It's County Budget Season!

The Hardeman County budget will be presented to the Hardeman County Commission on June 2 in a virtual meeting format using Zoom, but plans are to hold the first traditional meeting since February for a public hearing and final vote on the 2020-2021 budget later in the month.

Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain says it's difficult to predict revenue in the coming year, but is certain revenues will be down because of the COVID-19 virus economic shutdown.

"We were down $30,000 last month in sales tax. It may end up about $70,000 less for the year than projected because of the virus," he said.

Sain expects the Hardeman County Schools to have their numbers ready by the June 2 first reading.

If passed on June 2, the next meeting is expected to be scheduled for June 16. The final reading would include a public hearing prior to the final vote, which would seem to require the meeting to be held in the traditional fashion in an open courtroom format. If passed on the second reading, it would make the budget official.

Last year both the schools rate of $1.46 and the county rate of $2.55 remained the same, but not without much discussion and a last minute change. The commission eventually rejected the budget committee's vote to set the rate at $1.40 while offering equivalent dollars that would have gone to debt service, instead voting to set the rate at $1.46 with no other provisions.

With the uncertainty, Sain has asked Hardeman County department heads to try to keep their spending the same as in the previous year.

"We are asking them to hold to last year's numbers," said Sain.

The 2019-2020 fiscal year, while about to come to a close, is still unsettled due to the July 2019 lawsuit filed by Sheriff John Doolen against Hardeman County Mayor Jimmy Sain, seeking more funding for his department. A hearing to settle the dispute went unfinished on February 27, and remains in limbo because of a suspension of court proceedings due to the COVID-19 restrictions. How an eventual ruling on the 2019-2020 budget in favor of either side could effect maintenance of effort remains unknown.

The county rate has not changed from $2.55 since Sain took office in 2014. The Hardeman County Budget Committee consists of commissioners Jackie Sain, Chris Bell, and Johnny Lanier, with Junior Jimmerson and Chairman Jerry Watkins rounding out the committee.

The first reading and vote traditionally is passed without much resistance from the commission. Last year's vote went 16-0 in favor at the first reading, but a vigorous discussion and a 12-4 vote was the margin at the final reading.

Zoom is a cloud platform for video and audio conferencing, collaboration, chat, and webinars across mobile devices, desktops, telephones, and room systems.

"RP3 utilities are consistently looking to improve their workforce, system reliability, and safety to serve their communities better."

"This is a great honor," said Tony Kirk, President/CEO of Bolivar Energy. "We take a lot of pride in the work we do to power our community. It's nice to be recognized as among the 'best of the best' on a national level."

The American Public Power Association has offered the RP3 designation for 15 years now. Benefitting from Hard Times

by Jeff Capshaw

Hard times come in different forms. Someone loses a job, struggles financially for a period, contracts a long-term illness, suffers a season of depression or anxiety, loses a loved one, etc. Except for a brief period following 9/11, Americans have not collectively experienced such hard times, since the Great Depression or World War II. Currently and collectively, however, it is a season of hard times for all Americans.

Everyone can benefit personally from this season, especially those who take the Scripture as having authority over their lives. One of the hallmarks of human nature is to avoid pain and to seek pleasure. There are different theories behind that instinct, but that is beside the point here. Most of us know by experience that overcoming difficulties is often unpleasant. By the same token we know by experience that, once we do overcome adversity, we are often the better for it. We grow in character, learn valuable life lessons, and gain wisdom from those experiences.

There is a significant text in the New Testament that directly addresses this very topic. It applies both to personal and collective suffering, because we undergo hard times personally, and because this text was addressed to a group of first-century believers. It is found in Romans 5. The chapter opens with one of Paul's classic statements on Justification. That means that God declares sinners righteous by their faith in the finished work of Christ. That declaration also places believers in a state of "standing in grace." One of the benefits of obtaining God's grace is the ability to undergo suffering for personal

Paul writes, "not only that, but we rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, and hope does not put us to shame, because God's love has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us" (5:3-5, ESV).

