Full Time Mayor for Bolivar Approved

City Council Turns Down Raise for Themselves
With only six council members present, only four votes were required to create a full-time mayor's position for the City of Bolivar.

And that's what they got on October 12, opting to create a mayor's salary and position to replace Shelia Dellinger, who will retire in 2021.

Voting for the measure were councilpeople Jonathan Joy, Page Walley, Suzanne Rhea, and Carol Spinks, while Larry McKinnie passed the vote and Todd Lowe voted no.

"I think the mayor is doing a great job," said city councilman Todd Lowe. "But I promised when I ran that I would not vote for a full-time mayor. I kept my word."

"I asked about this in other cities that had full-time mayors," said councilman Walley, who voted against it on the first reading but for it on the final reading. "It affected me."

Not present at the meeting were Larry Crawford and Melvin Golden, but both passed it at the committee level.

A True Moving Sale for HAA

With the completion of their new home in sight, the yard sale fundraiser by the Hardeman Adoptable Animals was deemed a success.

"Hardeman Adoptable Animals would like to thank all who donated to our fall yard sale. Due to COVID-19, we have not been able to host our normal fundraising events in 2020, and this sale raised funds needed to pay for vetting and supplies. We rely solely on donations and fundraising to operate, so we are very thankful for our supporters," said Sara Vonderheide of HAA.

Vonderheide added that they will be moving into a new shelter very soon, noting that the administration building and kennel building are ready to occupy, and that they are in the planning stages of the move. All that remains is the perimeter fence to be completed by the county.

"We are so excited about our new home. It will be a healthier, safer, and more relaxing environment for the dogs in our care," she added.

The HAA Annual March of Dogs and Pet Costume Contest is this weekend in downtown Bolivar. See A2 and A14 for details.

The salary and position will not be put in place until after the 2021 Bolivar City Election.

During the public hearing that preceded the vote, four Bolivar business leaders, including former Hardeman County Chamber of Commerce Director Laura Hall Sparks, spoke in favor of the move.

"Bolivar is on an upward trend," she said. "And we need the commitment of a full-time position."

The city council then voted 3-2 with one abstention, to not

City Talks Trash Re: Landfill

"I'm going to try to explain this the best I can," began Bolivar Mayor Julian McTizic. "I've gotten a crash course in how the landfill works from (Hardeman County) Mayor (Jimmy) Sain."

McTizic's explanation came after a small uproar from citizens regarding an announcement that bulk item pickup by Bolivar waste management would not occur due to "closing of the Hardeman County landfill."

While the landfill is still taking trash from citizens, the county has asked the municipalities to deliver the collected trash directly to the landfill in Walnut, MS, which is serving as the temporary resting spot as repairs to the Hardeman County Landfill are completed.

"You cannot go in and drop trash," explained councilwoman Suzanne Rhea. "You leave it and they take it to Walnut."

Mayor McTizic said the longer trip to drop off the trash is costing about $3,200 a month in fuel and labor, but his biggest worry is wear and tear on the city equipment.

"The new truck is fine," he said, although adding the extra miles is outside of the buy-back agreement with the company they got the truck from. "But the dumpster truck is on its last legs and I'm worried about the brush truck as well."

"It's the fault of the county," said councilman Larry McKinnie to Mayor McTizic. "It's not fair we need to pay for it. Let mayor Sain know we have questions."

McTizic said discussions with the county would continue, but so far mayor Sain has declined a request to pay the added expenses, citing the danger of setting a precedent.

The county stopped taking trash from cities in late August, attempting to fix a flaw in the 2013-2014 construction of the final cell at the landfill, citing safety concerns.

Trial to Keep on Trucking...

The trial in the salary dispute case between Hardeman County Sheriff John Doolen and Mayor Jimmy Sain is set to resume October 27 and 29, according to Hardeman County Court Clerk Billy Davis.

The trial, set to be completed October 7, was continued due to vehicle trouble for Chancellor Tony Childress.

give raises to the city council members.

"One meeting a month doesn't deserve what we are getting now," said councilman Joy. "It's not justified at $275 a month and no one can justify it on gas mileage."

"Some of us come here a lot more," answered councilwoman Rhea, noting committee work takes up more than just once a month.

Voting for the $500 per month rate were Rhea and Spinks. Against were Joy, Lowe, and Walley with McKinnie passing the vote.

