From the Other Side of the Desk

An open letter to "Chester Farnsworth":

In response to your letter to the editor on May 31, 2019, we have one objection.

We don't think Chester Farnsworth is your real name. And when you write a letter to the paper, you have to be an actual person, not just someone hiding behind what seems to be a fake name.

Now, we aren't 100% sure. just 99.8% or so. Chester Farnsworth is not on Facebook or Twitter. Google says Chester Farnsworth was a fictional character on Petticoat Junction, but that's all we got.

Hey, Chester, Uncle Joe says the Shady Rest Hotel is missing a few towels...

Chester Farnsworth is not registered to vote in Hardeman County, he does not a have a car tagged in Hardeman County, and he is not listed as a property owner in Hardeman County. Chester Farnsworth is not a subscriber to the Bolivar Bulletin Times.

His letter was interesting. And while we don't necessarily share his views, we were going to print them. After all, the exchange of ideas is part of what a newspaper provides.

Want to send us something? The rules are pretty simple: We'd like it to be less than 350 or so words. We'd like, if it identifies a problem, to propose a solution as well. You can't call someone names without saying why you are calling them names and what they are doing needs to add up to the names they are being called. And, as always, your mother-in-law is off limits. Trust me on that one. It comes back to bite you.

You can complain about government, garbage pickup, or the designated hitter. You can weigh in on saving polar bears versus the depleting baby seals population or tell us about how great something/someone/ somewhere is.

But you gotta give your real name. Such as... Darrell Teubner, Editor

Surfer Presents:

The Gas Problem, Part

While the Hardeman County Commission passed the budget unanimously on the first reading in May, Hardeman County Sheriff John Doolen hopes the second reading will attract a little more discussion.

"They (the budget committee) are proposing cutting our budget for next year," said Doolen. "No new cars. Car maintenance money was cut in half."

In early May, the sheriff's department had to move money around to have gasoline available as the department budget line ran out.

As the issue became public, the gasoline line item shortfall was fixed with a budget amendment that took money from other department line items, but with months to go in the fiscal year, more money will be needed.

"Gasoline is up 26% this year," said Doolen,

"And we were cut 14% from last year's total. There is not enough money for gasoline. There wasn't from the start, even if gasoline prices had stayed the same."

And with money pulled from other department line items to foot the bill for the gasoline, Doolen says they are having to be patient on taking care of other needed expenditures.

"We're having to wait until July and the new fiscal year to make some basic repairs, building maintenance, air conditioning, and plumbing. The only things we are spending money on right now are things that have to be done for safety issues, like tires for cars."

The sheriff's department's request for fiscal year 2019-2020 was (Department and Workhouse combined) $3.96 million, up about $1.3 million from the previous year. The budget million, which comes in $98,534 less than what was approved for 2018-2019. The Sheriff's request of $165,000 for gasoline will be answered with $100,000 if the budget is approved on the second reading with no changes.

The biggest chunk of the disparities between the budget committee and the sheriff's department can be found in the deputies line item which finds the budget committee offering $719,274 versus the Sheriff's $1,433,280 request, guards ($685,228 vs. $1,006,192) and motor vehicles ($0 vs. $237,000).

The second reading of the Hardeman County Budget is scheduled to take place June 18 at 7:00 p.m. in the Hardeman County Courthouse Courtroom. A public hearing will precede the vote by the County Commission.

Chief Price Wins Leadership Award

Bolivar Fire Chief Lynn Price won the African American Conference Outstanding Leader Award during the WestStar Leadership Program's Annual African American Leadership Conference, held May 7 in Jack-

Price was also named Fire Chief of the Year by the Tennessee Fire Chief's Association in 2016. He has been specifically recognized for his work to make Bolivar the only city in Tennessee to be called a Firewise Community by the National Fire Protection Program in 2015.

The Outstanding Leader Award is given by WestStar each year to recognize the work of a local leader who has made a positive impact on his or her city or county during the past year. The nominee must have a strong record of leadership during the past five years in West Tennessee and be an active participant in the African American Leadership

Attorneys Give Back to Community

Justices of the Tennessee Supreme Court celebrated the month of April by promoting pro bono legal services with practicing attorneys throughout Tennessee.

The Hardeman Country Bar Association, for the second year, hosted a free legal clinic to help the people of Hardeman County.

