From the Other Side of the Desk

It was a fair question, I suppose.

One day a few months ago, the kids and I went to the Tacos 4 Life in Jackson.

According to their website, "Tacos 4 Life works with organizations in countries like Honduras, Haiti, Belize, Dominican Republic, and Swaziland where meals are used to help feed children in need."

In short, you buy a meal from them here and they buy a meal for someone there. Pretty cool concept.

As we were entering an employee asked where we were from and what I did for a living.

Was I a Teacher? Fireman? Police Officer? Medical Professional? Caregiver?

If I was, she explained, we would get a discount on our meals for the night.

And while I would love to be a member of any of those professionals, I'm just not.

"I guess I'm a capitalist," I replied.

The kids laughed. Then there was silence as she looked at me. I might have been better off in her eyes if I had said I was a Storm Trooper looking for the drones I was looking for.

Now a capitalist is described as a person who uses money to invest in trade and industry for profit in accordance with the principles of capitalism.

Not a great definition (I mean, they used a form of the WORD in the definition...) but I'm not sure that it was what was in her mind anyway. Probably visions of me clubbing baby seals or releasing the hounds on kids with the UNICEF boxes as they came up the walk.

But then it must have occurred to her that capitalists are people too. Well, maybe.

"Well, you can go on in too," she said.

So in we went.

OUR COUNTY

Hardeman Healthy Outreach Installs Marked Paths

Getting more physical activity is important for good health. People know it, but can find doing so hard to fit into their day. Hardeman Healthy Outreach has installed signage in two locations to encourage local residents to take a walk break. More locations throughout Hardeman County are planned.

According to a recent study shared by Dr. Gene Fitzhugh, University of Tennessee professor of kinesiology, recreation and sports studies, 4,400 to 7,500 steps per day is the perfect zone to shoot for in order to have good health for women. "The goal of 10,000 steps might be useful for weight loss, but that is hard for many people to do and not based in scientific research. The lesser goal is more attainable so I think that could be motivating in itself," he continued. Newer science has also helped dispel the idea that activity has to be in 10-minute sessions to be effective. Less length and more often can be just as valuable.

Just knowing the number of laps to make a mile has encouraged staff of two local health care facilities to walk on a few of the cooler days. "Staff can come out and walk early in the morning before their shift or during lunchtime and make a few laps. They can get their miles in a safe environment," said Sara Skinner, administrative assistant, Bolivar General Hospital.

"It's also beneficial to visitors. Sometimes patient families can come out and walk to relieve stress. We can watch while they are out here so that's a good thing," added Ruby Kirby, the hospital's chief executive officer. "A lady who lives in the apartments next to us came over and walked," said Robert Davis, Jr., Hardeman County Community Health Center programs and facility director.

In addition to the distance, signs also include motivational messages like "making excuses burns zero calories per hour" and "strive for progress, not perfection".

Signs like these will be going up in Bolivar's new Sand Beach Lake Park and parks in Middleton, Toone and Whiteville. When the rails-to-trails project is implemented in Hickory Valley, the signs will be there. Plans for marking distances in other locations in Hardeman County are underway.

This project is funded by the CDC's High Obesity Program (HOP) and is working with The University of Tennessee Extension to improve access to food and physical activity opportunities throughout Hardeman County. For more information, email Amy Elizer (aelizer@utk.edu) or find and like Be More Hardeman, the project's new Facebook page.

Burn Permits Required Earlier This Year

With hot and dry weather leading into our fall fire season, Tennessee's State Forester is requiring a burn permit for all open-air outdoor fires beginning September 23.

Typically, burn permits are required statewide October 15-May 15. While Tennessee has not seen an increase in the number of wildfires, and indices right now don't suggest a high fire danger, the Tennessee Department of Agriculture Division of Forestry is putting burn permits in place early as a precaution. If current weather conditions continue as leaf fall begins, fire danger may escalate.

"This precautionary measure will be beneficial as we continue to monitor fire risk," State Forester David Arnold said. "The burn permit system focuses attention on safety, and it's important for citizens to know when, where, and how to safely burn debris. Caution and conservative judgment should always be used when working with fire."

Obtaining a burn permit is free, fast, and simple. If you are burning a leaf or brush pile that is smaller than eight feet by eight feet in size, our online system provides a quick and efficient way to apply. For a larger burn, call your local Division of Forestry burn permit phone number Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. The online system and phone numbers can be found at www.BurnSafeTN.org.