According to the city's charter, the council will need to set a rate, regardless if it is the same rate, by ordinance, before December 18, which is sixty days before the qualifying deadline for the 2021 elections.

"We have to set it at something," said McTizic.

Any change in the monthly rate would only effect the seats up for election in 2021, which are the seats of Rhea, Walley, Joy, and Golden.

Many of you may have noticed a bright orange gleam in the sky on October 13th. October 13th was the peek viewing for Mars as the earth moved between Mars and the Sun allowing for the closest viewing proximity to earth since 2018. This sort of view will not occur again until 2035. If you missed the peak, do not despair because Mars will remain bright for the next few weeks. Ever heard the phrase, "Once in a blue moon?" This year also brings a chance to see an actual blue moon on Halloween night. A blue moon simply means that there is a second full moon within the same month. The last time a full moon was visible in the United States was 1944.

Tommy Murley has some neat t-shirt designs for a Silerton t-shirt posted on the Facebook group Silerton Photographs from the Past. He invites others to share design ideas and suggestions.

Toone

Glenn Yarbrough

Hello from the Town of Toone, were the autumn colors are beginning to pop! As I have said before, fall is my favorite season, and as it turns-out, I will get a "double color" treat for this year's fall season. I was able to enjoy the early colors in the Smoky Mountains during a trip to eastern North Carolina last weekend. On the way over there I followed the interstates and saw some pretty colors, but I returned via a different route down through the southwestern North Carolina Mountains along Highway 64 and down through the Ocoee River Gorge to Chattanooga, and then on home. I must say, as pretty as our colors are beginning to look around here, they are no match for the beautiful vivid colors in the higher altitudes of the mountains. I understand now why so many people plan vacations in those areas this time of the year. The highways were quite crowded with cars, campers, and tourists. Most every overlook and points of interests along the highways were crowded with people taking photos. It was truly beautiful. Now I get to spend the next few weeks enjoying our local colors as they peak. Mother Nature is an amazing artist!

In keeping with fun fall events, the Toone Baptist Church invites you to a bonfire on the church grounds, Saturday evening, October 24, beginning at 4:30 p.m. In keeping with COVID-19 safety precautions, they ask that you bring your own food and drink, so others will not be handling your food. The church's activities committee will be supplying pre-packaged "s'mores" fixins' for dessert. There will also be roasting sticks supplied for cooking your hotdogs and marshmallows, and these sticks will be tagged for your family's use only. Then, on Halloween evening, the church will host a Drive-thru Trunk-N-Treat. All candy that is donated will be packaged in individual bags and handed out to the 'ghosts and goblins' inside the cars. As an additional treat, there will be a photo booth set-up for individual Halloween souvenir photos. Everyone is invited to attend both events, so load-up the family and come join the fun!

Bonnie and Larry Joe Leathers, want to give a Happy Birthday shout-out to their grandson, Hunter Mynatt. Hunter celebrates his big day on, October 23. Happy Birthday, Hunter!

Happy Birthday, October 20, to our good neighbor, Kim Leathers Payne. Kim splits her time between their home in Toone and their place at the Tennessee River!

Happy Birthday wishes go out to our Cloverport neighbor, Dottie Thornton Parker, who celebrates her big day, October 27. With her three grandsons living right next door, there is never a dull moment for Dottie. The upcoming national election on November 3 is probably one of the most important elections of modern times. No matter what your political views, please go to the polls and vote to have your voice heard. My hopes and prayers are that whatever the outcome, we will all come together to reunite our country and communities. These are troubled times in which we are living, and our country needs unity now more than ever. Please, exercise your right to vote!

Happy fall, y'all, and enjoy the season! Until next time. . . . talk to your neighbors!

Screaming:::::

It would appear I'm not the only one screaming about the "Lack of Ducks" situation.

The word "Refuge" sends certain thoughts through my mind that are for the most part, Negative! I say negative for extreme selfish reasons. The number one reason being; All refuges that have sanctuary areas (not hunted) HOLD DUCKS!! I'll be the first to admit, I'm not a waterfowl biologist, I'm a waterfowl hunter. My knowledge is based on "Being There!" Since retiring from the Marine Corps in 1993, I spend everyday of the season duck hunting, no matter what the weather!