This is why the Christian worldview makes the most sense out of suffering or hard times. Believers can have great hope, even amid great suffering! Why? According to Paul, suffering produces in us endurance, the ability to withstand hardships. Just like a runner builds up physical and aerobic endurance, suffering produces both personal and spiritual endurance in believers. In turn, that same spiritual endurance produces stronger character in us, and then comes hope.

Notice that this isn't just a "hope so" kind of hope. Rather, it is a "know so" kind of hope. It is a hope that isn't superficial or one that we or others can mock as phony. The internal and optimistic hope in the Gospel is put into our inner being by God himself through the power of the Holy Spirit.

What is Paul saying? When believers respond properly to suffering (hard times), the Word of God promises that they will not be put to shame. Instead, they will be given hope, knowing that they are loved by God, especially while suffering.

Family Owned and Operated

Struggle

by David Coy

It is fair to say we are living in a time of extreme hardship. As such society is involved in a great struggle. Struggle is one of the common denominators that link all of us together regardless of our station in life. Even Job understood the turmoil that man would have from birth throughout life. "A mortal born of a woman, is of few days and full of turmoil." (14:1 In Job's personal account of his life's difficulty in likeness with all people, he cries out "remember me." It is the very same creator who told Abraham, Isaac and Jacob of long ago that he would remember them (Leviticus 26:42). Frequently we have heard the expression, Oh God used during times of shock and dismay. It expresses our horror in our circumstances, our depth of emotion and need. We have heard this expression even used by someone or perhaps ourselves as we struggle with life's responsibilities.

Certainly, it is heartbreaking to witness the destruction of the livelihood of so many. While it is encouraging that so many have sought to pull together to support those in need, at times it seems overwhelming and daunting a task, we are our brother's keeper and should seek to continue assisting in whatever capacity is ours to give. Disappointments and reverses abound involving families, relationships, and work. We must take care of ourselves that we might be able to help others. With appropriate concern for our health and those we have influence with we may persuade others to heighten their level of concern for themselves and those around them, and so on. Grief is like any other concern, we tend to ourselves so that we may then look outside of ourselves and assist others around us who also are struggling. GO FIGURE! by Linda Thistle

Why Should You See a Financial Advisor?

The social distancing and stay-at-home orders necessitated by the coronavirus have led many of us to feel isolated. Still, we've fought back through social media, "virtual" gatherings and walks in the neighborhood, where we could greet friends and neighbors (from 6 feet away). But when you're dealing with the financial effects of the virus and you're investing alone, you could encounter some problems that may prove costly.

Of course, with so much investment-related information available online, on television and in any number of periodicals, it's not surprising that some people feel they can invest without any assistance. But the volatility of the financial markets over the past few months has also pointed to the dangers of going solo in the investment world. And you might find that a professional financial advisor can help you in several ways, including the following:

Taking emotions out of investing. During this period of market turbulence, many self-guided investors are letting their emotions drive their investment decisions. As a result, they sell investments when their price is down, "locking in" their losses. Furthermore, if they then stay out of the financial markets, they will miss out on the eventual recovery – and some of the biggest gains in market rallies usually occur right at the beginning. But if you work with a financial advisor who has helped you develop a personalized investment strategy based on your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon, you will be far less likely to react to extreme market conditions by making ill-advised decisions.

Maintaining perspective. When you're putting away money for the future and you suddenly have a lot less of it, you might start to wonder if that future is somehow in jeopardy. But if you've been working with a financial advisor and following your investment strategy, you'll know that you don't have to immediately cash out those investments that have lost value, and you may not need to liquidate them for decades if they were designed for a long-term goal, such as retirement. By the time you do need to sell them, their value may well have appreciated significantly. And if you've got a well-constructed portfolio, you'll also own shorter-term, less volatile investments to help meet your current cash flow needs.