More than 300,000 permits are issued each year, and they are only issued when conditions are conducive to safe burning. If you live inside city limits, there may be additional restrictions. Check with your municipality before you burn.

For a list of materials that may not be burned, check the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation's open burning guidelines at www.tn.gov/environment/program-areas/apc-air-pollution-control-home/apc/open-burning.html.

Burning without a permit is a Class C Misdemeanor punishable by up to 30 days in jail and/or a fine. Wildfires caused by arson are a class C felony punishable by three to 15 years in prison and up to $10,000 in fines. Anyone with information about suspected arson activity should call the state Fire Marshal's Arson Hotline at 1-800-762-3017. The hotline is answered 24 hours a day, and you may remain anonymous when providing information. Cash awards are offered for information leading to an arrest or conviction. To report illegal burning, please call 1-888-891-TDEC.

Visit www.BurnSafeTN.org for additional tips to burn safely and to protect your community.

Mary Lynn Lambert

Melea Beshires agreed to share an update on her son, Otto. Otto is the youngest resident in Silerton. She writes, "Otto is now seven and one-half months old. Many of our Shelter Insurance customers remark about how quickly e has grown when I stow them a recent photo or they happen to catch him visiting the office. I can hardly believe how quickly the time has passed. I know every parent can relate. Each new sage is exciting, but a part of you wants the changes to slow down so you can savor each moment just a little more. My family and I recently carried Otto to Michigan on vacation. We visited the Sleeping Bear Dunes, Mackinac Island, and several beautiful state parks. One of my favorite day we went to Fishermen's Island State Park where the locals were hard at work rock collecting. Linda, my mother-in-law, asked them what they were searching for and they explained they were looking for a fossilized rock called a Petoskey stone native to the Lower Peninsula of Michigan. We spent the rest of the day enjoying Great Lake Michigan and hunting our own Petoskey stones. Otto was curious about everything. He was enthralled with the sound of the water, the texture and taste of sand, and also intent on climbing on Papaw. When we returned home, Otto was officially crawling and climbing. I can only imagine how active and enthusiastic he will be on our next excursion."

Ann (Stack) Hinson remembered a chicken story following last week's article regarding Bill Mayfield's rooster story. As a young girl Ann had to feed the chickens in the chicken yard. She had a seed wart in the bend of her knee. While she was distributing the feed, a chicken pecked at her wart. It started bleeding so she hurried to the house to get help. Her daddy examined the wart and found half of the wart was gone. He told her to go back to the chicken yard to see if the chicken would peck the other half off. Hesitant, but knowing she had to obey, she went. The chicken indeed did take another peck and took the wart off. Ann stated that the spot healed, and the wart never came back.

Howdy from Toone, where summer refuses to let go and make way for fall. Can you believe it's the end of September and we still are experiencing temperatures in the mid-90s? Most every day when I go into my closet to pick-out clothes, I look over at my fall & winter clothes, shake my head and close the door. Maybe someday soon things will change. The upside is that it allows me more boating days!

Ingredients

- 2 medium sweet potatoes, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- Salt and black pepper, to taste
- 1 pound multi-colored pasta
- 3 cups broccoli, chopped (about 1-inch pieces)
- 1 cup dried cranberries
- 1/2 cup pine nuts, toasted
- 1/4 cup red onion, thinly sliced
- 1 1/2 cup poppy seed dressing
- 4 ounces goat cheese, crumbled

Directions

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Place the sweet potato pieces on a large baking sheet. Drizzle them with olive oil, season with salt and pepper, and then toss. Roast in the oven for 25-30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from the oven and set aside to cool.

Meanwhile, bring a large pot of water to a boil and cook the pasta according to the package directions. You'll want the pasta to be al dente. Drain the pasta, allow it to cool, and place it in a large bowl.

To the bowl of pasta, add the roasted sweet potatoes, broccoli, dried cranberries, pine nuts, and red onions. Toss with the poppy seed dressing until evenly coated. Crumble in the goat cheese and gently stir again until combined. Cover and refrigerate for at least an hour.

Stir before serving, adding more dressing if needed.