After reading this article in the 2020 fall addition of Tennessee Wildlife (www.tnwildlife.org) it's my opinion, there SCREAMING now all across West Tennessee. Time isn't in my favor. I'll pursue ducks as long as I'm physically able. Hopefully one season I'll experience the "Wings of Dawn" as in the past!! For all us that duck hunt on the upper Hatchie, I ask you stock up on lemon drops and stretch your vocal chords till we're heard!!! As Always SAFETY FIRST:: HOOT

Wisdom and Fear of the Lord

by Jeff Capshaw

This series has centered upon Biblical Wisdom from the Old Testament book of Proverbs. To review, Proverbs is a book of short, pithy sayings and written Hebrew poetry. These texts are best understood, not as absolute and universal truths, but rather as truthful, general principles.

Furthermore, the writers of Hebrew poetry utilized meaning rhyme instead of sound rhyme. Simply put, Hebrew poetry communicates a similar meaning with different words. For example, writers will do so by negation: saying what something isn't as opposed to what it is.

In this week's lesson, the subject is Wisdom and the "fear of the Lord." So, what is meant by the "fear of the LORD"? The biblical idea isn't so much related to "terror," although there are moments in Scripture when one experienced that unpleasant emotion. Moses is a good example. "And he [God] said, "I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob." And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God" (Exodus 3:6).

But the notion of "fearing the LORD" in Proverbs is better understood as "having a sense of respect, awe, and submission to a deity" and not terror. One may think about fear from three different perspectives: Holy Fear, Healthy Fear, and Harmful Fear. Thus, fearing God might fall into the categories of both a Holy and Healthy Fear.

There are 3 Proverbs where the phrase "fear of the Lord" collocates with Wisdom. The first one says, "the fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge; fools despise wisdom and instruction (1:7). The first part of the Proverb says what it is, and the second part says what it is not. Additionally, the word "beginning" here is best understood as a "foundation," as a platform and not "beginning" as the first in order. So, according to Scripture, all knowledge ultimately is built upon having awareness and reverence for God. However, to despise wisdom is not to fear the LORD and to be a fool.

The next text is Proverbs 9:10. It repeats the statement of the prior verse about fearing God as foundational to true knowledge. It says, "the fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom, and the knowledge of the Holy One is insight." This is a good example of synonymous parallelism, where the second line says something similar to the first line. So, reverencing God is similar to having knowledge of and deep clarity about God.

The final text is Proverbs 15:33. It says, "the fear of the LORD is instruction in wisdom, and humility comes before honor. This verse closely relates wisdom to the fear of the LORD. If one truly fears the LORD, then that one is said truly to be wise.

Do we honestly have a sense of reverence for God? If so, then we are wise indeed. If we don't fear the Lord, then according to Scripture, we are ignorant, foolish, and proud.

Unprepared by David Coy

In one real sense we are the sum of our experiences, especially in relation to grief and loss. It should and could be different if we as a society taught by way of precept and practice prepared our children to know and understand what it means to experience loss. Perhaps we do not do this because we as physical adults are ill equipped, unprepared to deal with it ourselves. We have learned many misconceptions throughout our lives that imbed a slightly skewed view of death and loss. No matter what type of loss we experience, whether property, security, or physical death, much of the same symptoms are the same though the circumstances differ wildly. From these misconceptions come a level of unpreparedness to deal with adversity and loss. During these times of new experiences and adversity we are forced to learn new ways of living much as someone experiencing a first major traumatic loss.

As children we are told do not cry. We are told that crying is a sign of weakness. That our loss often can be replaced, and that we can get a new one. This does not help as crying is a manner of expressing (mourning) how much a person cared and not everything can be replaced and this also diminishes the value of our loss. We are told to give ourselves time, that time heals all wounds. This also is incomplete, time is valuable, but it alone is just that, time. We must use our time productively and with purpose and value. We are told to behave stoically as expressing emotions is also weakness and we 'must be strong' for others. Being real and speaking and walking in truth before others is how we teach to prepare for loss of every kind along with perseverance to rebuild from any loss. Vote for a Solid Investment Strategy

Election Day is little more than a week away. As a citizen, you may feel the results will affect many aspects of life in this country. But as an investor, your situation probably won't change after the votes are counted.

No matter who wins, the financial markets may well show some politically driven volatility, but that often happens around elections, and it typically doesn't last long. But what about the longer term? How might changes in policy and new legislation affect your investment outlook?

To begin, keep in mind that many campaign promises remain just that – promises. And even when some of them are enacted, any ultimate legislation may be quite different from what was proposed on the campaign trail.