Understanding the history of investing. The recent market instability is unique in the sense that its cause – a worldwide pandemic – is so highly unusual, and it hopefully will be a once-in-a-lifetime experience. Typically, prolonged market downturns are triggered by explainable financial or economic factors, such as the bursting of the "dot-com" bubble in 2000. However, market drops of 20 percent or more – generally referred to as bear markets – are not at all unusual and have happened every few years over the past several decades. Financial advisors are well aware of this history and share it with their clients. And for many people, the knowledge that "we've been here before" is reassuring and makes it easier for them to continue following their investment strategies.

The road to your financial goals is a long one, with many twists and turns. So you might like to have some experienced company along the way.

- 4 If you hear a hissing sound or dust/dirt blowing up from the ground, leave the area, and call Bolivar Utility Department or dial 911 after hours.
- 5 If you ever have the need to dig in your yard or property, call Tennessee One Call System at 811 and we will be notified to mark gas pipelines that is the property of the Bolivar Utility Department.

OUR COUNTY

Tales from the Yellow House by Lee McAlpin

While growing up at the Yellow House, we were accustomed to many odd home remedies and superstitions. The superstitions were practiced only for fun and play, at least most of them. The home remedies were taken more seriously. One of the home remedy staples around our house was rabbit tobacco. The scientific name being Gaphalium Obfusifolium. It is said that the Cherokee Indians used this plant often and called it Life Everlasting. In the fall we would go out into the fields for our annual rabbit tobacco gathering. When we had a cold or chest congestion, Mom would make a tea from the leaves and we would take a dose for our coughs and whatever. I do know that it actually works. I keep a batch of the leaves on hand even today. While having a bout of the crud recently, I chewed several cuds of the stuff and it definitely stopped my cough and eased my affliction. And many times us kids would slip behind the house and roll some of the leaves in a brown paper wrapper and smoke it. It has been said that smoking the leaves will relieve asthma. Coal oil (kerosine) was used for all cuts. It must have worked, because we never had a tetanus shot and we never lost life or limb. Many times when we had the croup, Mom would put a drop of coal oil and turpentine on a spoonfull of sugar and give it to us to relieve our malady. There were other remedies that were used which most times worked. They say that half of the cure is believing in the cure itself. I remember seeing a young boy wearing a piece of lead on a string around his neck. This was supposed to prevent nose bleeds. Some of the more stranger remedies that I have heard of is to break off the head of a Bessybug and squeeze a few drops of blood in the ear for earache. And a more bizarre remedy is to take a few drops of chamber lye and put it in the ear. Now who would dare put anything from a bed pan in his or her ears. Tie a pair of scissors to a string and dropped down the back of the collar, with a penny under the tongue is supposed to stop nosebleed. For a stye, run the tip of a black cats tail over the eye. Headache, bury clippings of your hair under a rock. Athletes Foot, tie a string around a toe, step in cow manure. Sore throat, tie a dirty sock around your neck. Warts, steal a neighbor's dishrag and bury it in the woods.

Some of the superstitions that some people practice and believe in are odd to say the least. One of them is if you tie a knot in the corner of a sheet, it will stop whippoorwills from singing. Some people carry a buckeye in their pockets for good luck and for rheumatism relief. The black cat crossing the road in front of you is said to be bad luck, or walking under a ladder. And there is the seven years of bad luck associated with breaking a mirror. The eating blackeyed peas on New Years for good luck. One trick I heard about with this practice is that you are supposed to leave three peas on your plate and put them in your left pocket. With all the blackeyed peas that I have eaten all my life, I should have a continuous string of good luck. My Dad believed in planting by the signs. And Mom believed that if you made saurkraut when the signs were in the bowels, that the kraut would turn black in the jars. I saw this happen one time, whether it was from the signs or not, I do not know. One last superstition. One old one says that if the full moon shines on a woman's navel, she would become, as the nice old saying goes, "In a family way." I'm sure that the moon can affect the oceans tide and serve as a landing pad for our astronauts, but I think that's the limit.