You can buy all the ingredients in this recipe at Food Giant Big Star, 200 North Main Street, Bolivar

Moments with the Mayor by Julian McTizic

In keeping with last month's theme of being city ambassadors, this month I would like to focus on shopping local. The holidays are right around the corner, and it seems the older I get, the faster the holiday season rolls around.

For some, the hassle of the holiday shopping season and busy stores leads them to shop online, while others head to towns like Jackson and Memphis for the holiday shopping season. This holiday season, I want to encourage you to spend your hard-earned dollars in your hometown of Bolivar.

We have great hometown shops in Bolivar that offer a wide variety of unique gifts. In addition, there will be a multitude of holiday markets in Bolivar and Hardeman County that will offer specialty and homemade items that are sure to please.

Why shop local? You support your local economy. You support local jobs. You encourage and help local business owners and artisans to maintain their business here. You invest in entrepreneurship. You invest in the future of our city and county for your children and grandchildren.

Small businesses are the heartbeat of our city and county. Their advertisements and sponsorships grace our sports fields, our gymnasiums, our yearbooks, our parades, our local newspaper and radio stations, and our community events. So, this holiday season, I encourage you to give back to them.

SHOP LOCAL, SPEND LOCAL, AND EAT LOCAL!

How to Become a Long-term Investor

It's a fairly predictable pattern: When the stock market rises, more people invest, but after a large-scale drop, many of these same people head for the exits. But by staying out of the financial markets, and only putting their money in "safe" vehicles that offer few or no growth prospects, are they really helping themselves? Here's the bottom line: If you're going to make progress toward your long-term goals, you have to become a long-term investor. But how?

To begin with, you need to understand that long-term investing involves accepting inevitable short-term price swings. You may not like seeing those sharp price drops, but it will help your outlook greatly if you can keep them in perspective. Studies have shown that the longer you hold your investments, the less impact market volatility can have on them.

So, to reach that point where the market's ups and downs have less of a cumulative impact on your holdings, consider the following actions:

Only invest money you won't need for a long time. If you can tell yourself that the money you are investing today is money you won't really need for 20 or 30 years, you'll be better prepared, psychologically, to get through the down periods of the financial markets. And as long as you aren't overextending yourself financially in other parts of your life, you really shouldn't need those investment dollars for a very long time. They should be earmarked for goals you hope to achieve far into the future, such as a comfortable retirement.

Keep your focus on what is most important to you. If you can visualize your long-term goals, you'll find it easier to keep working toward them. For example, if you are hoping to travel extensively when you retire, keep thinking about what that might look like. You might even research the countries you plan to visit, even if these trips are far in the future. Ultimately, if you know where you're going and you're determined to get there, you'll get past the bumps in the road.

Don't spend excessive time reviewing your investment statements. A bad month or two can cause some noticeably negative numbers on your investment statements. But if you can discipline yourself to avoid spending too much time dwelling on these figures, you may feel less stress about investing – and you may even be less tempted to make short-term moves that could have unfortunate long-term results. However, if you do want to study your investment statements, don't just stop at the most recent results. Instead, look for trends that might tell a different story. Has the number of shares you own in various investments increased significantly over time? And over the past five or 10 years, has your portfolio's overall performance been positive? By digging a little deeper into your statements, you might gain more confidence in the course you're following.

Short-term price drops are not pleasant to experience. However, you can help yourself become a better long-term investor by following the above suggestions, so put them to work soon – and stick with them.

KILGORE FLARES COMPANY, LLC ISSUED A HAZARDOUS WASTE TREATMENT PERMIT

The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation (TDEC) Division of Solid Waste Management (DSWM) has issued a hazardous waste treatment permit to Kilgore Flares Company, LLC. The Kilgore facility (EPA ID TND981026594) is located in Hardeman County on Keller Road in Toone, TN 38381. This decision follows a 45-day public comment period on the draft permit that ended on September 3, 2019. The opportunity for comment included a public hearing held on August 20, 2019 at the Toone Elementary School. A Response to Comments has been issued to address comments received during the comment period as well as to explain any changes made to finalize the permit.

The permit allows Kilgore to replace its current twenty-one (21) 1,500-pound capacity open burn pans with ten (10) redesigned 3,300-pound capacity open burn pans. Each of the redesigned carbon steel burn pans will be situated aboveground over curbed concrete pads and on elevated stands. The removal and the construction of the burn pans will be done in two phases so that treatment of waste will not be interrupted. The construction will be finished within a year of the permit issuance.