Still, sometime in the future, we could see election-related changes that could affect your investment strategy. For example, over the years, we've seen many adjustments in the tax rates of capital gains and stock dividends, and it's likely these rates will change again one day. When that happens, you may need to look at the equities portion of your portfolio to see if you want to make some adjustments.

Many other changes, though, are hard to predict. It's possible that future legislation could affect specific industries, either positively or negatively. Such moves could also influence the way you look at certain investments, but if you have a diversified portfolio that contains a broad mix of stocks, bonds and other securities, any actions affecting one particular industry probably won't cause you to significantly adjust holdings invested in other sectors.

In any case, while it may be a good idea to keep an eye open for things like tax rate changes or how new policies may affect different market segments, your main emphasis, in terms of your investment decisions, should remain on your goals and what you need to do to achieve them.

At least once each year, review your portfolio carefully to make sure your investments are aligned with your goals, whether they are short-term (a new car, a long vacation and so on) or long-term (such as college for your children or a comfortable retirement). Periodically, depending on what's happening in your life and the progress of your investment portfolio, you may need to evaluate your goals to ensure they're prioritized appropriately to help keep you on track toward achieving what's most important to you.

Over time, your goals may change, too. Perhaps you've decided that instead of retiring early and traveling around the world, you now want to turn your hobby into a business. Changing this goal may require a different investment strategy. Or you might change your mind about where you want to live – instead of staying in your home, as originally planned, you might downsize and move to a different area. Your goals may change in many ways, all of which may warrant updating your investment strategies.

Here's the key point: You're the one electing to make these changes. No matter what happens in this or any other election, be sure to "vote" for the strategies that have the potential for a winning outcome.

Football Comes Back

Bolivar Central Football and Middleton Football spent their two weeks recovering from COVID-19, but began their seasons again with Middleton hosting the Memphis Nighthawks on October 8 and Bolivar Central beginning practice to prepare for a date at Collinwood on October 16.

Against the Nighthawks, Middleton only dressed 18 players and were without Head Coach Craig Harris, while the Memphis homeschool team recently added almost a dozen players who had given up on playing for their respective high schools this season. The Nighthawks won the contest 54-7.

At Bolivar Central, the Tigers resumed practice on October 12, with 35 players in attendance.

"It's tough with fall break and the COVID," said Bolivar Central Football Coach Montrell Craft. "But we are trying to work as hard as we can with what we have. Just even one player out makes it tough."

In the last few months, Hardeman County Schools have seen Middleton Volleyball's season end before the district tournament, both Bolivar Middle School Football and Baseball have missed time, and both county football teams have had to forfeit games as well.

Hardeman County Sports Notes

No participant got all seven right in week three of the SEC Football Pick'Em Contest, but a three-way tie remains at the top.

Mike Madden of Bolivar, Bryan Smith of Bolivar, and Virgil Nixon of Adamsville are all tied with 18 games each.

Twenty-seven players picked six games correctly. No one picked Missouri to beat LSU.

Team Bo (Mike Nuckolls, Jim Nuckolls, Bub Stevens, Thomas Stevens) jumped out to a three game lead in the team competition, with three teams tied for second.

Youth between the ages of 10-16, who are hunter safety certified and who have never harvested a deer, are eligible to win a spot in what has become an annual special hunt. The Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency will host the hunt in conjunction with the opening day of the 2020 Tennessee Young Sportsman Deer Hunt on Saturday, October 31.

Youth from various regions from across the state have participated in the event held at Buffalo Ridge Refuge in Humphreys County. Last year, 16 young hunters had their first deer harvests.

A total of 30 young hunters will be selected to participate. The area incorporates a variety of wildlife management practices and totals more than 2,000 acres of prime deer habitat. Treestands will be provided including three which are handicap accessible.

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, guidelines will be followed. A Friday night cookout will be held. Sites will be available for those who wish to camp (participants must provide their own camping gear). Breakfast and lunch will also be provided Saturday.

TWRA will hold a drawing and the winners will be notified by October 21. Confirmation packets will be sent via email to the successful participants that will include directions and a list of items to bring as well as a list of area hotels. Winning hunters are responsible for providing the appropriate Tennessee hunting license and must be accompanied by a non-hunting adult at least 21 years of age or older.

Interested hunters may complete an application online on the TWRA website.

All applications must be received by October 19. For more information or to receive an application, contact Donald Hosse, TWRA Outreach Program Coordinator at Don.Hosse@tn.gov.