The purpose was to expunge charges that were dismissed in the past but remain on the record which interferes with being hired by employers that run background checks during the hiring process. The Tennessee Supreme Court's Access to Justice Commission encouraged the partnership of West Tennessee Legal Services and the Hardeman County Bar Association to participate in a free expungement clinic in order to fulfill its mission.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Silerton Mary Lynn Lambert 609-6455 Barbara Lambert, Joseph and Rachel traveled to Bugtussle, KY to attend homecoming services. Harold and Mary Wilson from Indianapolis, IN met them there

609-6455 On Tuesday, May 21, Steve and Linda (Hatch) Russell traveled to Branson, MO for a few days. While there, they attended a production of Samson. One night they enjoyed the Dolly Parton Stampede dinner show. While they were relaxing with an ice cream treat at Mel's Diner, they enjoyed the singing waitresses.

Recently Frankie and I spent two nights in Gatlinburg, TN and then traveled to Myrtle Beach, SC for some relaxation on the beach.

The Tri-State Flywheelers Antique Tractor Club passed through Silerton on May 18. Mack Carter, Mayor of Hornsby who organized this event, provided refreshments to accompany their lunches. They enjoyed lunch under the new picnic pavilion at the Holly Beshires Memorial Park. There were approximately 10-12 antique tractors along with a 1948 Chevrolet Service truck that had been fully restored traveling in the parade. The club was escorted on main highways by a Hardeman County Sheriff Deputy.

Anyone that has any connection with Silerton has heard about the baseball and basketball games. Silerton Junior High Basketball team won many trophies for many years until the junior high school closed and the students either went to Bolivar Central High or Chester County High School. Bill Siler shared his memories about how good both the baseball and basketball players were. In 1950, four girls who had to transfer to Bolivar Central made the starting lineup at Bolivar Central. To have four of their players make the lineup was quite an accomplishment. Those four girls were Jolene Siler, Claudean Hankins, Faye Stewart and Patty Rush Siler. Bill recalled that his last year to play at Silerton, their team was undefeated that season.

The late J. L. Beshires took it on himself to try to organize and head up a baseball team in the 1950's. As he and his team grew older, the next generation took up their positions. Bill Siler followed in J. L.'s steps and acted as captain of the team. As that generation finished school and moved from the Silerton area, they continued to return to Silerton so they could play ball on Sunday afternoon. Sherman Wilson had started a teaching position in Memphis. He connected with a Memphis ball team that expressed interest in playing the Silerton team. The Silerton boys felt that they were doing great because they were going to play in Memphis. Luke Alexander was working at Maxwell's Big Star in Bolivar. He was able to secure financial support from several of the salesmen that he worked with. Not only did they provide money for supplies, they donated enough to buy uniforms for the team. The biggest accomplishment I heard about the team was Joe Rush struck out 18 hitters in one game. Sad news was they lost the game. J. L. then agreed to coach high school boys from the Silerton area who were anxious to start their career in ball. Bill related also how Jimmy Cupples was playing with the Chester County High School team. A professional scout was interested in seeing him play but the day the scout was going to observe, they were scheduled to play in Cloverport in a cow pasture. Of course, Jimmy was unable to perform at his best because of the rough ball field. Even now those players love to share their memories.

Mr. Randy Crews, chairperson of HCCBH, and all the commission members cordially invite the public to share in this history-making event.

Juneteenth, an abbreviated form of "June Nineteenth", marks the day (June 19, 1865) that Blacks in Texas received word of President Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation freeing slaves in the South. It is the oldest celebration of the ending of slavery. Juneteenth Celebrations commemorate African - American freedom. Today, the emphasis is on education, achievement and living with others in multicultural America.

BAM!!····

Last Friday LJ (Larry Joe) and I hit the Hatchie. Limb lines produced two nice catfish. We had rod/reels and bait ready for action. And did we "ever" have it. It was close to unbelievable the way catfish were attacking our lines. How can you beat the Hatchie for Memories!! I have volumes from it and many more to come. As you read this "I'll be back on it making more". Beaches and lakes are fine, my vacations are at my back door. I do have to mention:: if you're going on the Hatchie, use extreme caution, trees/new sandbars are everywhere in the river, and Mr. No Shoulders (snakes) had a very good breeding season!!