Corrective action conditions for the Solid Waste Management Units (SWMUs) and Areas of Concern (AOCs) are also included as part of the permit. Kilgore shall be required to investigate any releases of hazardous waste or hazardous constituents pursuant to this permit at the facility regardless of the time at which waste was placed in a unit and to take appropriate corrective action for any such releases. The permit also requires Kilgore to comply with all land disposal restrictions and air emission standards applicable to this facility and to certify annually that on-site generation of hazardous waste is minimized to the extent practicable.

The permit identifies 12 SWMUs and 2 AOCs. SWMUs 2, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, and AOC-1 were approved for No Further Action. The permit includes final remedies for SWMU 1, 3, 4, and 5 and AOC-2, requiring institutional controls consisting of warning signs, a no digging policy, site security, inspections, and financial assurance. Legacy groundwater contamination at SWMU 1 is being addressed as part of AOC-2. Once Kilgore closes or discontinues operation of SWMU 1, all investigations and final remedies will be addressed under the corrective action program. For AOC-2, the permit requires the monitoring of 10 wells across the site for volatile organic compounds.

The permit is issued under the authority of the Tennessee Hazardous Waste Management Act of 1977, as amended, Tennessee Code Annotated, Section 68-212-101 et seq., and Rule Chapter 0400-12-01, Hazardous Waste Management. The permit is effective as of September 10, 2019, and shall remain in effect until September 10, 2029, unless continued, revoked and reissued, or terminated under applicable regulations.

Electronic copies of the permit, including the Response to Comments document, are available online at tn.gov/environment/notices/kilgore and at the DSWM Central Office, 312 Rosa L. Parks Ave, 14th Floor, Nashville, TN 37243 (615-532-0780). Paper copies are available for review at the Bolivar-Hardeman County Library, 213 North Washington Street, Bolivar, TN 38008 (731-658-3436) and at the TDEC Jackson Environmental Field Office, 1625 Hollywood Drive, Jackson, TN 38305 (731-512-1300).

Grace, Part 9 by Jeff Capshaw

Last week I reflected on Galatians 2:15-21. Paul argues that sinners are saved by grace alone and not by observing religious laws, rules, or ceremonies. If such actions were necessary for salvation, then that would be rebuilding a legalistic system and cancelling-out the grace of God.

What creates confusion today, especially for outsiders, is the question of what church's traditions or whose list should be observed. The Gospel of God's grace is simple but not always easy to accept. There is something inherent in humanity that finds it unbelievable or unreal simply to rest on the finished work of another on their behalf.

As Paul wrote in Galatians 1:6-7, "I am astonished that you are so quickly deserting the one who called you to live in the grace of Christ and are turning to a different gospel—7 which is really no gospel at all. Evidently some people are throwing you into confusion and are trying to pervert the gospel of Christ" (NIV). Let that sink in; he said that is "no gospel at all." If the Gospel isn't all of Christ and his grace alone, then it is "another gospel," a false message that Paul wished to bring about a curse from God upon the messenger (1:9).

That brings us to Galatians 5. Paul writes, "For freedom Christ has set us free; stand firm therefore, and do not submit again to a yoke of slavery" (v.1). Imagine some slave having been redeemed and freed from the constraints of his or her old life of slavery. It would be irrational to return to that way of life. That is Paul's point for those desiring spiritual freedom from sin apart from the Gospel. Seeking justification and forgiveness from God by any other means than God's grace is like a former slave returning to slavery.

Apparently, some believers in Galatia were being seduced back into thinking that religious rituals (in their case, circumcision) were necessary to be put into a right standing with God. Paul nipped that in the bud. "Look: I, Paul, say to you that if you accept circumcision, Christ will be of no advantage to you" (5:2). How much clearer could it be? Put any of today's rituals or personal behaviors in place of circumcision: church attendance, works, dress codes, denominations or even baptism. The list goes on. All of these are important, but they are not essential to the Gospel message. Salvation is by grace alone: plus-or-minus nothing else.

That is why he continues in vv. 3-4, "I testify again to every man who accepts circumcision that he is obligated to keep the whole law. You are severed from Christ, you who would be justified by the law; you have fallen away from grace." Paul did not have nice things to say about those who preached another gospel of legalism or "do-ism." He wished they would "emasculate themselves" (v.12).

