from the raffle goes to support wildlife habitat restoration.

In addition to the fishing package, other packages available this year include an elk hunting package including a tag to participate in the 2020 Tennessee elk hunt; deer hunting package including a deer hunt on Presidents Island with crossbow and gear; off-road package with a 2020 Honda Pioneer UTV; turkey hunting package including gun and participation in the Governor's One Shot Turkey Hunt; waterfowl hunting package; and a camping package. All the packages feature additional items and a complete list of the prizes can be found at <https://raffle.twrf.net/>.

A single ticket is $20, three tickets for $50, and 10 for $100 and are on sale now until Aug. 16. There is no limit to the number of raffle tickets that can be purchased and the more tickets you buy, the better opportunity you have of grabbing one of the packages. Raffle tickets may be purchased online directly at <https://raffle.twrf.net/>.

The winning tickets will be drawn live this year at the August meeting of the Commission which will be held in Kingsport. The seven winners will be drawn for the seven great packages. The first person drawn will get to select the prize package they prefer. The next person drawn will select their package and the process will continue until all seven packages are selected.

TWRF is a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting habitat conservation, responsible land stewardship, and Tennessee's hunting and fishing heritage for the benefit of the Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency and Tennessee's outdoor enthusiasts.

TWRA Offers Q&A on Fishing

The Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency will host three Facebook Live events in July to talk with anglers and get feedback about fishing in Tennessee. The three events will be generally focused on east, middle, and west regions of the state and general comments or questions will be taken prior or during any meeting.

TWRA welcomes the public to provide any comments or questions in advance of the events to ask.twra@tn.gov, or on Facebook or Instagram via direct message prior to and during the events. "We want to hear what people are experiencing on the water, what they like and don't like, and any questions they might have," said Frank Fiss, TWRA Fisheries chief. "We will have our local Fisheries managers available to answer questions during the event do our best to answer questions live."

The schedule of public meetings are as follows and can all be watched live on Facebook or can be watched the recording afterward on any of our social media channels:

- July 9 - 6:30 p.m. (CDT) to discuss fishing in Middle Tennessee.
- July 14 - 6:30 p.m. (CDT) to discuss fishing in West Tennessee.
- July 16 - 5:30 p.m. (CDT) to discuss fisheries in East Tennessee.

All meetings can easily be attended virtually and seen live on Facebook at www.facebook.com/tnwildlife/. The TWRA encourages everyone to watch live and send in questions or comments before or during the meeting. There is no other option to attend these meetings due to COVID-19 restrictions on gatherings and social distancing requirements.

Moments with the Mayor: COMMUNITY

Have you ever noticed that the word community ends with UNITY? A commUNITY is defined as a group of people in the same place or having a particular characteristic in common; a feeling of fellowship with others as a result of sharing common attitudes, interests and goals. Unity is defined as the state of being united or joined as a whole. In mathematics, unity is defined as the number one. A commUNITY, however, is not based on one person, thing, or idea. A commUNITY is the uniting of its people as one.

Paul Bryant said, "In order to have a winner, the team must have a feeling of unity; every player must put the team first – ahead of personal glory." A quarterback cannot be a "good" quarterback without receivers to catch the football. A receiver cannot be a "good" receiver without a quarterback who can launch the perfect pass at the perfect time. Both need protection and help from their offensive line. The offensive line works together, as a unit, for a common goal – the touchdown. The defensive line works as a unit for the common goal of preventing a touchdown. Together, the team works as a unit for the common goal of winning the game. Every player, every position, of equal importance.

Similarly, a city is just a geographical location without its people, and commUNITY is just a word without the unity of its people. Every person, every business, every job of equal importance.

Let's face it, 2020 has not been a good year. Our country has been hit by storms, a pandemic, stay-at-home orders, business shutdowns, staggering unemployment, financial crisis, panic purchasing, violence, riots, and looting.

In my eyes, though, the city of Bolivar has established itself as a commUNITY. Through all of this, I have seen many good things happening in our commUNITY this year. Individuals, groups, and organizations have been pulling together to help with school lunch delivery, mobile food banks, a community garden, even virtual game night. We have been purchasing through drive-through windows, by curbside delivery, buying gift cards, purchasing from restaurants through food distribution trucks; redefining our business models temporarily; all to ensure the continued vibrance of our commUNITY. You – the citizens of Bolivar - have helped these businesses to re-open.

For that, my fellow commUNITY members, I am thankful for each and every one of you. It takes all of us, working together, to make a successful commUNITY. We are almost halfway through 2020. Let's finish this year STRONG, as one, UNITED as a true commUNITY.

Softball Getting Ready for 2021

The Bolivar Central Lady Tigers began their push for the 2021 season and began practices in late June, but a vote by the Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association (TSSAA) stopped things for a couple of weeks on June 22.

Practice is suspended due to the TSSAA "Dead Period" but the two week time will end July 5.

Bolivar Central Softball's season was cut short in 2020 due to COVID-19 after only two games, killing the momentum after a very successful 2019.

The 2019 season was the best in memory for the Lady Tigers, as they advanced to the substate, falling to perennial powerhouse Lexington.

After the season, Manager Dylan Hill resigned to take a position as a youth pastor, giving way to Kim Emerson, who also serves as the Volleyball Coach at Bolivar Central High School.

Magic Worms:::

LJ (Larry Joe) and I had told Emma for weeks, wait till the Ka-Ta-B (Catalpa) worms arrive. The "Light Switch" for catfishing in the Hatchie, will be on big time. Emma now is a firm believer in their magic. Most everyone that rod/reel fishes for catfish know this is the bait of choice although here only a short time each year, the search for this worm is constant.

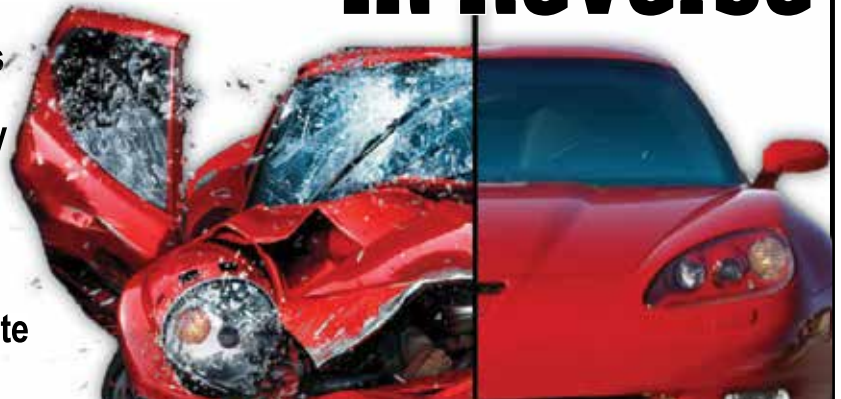

The Hatchie has fallen drastically, safety is a must. New trees have fallen in and boaters hopefully take all precautions. If you're lucky enough to get these Magic worms, a fish fry is almost a sure thing!