Watermelon Cooler

Ingredients

3 cups coarsely chopped seeded watermelon 3/4 cup sugar

1/2 cup lightly packed fresh mint leaves

2 cups white grape juice 1 teaspoon finely shredded lime peel

3/4 cup fresh lime juice, chilled

32 ounce (4 cups) club soda, chilled Fresh mint sprigs (optional)

Watermelon wedges or balls (optional)

Directions Place watermelon in a blender or food processor. Cover and blend until smooth. Strain watermelon puree through a fine mesh sieve; discard pulp.

In a large bowl combine sugar and mint. Using the back of a wooden spoon, lightly crush mint by pressing it against the side of the bowl. Add grape juice, lime peel, lime juice, and watermelon puree, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Stir in club soda. Serve in glasses over ice. If desired, garnish with mint sprigs and watermelon wedges or balls. Serve immediately. Makes 9 servings.

FAITH

Jesus as God, Part 3 by Jeff Capshaw

In the past two articles, I discussed the deity of Christ. Although a mystery, it is no less mysterious than the infinitely small, sub-atomic world that theoretical physicists claim exists. In fact, there are numerous mysteries regarding the largescale parts of the known universe

For example, according to NASA, "it turns out that roughly 68% of the universe is dark energy. Dark matter makes up about 27%. The rest of everything on Earth, everything ever observed with all of our instruments, all normal matter, adds up to less than 5% of the universe" (nasa.gov). Even so, cosmologists and physicists know next to nothing about the dark matter and dark energy. Yes, they believe it exists. As a result, I have argued that, just because our experiences can't relate to or explain things, it doesn't necessarily mean that they are either non-existent or false.

Some maintain that only physical things exist. They ruleout theological truths from the start: like those in Scripture materialist their because worldview dismisses Thus, no sufficient arguments or evidence will ever convince them of the Bible's claims. That is the work of the Holy Spirit.

On the other hand, Christians do believe in the deity of Christ, because they believe that Scripture is the very Word of God. For example, in part one, I discussed John 1 and the Incarnation. "In the beginning was the Word, . . . and the Word was God" (v.1). In part two, I discussed John 12:4. There John equates Jesus with the God of the Old Testament. He said, "Isaiah said these things because the saw [Jesus] his glory and spoke of him" [Jesus].

Now, moving to the book Acts, it contains one of the earliest statements on the divinity of Jesus. In his Pentecost sermon, Peter told the audience that God planned to deliver up to crucifixion the same Jesus who performed miracles among them. Yet, God also raised him from the dead. Peter then quotes Psalm 16 and interprets it with a clear application to Jesus. Essentially, he said, David is dead and buried, but he [David] foresaw and spoke about the resurrection of the Christ. . ." (Acts 2:25-28). Peter goes on to cite Psalm 110, "The Lord said to my Lord, sit at my right hand, until I make your enemies your footstool."" What does this mean? Peter explains that David didn't ascend into heaven, but Jesus did on Ascension Day (40 days after Easter). Therefore, David—1000 years before Christ—spoke about the crucified and buried Messiah that "was not abandoned to Hades [the grave], nor did his flesh see

In conclusion, Peter's final point is this; "Let all the house of Israel therefore know for certain that God has made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified" (2:36). Thus, Jesus, the long-awaited Messiah of Israel is the LORD Himself: the God-Man, the same God of the Old Testament whom Isaiah saw in the temple.

Sunrise: Succeed by David Coy

It is common for a person on their journey with grief when dealing with multiple grief experiences to feel overwhelmed. When this is felt it is possible to also feel one cannot take or endure any more. When I hear this I usually exhort that we are stronger than we perceive. People will even say they cannot endure more and then say, but God will not give us more than we can handle and If God brings us to it, he will see us through it. When we do believe that we are at our limit this is when we will need to rely upon three ingredients in a recipe for success that can help us cope, endure and succeed through every challenge and obstacle in life. Life can be difficult but not impossible to overcome our varying traumatic losses.

The first ingredient is discipline. This is different to motivation. Motivation is feeling up to doing this or that. Discipline is doing what is needed and or doing what is proper and right even when you do not feel like it. A depressed person may not feel like getting out of bed, but it is proper and right to do so every morning. Feelings can be unreliable as in Acts 23:1, but discipline reaches beyond our feelings and allows our rational mind to lead and dictate.

Second ingredient is humility. It takes this characteristic to allow others to assist us or for us to recognize our need for help. Even Jesus washed the feet of his disciples in John 13:5. I had more than one person say they were previously always the one to care for others when now they were the one in need of others caring for them. Third ingredient is responsibility. It is important with all our decisions and behaviors to take ownership of them along with any consequences that go with them. This is to succeed, cope with trouble and strife in life. Rotary Wins 10U League

Rotary won five of their last six games, including a 10-3 win over Bolivar Credit in the final game, to win the 10U league with an 8-4 record. Rotary beat Bolivar Credit twice in the final week to overcome a one-game deficit.