Therefore, by grace, become a believer in the "doings" of Christ for you. That is the Good News!

Time by David Coy

To all and for everything there is an appointed time, and an appropriate time for every purpose or activity under the heavens. As we the human race struggle from time to time in our journey with grief we wonder in bewilderment why things happen the way they do. We are only partially in control of our life. One person put it this way, "the works of men are subject in their results to another will than that of the doer. There is a higher power that is in control of this universe and while he permits man's earthly plans, he has his own plan that we cannot fully understand" (Isaiah 55:8) and may cause confusion in us when we do not understand why some things happen when and how they do. He has provided employment or business for people to engage in, but with every positive act today there will be a negative tomorrow too balance out. Man's choices, decisions on success, wealth, happiness, etc., are not the only factor or the final will that will be exercised.

Yes, we anguish over topics of life, death, etc., when sorrow comes upon us and ponder our limitation to understand the 'time' factor when there is only one source for the answers to the questions of life and death in relation to time. Yet when we are sorrowing our thoughts routinely flow in that direction because our creator placed eternity in our heart (Ecclesiastes 3:11). "He desires that we enjoy good in all our labor as his gift and there is nothing better for us than to rejoice, and do good as long as we live." Yes, we can understand the world of nature and its natural order 'everything beautiful in its time', but the deeper subjects of life, death and why require us to seek answers in His Word, and this takes a willing heart and time. ## An Adoption Story by Sara Vonderheide

Meet Sassy and Dr. Cook. Sassy is a sweet puppy who wandered up to a house in Middle off of Highway 57. A few days later the owners of the house contacted an HAA volunteer, and Sassy was brought to the shelter. She had an injured leg, but she was quickly rescued by our partner, Safe Haven in Illinois. She was in a foster home and taken to Dr. Cook, a doggie orthopedic surgeon, to have her leg looked at. At first it was thought that Sassy would have to have her leg amputated, but after re-evaluating her Dr. Cook decided to try a corrective surgery instead. Her foster mom was out of town, so Dr. Cook kept Sassy as she recovered. When her foster mom returned to pick up Sassy there was a note in her belongings that read, "Sassy wants to stay with Dr. Cook and his wife FUR-ever." Dr. Cook and his wife have now adopted this sweet pup, and we know that they will live happily ever after. We are so thankful to everyone who helped to give Sassy and the Cook family a happy ending. Unfortunately, not all stories end this way. We have many dogs at the HAA shelter who have been with us for more than 200 days. Please consider adopting a dog, fostering, donating your time, or simply by having your pets spayed and/or neutered. It saves countless lives.

The Annual March of Dogs will be held on Saturday, October 19. The March will begin in the Fred's parking lot in Bolivar and end in the court square with a costume contest (humans are welcome to dress up too). All dogs must be up-to-date on shots, and no pit bulls are allowed as there is a ban in Hardeman County. There will be food, raffle items, HAA t-shirts for sale, and a silent auction. Crafts on the Corner will also be taking place at the Court Square.

For more information, check out our Facebook page: www.facebook.com/haainc. The shelter is open to the public from 9:00 a.m.-12 noon Tuesday-Saturdays. We are closed to the public on Sundays and Mondays.

Tigers Suffer Losses Again

A scoreless first half turned into a 21-20 loss for Middleton as they fell to Hollow Rock-Bruceton on September 20. Middleton, who never led in the game, trailed 15-12 after three quarters and found themselves down 21-12 in the fourth quarter. A score and two-point conversion brought them within a point.

Middleton (0-5, 0-2) got the ball back with approximately a minute left, but their final drive ended on downs.

Junior quarterback Luke Turner sat out the game with an illness, and may not return for two more weeks, depending on his recovery time. Backup quarterback senior Tyler Dickey went 5-8 for 61 yards and rushed 11 times for 108 yards. Junior Zyquavion Perry was his lone target, catching all five passes.

Bolivar (0-5, 0-2) gave up a touchdown on Milan's first play from scrimmage on their way to a 47-0 loss at Milan.

Bolivar did manage their biggest offensive output of the season, totaling 101 yards. Quarterback Tyler Rice completed 5 of 16 passes for 94, with two passes to Rayveon Gibbs for 38 yards. Gibbs was named the Vaughan Oil Player of the Game. Photo by Sarah Rice.