There are literally thousands of home remedies and superstitions. Some of the old home remedies do work and I use them occasionally, but the superstitions, that's another story. But as I mentioned before, to each his own.

Silerton

Mary Lynn Lambert

Prayer request for Ann Hinson as she battles health issues. Joie Freeman, Brenda Cooper, John Jordan, and Sarah Chandler continue to need our prayers.

David and Winna Cupples, owners of Double C Thrift Store in Ripley, MS have been unable to open their business since the middle of March. They also ran an auction in Middleton each weekend. I asked them to share some of their thoughts on the quarantine and how it has impacted their lives. It has impacted them financially because they did not qualify for the small business stimulus money. They have twelve people helping them. The employees are struggling financially also because they do not get unemployment. David states that he has spent a lot of time sitting in the swing on the front porch watching the squirrels. He feels he will have a tough time getting the business back as usual. There will be a high cost to restart. Every chair and the building will have to be sanitized. David is looking forward to returning to work for financial reasons and also to be back with people. They have tentatively set their restart date as June 1 for the Ripley store auction. David stated that he has received several calls wanting to know when the auction will reopen.

It is nice to see the neighbors working in their gardens and watching the plants grow. Fresh vegetables are a treat that most Silerton people relish.

I would appreciate if you would call and share some of your news and thoughts or memories so we can stay connected.

Hello from Toone, where we are still undecided about what season we are in! We have temps in the 80's for a few days, then they drop back to the 50's, and even a few cases where we've experienced 40's again. Two days later, things settle down, and we shoot back into the 80's. This is definitely some crazy weather. The old folks called this blackberry winter, but it seems to be lasting much longer than normal.

My family in Kentucky has been in quarantine for two months now, and I have been in quarantine for nearly two months, so we decided maybe it would be OK if I made a trip to Kentucky for a visit. Although it was very different than most trips, everything went well, and we all observed safe distancing and hand-washing practices. Of course I wanted to hug and kiss all them a lot, but we held it to quick hugs with heads turned in different directions, with no kissing. We all sat at a safe distance from one another, and our meals were eaten on TV trays at our respective chairs in the living room, and of course, there was lots of hand-washing and sanitizing going on all weekend! It was very different, to say the least, but it was so good to see their smiling faces and talk with them in person!

As of, May 26, Southwest HRA will be assuming the student meal program in Hardeman County. The agency will be distributing a lunch and a breakfast that will be for the following day. Meals will be distributed from the following locations and times on Mondays - Fridays: Bolivar Elementary 10:00 - 11:15; Bolivar Middle School 11:30 - 12:30; Middleton Elementary 12:45 - 2:15; Toone Elementary 10:00 - 10:45; Whiteville Elementary 11:00 - 12:15; Grand Junction Elementary 12:45 - 2:00. All Children 18 and under are eligible to receive meals. When you arrive, they ask that everyone remain in their cars and the meal packets will be brought out to you.

Southwest HRA is also asking for assistance from volunteers who would be willing to help hand out these meals or direct traffic. For more information on meals distribution or about how you can help, please contact Patti or Macy at 1-800-497-1286.

We would like to recognize and say CONGRATULATIONS to the 8th graders from Toone Elementary School who are graduating and moving on next year to Bolivar Central High School. Although your year-end events and activities and your graduation ceremonies could not take place, we want you to know that we all are very proud of you for your accomplishments and achievements!! Good luck in your new high school experience.

Our neighbor, Larry Joe Leathers, has been taking advantage of the state's spring squirrel season. His wife, Bonnie, has posted Facebook photos of Larry Joe's tasty-looking Squirrel & Dumplings. Between this and the fried crappie photos, we know the Leathers Family is eating well during their quarantine!

Our good friend and neighbor, Caroline Warren, would like to send Happy Birthday wishes to her son, Tim Warren, who celebrates his big day, May 19. Happy Birthday, Tim!