On the final night of the 8U season, Toth Tinting (7-5) beat Hooper Sawmill (6-6) 12-8 to win the league after starting the season with four consecutive losses. After April 29, Toth's only loss was a May 28, 12-10 set back at the hands of Hooper Sawmill.

Bolivar Insurance and Real Estate won their last eight games in a row to finish 9-1 and win the 12U league by a five game margin over Gordie for President, who gave Bolivar Insurance and Real Estate their only loss of the season, with a 12-2 win on April 26.

Nelms Body Shop beat Golden Circle Tire 21-0 on May 31 to cap off the first undefeated season in Dizzy Dean Baseball since at least 2009, finishing the season 14-0, four games ahead of Farmers Insurance.

The league ended their year with awards on June 1. See A7 for All-Star teams and the hitting and pitching awards in the 10U and 12U leagues.

Dizzy Dean Softball is scheduled to have their season ending awards on June 6.

For two years, the University of Tennessee has partnered with Hardeman County Schools to develop and offer STEM education opportunities at Lone Oaks

Farm.

These programs are offered as field trips to Hardeman County students during the school year (at no cost), and allow kids to have hands-on, real-world experiences to learn about science, technology, engineering, and math. Longterm, the vision of a special school at Lone Oaks Farm, focused on STEM and outdoor experiences is being planned.

One such school, DB Excel, a school program in Kingsport, offers a special learning environment for a subset of their high school students. While any student can apply to attend and they pride themselves on diversity, the real focus was on 1) students that are academically average and would benefit from a handson, less structured approach to learning, and 2) students who socially struggle in a large high school setting. DB Excel isn't a stand-alone school. The physical facility is about 5 miles from their primary high school, and their students are still part of the student body of that high school, which is where they do extracurricular activities like sports, band, etc. While students in DB Excel spend much of their time there, they do take some of their core or specialized classes at their primary high school. When they graduate, they graduate with everyone from the primary high school. So, DB Excel isn't a school, but rather a school annex.

One big advantage of the school annex concept is the ability to build a much smaller and cheaper facility as compared to a standalone school. No band rooms, gymnasiums, football fields, or administrative offices leads to a much smaller footprint.

The Lone Oaks Farm Master plan calls for a comprehensive STEM education facility to serve the 4-H summer camping program and also the STEM education program (field trips) during the school year.

The plan features a 17,000 square feet building with classrooms, laboratory space, cafeteria, etc. In addition, there will be many outdoor classrooms, boat docks, and recreation areas. Also, there will be cabins for overnight lodging of 70 students.

The success of other programs gives Lone Oaks Farm a reason to hope plans could be realized quickly and with Lone Oaks being within 10 miles of both Bolivar Central High School and Middleton High School, it could serve

Do You Have a Business Succession Strategy?

If you own a business, you've always got plenty to think about: sales, marketing, employees, competition, industry trends, consumer preferences – the list goes on and on. It's easy to get so caught up in your work that you might not take time to think about retirement. But if and when that day arrives, you'll want to be prepared - which means you need a business succession plan.

And you will have to put considerable thought and effort in selecting such a plan, because you've got several choices. You could keep the business in your family. You could offer it to an employee or an outsider. You could design a plan that will take effect while you're alive or after you've passed away. Your decision should be based on several factors, including your family situation, the nature of your business, and your overall financial position (including the composition of your investment portfolio), but, at the outset of your search, you may want to know about some popular succession strategies, including:

Giving the business away – You can leave your business to your children, but if you transfer it during your lifetime, you may be able to obtain some valuable benefits. For example, by relinquishing control gradually, you can be reassured that your children will be able to manage the business on their own. This strategy may also offer tax benefits. You can give your business away outright, but you may want to consider using a trust or family limited partnership, both of which may allow you to control the business for as long as you want, while still receiving a regular income stream.

Selling the business outright – You can always sell your business outright whenever you like - right now, when you retire or some time in between. Of course, any sale brings tax considerations.

Using a buy-sell arrangement to transfer the business - Instead of simply selling the business in a traditional transaction, you could employ a buy-sell agreement. With this arrangement, you can generally determine when, to whom, and at what price you can sell it. If you would like to keep the business in your family, you may be able to fund the buy-sell agreement with life insurance, so family members could use the death benefit to buy your ownership stake.

Buying a private annuity – When you buy a private annuity, you can transfer the business to family members, or someone else, who will then make payments to you for the rest of your life, or, possibly, for your lifetime and that of a second person's. In addition to potentially providing you with a lifetime income stream, this type of sale can remove assets from your estate without triggering gift or estate taxes.

These and other techniques can be complex, so before deciding on what is best for your situation, you'll want to consult with your tax, legal and financial advisors. By taking your time and getting the professional help you need, you can make a successful succession choice.

OUR COUNTY

Farmers Market Opens in Grand Junction

Dignitaries from the State of Tennessee came to Hardeman County to join local civic leaders and county residents for the ceremonial grand opening of the farmers market building in Grand Junction. The farmers market has been open for several months, however, renovations were recently completed on the building through a state-funded grant.

The newly renovated building can accommodate several vendors at one time, with its large, open area; and even has an attached room, an educational room, allowing the building to accommodate other events as well.

Lone Oaks and the Hardeman County Schools

For two years, the University of Tennessee has partnered with Hardeman County Schools to develop and offer STEM education opportunities at Lone Oaks Farm.

These programs are offered as field trips to Hardeman County students during the school year (at no cost), and allow kids to have hands-on, real-world experiences to learn about science, technology, engineering, and math. Long-term, the vision of a special school at Lone Oaks Farm, focused on STEM and outdoor experiences is being planned.

One such school, DB Excel, a school program in Kingsport, offers a special learning environment for a subset of their high school students. While any student can apply to attend and they pride themselves on diversity, the real focus was on 1) students that are academically average and would benefit from a hands-on, less structured approach to learning, and 2) students who socially struggle in a large high school setting. DB Excel isn't a standalone school. The physical facility is about 5 miles from their primary high school, and their students are still part of the student body of that high school, which is where they do extracurricular activities like sports, band, etc. While students in DB Excel spend much of their time there, they do take some of their core or specialized classes at their primary high school. When they graduate, they graduate with everyone from the primary high school. So, DB Excel isn't a school, but rather a school annex.

One big advantage of the school annex concept is the ability to build a much smaller and cheaper facility as compared to a stand-alone school. No band rooms, gymnasiums, football fields, or administrative offices leads to a much smaller footprint.

The Lone Oaks Farm Master plan calls for a comprehensive STEM education facility

Hee Haw Announces August Performance

The Hee Haw Band will present a night of music from the yearly sell-out show at the Luez Theatre on August 5. According to Hee Haw Musical Director Jeff Shackelford, performances and performers from past years will be a part of the show.

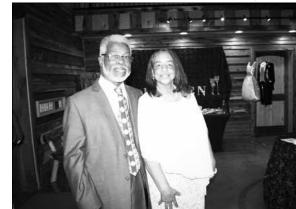

Proceeds from the event will go to the American Cancer Society. Tickets will go on sale in July.

Bowdens Celebrate 53 Years of Marriage

Anderson Bowden and Alma Lee (Jones) Bowden were happily united in holy matrimony at the home of the late Rev. Fred Joy on June 11, 1966 in Bolivar, Tennessee. Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Bowden.

They are both graduates of Bolivar Industrial High School. Alma was Class of 1964 and Anderson was Class of 1965. They recently attended the annual B.I.S. all -years class reunion where they were among other couples celebrating 53 years of marriage.

Earlier on they lived in Detroit, Michigan before returning to their new home in Middleton, Tennessee in 1976. They are the blessed parents of four children, 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. They are both retired but still very active with the family gathering especially preparing delicious meals on Sunday afternoon. The couple enjoys relaxing, watching TV, going out to dinner, traveling and hosting family events at the farm on Smalley Road.

They are very encouraging and helpful members of Oak Hill Baptist Church, Pastor Gene A. Bowden. They are always in attendance at Bible Study, Sunday School, Worship services and other functions of the church.

Anderson is a member of the deacon board. Alma is an usher, president of the Mission Board and Sunday School teacher (twice a month) for the adult ladies. In addition to her offices at Oak Hill, she is the secretary of Independent Society #3, and United Sons and Daughters of Charity #2.

This lovely couple trust God to keep happiness and joy in their lives and marriage by practicing the Bible verse, Philippians 4:11, Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.