If there is a graduate and your family, or a family birthday coming up, please contact me via the info above, and we will give them their special recognition. Until next time. . . . talk to your neighbors!

Hello to all! I pray everyone is doing well. The last few days sure have been some beautiful and comfortable weather. Hornsby Baptist had a good turn out Sunday with everyone still doing the social distancing. I know for myself and lots of other folks it just feels good to be able to sit in the church and worship. Even if you still feel the need to stay home, remember that a lot of churches are continuing the online services. The church is still planning on having mission work such as YEP, and VBS. VBS dates are still not certain but I will do my best to keep you posted plus you can check the website for updates. Please continue to check on people that might need some help through this time. If you know of someone that needs help a lot of churches are reaching out to these folks. If it's someone in the Hornsby Community you can call my number for help.

Please remember to support the local businesses all that you can, I know they would appreciate it. There are a lot of businesses trying to do all they can to help us through this. We need to help do all we can to support them, they have families and their businesses support a lot of families that work for these people. Remember we are all in this together.

Prayer is a powerful thing and I know there are a lot of wonderful folks who are happy to pray for you or someone you know. If you have prayer request please let us know. Please continue to lift the following people up in your prayers: Lynn Allen, Joe Anderson, Mimi Anderson, Hugholene Barnes, Ricky Bass, Diane Cross, Sue Day, Norma Emerson, Rich Emerson, Robert Gibson, Crystal Grantham, Thomas Green, Sue Hall, James Hanna, Marilyn Hanna, Willie Lou Hannis, Richard Hazelwood, Justin Hodge, Sue Hodge, Willis Hornsby, Jo Edna Howell, Charley Johnson, Ann Kelly, Aubrey King, Lucy King, Debbie Laster, Sawyer Jane Luttrell, Bobbie McBride, Betty McMahan, Orville McMahan, Margie Moore, Carolyn Morgan, Evan Nield, Lockie Newman, Joyce Overton, Gay Pierce, Gail Pope, Scarlett Sipes, Stacy Spence, Ronna Spoon, Susan Thompson, Benjamin Tucker, Martyn Venuti, Tommy Warner, Eddie Webb, Jennifer Wheeler, Piper Williams, the family of Wanda Mayfield, the men and women who serve our country, the families of the ones who are fighting cancer, all the health care workers, the leaders of our country and especially the ones who are lost. Brasfield Joins Pulse Real Estate

Todd Pulse, managing broker and owner of Pulse Real Estate is pleased to announce that Deborah Turner Brasfield is joining his office.

"I'm very pleased to have someone with Deborah's experience working with me," said Pulse. "We have high hopes for the future."

Brasfield's career path has taken her from being an investment advisor for 20 years, to being joint owner with her husband, Allen of "The Buyer's Agent".

After changing their business direction the Brasfields decided to join Keller Williams to expand their business in Shelby, Fayette and Hardeman County.

The Brasfields have owned their home in Hardeman County for 19 years and became permanent residents five years ago. "My husband, Allen was the main person in our real estate business, I learned a lot from him, not only his knowledge of real estate but how important it was to stay professional and to really focus on the client and help them find the home that fits their needs. Allen passed away in 2019, and I am discovering the path I need to take to expand my real estate business locally." That path took Brasfield to Pulse Real Estate where she feels will be the place to help expand her local business.

She is also owner of On the Square Gallery and Gifts, a local retail shop located next to Pulse Real Estate in Bolivar. "I love my retail shop but as I always told everyone - it is our real estate business that kept food on the table and paid the bills! "

STATE SENATE RACE

Walley Announces West Tennessee Listening Tour

Former State Representative, Tennessee Commissioner, and candidate for State Senate, Page Walley, today announced his intentions for an upcoming Listening Tour across State Senate District 26. The district includes Chester, Decatur, Fayette, Hardeman, Hardin, Haywood, Henderson, and McNairy counties. Walley intends on hosting roundtables and town meetings with voters to discuss important issues of concern in West Tennessee.

The kick-off of Walley's tour will be on June 1st where he will host a country ham and biscuit breakfast at the Main Street Eatery in Somerville at 8:00 a.m. From there Walley will visit Warren, Oakland, Hickory Withe, Galloway, Braden, and Laconia. Day two in Fayette County on June 2nd will take Walley to La Grange, Moscow, Williston, Macon, Piperton, and end in Rossville with a BBQ dinner at the Wolf River Café at 5:00 p.m. District stops in other counties will follow over the next few weeks.

"From day one I expressed my desire to run a grassroots campaign and listen to community leaders across the district, Walley said. "We have so much to be thankful for in West Tennessee, and I want to make sure voters have an opportunity to share their beliefs on how we can make our communities even better for the next generation."

Walley last week announced his district wide grassroots leadership team of over 50 folks and has also already introduced specific plans on education, and health care.

Walley served 5 terms in the Tennessee State House during the 1990's and was a strong advocate in his opposition of a state income tax. He has served as a licensed Clinical Counselor for over 35 years.

Walley is pro-life, a member of both the NRA and Tennessee Firearms Association, Tennessee Farm Bureau, is a licensed minister and author, and received numerous awards for his leadership in the Tennessee State House. Walley and his wife Terry have been married for 35 years and has three children and three grandsons.

Templeton Promotes Economic and Job Growth

Jai Templeton, Tennessee's former Commissioner of Agriculture, today shared his ideas for creating jobs and rebuilding Tennessee's economy following the coronavirus shutdown. Templeton promoted small businesses, conservative economic policies, and support for local schools.

"Tennessee's economy was stronger than ever before COVID-19," Templeton said. "We can rebuild our economy and create new jobs, but it requires government leaders to make the right decisions. Let's keep taxes low and cut red tape on small businesses. Low taxes and fewer regulations encourages small business growth which creates more demand for labor and, thus, private sector job growth," remarked Templeton.

Templeton noted his support for fiscally conservative budget policy. "Tennessee has earned a AAA bond rating from all of the major rating agencies. This didn't come by accident," said Templeton. "It's the result of sound budget practices, including low taxes, responsible spending, the lowest debt per person of any state, and a large Rainy Day Fund. In the State Senate, I will strongly support conservative spending practices that make Tennessee the model for the country," stated Templeton.

Public schools are key to Tennessee's long-term economic growth according to Templeton. "I want to place more emphasis on vocational and technical courses that teach job-ready skills to our high schools students. Our great local schools and teachers will help our communities sustain a growing economy for years to come," remarked Templeton.

Templeton is a sixth generation family farmer with row crops, cattle, and timber production. He is the Community Development Manager for Centennial Bank in Adamsville. Templeton and his wife, Allison, live in Stantonville and are the parents of three adult children.

Templeton is seeking the Republican nomination for the district that includes Chester, Decatur, Fayette, Hardeman, Hardin, Haywood, Henderson, and McNairy counties.

Eye Opener:::::

While checking out the Hatchie last week for hazards (there's four trees down across the river), turtles were abundant, and, of course the snakes had a great year. Pictured is a cottonmouth swallowing another snake. The other could possibly be another cottonmouth, but couldn't get a close enough look (should say, wasn't going to get closer).

In my "Bag of Tricks" this year in my constant pursuit of Slick (extremely large flathead catfish) will be Emma. She's pumped up and excited about everything dealing with fishing. The Hatchie has so many memories waiting to happen, as normal though, extreme caution needs to be adhered to. The sandbars change every year and, more and more trees are falling each day. We'll start our quest this week!! We might even be on Southern Woods and Water TV on several of our outings (I'll keep y'all posted about that)! As Always, SAFETY FIRST, HOOT::::: Note:::: Uncle Si (James), LJ (Larry Joe), Me, and now Emma are coming for You Slick! Might even make you a Movie Start instead of my Nightmare!!
